Tensions flare as local animal hospital fights eminent domain By Ryan Vaillancourt

Following an earnest and often animated show of opposition from community members regarding the proposed plan to purchase Anthony Shipp's property at 351 North Foothill Drive by way of eminent domain, the City Council opted unanimously on Tuesday to delay its decision.

For 30 years, the property has housed Dr. Shipp's Animal Hospital and the Amanda Foundation, a non-profit organization that rescues animals from the pound and provides affordable spay and neuter services via a mobile clinic. The property also directly abuts the Public Works Building.

The City Manager's Office claims that the purchase of Shipp's property is necessary to the public good, as it allegedly inhibits the ingress and egress of City vehicles at the Public Works facility.

According to Daniel Cartagena, Project Manager for the City Manager's office, the driveway that currently services the Public Works parking facility is not wide enough to accommodate the two-way traffic of large vehicles, such as trash trucks. To widen the driveway, the City would have to extend it into what is now the parking lot for Dr. Shipp's Animal Hospital.

Tuesday's meeting and the proposed use of eminent domain comes after the City had made two previous requests for a negotiated purchase of the property, both of which Shipp denied.

The City attempted to negotiate a compromise with Shipp, offering in private meetings to purchase only the parking lot, which is on a separate parcel of land from the building that houses both the animal hospital and the Amanda Foundation. "Dr. Shipp felt that they couldn't operate the veterinary hospital without a parking lot, so it was not an acceptable alternative in his eye," Cartagena said. "So now we move forward with the original request for both parcels."

While the City's initial offer did not mention an immediate need for the northern parcel of Shipp's property, they unveiled on Tuesday a plan to build a "small warehouse" on that part of the land. The warehouse would be used to store City inventory of equipment and materials.

There is no proposed timeline for the warehouse, but City Manager Rod Wood insisted that the City would delay construction until Dr. Shipp retires. At that time, they would also accommodate the relocation of the Amanda Foundation within Beverly Hills.

Dr. Shipp contends that his business requires parking access for customers.

Wood repeatedly acknowledged the City's appreciation for the important services provided to the community by Dr. Shipp's Animal Hospital and the Amanda Foundation. Indeed, the services they provide seem invaluable to such an animal-loving community as Beverly Hills, where veterinary service is already surprisingly limited.

"We're one of the only non-profits that accepts volunteers seven days a week and 365 days a year," said Teri Austen, who is president of the Amanda Foundation. Austen stressed the importance of the Amanda Foundation as a community epicenter, where volunteers of all ages show up to walk dogs and help maintain the facility on a daily basis.

In her address to the Council, Austen expressed a degree of gratitude for the City's apparent desire to keep her group in the city, but she remains suspicious that such relocation is even possible.

The current location on North Foothill

Drive is ideal because it is an industrial zone and the constant din of barking dogs is not a public nuisance there. Any other location would have to be at least as far removed from residential land as the current building. The Council agrees that Austen's group deserves a home - but that's the easy part. "Please don't make your decision on intent and desire," she urged the Council, "but on firm legal resolution."

Legal resolution or not, it may prove exceedingly difficult to find another location for the Amanda Foundation. "There's nowhere to go," said Shipp, "not in Beverly Hills."

"The project the City has proposed is uncertain," said eminent domain attorney Kevin Brogan, who is representing Shipp on the issue. "The City has failed to investigate alternatives, which the City must do," said Brogan. He then urged the City to send its staff back to the drawing board and find a way to proceed without taking Shipp's property. "The City will be advised not to adopt the resolution, and if it does so, it will be defeated in Court," he said.

City cannot use eminent domain to acquire Shipp's property if that property is not necessary for the completion of its project. More than one community member urged the that would have housed a parking facility, vehicle shop, and necessary storage space. Such a vertically designed building would have diminished the City's need to acquire more real estate, but according to Wood, it

City to consider building the proposed warehouse on land that they already own, some of them citing the expanses of barren land just south of the Public Works Building.

Wood explained at the meeting, however, that all of the City-owned land that surrounds the Public Works Building is slated for future development and is unavailable for the proposed warehouse. He also suggested that the City made efforts to stack their facilities in the Public Works yard after the 1994 Northridge earthquake caused unsalvageable damage to a number of facilities. The City considered building one multi-use structure proved to be considerably more expensive than building horizontally. The City had allotted $9 million for reconstruction, Wood said, and the proposed multi-use structure had an estimated cost of $32 billion.

Several community members that addressed the Council insisted that the City's current needs could be met by building on City-owned property across the street from the Public Works building. That property, which is on the east side of North Foothill Road and directly across the street from the Shipp property, is currently serving as storage for equipment that may be destined for the proposed warehouse, wherever it ends up.

The City expressed its wish to stay within the confines of the existing Public Works yard however, as there are increased costs of operations associated with "segregated" facilities. The estimated cost associated with a segregated facility was determined to be somewhere between $300,000 and $500,000 a year, said Wood, who at times had to speak over boos from the audience.

A few community members voiced concerns that the City has ulterior motives in moving to purchase the Shipp property, citing rumors of private development and a general disregard for the public good among the Council. Proposition 90, which would restrict the City's eminent domain powers, looms in November and could be a motivating factor for accelerating the purchase of the Shipp property. Wood insisted that Proposition 90, if enacted, would not affect this issue because the legislation refers specifically to cases of eminent domain in which land is taken and sold to developers to increase tax revenue.

"We have absolutely every intention to use the property for public uses," said Wood. If not, he added, it would be his recommendation to sell the property back to Dr. Shipp if it were not being used for public purposes.

After over two hours of testimony, the Council was not ready to make a decision. They will hear the issue again in two weeks, when the Council meets again on October 17th.

For now, Dr. Shipp and the Amanda Foundation can stay put.

AB 1677 would have enabled public health agencies to provide condoms to state prison inmates in order to control the spread of HIV/AIDS in communities outside of prison.

California prisons house over 162,083 individuals among whom the HIV infection rate is estimated to be eight times higher than in the general population of Los Angeles County. Studies show that between 40 and 60 percent of prison inmates engage in sexual activity while incarcerated. As is the case in most U.S. prison systems, condoms are considered contraband by the California Department of Corrections.

Condoms are available in prisons in the District of Columbia, Vermont, and Philadelphia as well as in Canada, South Africa, most of the European Union, and parts of Latin America. Among jail systems, New York City, Los Angeles, and San Francisco allow condoms for the incarcerated.

American Jewish to honor Warner Bros. CEO

The American Jewish Committee (AJC) will present Barry Meyer, Chairman & CEO, Warner Bros. Entertainment, with the Dorothy and Sherrill C. Corwin Human Relations Award at a gala dinner to be held in his honor on Thursday, October 19, 2006, at the Regent Beverly Wilshire Hotel in Beverly Hills. The event, with a theme of "A Celebration of Understanding," will feature Senator Patrick Leahy as the keynote speaker.

Named in memory of Sherrill C. Corwin, a respected film industry figure, and his wife Dorothy, the Corwin Award is given to outstanding leaders in the entertainment and communications industries - individuals whose professional and civic endeavors have helped to promote tolerance, understanding and cooperation. Throughout their lives, the Corwins worked to promote and support a number of humanitarian causes within the entertainment industry and in the community-at-large.

Barry Meyer became Chairman & CEO of Warner Bros. in October 1999 after serving as the studio's Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer since April 1994. Inside the Battle for an Ethics Law

Thought Last Week's Issue Was Familiar? By Rudy Cole

Normally, most newspaper goofs have to do with headlines, jumps (continued to another page stories,) wrong captions and the usual assortment of typos. Last week, however, the Weekly had the ultimate nightmare: Because of a mistake at the printers, it distributed the same issue as the previous week.

Clearly, we have loyal readers, just not our distributors and printers. Early warning messages came from Marty Geimer, at 6:30 a.m., who checked his whole street to make sure it was indeed a reprinted issue, and next former Mayor Donna Ellman. If this was a test to see if our readers actually were paying attention, it worked. The calls and emails continued all day. Incidentally, the same thing once happened to a metropolitan Los Angeles newspaper, not the Times.

Newspaper "errors" frequently become legends. The most often cited headline was the Chicago Tribune's "Dewey Wins" in 1948 when Harry Truman was the actual victor spoiling Da Trib's fondest hopes. The real classic, however, was an Ohio paper's headline for their community's annual event: "Duck Season Opens" with one tiny misprint.

I've had my own. When I labored at the Los Angeles Daily (Law) Journal I once failed to spot a photo blunder. Transposed were captions for the incoming president of the State Bar of California, Joe Ball, and a soon to be executed Carryl Chessman. Veteran residents still remind me of the headline: "Century City Will Never Get Off Ground."

Last word did come from a councilmember who said my column wasn't really good enough to run again.

Meanwhile, back at the council, the debate, if it can be called that, on the need for an "ethics" ordinance continues. Our problems do seem quite trivial when compared with that of the Congress, which has, not only a tough "ethics" law, but an equally rigid set of rules of conduct. Nevertheless, Congressmen are indicted, resign when exposed – probably not the best choice of words here, and confronted with improper contacts with staff and pages, this time of the same sex and under aged.

However, the city that has never in all of its history ever had an elected official or staff member accused of any crime, labors for weeks on the appropriateness of rules of conduct for former mayors, councilmembers, city staff and commissioners.

There are some common sense approaches, hard to achieve in an election year, but let's try. First some background: The word "lobbyist" is a generic term for people who try to influence elected officials by working from the corridors of government meeting places.

Or, being banned from entering the halls of congress or legislatures, they try to talk to politicians in the lobbies.

Lobbyists play an important role in government, not all nefarious. They are most often experts in fields of interest and provide important information to decision makers and their staffs. Yes, they want to win favorable actions for clients, but they also fill an important void. Not only legislative sensitive "special interests" such as banking, tobacco, utilities, defense, pharmaceuticals and air lines, to mention some with regulatory concerns, employ lobbyists, but so do teachers, farmers, doctors, law enforcement, consumers and environmentalists. The City and County of Los Angeles has lobbyists in both Sacramento and Washington and even Beverly Hills has retained a lobbying company. The League of Women Voters and the trade unions also employ lobbyists.

What we are considering is very strict rules on the conduct of elected officials, and possibly city staff, once they leave city service. Inevitably, this has become very personal and examples of behavior of some former mayors are being cited, and often not in context.

One of the leaders of a homeowner association, arguing for an ethics ordinance, even made the absurd suggestion that our elected officials should not ever consider running for higher office. Aside from the constitutional issues, why not have a former Beverly Hills mayor serve us in the legislature?

First, there is one rule that should clearly apply and that was not in the first draft of an ethics law. Once leaving the council, no councilmember should work directly or indirectly for any person or company that had any business with the city, whether on a development issue or contract. More simply, suppose the city grants a contract for a cable company and a councilmember becomes their lawyer after retiring from the council? This, at least to me, would be the most blatant kind of conflict. Who proposed this rule? Lawyer and Mayor Steve Webb, and he is to be commended for patching a big hole in the ordinance.

Councilmember Barry Brucker has been the most vocal supporter of an "ethics" ordinance and he too deserves our gratitude for stimulating the deliberation on a complicated issue.

So, who are the "lobbyists" and what is their rudy cont. on page 9

Football Normans Seek To Resume Winning Ways

Team To Face Pasadena Blair Friday After Loss to Manhattan Beach Mira Costa.

By Steven Herbert

A 14-point first-quarter lead wasn't enough to end Beverly High's football losing streak to Manhattan Beach Mira Costa.

Thanks in large measure to Adrien Dotson's 289 yards on 34 carries and 44yard return of a Norman fumble that set up a touchdown, Beverly Hills lost for the sixth consecutive time to the Mustangs, 27-14, in a nonleague game at Mira Costa Friday night.

"Physically, we played very well," Norman coach Carter Paysinger said. "We didn't make the big plays when we needed to make plays and in a game like this, you got to do that. I'm really pleased with how physical our kids were and how tough we played."

The game began auspiciously for Beverly Hills (3-1), with Gerald Hill recovering Nick DeLucia's fumble on the opening kickoff.

However, a holding play on the Normans' first play from scrimmage led them to turn the ball over on downs.

On its second possession, Beverly Hills drove 69 yards on six plays, culminating with Gerald McGee's five-yard touchdown run.

The referees initially ruled that the Normans scored again on the ensuing kickoff when Erik Munzer recovered Dotson's fumble and returned the ball four yards for a touchdown. Trevor Charleston added the extra point and the scoreboard read that Beverly Hills was ahead 14-0.

However, it was not to be.

The officiating crew ruled that Dotson never had possession of the ball, meaning Munzer could not return it. Ordinarily, it would have been too late to reverse the call, because a call cannot be changed after another play is run.

However, an extra point is not considered a play because it is an untimed down.

The Normans were given the ball on the Mira Costa four-yard-line. The changed call would be rendered academic two plays later when McGee ran one yard for a score officially giving Beverly Hills a 14-0 lead with one minute, 42 seconds left in the first quarter.

The breaks continued to go the Normans' way on the Mustangs' next possession. Mira Costa appeared to be heading to the end zone, with Dotson running for six-, seven-, 13, 14- and 15-yard gains. An 11-yard run by Dotson gave the Mustangs a first-and-goal on the Beverly Hills nine.

But they were unable to go any further, as Dotson fumbled on the next play, with David Roston recovering for the Normans.

Mira Costa (3-1) would not be denied on its next possession. Taking over on the Beverly Hills 28 after Sam Forrest's 24yard punt, Dotson ran for a pair of 13-yard gains. Alex Probasco ran two yards for a touchdown on the next play.

A defensive play by Dotson set up the Mustangs' next score. Dotson recovered a fumble by Norman running back Ramon Jenkins and returned the ball 34 yards to the Beverly Hills 29.

Dotson ran on five of the drive's seven plays, including a pair of third-down conversions. Quarterback Taylor Morrow ran six yards for what should have been the tying score, but T.J. Thormodsgaard's extra point kick was blocked, keeping the Normans ahead, 14-13, 52 seconds before halftime.

Mira Costa began its first drive of the second half on the Beverly Hills after Forrest's 35-yard punt. Dotson ran for 79 yards on the second play of the drive and a personal foul penalty tacked on to the end of the play put the ball on the Norman eight. Probasco scored on the next play. Thormodsgaard's extra point was good this time, giving the Mustangs a 20-14 lead with 4:52 left in the third quarter.

In what would be its only chance to regain the lead, Beverly Hills drove the Mira Costa 27, when quarter Meyer Linter (11 for 18 for 86 yards) was sacked for a 10-yard loss, forcing a punt which went into the end zone.

The Mustangs got the ball back with 7:41 left. Dotson ran on each of the first 10 plays of the drive, gaining 43 yards. Mira Costa was seemingly about to run out the clock when Dotson ran 37 yards for a touchdown in the final minute.

The loss ended the Normans' 13-game regular-season undefeated streak and their hopes of starting a season 4-0 for the first time since 1996.

Before the game, Paysinger said the game against a fellow Southern Section Western Conference team would serve as a "measuring stick" about its progress. When asked about that after the game, Paysinger responded, "I think we're in good shape."

What's Next?

The Normans are scheduled to play Pasadena Blair (2-2) Friday at 7 p.m. at Culver City in their final nonleague game of the season.

The loss to Mira Costa dropped the Normans one spot to sixth in the Western Conference poll released Monday. The Mustangs rose two spots to fourth.

Boys' Water Polo

Beverly Hills 16, Encino Crespi 7 Andrew Hopp scored seven goals and Mikey Lee four for the Normans in a nonleague game at the Swim-Gym Sept. 26.

Beverly Hills led 3-1 at the end of the first quarter, 8-3 at halftime and 12-6 entering the fourth quarter.

Benji Koltai added two goals for the Normans and Daniel Ilinsky, Jonathan Pony and Micah Smith one each.

Beverly Hills goaltender Alex Rosenthal made six saves.

Beverly Hills 15, Sherman Oaks Notre Dame 12

Lee scored five goals, Hopp four and Koltai three in a nonleague game at the Swim-Gym Sept. 27.

The Normans (12-1) led 4-2 at the end of the first quarter, 9-5 at halftime and 14-9 entering the fourth quarter.

Ilinsky, Pony and Smith each scored once.

Rosenthal made eight saves.

What's Next?

The Normans are scheduled to play at Santa Monica Friday and Los Angeles Milken Monday at Stephen S. Wise Temple Monday in Ocean League games beginning at 3 p.m.

Beverly Hills fell two places to ninth in the Division VI poll released Monday.

Girls' Volleyball

Torrance def. Beverly Hills, 17-25, 25-10, 25-21, 26-24

The Normans were unable to capitalize on their opportunities to win Game 3 and Game 4 in a nonleague match at Torrance Sept. 26.

Game 3 was tied, 21-21, when the Tartars benefited from some unforced Beverly Hills errors to score the final four points to wrap up the victory, Norman coach Marla Weiss said.

Beverly Hills was serving with a 24-21 lead in Game 4, then allowed the final five points, Weiss said.

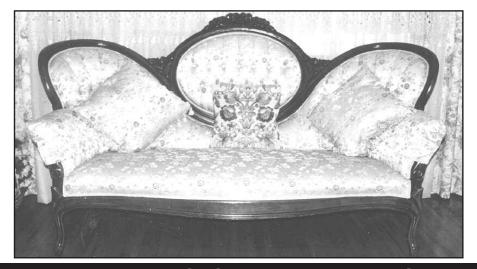

"We definitely played well enough to win," Weiss said. "Torrance thus far is the best competition we've competed against this."

Weiss blamed the loss in part of the inability of the younger players to continue to stay relaxed and playing aggressively and some of the experienced players "freezing up" in the latter stages of the games.

Deborah Frantz led the Normans with 18 kills and 11 digs, while Jocelyn Karlan and Rebecca Rosen each had eight digs.

The Normans rallied from deficits in the fourth and fifth games to win a nonleague match at the Swim-Gym last Thursday.

Beverly Hills trailed 13-9 in Game 5 and got "strong serving" from Bettina Shore and played "very, very good volleyball" for the victory, Weiss said.

The Normans trailed 18-11 in Game 4, when Frantz served five consecutive points to begin their comeback, Weiss said.

The victory "gives the team confidence they can play against a solid program and it doesn't matter what the deficit is," Weiss said.

Frantz had 17 kills and 17 digs, Nicole Winegred had 17 digs, Rosen and Shore 15 each and Karlan 10 for Beverly Hills (6-5).

influence? First, we made the term more user friendly – in Beverly Hills we use the word legislative advocate and our present ordinances require they register or declare their representation, if for pay, when they appear at a council or commission meeting.

In terms of number of clients and longest history, Murray Fischer wins the race. He has been doing representation of developers for more than 20 years and has never held a commission position or served on the council. He did run once, many years ago, but was not elected.

After Murray, the most active is former Mayor Joseph Tilem. A new member of Tilem's firm is Mitchell Dawson who is a former planning commissioner. In no special order, other legislative advocates include former Mayor Allan Alexander, former planning commissioner Ron Rosen, former mayor Les Bronte (probably only one major client) and Judie Fenton. (Disclosure note: In the past five years, I have represented five clients who had matters before a commission or the council. These include the Snyder apartment project on Crescent, Whole Foods, Cirrus Medical, Sotheby's and Advanced Radiology (on a permit parking issue). I have represented others as a consultant but not as a representative and I handled an appeal for a service station on a beer and wine license. Unfortunately, not the big buck clients.

But the poster boy for the proposed ordinance is former Mayor and former Board of Education president Mark Egerman. Regarded by many as highly ethical, it was his integrity, his lack of involvement with developers that was most often cited as giving credibility to the Montage Hotel and Gardens project's success. Mark does not now nor did he ever represent the hotel. However, within days of leaving the city council, Egerman became part of the team representing the Hilton Hotels and apparently will be representing the William Morris agency in their bid for a new headquarters building in the triangle.

Two former mayors who have been involved in the debate or at least lead organizations supporting a tough ethics ordinance need mentioning. Richard Stone, although he rescued himself during deliberations, did represent a developer in a highly controversial, litigation driven land use issue while he was mayor and Robert K. Tanenbaum did sue the police and the city after leaving the council. Former Mayor Thomas Levyn has also been named by proponents of the ethics ordinance, but his only apparent involvement was being paid a finder's fee in the sale of the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

Some other interesting historical notes about these mayor/lobbyists: Tilem first came into public view as a vocal opponent of a proposed Bank of America building on Little Santa Monica. He was, and this may surprise some current members, a former president of the Municipal League. Alexander helped rejuvenate the Southwest Beverly Hills Homeowners, along with then close ally and friend, Ken Goldman and both fought against a much larger than built Neiman Marcus. Goldman and Egerman were among the leaders of the campaign to keep the Four Seasons out of Beverly Hills. Stone led the fight to prevent unlimited conversion of apartments to condominiums and was a strong backer of rent control.

Having a lawyer/mayor or other major player as your lobbyist doesn't always help. Ken Goldman represented Gelson's, Judie Fenton was pushing for a theatre complex and Alexander for a southwest area hotel, all turned down by the city council.

The argument often made, with some merit, is that these "insiders" frequently help avoid overreaching by developers. They know what is more doable. However, the most compelling reason for giving these legislative advocates credibility is what they give back in terms of community service.

Although not on the same side on a pending matter, Egerman and Alexander are co-chairs of the city committee studying the proposed subway, at considerable cost of time.

Fischer and Tilem are both past presidents of the Maple Counseling Center as was Bronte. Judie Fenton does good works for many charities. Each of them has given far more time and energy to city needs than any of the "activists" who support a tough ethics law.

However, much of what Brucker and the North Homeowners Association are pushing needs to be considered and eventually adopted. Webb's insightful additions also close some serious gaps in the original draft ordinance.

Probably, the best preventive action is to require candidates for council to pledge they will not, when leaving the council, come back for at least two years to represent clients.

How an ethics ordinance effects recent or current councilmembers is not entirely clear, but it could and might change the chemistry of major city disputes.

coverstory ETHICAL ORDINANCE FINALLY PASSED Council Votes to Adopt Revised Ethics Ordinance.

By Shanna Green

The Beverly Hills City Council voted unanimously last night to approve the Code of Ethics and Conduct Policy which stipulated that any elected officials, city officials and Planning Commissioners who are part of a decision to approve a development application or a contract, except for those required to go to the lowest bidder, must wait three years from the date of the decision to lobby for or receive any compensation from the applicant exceeding $500.

The newly adopted ordinance would prohibit former Councilmembers, city officials and Planning Commissioners from representing a party on behalf of the issue which they submitted to the city or brought before the council. This would include any formal or informal appearances by either oral or written contact to the City, any Commission, sub committee or City member if the communication is intended to influence any decision regarding that issue.

They would also not be allowed to receive compensation in excess of $500 for three years after the decision. This compensation including any gifts or payment of money.

Although the Council unanimously supported the Ethics Ordinance, Vice Mayor Jimmy Delshad's proposed blanket two year amendment was voted down once again. Delshad had proposed the amendment at the Sept. 19 meeting with Councilmember Barry Brucker in support as well.

Councilmembers Linda Briskman, Frank Fenton and Mayor Steve Webb had all been opposed to the two years and at the meeting, Webb instead proposed the three year abstention from the time an item is voted on. That is what passed Tuesday night.

Briskman said that it didn't matter if the amendment was one, two or three years. The real issue is whether the city has honest officials, which she assured it does.

"A crook will find a way around it, and an honest person won't," Briskman said.

Fenton, who served on the ad hoc committee with Briskman that originally suggested a two year rule for Planning Commissioners as well agreed with Briskman.

"I have a lot of confidence in the people sitting up here that they're only going to be influenced by the quality of the project and not the people representing them," Fenton said.

Webb supported the three years from the time of vote because he said it would provide for situations that the two year blanket amendment would not, such as projects which are "in the pipeline," sometimes even after an elected official leaves office.

Currently, State law mandates that elected officials wait one year upon leaving office before lobbying, and the newly adopted amendment would make that three years from the vote. This would mean, Brucker pointed out, that any votes made in the last two years of office would make the ordinance farther reaching than the State minimum, but any votes made in the first two years would still fall under the one year rule.

Brucker also pointed out that although a Councilmember would not be able to repre-

"It's not going to have as much teeth as you think it has," Delshad said.

Brucker asked the council once again if there were any personal reasons for them not to support the two year policy and all four other councilmembers said no they had no personal reasons not to support the two years.

Still, Briskman said that had nothing to do with her decision and when it came time to vote on the proposed two year amendment sent a party on behalf of an issue that had been brought before them, they would be able to represent the same party on a separate issue if they had no previous involvement in it.

Webb again stated that this amendment was actually a tighter regulation because it provides for projects that may come before the council, be pulled and then resubmitted there is little accountability for determining the vote was 3-2 with she, Fenton and Webb against and Brucker and Delshad in support.

Before then voting unanimously to approve the ordinance, Brucker suggested two more amendments to it which were both agreed upon.

First, Brucker expressed his concern that "I have a lot of confidence in the people up here that they're only going to be influenced by the quality of the project."

later or that were "in the pipeline" for an extended amount of time while awaiting approval.

"I don't think it would apply to 98 percent of the issues that come before the council." Brucker said.

Webb stressed that this was the ordinance that really "has teeth" and accused Brucker of just nitpicking and hacking at it.

conflicts of interests on the part of the lobbyists and suggested that conflicts of interest must extend to any meetings including liaison meetings and private meetings, not just public formal meetings such as Planning or City Council meetings.

Brucker also proposed to add an amendment to include that City Council members who wish to become a lobbyist must submit a formal conflicts check authorization signed by the City Attorney. Brucker said this would hold the former City Council members accountable for doing a thorough conflicts check, and would also hold the City Attorney responsible for double-checking their work.

"I am pleased we put some teeth into the ordinance which holds the City Council member accountable by certifying that they have done a conflict of interest check as provided by the City Attorney's office," Brucker said.

Briskman also brought up the question of the ethics of having someone work on an election campaign who also works for developers who have projects before the council.

"I'm just curious if that doesn't send up a red flag for anyone," Briskman said.

Briskman said she was curious to see what the other Councilmembers thought of someone running for re-election or even for the first time, and employing or allowing anyone to volunteer on their campaign who is also working for anyone who has projects being submitted to the city.

Although she stated that the question was not aimed at Webb or Delshad, they both assured that they would not employ anyone on their campaigns who was bringing a project before the council.

Webb assured that he has not nor will he ever hire or approach anyone who works for a developer with a project for the council and made the same statements about campaign contributions.

"I have not nor will I accept contributions from any developer who has an application before the city," Webb said.

Delshad also strongly stressed his opposition to doing so.

"I am not for sale, my soul is not for sale, and my vote is not for sale," Delshad said.

Councilmember Frank Fenton said he wasn't sure that restricting who could work on campaigns would be something the council should do, nor would it be practically enforceable.

Webb and Brucker both pointed out that it would most likely not be in the candidates best interest to hire anyone who is currently lobbying for a project before the council.

"Opponents would find out about that in about 30 seconds and I can tell you that that would probably be the deal nail of that candidate," Webb said.

City Attorney Larry Wiener said that because of first amendment it most likely could not be enforced. There was no proposed amendment regarding the issue.

What you don't know about your life insurance policy could cost you a fortune!

At age 80, Norman's life insurance policy had a $5,000,000 death benefit with a yearly payment of $66,000. Unfortunately, he didn't know that if he lived another 10 years, his payment would increase to $400,000 annually!

Until her consultation with Alan Kaye, Joyce didn't know that unless she continued making payments, her $1,000,000 policy would be cancelled on her 87th birthday.

Do you know:

- Whether your policy will be cancelled if you stop making payments?
- If it's guaranteed to stay in effect for your lifetime at your current payment?
- If your policy can stay in effect beyond age 90 or even 100?
- If your cash value is sufficient to buy 50% more coverage than you have now?
- If you can you sell your policy for more than its cash surrender value, even if it's term insurance?

Let's face it! Most people don't have a clue!

© 2006 Alan Kaye Insurance, Inc. National Financial Partners

Alan Kaye has over thirty years of experience helping individuals and businesses create an insurance plan that will best satisfy their needs. As president of his own company and vice president of Barry Kaye Associates, Alan is an authority on wealth creation and preservation. He has helped thousands of people determine if their policies and plans really work, meet their goals and help implement creative solutions to their estate planning problems.

Don't wait until you lose your health, your life insurance and your options! If you are over 70 years old and have at least $250,000 of life insurance, ask for your free consultation and policy appraisal, either on the phone or in person.
