Planning Commissioners Split on How to Address Council

Ryan Gohlich

At the end of their February 22 meeting, the Planning Commissioners discussed during “Communications from Commissioners” whether or not they should be allowed to speak as individuals at Council meetings.

Commissioner Joe Shooshani asked about the proper protocol for commissioners who want to speak at Council meetings. He expressed frustration that although the Planning Commission had discussed and ruminated over a recommendation regarding the Basement Ordinance for many hours, Chair Lori Greene Gordon spoke about the issue at a Council meeting in such a way that did not reflect the commission’s prior decision.

“We came to a conclusion and I think this is now a slap to our face,” said Shooshani. “We are a body of people and you’re our chair, but our body decided that. I hope that as our chairman you have the courtesy of keeping our ideas that we worked hard on.”

But Gordon retained that she had the “right and privilege” to speak on the matter, as she felt very strongly about it on an individual level.

“When I came to speak I spoke on my own my behalf. But I will tell you that it was an open meeting, and if you chose to speak differently you had the right to come and to speak as well. And you chose not to,” said Gordon. “I respect what you have to say and I appreciate that but I cannot in good conscience get up and say something that is antithetical to what I think is appropriate.”

City Planner Ryan Gohlich said that although “some language” in the City Code says commissioners should be clear about whether they’re speaking as an individual or as a whole, it is ultimately the commission’s decision to decide how they want to be represented.

“Normally the Chair represents the commission, but I think it’s something the commission as a whole could talk about if there’s some desire for a policy going forward, but there are no set rules,” said Gohlich.

704, 720 Metro Stops Changed

Due to the Santa Monica Boulevard reconstruction, the 704 stop at Crescent has been moved from North of City Hall to South of the Wallis—eastbound only.

Due to construction of the Purple Line Extension Project, the 20/720 Wilshire/

Beverly stop has been split into two stops at Wilshire/Rexford and Wilshire/Rodeo.

Traffic and Parking Commission Discusses Complete Streets Plan

The Traffic and Parking Commission discussed an update of the Complete Streets Plan for the City that works to address mobility for everyone and, according to Commissioner Nooshin Meshkaty, to “make the streets friendlier from every angle.”

Meshkaty said at the March 1 meeting that an app could help with mitigating parking issues by informing people where exactly they are and where they can find parking.

“We see a lot of visitors [and] residents cruising the streets trying to find parking,” said Meshkaty. “If we can provide the information for them, that would be an excellent way to take [a load] off the streets.”

The City Council supported the Complete Streets Plan public outreach process on February 6. They emphasized the importance of providing stakeholders with multiple opportunities to participate in the Complete Streets planning process—one of which will include community workshops.

The first workshop will take place on March 12, from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the Municipal Gallery at City Hall. The workshop will focus on introducing Complete Streets concepts, initiating the development of the vision and goals for the plan, and conducting table top exercises using maps and information boards to identify project corridors.

The Complete Streets Plan study is budgeted into the Capital Improvement Project for up to $149,953.

Santa Monica Boulevard to Get Pedestrian Scrambles

The Traffic and Parking Commission decided 4-1 on Tuesday to approve a recommendation for two pilot pedestrian scrambles along South Santa Monica Boulevard—pertaining particularly to Bedford and Rodeo Drives where vehicles back up on SSMB waiting to make a right turn.

A pedestrian scramble is a traffic signal phase that stops all vehicular traffic and allows pedestrians to cross an intersection in every direction simultaneously. A scramble can reduce potential vehicle turning conflicts with pedestrians by providing a longer pedestrian clearance time, such as “Don’t Walk.”

The longer clearance time is required due to the longer diagonal crossing distance versus a traditional crosswalk length. Pedestrian scrambles already exist in the Business Triangle, Santa Monica and Westwood.

But not everyone was in support. Chair David Seidel expressed concerns that a new pedestrian scramble on Bedford would have “significant implications.”

“It’s not so much that I’m worried about cars backing up onto North Santa Monica Boulevard, which I sort of am; I’m much more concerned about the signaled timing on North Santa Monica Boulevard,” said Seidel. “One of the ways to make North Santa Monica Boulevard work is to have the best modeling, the best engineering, and the most effective tweaking so the traffic flows at all times of the day and night along North Santa Monica Boulevard, and the one-way street on Bedford at South Santa Monica Boulevard has the risk of affecting that.”

Staff called the concerns “correctable.”

The decision follows the commission’s discussion of Santa Monica parking strategies on the January 4 and February 1 meetings. They voted 4-1 at that time to recommend the City Council adopt a “hybrid” alternative that would restore parking on the north side of the street, eliminate the eastbound left-turn pocket to Rodeo Drive and add three passenger-loading zones on the south side between Camden and Rodeo as a pilot project.

Board Talks School Safety

Sandra Spagnoli

For about three hours last Tuesday, the Board of Education discussed ways to increase school security measures. Part of this conversation included a presentation by BHPD Police Chief Sandra Spagnoli of the new “Adopt-a-School” Program.

According to Spagnoli, the program will implement the most current principles of geographical community policing in order to accomplish three main tasks: 1) maintaining a safe learning environment, 2) maintaining a regular police presence at the schools, 3) providing a resource for our youth, parents, educators and community members, and 4) magnify the reach of the police force through ongoing open dialogue between the officers assigned to each neighborhood and our youth, parents, educators and community members.

This means that patrol officers will be assigned and responsible for each individual school. Each will be assigned a Patrol Officer, share two School Resource Officers, and share two Juvenile Detectives.

The Adopt-a-School Officers will not replace the existing SROs, but rather act as an additional liaison between their assigned school and the community.

But some public commenters and Board members expressed concern that perhaps two SROs is not enough, many of whom asked for up to five.

“I love you guys, I just want more of you,” said Board President Lisa Korbatov. “We have to do a better job.”

Spagnoli defended the number of two SROs, stating that it goes back to “feeling safe versus being safe.”

“And I can promise you that we are safe,” said Spagnoli.

Council Discusses Study for North Canon Closure

Barbara Lazaroff

At their study session on Tuesday the City Council reviewed the traffic mitigation options for the Wilshire/Rodeo Purple Line Extension station construction.

This includes a cul-de-sac and full closure of North Canon Drive at Wilshire.

Staff anticipates that this closure will result in a reduced overall construction with a consistent traffic control pattern.

The item was initially introduced on June 27, 2017 when the Council approved an MOA for Metro construction work, authorizing staff to issue necessary permits for SCE underground utility relocation work for the future station.

At that time, Spago representatives advocated placing a tall sound wall, creating a cul-de-sac providing valet services to assist North Canon businesses.

According to the staff report, a key element of the Memorandum of Agreement was a feasibility analysis to study options to address noise, vibration, pollution generated by construction activity, and to mitigate possible driver confusion due to lane closures.

A feasibility analysis was subsequently conducted to evaluate potential impacts to nearby intersections during peak morning and afternoon commute hours and mid-day business hours with a North Canon closure. The study found that the project impact would be “potentially significant” to intersection operations.

The study provided measures to mitigate these impacts, such as providing advanced vehicle detour signage, updating traffic signal timings, and signaling the Clifton Way & North Crescent Drive intersection since vehicles will shift to North Crescent during the closure.

The traffic and Parking Commission reviewed the potential closure on February 1, voting 4-1 in favor of the impact analysis and recommending proceeding with the cul-de-sac design. On February 15 the Council Liaison Committee also reviewed the potential closure and recommended approval of the closure with a design that maximizes parking.

During Tuesday’s public comment, Spago co-founder Barbara Lazaroff commended the Traffic and Parking Commission for conducting the study and recommending the cul-de-sac. Lazaroff also supported using apps like Google and Waze to “reeducate traffic flow.”

“As an owner, 30-year resident, and designer, I think this is the most feasible way of handling the ongoing issues,” said Lazaroff. “Being able to educate the public—this is this most attractive and inclusive way of dealing with this longterm project.”

With the Council’s approval, the project will now go into the development phase. Staff plans to review design concepts with stakeholders this spring, and construction will begin in the fall.

City Council Approves New Re-Registration Procedures

Although divided, the City Council approved on Tuesday a recommendation by the Sunshine Task Force to require legislative advocates who have registered between February 9, 2017 and February 8, 2018 to re-register using new forms.

These will increase the period and distance of notice for projects from 10 to 20 days and from 500 feet to 1,000 feet. They also approved changing the Public Hearing procedures to provide generally for the following order of testimony: 1) the applicant team—including legislative advocates in support, 2) legislative advocates—those in opposition, 3) public, 4) rebuttal by applicant, and 5) rebuttal by public.

Vice Mayor Julian Gold expressed reservations about approving the amendments—particularly regarding the rebuttal period, stating that he’s “not there yet” because the changes are overwrought and not well-defined.

But others said it is “reasonable” for residents to have the last word.

1184 & 1183 Loma Linda Drive

“I think it is groundbreaking, and I think it’s about time,” said Councilmember John Mirisch.

Lago Vista resident Ronald Richards also advocated for the changes to the amendment. Although he expressed confidence that the rebuttal period would not be abused, Richards also pointed out that because it’s a policy, not an ordinance, the Council can make changes should it become unmanageable.

“But you won’t have to worry about every meeting running long into the night because not every single issue is going to have dozens of people,” said Richards. “I think generally people will be happier about the process.”

The Council split the item into two separate votes. The first, amending the municipal code regarding registration and public noticing requirements, passed 4-1, with Gold dissenting. The second, introducing the policy for quasi-judicial hearings, passed 3-2, with Gold and Councilmember Lester Friedman dissenting.

The decision follows the Council’s recently adopted ordinance amending the City’s legislative advocacy provisions that went into effect on February 9. The changes included additional reporting requirements on the Legislative Advocate registration form, like providing the range of compensation the Legislative Advocate is to be paid, whether the Legislative Advocate or an employer has ever been sanctioned for violating a lobbying ordinance and indicating whether they are an expenditure lobbyist.

But the Sunshine Task Force expressed concern at that time that the Legislative Advocates who filed before the February 9 effective date did not have to disclose additional information.

The new changes, they argued, will require them to provide that transparency or file a notice of termination of their legislative advocacy relationship.

Loma Linda Dispute Persists

An ongoing battle between angry neighbors and the developer at 1184 and 1193 Loma Linda Drive continued on Tuesday night, when the City reviewed the processing status of their building permit applications.

Initially proposed as by-right projects—projects that are permitted under their current zoning and do not require development reviews and public hearings—both became discretionary following the passage of grading limitation amendments in the Hillside area.

As a result, they were modified in an effort to remain by-right and comply with the new limitations. The Council, however, deferred their decision on vacating the storm drain easement on 1193 until the project was determined to be by-right and fully compliant.

The current status of 1193 includes 11 rounds of review through the City, one of which included an analysis of grading calculations by independent geotechnical engineering firm GeoKinetics.

The report concludes that the project will result in a total export of 1,925 cubic yards of earth material. This exceeds the City’s 1,500 cubic yard threshold for discretionary review by 425 yards, meaning the project is not eligible to obtain building permits.

GeoKinetics’ number vastly differs from the LC Engineering report’s estimated export of 1,427 cubic yards. It also dif-

The Council agreed to seek a third-party opinion on whether or not there is an estoppel issue, lot line adjustment issue, and whether or not the project is by-right—in order to be fair to both the residents and the applicant.

But Lago Vista resident Ronald Richards said the Council had initially reached consensus to have a vote on April 10 after the item receives an independent review.

“Now you’re trying to come up with an inorganic procedure to be fair, but in reality, things are sometimes not ready to be voted on and the residents raised a valid argument which you came up with a great solution—to send it out for review, but that doesn’t give the applicant a windfall because we’ve presented a factual dispute.”

Councilmember John Mirisch countered that the point is the project might not be by-right under the new ordinance.

Next Phase of Beverly Gardens Park Restoration Begins Next Week

Beginning March 12, Phase 3 of the Beverly Gardens Park Restoration Project will commence and includes restoring park blocks along Santa Monica Boulevard from Beverly Drive to Crescent Drive and from Arden Drive to Doheny Drive.

Beverly Gardens Park is a 1.9 mile linear park in Beverly Hills that spans 23 blocks on Santa Monica Boulevard from Wilshire Boulevard to Doheny Drive.

Construction on the block from Beverly Drive to Crescent Drive, where the Lily Pond and Beverly Hills Monument Sign are located, will be closed for approximately two and a half months to allow for new plantings, upgrade of irrigation system, enhanced protection for the monument sign and installation of pavers in the front of the Lily Pond.

With the monument sign and lily pond being one of the most photographed landmarks in the City by visitors, other options for photo opportunities include:

- Heart Wall behind Alfred’s Coffee, 490 North Beverly Drive
- Will Rogers Memorial Park, 9650 Sunset Boulevard
- Electric Fountain, Intersection of Wilshire Boulevard and Santa Monica Boulevard
- Beverly Hills Shield Sign at Beverly Hills Conference and Visitors Bureau, 9400 South Santa Monica Boulevard
- Two Rodeo Drive, Dayton Way and Rodeo Drive
- Beverly Hills City Hall, 455 North Rexford Drive

• Bijan’s Car on Rodeo Drive

In addition, intermittent blocks between Doheny Drive and Arden Drive will be closed to allow for construction, beginning with the block from Alpine Drive to Foothill Road, and four blocks between Arden Drive and Doheny Drive.

Beverly Gardens Park Rendering

The work will include demolition of site paving, new landscaping, new irrigation system, new decomposed granite walkways and lighting fixtures. The remaining eight eastern blocks will undergo construction later in the year. Completion of the entire restoration project is anticipated for mid-fall of this year.

The Beverly Gardens Park Restoration Project was initiated in 2011 by Beverly Hills resident and businessman, Steve Gordon; restoration efforts began in 2014. Mr. Gordon promoted restoring the park to its original condition with historic design elements and led a private fundraising effort in order to offset costs to the City of Beverly Hills.

Donations of $4 million earmarked for the Beverly Gardens Park Restoration Project through the Beverly Hills Community Charitable Foundation contributed to the restoration of the century-old landmark.

If interested in making a donation toward the Beverly Gardens Park Restoration Project through the Beverly Hills Community Charitable Foundation, contact Senior Management Analyst Stephanie Harris at 310-285-2531.

Zurich Chamber Orchestra to Come to the Wallis

Traditional and contemporary versions of Vivaldi's iconic "The Four Seasons" are juxtaposed in a distinctive program by the acclaimed Zürich Chamber Orchestra, led by Music Director Daniel Hope, who serves as violin soloist in both works, presented by the Wallis on Thursday, March 22 at 7:30 pm.

The concert includes Vivaldi's classic cycle of the famous Baroque violin concertos followed by Vivaldi Recomposed, Max Richter's contemporary minimalist take on the masterpiece. Hope, "among the best in the world" (The Observer), also conducts/performs Fabian Müller's Intermezzo III "Winter" for Violin and Ensemble.

"This fascinating program beautifully illustrates the continued relevance of classical music while showcasing the tremendous versatility of Daniel Hope and the Zürich Chamber Orchestra," says Paul Crewes, The Wallis' Artistic Director.

Vivaldi's The Four Seasons, published in 1725, is among classical music's most widely performed and recorded works, with its four separate but loosely connected concertos conveying the seasons: Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter.

Richter's Vivaldi Recomposed, written in 2012, transports Vivaldi's music into the 21st century, with postmodern elements substituting for the original's Baroque elements. Richter explains that composing the piece was "about reclaiming this music for me personally, by getting inside it and rediscovering it for myself."

The Zürich Chamber Orchestra, considered one of the world's leading chamber ensembles, has performed around the globe and recorded for numerous labels, including Omega, Novalis, Claves, Teldec, CPO and Sony.

South African-born, London-raised, Hope enjoys a distinguished career as both violinist and conductor. The recipient of the prestigious 2015 Cultural Prize for Music, Hope released in March 2017 his latest album, "For Seasons," a personal homage to the seasons featuring works dedicated to each month of the year as well as The Four Seasons by Vivaldi, accompanied by the Zürich Chamber Orchestra. His recording of Richter's Vivaldi Recomposed, which reached No. 1 in more than 22 countries, is among the most successful classical recordings in recent times. A prolific recording artist, Hope has recorded exclusively Deutsche Grammophon since 2007.

This season, Preludes @ The Wallis returns to enhance the audience experience, providing a free pre-concert conversation with artists and special guests one hour prior to each Music @ The Wallis classical music performance. Classical KUSC's Brian Lauritzen will discuss each program on the Bram Goldsmith Theater stage allowing attendees a deeper dive into the evening's music while also offering a complimentary glass of wine courtesy of The Henry Wine Group.

Single tickets for Zürich Chamber Orchestra, led by Music Director Daniel Hope, are now available for $25 - $75. For more information or to purchase tickets, visit TheWallis.org.

BHHS girls' basketball team wins second consecutive Southern Section championship

Rebounding edge critical in 50-46 victory

By Steven Herbert

Back-to-back baskets by sophomore forward Chantal Moawad in the final two minutes, 29 seconds gave Beverly High the lead for good as the Normans won an unprecedented second consecutive Southern Section championship with a 50-46 victory over Flintridge Prep.

Moawad scored eight of Beverly Hills' final nine points in the Southern Section Division 3A final Saturday at Colony High in Ontario.

Moawad's jump shot with 2:29 to play broke a 41-41 tie. Her layup with 1:46 remaining increased the Normans lead to 45-41.

Kaitlyn Chen's jump shot pulled the Rebels back within two, 45-43, with 1:09 left, but Beverly Hills regained a four-point lead on Moawad's layup with 37 seconds remaining.

Chen's 3-point basket with 24.5 seconds to play cut the lead to 47-46, but Flintridge Prep would not score again.

Moawad made two free throws with four seconds left giving the Normans a 49-46 lead. Chen missed a potentially tying 3-point shot with 2.4 seconds to play. Arbri Gillis made the first of two free throws with 1.7 seconds remaining to seal the victory.

Beverly Hills coach John Braddell credited the victory to "hard work, defense, rebounding and offensive rebounding."

Moawad pulled down a game-high 25 rebounds – 13 defensive and 12 offensive – and freshman guard Michelle Duchemin 12 – seven defensive and five offensive – as the Normans out-rebounded the Rebels, 52-38.

"We just attacked the boards voraciously," Braddell said. "That's exactly what we do – ball goes up, we go get ball. It's a testament to the hard work and the tenacity of the whole team."

Braddell praised senior forward Dominique Petrie for doing a "fantastic job" guarding Chen "trying to deny her the ball."

"I thought that was one of the keys," Braddell said.

Chen, a sophomore shooting guard-small forward, scored a game-high 19 points, making seven of 15 2-point shots, one of four 3-point shots and two of four free throws.

Duchemin led the Normans with 15 points, 10 in the second quarter as Beverly Hills outscored Flintridge Prep, 14-11, tying the score, 22-22 at halftime. Duchemin made two jump shots to end the first half.

Moawad added 14, eight in the fourth quarter.

Moawad almost didn't have the opportunity for her late-game heroics as she picked up her third foul 2:41 before halftime, which sent her to the bench. She returned with 19 seconds left in the first half and didn't commit another foul the rest of the game.

"I made sure to keep my hands up and not swing," Moawad said. "At the beginning I was swinging my hands down, but I ended up hitting them."

"Coach Braddell yelled at me a little bit, then I got my head straight and just kept my hands up and body in front of them."

There were 11 ties and three lead changes in a game neither team held more than a four-point lead for all but an eight-second span of the third quarter.

The Normans (24-5) scored six consecutive points to take their biggest lead – 33-27 – with 2:14 left in the third quarter. Moawad began the run with a layup with 3:07 remaining in the quarter, then made one of two free throws 31 seconds later.

Megan Saghian ended the run with a 3-point basket with 2:14 to play in the quarter. Rebels freshman guard Sofia Gonzalez made a 3-point basket eight seconds later.

Saghian's jump shot with two seconds left in the third quarter put Beverly Hills up 37-33.

Flintridge Prep (24-6) scored the first six points of the fourth quarter to take what would be its final lead, 39-37, with 4:54 remaining.

Saghian added eight, including two 3-point baskets in the fourth quarter, Gillis five, Isabel Rund four and Krystal Brown and Petrie two each.

The Normans made 20 of 56 2-point shots, 35.7 percent, two of 16 3-point shots, 12.5 percent and four of nine free throws, 44.4 percent.

The Rebels made 16 of 36 2-point shots, 44.4 percent, three of 17 3-point shots, 17.6 percent, and five of 10 free throws, 50 percent.

Combined with last season's Division 4A championship, this is the first time a Beverly High team in a team sport has won back-to-back Southern Section championships.

What's Next?

The Normans faced Oxford Academy in a Division III state tournament first-round game Wednesday that ended after the Beverly Hills Weekly's deadline.

If seventh-seeded Beverly Hills won, it would face the winner of the game between second-seeded Warren and 15th-seeded Legacy Saturday at 6 p.m. The highest-seeded team in the first two rounds of the state tournament is the home team.

Boys' Lacrosse

Long Beach Poly 5, Beverly Hills 4

Brian Harward and fellow senior Josh Ponnick both scored twice for the Normans in their nonleague season opener March 1 at Beverly Hills.

Beverly Hills led 3-2 entering the fourth quarter. The score was tied, 2-2, at halftime. The Jackrabbits scored the only goal of the fourth quarter.

Henry Grote made five saves and allowed two goals. Fellow Norman goaltender Jacob Fox made four saves and allowed three goals.

What's Next?

The Normans are scheduled to play host to Culver City Friday at 6 p.m., play at El Segundo Monday at 3 p.m. and play at Downey Wednesday at 4 p.m.

MAGBIT FOUNDATION TO HONOR SEP SARSHAR

Sarshar will receive the “Excellence in Professional Service” Award March 25

By Olivia Anderson

How did you first get involved with Magbit?

I got a call from [Vice President] Doran [Adhami] asking if I'd be interested in receiving the award this year and I said “Sure. It's a great honor.” [Magbit] gives out money and scholarships to students who can't afford it. What I heard from Doran is that they wanted someone to get up there who has achieved something through education, so they can use that as a way to get people to donate more money so that they can put students through college and get them educated. My education allowed me to get to a certain point in my life and achieve certain things, and so therefore it's good to [support] education.

Tell us about the award you'll be receiving on March 25. What does it mean to you?

Well, as part of my career, I was a scientist for many years. I was in the pharmaceutical industry for about 20 years, and I started my own company about 15 years ago—the point of which was to try and reduce side effects of an existing drug so that patients wouldn't be suffering from all these weird side effects when taking the drug. We wanted to make them safer. My company developed a platform technology that is widely applicable to a lot of different drugs on the market. As part of that, my company went public in 2014 and got acquired by Teva pharmaceuticals, which is a big Israeli firm, in 2015.

Doran and the Board of Magbit saw this as a big achievement—for somebody to go through life and go to college and get a degree and start a company and make a big impact on the medical community. So they wanted me to stand up and talk about it.

What about the award made you want to say “Yes”?

To be totally honest, I'm not the type of person who really likes to get awards. I'm a little low-key. I know a lot of people on the Board of Magbit, so when they asked me and they told me why they wanted me to talk and to go up there and say something, and because it's for a good cause—to help other people who are not fortunate to get a good education—I thought it would be a good use of my time. So that's why I said yes.

How did you get involved with the pharmaceutical industry?

When I got my Ph.D. in 1994, my specialty was organic chemistry. That entails designing molecules from scratch and developing routes to optimize production on a commercial scale. There are two routes for a chemist who goes down that way: one is either to go into academia and work on pie-in-the-sky [ideas], or you can get into an industrial setting. As far as an industrial setting goes, there are two options: one is to become a researcher who works on a variety of different drugs, or you can get into actual production plant scenarios where you are taking a drug that has been approved and then scaling that up to make tons of it. The first option seemed more up my alley because I was always interested in medicine and coming up with cures for diseases to help people. So that's what got me into the pharmaceutical industry, and that route for chemists is called medicinal chemistry—[it's] people who work on developing drugs and things like that.

Your company, Auspex Pharmaceuticals, was sold in 2015. Tell us about that.

I originally worked for a startup company in San Diego doing some of that kind of work and then I left that company after three years and joined another mid-sized company that got acquired by Pfizer. I was there for about three years and then decided to leave and start my own company.

Starting [Auspex] was based on the fact that I felt there was a need to try and help improve drugs that are currently on the market. I knew a lot of them were good but a lot of them had side effects. That was a big driving point—is there a way to not reinvent the wheel but improve the existing drugs that are on the market? That is not an easy task. Part of the problem is that as soon as you tweak anything on an existing drug, you tend to change a lot of its characteristics. If you buy a house and you want to remodel it, you can change the front door to another front door and it's really not going to be a big deal. The house is going to still look the same and act the same. But for drug design, if you were to take a drug that looks like a house and change the front door, you would essentially end up with a completely different thing. So, we had to come up with a way to preserve 99.9 percent of all the characteristics of the drug but then reduce the way it acts on the body so that it wouldn't cause side effects.

“It would be a shame if we left another Einstein on the sidewalk and [didn't] allow that person to make contributions to humanity that could potentially change everybody's life. I think Magbit is doing a great job, and I support it.”

—Sep Sarshar

The large pharma companies aren't necessarily good at developing new products. They're gigantic marketing companies that are very good at taking something into the clinic and from the clinic into the market. So they depend on a continuous stream of new products that are being sent to them from smaller startup companies. In our industry, what drives an acquisition is the likelihood of the drug being approved, and what the market share of that drug is going to be.

The chances of success in the pharmaceutical industry are less than one percent. There's a lot of money that goes in but getting a return on your money isn't always guaranteed. So the large pharma companies look for new products that can generate a lot of money [and] are far along on their development path where they're not taking a huge risk. We fit that type of mold really well because what we were doing was not reinventing the wheel; we were taking a drug that was on the market and simply improving its safety profile. It made our approach low-risk.

Tell us about your family.

I'm not married. I'm single; I don't have any children. It's my parents, basically, and me and my brother [Houman], who is about a year and a half younger than me. My dad [Nejat] was an electrical engineer and my mom [Homa] is a journalist. She has a weekly radio show in the Persian community. She's been a journalist [and writer] most of her life. She wrote about politics, interviewed a lot of different people. If you wanted to compare, she's the Persian community's [equivalent of] Diane Sawyer. She's well-known in the community, and both of my parents are involved with a lot of the different Jewish organizations in LA.

What would you like readers to know about the Magbit Foundation and the importance of promoting education?

That is really the reason why I'm doing this. I think there are a lot of people out there who are smart and have something to offer, but unfortunately they don't have the means to achieve what they want. It would be a shame if we left another Einstein on the sidewalk and [didn't] allow that person to make contributions to humanity that could potentially change everybody's life. I think Magbit is doing a great job, and I support it.

Project Description

The City is seeking a firm which will work with a Steering Committee to create community engagement framework (ex. public meetings, focus groups, surveys, interviews, online tools) to help determine the needs of Beverly Hills residents and stakeholders regarding the La Cienega Community Center and Park.

The firm selected will reach out to Beverly Hills residents via multiple means, such as public meetings, focus groups, surveys, use of online tools, etc. to gather public feedback on the type of uses and activities that should take place at the Center and Park. Additionally, the firm will engage the various stakeholders, such as staff, preschool parents, regular renters of the rooms, contract instructors and their class participants, youth sports organizations, etc. regarding the opportunities and challenges with the current

Center and Park.

This data will be compiled and used to make recommendations as to whether the current park and community center facilities and amenities meets the needs of users and the community, or whether renovations need to be made, or whether a new building needs to be constructed. Furthermore, the data will be used to determine whether any other design improvements or changes are required. The firm will also gather feedback on the replacement of the playground structure which is reaching the end of its useful life, as well as other desired park amenities.
