"Is Beverly Hills Prepared for Major Drought?" [Issue 456]

A tip of the Beverly Hills Cap to Jacqui Ryan whose article on water was so well done. First time that your paper dealt with the subject of water in a clear and direct way to alert your readers of the serious water shortages that face Beverly Hills and all of California.

And, it is my hope that the city will take a very serious look at the different ways of insuring water for our city because we have it, but we don't use it! I have confidence in Howard Fisher that he will continue to encourage the council to give the subject of water in our city major attention before water rationing becomes a reality.

"What's Going on at Greystone?" [Issue 456]

To me, the interview of Cindy Brynan barely scratched the surface of "What's Going on at Greystone." As a taxpayer who has visited Greystone, I was disappointed that the exact finances of Greystone were not included. The article goes on and on about restoration of plumbing, electrical, fireplaces, floors, and a million dollars spent here and a million there.

How about an article on Greystone detailing per year city monies spent and revenues per visitor for the time since BH acquired the property?

Neighbors to Greystone are not happy with the city using it extensively, and I would guess that over 90 percent of all residents couldn't tell you how to get there.

Anti-Hilton Expansion Referendum Qualifies for Vote

City Council to decide what happens next on Tuesday By Jacquelyn Ryan

The referendum petition aimed at blocking the proposed Beverly Hills Hilton revitalization project garnered enough signatures to qualify it for an election ballot, the Beverly Hills City Clerk's office announced last week.

The referendum, developed by political action committee Citizens Right to Decide Committee, will go before the Beverly Hills City Council on July 8. The Council will determine whether to include the referendum, titled "The Referendum Against a Resolution Passed by the City Council," in a public vote or to repeal the contested resolution, which would allow the Hilton to build a 12-story Waldorf=Astoria hotel, a six- to eight-story condominium building and 16- to 18-story condominium building on its nine-acre lot on Wilshire and Santa Monica Boulevard.

The Los Angeles County Registrar-Recorder's Office verified that 2,574 of the total 3,092 signatures submitted by the Citizens Right to Decide Committee on May 29 were valid on June 25. Four-hundred-sixty-eight signatures were disqualified, with an additional 50 signatures rescinded. The petition needed at least 10 percent or 2,075 signatures of the 20,747 registered voters in Beverly Hills to be viable.

If the referendum goes to a public vote, the Council will have to decide whether to hold a special election or to add the referendum to a prescheduled ballot, either in the November presidential election or the March 2009 city council election.

"We have full confidence that the citizens of Beverly Hills will vote to support The Revitalization Plan and that the project will prevail. We look forward to the groundbreaking of the new Waldorf=Astoria Beverly Hills right after the 2009 Golden Globes," Campaigns from both sides are anticipated to begin if the Council decides to put the referendum to a vote on July 8.

"We've been told [the Hilton] have a $5 million budget to defeat us, so there's no way we can match the Hilton dollar for dollar. This is David versus Goliath," said Larry Larson, volunteer treasurer for the CRDC. "But I think that no matter how much money they spend, people in Beverly Hills are smart and are not going to be fooled by a bunch of glossy brochures."

It is expected that revitalization project supporters will argue that the revenue generated from the project is crucial to the city. Without it, the city will be forced to either raise taxes or cut city services, they might argue. According to the Beverly Hills Web site, the project will bring in $728.5 million

High-Speed Car Chase Rips Down Wilshire

A high-speed car chase tore through Beverly Hills on Wednesday afternoon after a Beverly Hills Police Officer stopped a driver for unlawfully using a handheld cell phone on Santa Monica at Rexford, near the BHPD headquarters.

The driver, a white male in his 20s, hit the gas of the white Ford Econoline while the officer was collecting the car's information, which revealed that the car had been reported stolen. With the BHPD on his tail, the driver took off heading west on Santa Monica before turning onto Wilshire, where he collided into one car in Beverly Hills and another when he crossed into Westwood. The people in both vehicles are believed to have only non-serious injuries, according to BHPD spokesperson Lt. Tony Lee.

The driver of the allegedly stolen car hit approximately 60 miles per hour on Wilshire, which has speed limits of 25 and 35 miles an hour, Lee said.

The driver then sped the wrong way onto the 405 freeway going south into the northbound lanes. He didn't get far before he crashed into an embankment, tried to car-jack other vehicles on the freeway and then fled by foot. He was taken into custody at the intersection of Sawtelle and Ohio by the Beverly Hills Police to the city over a 30-year period. The Waldorf=Astoria hotel rooms will have a 5 percent surcharge in addition to the transient occupancy tax and a city fee of $4.50 for every $1,000 the hotel accrues. They submitted that an additional $3.66 million will go to the BHUSD.

But Larson disputes the Hilton's numbers, claiming that the projected figures do not factor out the current revenue the hotel brings in for the city and that the numbers are exaggerated, especially regarding what will actually go the BHUSD.

"We're going to put the truth out there for the community," Larson said about the CRDC's anticipated campaign. Larson will also argue that there will not be enough parking for the proposed project, it will cause excessive congestion and that the buildings are out-of-scale with the area.

Department, Los Angeles Police Department and California Highway Patrol at 1:15 p.m., 23 minutes after he was initially pulled over.

As of press time, the driver was still unidentified as he has refused to talk with police. Charges against him are pending, but he could face charges for attempted car jacking, narcotics possession, felony evading, hit and run, stealing a vehicle, driving at high speeds and reckless driving, among others, Lee said.

Man Found Dead in Alta Drive Abandoned Home

Teenagers found a man who appears to have been dead for a year in an abandoned house on the 700 block of Alta Drive on June 26.

The teens were skateboarding near the vacated house when they smelled a foul stench that they followed inside to find the body, which appeared mummified and curled in a fetal position, according to Beverly Hills Police Department's Lieutenant Executive Officer Tony Lee. The teens were "terrified" and had a relative call the police department to report it.

Officers determined the body to be a white male in his 40s or 50s, who they believe was homeless based on an assortment of old bags and an old bicycle near him, Lee said.

Detectives at the coroner's office estimate the man to have been dead for approximately one year. His cause of death is unknown but detectives do not believe any foul play was involved. Police are following up with the property owner, who does not appear to have visited the property in a long time.

BHPD Aggressively Enforcing Handheld Cell-Phone Ban

The Beverly Hills Police Department issued citations to 60 drivers who were using handheld cell phones within the first 30 hours of California's new law, which bans the use of handheld cell phones while driving, going into effect.

The first citation was handed out at 12:02 a.m. on July 1, the inaugural day of the law.

"We're making a statement to the community that this is a serious law and we're going to be very aggressive about enforcing it," said BHPD's Lieutenant Executive Officer Tony Lee. "The numbers [of citations] are mounting."

The new law makes driving while using a hand-held cell phone a primary offense for drivers over the age of 18. Drivers are allowed to use hands-free devices, like earpieces, if they are using their phone. However, drivers under the age of 18 are prohibited from both hand-held and hands-free cell phone use while driving, though using a wireless device is only a secondary offense.

The base fine for the first offense is $20 and $50 for any following offenses. The fines can triple from the base amount with the addition of any penalty assessments. The conviction will appear on the driver's driving record, though the Department of Motor Vehicles will not assign it a violation point.

New BHHS Asst. Principal From Santa Monica Looks Likely

Former Santa Monica High School special-education teacher Kelly Tabis will become the new assistant principal at Beverly High, if she is approved by the Board of Education at Tuesday's meeting.

Tabis is the leading finalist out of a pool of approximately 70 applicants, according to principal J. Guidetti.

"She's got leadership stamped on her forehead," Guidetti said of Tabis, who was also the special-education department chair.

Tabis went through several interviews with a panel of school representatives ranging from BHUSD administrators and school site employees. Each panel member evaluated Tabis anonymously during the interview and came to a consensus based on those varying scores, which Guidetti would not divulge.

Each panel member's vote was weighed equally in this process, with the exception of Guidetti's which held the most weight. He stressed this point when asked about assistant superintendent Ilene Straus' role as a panel member. Straus was the principal of Santa Monica High School when Kelly Tabis was hired on as a teacher in September 2005. Straus worked in the Santa Monica Malibu Unified School District until 2006, when

Brucker Thinking 'Greener' After US Mayors Conference

Beverly Hills Mayor Barry Brucker wants to replace 10,000 light bulbs in city buildings with more energy-efficient compact fluorescent light (CFL) bulbs "immediately," he recently told the Weekly.

"In the lifetime of the bulb, we can save $300,000 in energy consumption," Brucker said about the reason to change to CFL bulbs.

The change is just one example of many potential changes inspired by the mayor's recent trip to Miami for the U.S. Conference of Mayors, where he was joined by mayors, governors and congressmen nationwide to discuss and share ideas for city government.

The theme of the weekend was a "greening of the cities," Brucker said.

Brucker would also like to see Beverly Hill's City Hall look into becoming solar powered like Miami's City Hall, which is 60 percent powered by solar energy.

"We need to continue to take [environmental] leadership in the state," Brucker said. "We have the most robust and progressive building ordinance in the state and we need to continue expanding it."

Senator Barack Obama and former President Bill Clinton spoke at the conference, though Brucker did not have the chance to personally meet either of the politicians.

The median price of a condominium in the 90212 zip code was $652,000, having the price decreased by 57.4 percent for the three condominiums sold. There were no condominiums sold in the 90210 zip code last month.

In Los Angeles County as a whole, the median price for a single family home was $435,000, having dropped 26.1 percent, and the sale price of condos decreased by 15.9 percent with the median price at $363,000, since May 2007.

Chamber Installs New Chairperson

Xi'an restaurant owner Vicky Mense was installed the new chairperson of the Board of Directors for Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting and installation ceremony on June 24.

Mense is replacing Sean O'Donnell, vice president for Wells Fargo private client services.

Beverly Hills Mayor Barry Brucker, Vice Mayor Frank Fenton and Councilmember Jimmy Delshad were all present at the meeting. Brucker participated in the ceremony and swore in Vicky Mense as the new Chamber Board Chair. Brucker, Fenton and Delshad then issued proclamations to Sean O'Donnell and Vicky Mense for their service to Beverly Hills.

At the meeting, Mense said she intends to reach out to small business owners about the Chamber and to develop a cohesive business community during her tenure.

New Seminar Helps BHUSD Teachers Understand Kids' Struggles

Brian Tash

Forty-one Beverly Hills Unified School District teachers took part in a five-day professional development seminar last week aimed at strengthening their mathematic teaching skills through deepening the teachers' understanding of how young students learn.

"It's the first program of its kind for this district," said Brian Tash, director of curriculum, instruction and assessment for BHUSD. By of its kind, Tash means seminars dedicated to breaking down the way a students understand and interact with information presented inside and outside of the classroom. The seminar, titled "Developing Mathematical Skills: Building a System of Tens," is part of the nationally recognized Educational Research Center's program Developing Mathematical Ideas.

Ten teachers from Beverly Vista, 11 from El Rodeo, six teachers from Horace Mann and 14 teachers from Hawthorne took part in the seminar. They teach classes ranging from kindergarten to sixth grade, including special education.

The seminar utilized a loose role-reversal technique, which put the teachers into the shoes of their students. The teachers were given case studies to read at night, which they used to solve problems in the seminar the next day, similar to the way students interact with homework.

"It allowed us to experience what our students are going through when they learn math.... It became apparent that our students can't learn just from the [text]book," said Victoria Hanlon, a fourth-grade teacher at Beverly Vista. "This is really going to have an impact on the classroom."

The seminar focused on ways to help students rationalize through math problems instead of applying memorized algorithms, Tash explained.

This method of teaching requires teachers to lay out more hands-on activities and calls on teachers to build upon knowledge students already possess. To that end, Hanlon said that it helps teachers identify problem areas in students' learning process.

The seminar was held in the Beverly High science and technology center from 8 a.m. to noon June 23 through 27.

Delshad Gets Doctorate Award From ALU

Jimmy Delshad

Councilmember Jimmy Delshad received an honorary doctorate award in the field of humanity and business from the American Liberty University at the university's annual graduation ceremony on June 15.

It was the first time American Liberty University (ALU) had ever awarded a doctorate degree to a high-ranked politician in the field of humanity and business.

ALU's board of education staff chose Delshad as this year's honoree doctorate degree recipient. Founder and president of ALU Dr. Kevin Soltani presented Delshad with the award.

The ceremony was held at Cal-Poly Pomona's Bronco Student Center.

ALU's alumni association appointed Delshad as their new alumni association chairman, at a dinner party held in Beverly Wilshire Hotel on June 16.

MWD Finishes Pipe Repairs Two Days Early

Two days ahead of its scheduled deadline, the Metropolitan Water District returned to service the 45-mile water pipe that had been shut off for repairs since June 21. The Sepulveda Feeder water pipe went back into use at 5 a.m. on Monday morning, after water quality tests were completed.

"Despite temperatures reaching over 100 degrees early on during the shutdown and hot weather again this past weekend, no one in Los Angeles or Orange County-or elsewhere in our six-county service region, for that matter-was without water due to the pipeline shutdown and repairs," said Debra C. Man, Metropolitan Water District's assistant general manager and chief operating officer, in a press release.

Twelve miles of the Sepulveda Feeder water pipe, which supplies Beverly Hills and much of Los Angeles County with water, were shut-off for round-the-clock repairs after the MWD became aware that the reinforced wire imbedded in the concrete of the 8-foot-diameter pipeline was deteriorating and posed the possibility of rupture. The MWD replaced the weak sections, which were under Sepulveda Boulevard adjoining the Los Angeles National Cemetery and 64th Street and Le Doux Road in Ladera Heights, with welded steel. Part of the pipe under Slauson Avenue at Hannum Avenue was repaired with carbon fiber lining. The Sepulveda Feeder transports water from MWD's Joseph Jensen Water Treatment Plant in Granada Hills to the Palos Verdes Reservoir.

City governments and retailers had been asked by MWD to conserve their water use during the 10-day repair time, a request which was adequately followed according to the MWD.

"While the Sepulveda Feeder repairs are now completed, and we appreciate everyone's help over the past 10 days, we need to remind the region that Governor Schwarzenegger has officially proclaimed that California is in a drought and urged everyone to conserve water every day," Man said.

The MWD now faces another, though not as major, pipe that may need to be shut off in the future.

Project Lotus LLC has requested that a 28-inch pipe that runs under the shuttered Robinson-May at 9900 Wilshire be relocated off the property to run under Wilshire, Santa Monica Boulevard and Merv Griffin Way so that the developer can begin construction on the project.

The MWD's board of directors will vote on the proposed pipe move on Tuesday, after hearing recommendations from its engineering committee who will review the project on Monday.

"We are trying to be very responsive," said Wally Lieu, MWD assistant chief engineer. The board will consider recommendations from the staff as well as the pipe's current location versus its proposed relocation into public domain and how the move would impact MWD's operations.

The board is anticipated to approve the project, which is fairly routine and frequent considering that MWD owns 800 miles of pipeline throughout six counties, which undergo consistent development.

But should the board disapprove, the developer would have to revise their plan. One option would be to encase the pipe in concrete, Lieu said.

Many Women with Facial Dark Spots Suffer From Dark Moods ... Dermatologists Offer Hope.

Dr. Harold Lancer knows just what he'll hear from some of his patients when they walk into his Beverly Hills office.

"A frustrated woman typically in her 30s and beyond with dark patches on her face, will ask if I can help. It's amazing how common this is," said Dr. Lancer, "and it's too bad that more people don't go to their dermatologist for help. I love to see my patient's smile when I tell her there are treatments available that can help reduce or eliminate those unsightly brown patches."

Dark patches on the face can be caused by many things, including sun damage, acne inflammation. scarring, or When those dark, grayishbrown patches occur on the cheeks, upper lip and forehead, the condition may be melasmaalso known as paño, mask of pregnancy or hypermelanosis. Whatever the name, the condition is most likely caused by skin cells producing extra melanin - the chemical responsible for pigmentation. Many doctors link these cases to a variety of triggers including sun exposure, hormone changes in women, such as those caused by pregnancy, menopause, and even the hormonal shifts associated with use of birth control pills.

Millions of women in the United States face the dark patches in the mirror every day, and it's especially prevalent in women of Hispanic, Caribbean and Asian ancestry as well as African-American women. Approximately 80% of Latino women report having these types of darkened spots on their faces. It also tends to run in families.

These dark patches don't make people physically ill, but research shows that the psychological and emotional tolls are another story. Not only does the condition affect how many women feel about themselves, it changes how others see them. A report published in the journal Evolution and Human Behavior showed that dark spots on a woman's face are one of the signs that people use to judge her age, and in fact, the presence of spots alone can influence how old a person looks.

"I felt like people thought I was dirty," said Rebecca Brown, 32, a patient diagnosed with melasma.

Ms. Brown's condition appeared after a beach vacation in Cancun.

"The longer the dark patches lasted, the more embarrassed I got," Ms. Brown said. "I covered them with makeup, and I tried

The Hilton Plan Goes To Voters

Will this be a repeat of the Montage battle? By Rudy Cole

For the third time in the city's history the voters, and not our elected city officials, will decide whether a major hotel project should be approved.

This November's general election, when the country and our state will be deciding on who shall be the next president and, in California, whether the voters should overturn a state Supreme Court decision permitting same-sex marriages, our mailboxes will also be packed with appeals to vote for or against what is being called the "Hilton Revitalization" plan.

It will be a very contentious campaign and it could decide, not only the fate of the Hilton, but what path the city will follow as it moves ever so slowly on adoption of a general plan: one that will outline future growth and development.

It is highly unlikely, but if one of three council votes switch, the referendum could be stopped and the intent of the referendum adopted by the council. The referendum only blocks elements of the condominium project, not the Hilton's plans to create a Waldorf Astoria.

In fact, many of those involved in the referendum have told me they actually support the addition of the Waldorf Astoria – an interesting posture since the issue of traffic and congestion were raised during the petition gathering drive and condos obviously produce less traffic than hotels – think banquets and events.

So, what's really at stake and what is likely to happen? And can the lessons learned from the last two hotel elections carry any meaning this time?

What should not happen, but very well could, is that some voters will say no to the Hilton because they want to express their disapproval of some other major developments the city recently approved: The 9900 Wilshire condominium development and the mammoth new headquarters for the William Morris Agency. However, this is only about the Hilton.

What the Hilton is saying is that they can not build the Waldorf Astoria without the condos – the lending institutions are insisting on condominium elements before they approve financing hotels. You can see that almost everywhere major hotels are being constructed.

So, the first challenge facing the Hilton is to convince the voters that the project can indeed not go forward without condos. How? Ask some non-interested graduate school of business to make a study. The city is not likely to accept the findings of a financial institution that could have an interest or a conflict.

If the condos are not essential and this is not provable, the Hilton would be making a serious mistake not to accept the referendum. Conversely, the city's voters could make one of the worst blunders in our history if they reject the Waldorf Astoria, with condos if that is the only way the hotel can be financed. We need facts and unbiased studies.

Some history of the past hotel fights:

An unlikely dynamic duo, former Mayors Richard Stone and Robert K. Tanenbaum, almost sunk the Montage Beverly Hills with a last minute mailer and full-page ads attacking the scheme. The Montage survived because it carried absentee voters, but lost the walk-in vote, narrowly.

Larry Larson, the main organizer of the anti-Hilton referendum, who also was one of the key leaders of the campaign against the Montage, told me that the campaign's consultants waited too long with mailers and did not pay sufficient attention to the absentee vote. He was probably right.

Speaking of Larson, who has consistently opposed almost every city development project, many of which won approval, should be credited with a most difficult success. This time, apparently without paid petition circulators, he succeeded in qualifying the Hilton referendum – not an easy task.

The other major hotel battle was, of course, the Four Seasons. However, the Four Seasons was on the ballot because it was placed there by City Council action and NOT by opponents circulating referendum petitions. The council asked the voters to approve a "hotel overlay" zone that included, not only the Four Seasons, but two other hotels: a Guggi and a Ritz Carlton.

The Four Seasons had a chance to avoid defeat, but passed on a compromise proposed by the Beverly Wilshire and some home owner leaders: same banquet or public assembly numbers and same height as the BW. They refused and lost overwhelmingly.

The election on the Montage and the Hilton referenda have some similarities, but also some major differences.

The Montage Hotel operators were not known in Beverly Hills even though they had created a world class, luxury hotel in Laguna Beach. They not only had to win approval of a hotel concept but gain acceptance of their brand.

The Hilton is well known, has a long history in the city and, under new owner Beny Alagem, has broadened community involvement. The Hilton is probably one of the city's most important sources of revenue, it gives Beverly Hills worldwide recognition with the annual Golden Globes and many of our most important charities use their banquet facilities.

BAREFOOT

SCIENCE

The anti-Montage campaign had a most significant supporter: The Peninsula Beverly Hills. Major funding for the election came from the hotel's owners who objected to zoning entitlements given the proposed Montage that were denied their hotel. However, that involvement was a mixed blessing. The Montage called the Peninsula opposition a battle over revenues and not land-use issues.

Both sides made some bad campaign judgments. The anti-Montage forces waiting too late to shoot its best shot – the Stone-Tanenbaum hit piece, and the Montage by hiring overly aggressive blockers to prevent referendum circulators from obtaining signatures. Actually, both sides behaved poorly.

However, an even more serious error in judgment by the pro-Montage campaign nearly lost them the election. They became obsessed by the opposition of the Beverly Hills League of Women Voters. True, the League could have been more open about its decision-making process, but by constantly attacking the League, sometime in the middle of the election, voters began to believe this was all about the League vs. the Montage. League of Voters? Good name. Montage? Never heard of them.

As for spending, the millions poured into ads, mailers, consultants and even cable television ads by both sides set records for overkill. It is probably safe to say that more dollars were spent collectively than in all the past campaigns in our history combined.

There are other major differences. The Montage had the unanimous support of all five members of the city council and all five planning commissioners.

The Hilton vote was four to one on the hotel element, but three to two on the condos. The planning commission voted five zip against the condo plan.

The Hilton vote will most likely be held, if at all, with the presidential election or the council could decide to call a special election. The general will bring out nearly twice as many voters. California was almost completely ignored in the 2004 presidential final by the Republican Party, but John Mc Cain is very likely to spend some big bucks here and not give up on "blue" "Left Coast" electorate. The same-sex marriage campaign could bring out social conservatives in the cow counties.

In any case, the presidential election and the same-sex marriage issue will consume voter interest, here and throughout the state. It will be a real challenge for both sides to even obtain a modicum of interest in the Hilton vote after September.

Let the games begin.

Very sad loss. Ken Reich, the veteran Los Angeles Times reporter, columnist and editor, who retired some years back, died this week but his work and his enormous passion for the profession will long be remembered.

Passion is the exact right word to describe Kenny's approach to reporting. He cared about the ethics of the profession and that came through in all of his reporting – from urban politics to his brilliant coverage of the Los Angeles Olympics. Reich actually began his Times career as editor of the West Side section, a long gone supplement. He understood and "got" our city and its people and I was honored to have been his friend for 30 years.

I just wished I had his passion. Final note: When he left the Times he created a blog to fight for a return of local ownership of the paper. That battle continues.

Final thought: Newspapers, and this columnist too, often receive appeals for help on some personal problem with government. I am sensitive to those who reach out, but I can not respond to anonymous appeals attacking some city or school agency or official.

Some years back, a writer complained about a teacher at the adult school. There were letters and even a phone call. The correspondent "demanded" I take action and write about the issue to right a horrendous wrong. When I suggested the reader send a letter to the school superintendent, principal or even school board, she responded: "Oh, I don't want to become involved."

So, I won't publish, nor does the Weekly, unsigned letters, no matter how valid the issue. We will investigate when appropriate, but no anonymous attacks on city officials would be fair.

What are your neighbors reading By Jacquelyn Ryan

With a holiday weekend coming up, why not take advantage of that extra free time and join your neighbors in opening up a good book? The Weekly will give you a look into the books your neighbors are reading this summer.

Children

The Beverly Hills Public Library is keeping kids busy this summer with five different summer programs.

The reading programs are "the center of our summer," said Kaye MacDonald, head of the children's division at the library.

First, the Summer Reading Club: Catch the Reading Bug program urges young readers to finish eight books this summer by giving out one piece of an eight-piece puzzle for each book finished with a submitted book review. Kids who complete eight books and reviews not only get to complete their puzzle but will get a certificate and an invitation to the Summer Reading Club at the end of the summer.

Older children are encouraged to read 16 books to their younger friends through the Reading Buddies program. They get stickers for every book they read, and when they complete all 16 books a photo of them is displayed in the library.

Then, the Friends of Beverly Hills Public Library will present live programs for kids 5 and up on Wednesday afternoons at 3 p.m. from July 9 through 30. Titled "Afternoon Antics," the series will include "Dave Boatman's Cartoon Class" and "Rudy's Radical Science Show" amongst others. The Friends of Beverly Hills Public Library will also host "Midsummer Magic" program for 3 to 5 year olds at 7 p.m. on Monday evenings starting July 7.

Middle School students can participate in their own book club from 7 to 9 p.m. on Thursday evenings between July 10 and Aug. 14.

High School

Even though the campus library is closed, students in Beverly High's honors or Advanced Placement literature classes won't lack for good reading this summer. All incoming students to those courses have a list of department-mandated books to read and report on by September.

For example, students who will be in Beverly High teacher Julie Goler's sophomore honors literature course are reading "Grapes of Wrath" by John Steinbeck, "Ethan Frome" by Edith Wharton and "I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings" by Maya Angelou.

"We teach a very classical curriculum at the high school," Goler said. "They're all books well-read people should know."

But students are not the only ones at the high school with reading fever. Goler runs a book club for the Beverly High staff and retired staff one Thursday afternoon a month during the school year. Even though the group doesn't meet during the summer, she has made suggestions to the 72 members of the book club for great books to discover over the break, if they didn't read it during the year.

Her suggestions include "Exile" by Richard Norris Patterson, which "really explains very well in an unbiased way the conflict between Palestine and Israel," and "Someone Knows My Name" by Lawrence Hill which chronicles the fictional tale of an African women taken into slavery in the U.S.

Next year, the group will read Junot Diaz' Pulitzer Prize-winning novel "The Brief Wondrous Life of Oscar Wao" amongst others.

City

The City employee book club recently went under, right after the group finished reading the last book in the "Harry Potter" series, according to Cheryl Burnett, public relations manager for Beverly Hills. It seemed that the interest was too low to continue to program.

However, plenty of city employees and residents have been taking advantage of the public library's immense selection and special events.

The library offers the New Short Fiction Series on the second Friday of the month. Spoken-word artist Sally Shore and a guest cast of actors performance in total the work of West Coast authors who new or emerging in the short fiction genre. On July 11, they will perform "Missing Women" by Tracy Ruby and on Aug. 8 they will put on the fifth annual emerging voices group show. Performances start at 8 p.m. and tickets are $10.

The library also hosts the Great Books Discussion Group on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month on the second floor of the Library Auditorium, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The book for the July 10 meeting is "The Art of Love" by Ovid, according to the library's Web site.

The library is open Monday through Thursday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; and Sunday from noon to 5 p.m.

WHAT ARE YOU READING?

Julie Goler, sophomore honors literature teacher and book club facilitator at Beverly High, is reading about the leper colony on Hawaii's Moloka'i island in Alan Brennart's book "Moloka'i." The fictional story follows the life of a 5-year-old girl who contracts the disease, while incorporating real events and research from the island. But Goler, a one-woman-reading-wildfire, is always juggling three books at a time, she said. She is also reading Lisa Tucker's "The Cure for Modern Life" which is so funny, she said, she wouldn't be surprised if it was being auctioned for a movie. "It's a lot like High Fidelty. It's about a CEO who ends up fostering these two children," Goler explained. She is also working on "Unaccustomed Earth" by Pulitzer-prize-winning author Jhumpa Lahiri. Goler enjoys "Unaccustomed Earth" so much that she included it in next year's list for the staff book club at Beverly High.

Noah Furie, Planning Committee chair, is reading a "detailed analysis of what lead to the Israeli war of independence from both the Arab and Israel side" in Benny Morris' "1948: A History of the First Arab-Israel War." Furie is an avid reader of history and has read an extensive amount of military history, and he says "1948" is a "fascinating read" that he would recommend to anyone who enjoys historical non-fiction. "[It's about] the complexity of the issues from, in essence, pre-war civil wars of the factions prior to the actual war," Furie said. Furie tends to find his books by going to Amazon.com or book stores and pining around in the history and Middle East sections.

Patty Ogden, assistant city clerk, is just beginning to read about globalization in the 21st century in "The World is Flat" by Thomas L. Friedman. "It's eye-opening," Ogden remarked about her first impression of the book, which she said is based on the idea that the global economy is changing and requires a new perspective and strategy to stay competitive. Before picking up her current read, Ogden finished "You Don't Need a Title To Be a Leader: How Anyone, Anywhere, Can Make a Positive Difference" by Mark Sanborn. "It explores the idea that genuine leadership is not determined by a title, but that it can be seen in how people take action in their positions.... it's about how you take responsibility and the ways that you contribute," Ogden said.

Karen Boyarsky, Beverly High head librarian, just finished reading Lief Enger's second novel "So Brave, Young and Handsome." The story is "remarkable journey that might require you to suspend disbelief a little bit. ... it touches on all the big themes" like love, friendship and forgiveness, Boyarsky said. She credited Lief Enger's "kind and tender" writing for giving the book such power. She has already bought a dozen copies to give to her friends and family. So far this summer, Boyarsky has also enjoyed a Caldecott-award-winning children's picture book by Laura Viccaro-Seeger titled "First the Egg." Boyarsky described it as "the entire story of life wrapped into 32 pages."

Ira Friedman, Traffic and Parking Committee Commissioner, is reading about the life and times of John Adams in David McCullough's book "John Adams." Friedman said that the recent HBO mini-series based on the book is what hooked him on Adams. "It was fascinating to listen to Franklin, Roosevelt and Jefferson discussing changes to the Declaration of Independence. … These guys were geniuses," Friedman said. He also recently watched the American Experience mini-series, which looked at five different presidents including both the Bushs. He can probably find plenty to read based on that series later this summer as well.
