Rec & Parks smooths out dog park operational plans [Issue 846]

I believe the addition of a dog park to our community is a great idea. When people with pets get together many barriers dissolve. It makes for a better community.

Do we really need to issue I.D. tags and restrict access to this park? Proper identification from hotel guests? Do we really need another level of bureaucracy?

When my daughter and family-which includes two grandchildren, son-in-law and their dog-come for a visit, we like to take the dog to the beautiful dog park at the Santa Monica Airport just off Bundy Dr. Free parking. Perfect dog park. I have never heard a complaint from either dog or owner. Clean restrooms. Clean drinking water for dogs and people. And guess what?

No I.D. needed. No fee required. No questions asked.

Everyone is respectful of everyone else,

Board budget talks show financial uncertainty on the horizon

The BHUSD deliberated the first interim budget report December 17, two days after the Los Angeles County Office of Education's (LACOE) deadline.

Current budget data shows this year's deficit sits just under $2 million, and will likely sink deeper into the negatives due to a financially unsustainable salary formula developed by former Board member Brian Goldberg.

"As expenses continue to increase more rapidly than expected revenue, subsequent years show the General Fund ending fund balances do not meet the required reserve," wrote Fiscal Services Director Angeli Villaflor in the budget report.

Projections show that by 2017, the BHUSD reserves will total $12,000.

LACOE "conditionally approved" the district's 2015-16 budget in a letter dated September 9.

Conditional approval means the County Superintendent accepted the Local Control and Accountability Plan (LCAP) and budget "on the condition that the district takes certain specific actions to remedy deficiencies in the 2015-16 LCAP and budget." This was never discussed at an open Board meeting.

The letter mentions that the unrestricted General Fund is projected to reach insolvency next year.

Board Vice President Mel Spitz advised the district cut down per-student expenditures in order to regain its financial footing.

Key decisions of the meeting

• Board votes for "Plan B" construction package, which will initiate completion of Horace Mann and buildings A and B at El Rodeo and will begin site preparation at Beverly High • Plan B pushes back work on Beverly High's Building A and delays the arrival of high school school portables

• Board gives direction for another budget study session

• Spitz argues that per-student expenditures are too high relative to comparative school districts

Districts such as San Marino, Palos Verdes Peninsula, Las Virgenes and La Canada averaged $10,087 per student for the 2015-2016 school year. Comparatively, the BHUSD spent $15,023.

Spitz derived the per-student totals by considering certificated and classified salaries; employee benefits; books and supplies; legal fees and several other expenditures.

Ron Crawford, who taught physical education and coached swimming and water polo at Beverly High from 1966 to 2001, passed away Sunday. He was 76.

As a member of the U.S.A. Water Polo 1964 U.S.A. Water Polo team team, Crawford competed in the 1960, 1964 and 1968 Summer Olympics. He played six matches and scored five goals in the 1960 tournament.

Crawford was inducted into the U.S.A. Water Polo Hall of Fame in 1977. In 1983, he became the International Water Polo Hall of Fame's first-ever American Former BHUSD Superintendent Dick Douglas, who coached alongside Crawford for over 20 years, said the former Olympic athlete deeply influenced the people around him.

"Ron was not only a great water polo player, but also a great coach, one that demanded a great deal, pushed the athletes to be the best they could be, and taught them the skills to achieve that greatness," Douglas said. "He had a tremendous impact on the young people with whom he worked, as well as on me. I know that I learned as much from him as our athletes learned."

In a June 2014 interview with Water Polo Planet, Crawford said, "Playing and coaching water polo has been a big and important part of my life. ' of Horace Mann and buildings A and B at El Rodeo and begins site preparation at Beverly High.

Crawford is survived by his wife, Lynn; son, Matt; daughter, Kelli; stepchildren Catherine, Karyn, and Terry; and seven grandchildren.

El Rodeo parents request heightened security at BHUSD schools

Hours after an email threat shut down the 700,000-strong LAUSD, a gaggle of El Rodeo parents lead by Sabrina Gordon-Gilardian gathered at the City Council's December15th meeting to express their concerns about the "lack of campus security."

"Whether we pony up and spend the money to reinstate our School Resource Officer (SRO) program-that was once very successful for many years-or think outside the box by hiring five junior officers or cadets who can solely patrol the schools, or work alongside our school board and hire one more security on golf cart—that Beverly High currently employs six of-I'm asking you to help us work with the school board and come up with a solution," Gordon-Gilardian said.

In late May, the police department announced that offices on all five district campuses had been converted into police substations. Outfitted with laptops, the substations provide a place for patrol and traffic officers to complete paperwork, fill out reports and make phone calls while bolstering on-campus security.

But Gordon-Gilardian, who characterized the BHUSD as "five measly schools," mentioned she has never caught sight of a substation and rarely sees School Liaison Officer Jesse Perez.

In 2007-2008, there were five SROs, one for each BHUSD campus. That number was cut down to three in 2009 and to one in 2010. The program was scrapped altogether in 2011.

The cost of hiring five SROs approaches $1 million. Factoring in benefits and a 5.5-percent "SRO assignment bonus," the salary of a junior officer hovers around $174,000.

BHPD Chief Dominick Rivetti, who was in the audience, said the department is doing its best.

"At one time, the Beverly Hills police department was 140 sworn officers. Today, we have less than 120," Rivetti pointed out. "When you go from 140 to 120 [officers], that makes balancing services throughout the city even more difficult, but we're doing the best we can."

Later, El Rodeo parent Susan Cohn said Councilmembers Willie Brien and Nancy Krasne should be "ashamed" for supposedly "laughing" during another parent's comments.

"For you to admonish me-you are disrespectful-you should only know the time that all of us put in," Krasne said

Mark Scott headed to San Bernardino

Former Beverly Hills City Manager Mark Scott has a new job-he's headed to San Bernardino.

Scott, who served as Beverly Hills city manager from 1990 to 2003, said he had reached out to San Bernardino Mayor Carey Davis expressing interest in the opening, after resigning as Burbank city manager in November.

After leaving Beverly Hills, Scott worked for a number of cities, including Fresno and most recently, Burbank. With a population of 205,000, the City of San Bernardino is comparable in size to the City of Fresno, which has around half-amillion residents.

Scott expressed interest in the job prior to the December 2nd terrorist attack.

What made you want to accept the position?

I actually contacted them. I told San Bernardino's talented new Mayor Carey Davis that I wanted to do the job. This is what I do for a living. I have real affection for the people of San Bernardino who have struggled through some tough times and still maintain a strong love of community. Someone from my profession owed them the effort and I felt that with my background, I am probably the right person to do it. Look at the way the San Bernardino community responded to the recent tragedy. The police chief and police department were extraordinary, and the support from within and outside the community has

The San Bernardino city budget has been financially challenged. Was that a concern for you when applying to the job?

Professionally, I am trained to address a community's needs. This is one of San Bernardino's needs. I hope we can stabilize the organization, seeks operational efficiencies, build the economy and equip the citizenry to compete successfully in the new economy. I'd say that is more my motivation than a worry.

Anything else you want to add?

I want to add to the above that I think it is pretty amazing when a young man from Fresno gets hired as City Manager of a great community like Beverly Hills at age 40. While there, I was mentored by outstanding business and civic leaders to help me learn my trade. Later, I was blessed by the opportunity to work in 4 other great communities, including a stop in my hometown. And now I can end my career with an opportunity to help another very deserving community right its ship and support its citizenry. I have had the most extraordinary opportunities throughout my career. I credit Beverly Hills for giving me that foundation. The community has done the same for your new City Manager Mahdi Aluzri, one of my all-time favorite co-workers. I am sure it will reap rewards for both Mahdi and Beverly Hills.

Many unanswered questions surround Goldberg's arrest [Issue 806, March]

Then-Board of Education President Brian Goldberg was arrested in March for battery, according to the Beverly Hills Police Department.

Goldberg allegedly shoved an 18-year-old woman after a verbal altercation, knocking her to the ground inside the condominium building on the 200 block of Tower Drive where they both are residents. The verbal argument concerned Goldberg's unsafe driving in the building's sub-garage.

The former Board member's attorney Anthony Salerno issued a statement purporting that the young woman had committed a crime by standing in the doorway of the elevator and blocking Goldberg's path.

Released after about 12 hours, Goldberg was issued a citation.

Update:

In the days following his arrest, Goldberg stepped down as Board president, but was reinstated about a month later.

During a Board meeting in April, Goldberg blamed his arrest on several people, including then-BHPD Chief David Snowden.

Though Goldberg told supporters prior to the March incident that he planned on seeking reelection, he did not end up running again and left the Board at the end of the year. The 18-year-old woman later dropped all charges against him.

Kessler named BHUSD Superintendent [Issue 807, March]

First hired into the BHUSD in 1976, former Horace Mann Principal Steve Kessler was named superintendent in March and officially began his new job June 1. In selecting Kessler, the Board of Education opted for a well-known community figure who had taught generations of Horace Mann families over his 39 years in public education.

At the end of his first week as superintendent, Kessler told the Weekly he felt "really optimistic about the future." Update:

Kessler is approaching seven months as superintendent. During the summer, the district welcomed three new principals: Hawthorne's Ena LaVan, Beverly High's Dave Jackson and Horace Mann's Harvey Oaxaca.

"Gold is the New Orange" [Issue 808, March]

Anesthesiologist Julian Gold became the 50th person sworn in as Beverly Hills Mayor at the City Council's annual installation ceremony in March. "To be a nice Jewish boy from Queens, New York, who thought the Beach Boys were only kidding, this is surreal," Gold said in his first speech as mayor.

Days later, Gold sat down for an exclusive interview with the Weekly, wherein he discussed hot-button issues like the Water Master Plan and the Santa Monica Boulevard reconstruction project.

"One year from now, the city should be better than it is today," Gold said.

Update:

In the nine months since Gold became mayor, the Council has appointed a new city manager, hired an interim police chief, approved the firstever Beverly Hills dog park and carried out contentious talks with Board of # Education members about the Joint Powers Agreement.

Snowden Hangs up his Badge [Issue 820, June]

In an exclusive interview with the Weekly, former BHPD Chief Dave Snowden looked back on 49 years in law enforcement.

When asked how the BHPD compares to other police departments he had worked for, Snowden said, 'There's never been a community as far as I'm aware, that does police work better, that works more cohesively as a team [than Beverly Hills.]

Prior to serving Beverly Hills for 11 years, Snowden served as chief of the Costa Mesa and Baldwin Park police departments.

Update:

Snowden joined Englander Knabe & Allen, a strategic communications firm, as a senior advisor in July.

The former police chief oversees the firm's new Law Enforcement Executive Search and Training Practice and works in the law enforcement practice group.

Council moves forward with dog park; several issues not resolved [Issue 838]

On October 20, five hours into a marathon meeting, the City Council greenlit plans for a dog park at the corner of Alden Drive and Foothill Road. In recent months, the park has received widespread community attention, inspiring both supporters and opponents to air their opinions through many different forums.

The process of bringing a dog park to the city dates back to February 2010, when councilmember John Mirisch requested the Recreation & Parks Commission explore the possibility.

Update:

In November, the Council unanimously approved a Mitigated Negative Declaration (MND) and an agreement with RTK Architects for consultant design services for the industrial ate and former girls' basketball assistant committed to play in the fifth annual NFLPA Collegiate Bowl all-star game Jan. 23 at StubHub Center, organizers announced this week.

> Townsend is the second Beverly High alumnus to be chosen for the game, following Caylin Hauptmann, a 2009 graduate who played in the 2013 game.

> Townsend has made 43 tackles, including 5.5 for losses and two quarterback sacks, for the Trojans this season. He will conclude his USC career in Wednesday's Holiday Bowl against Wisconsin.

> The NFLPA Collegiate Bowl is conducted by the NFL Players Association in an attempt to introduce its more than 100 players to the association and business of the NFL.

> The teams will be coached by Mike Holmgren, who coached the Green Bay Packers to a victory in Super Bowl XXXI in 1997, and former St. Louis Rams coach Mike Martz.

All 32 NFL teams are expected to have representatives at the practices.

In the week leading up to the game, the players attend presentations from current and former players, union officials and others on topics including life skills, money management, the business of football, media and personal security, according to George Atallah, the assistant executive director of external affairs of the union representing the league's players.

husband Igor Korbatov denied the accusations.

Pursuant to the California Elections Code, voting twice is a crime punishable by jail time and a fine.

Update:

Although Igor threatened legal action, the Weekly has not heard from him since the story ran. The District Attorney is reportedly still looking into the matter.

Hacker, Spitz and Margo win [Issue 840, November]

Following a heated race, challengers Isabel Hacker and Mel Spitz and incumbent Noah Margo filled three seats on the Board of Education in November. Former Citizens' Oversight Committee member Hacker placed first with 1,952 votes. Spitz, who served on the Board from 1971 to 1979, earned 1,841 votes and Margo brought in 1,645 votes.

Carter Paysinger, a former Beverly High principal, finished fourth. Incumbent Lewis Hall, who repeatedly asserted the BHUSD is "doing great," came in last.

Update:

At the Board installation earlier this month, Spitz was named Vice President.

Over the course of several meetings, the new Board has deliberated the first interim budget report (see pg. 2); given direction to sell the district-owned residence on North Doheny Drive; moved forward with construction plans at El Rodeo, Beverly Vista and Horace Mann; and given Superintendent Steve Kessler direction to interview 12 candidates for the Chief of Facilities position.

Brien accepts job at Houston medical center, but how will his vacancy be filled? [Issue 840, November]

Following Councilmember Willie Brien's announcement in October that he has accepted a job at a Houston medical center, the Council debated possible options for filling the imminent vacancy.

When a council vacancy occurs, cities generally have two choices: appointing a person or holding a special election.

But around two weeks later, the Council approved the first reading of an ordinance drafted by the City Attorney's office that repeals the provisions in the municipal code regarding Council vacancies. This means the Council will have the option of either appointing Brien's successor or holding an election. Update:

After two months, Brien has not yet announced his resignation. If the councilmember steps down prior to February 8, the Council will have the option of calling an election for June 7. However, after that date, the Council must either appoint a successor or hold a November 8th election.
