North Homeowners respond to Brucker I was shocked by the comment attributed to me, by Barry Brucker in the article in last week's issue of Beverly Hills Weekly. In it he states, I said "no one can control what (Tanenbaum) writes." It is simply untrue. When Bob Tanenbaum writes on behalf of the Beverly Hills North Homeowners Association he does so after obtaining Board approval. He speaks authoritative on our behalf. I have great respect for Bob Tanenbaum as the President of the Beverly Hills North Homeowners Association. By mailing and delivering newsletters to the community we are attempting to provide much needed information. The residents of Beverly Hills are able and concerned. They cannot make intelligent decisions unless they are informed. By providing them with Council Member's voting records on important issues, we feel confident they will make wise decisions.

Our Homeowners Association will continue to explore ways to work with our New City Council. I wish them all much success.

We also understand the importance of a vital commercial component, however, our goal "to protect and preserve the residential quality of life throughout our city," shall always be of prime importance.

Victor Bardack Board Member Beverly Hills North Homeowners Association

North Homeowners pay no mind to flats As a very long time resident in our city (arriving here in 1931) it has been quite phenomenal to hear voices from North of Santa Monica Blvd! As our city has distinguished residents who reside principally "on the North Side," we in the "flats" outnumber the "North of Santa Monica Blvd" quite handily: as the North Residents never vote on "unimportant" issues unless their hallowed "turf" is threatened.

Seems a shame that a "city" of an alleged 37,000 or so residents cannot muster enough voters to at least outnumber the approximately 2,800 residents, principally from the less renown residents of the flats! But mention to the north side of improving Santa Monica Blvd on "their" side of the land and immediately a "Home Owners group" comes to existence!

Editor, dear sir, I suggest we dismiss their complaints as trivial and should remain so until they find polling locations when elections appear in their mail boxes.

Hutchinson Calls On BHUSD To Admit More Blacks and Latinos

"We have a very diverse population that speaks dozens of languages. The only thing diverse about the permit students is that they come from cities outside of Beverly Hills."

- John Millan, Board of Education President

With primarily Asian admittance, Hutchinson calls for change By Amanda Parsons

President of the Los Angeles Urban Policy Roundtable, Earl Ofari Hutchinson, led the press conference in front of the Beverly Hills Unified School District building last Tuesday.

Earl Ofari Hutchinson led a press conference at the Beverly Hills Unified School District last Tuesday morning claiming that the Diversity Permit program is "not diverse enough" because the majority of students admitted under the program are Asian.

The "Diversity Permit" program is designed to allow students from schools in the Los Angeles Unified School District to apply for a chance to attend Beverly Hills High School, which has higher test scores, smaller classes and more Advanced Placement courses than those in Los Angeles.

Originally formed in 1969 when the demographics of Beverly Hills schools were comprised mostly of Caucasian students, the program was designed to increase diversity in the classrooms. But, in 1996, California voters approved Proposition 209, banning race-based preferences in education, resulting in a program change. Students were now accepted based solely on their application rather than their race. Applications today include test scores, grades, essays and extracurricular activities.

"The number of Black and Latino students entering Beverly Hills High under the 'diversity permits' program is shamefully low," Earl Ofari Hutchinson, President of the Los Angeles Urban Policy Roundtable and civil rights activist said in an open letter to the Beverly Hills Unified Superintendent Kari McVeigh. The Weekly previously explored this subject in the issue #370 cover story, "Delving into Diversity Permits."

The number of Asian students admitted in the Diversity Permit program is nearly two thirds the number of Black and Latino students enrolled. With 159 permit students admitted to Beverly Hills High School, 108 are Asian, 19 are Black and 16 Latino.

Due to declining local enrollment, BHUSD has increased the number of permits issued in recent years. 522 permits were issued in 2003 compared to 866 in 2006. Nearly 15 percent of students attending school in Beverly Hills do so because of a permit.

While diversity permits are only available at Beverly Hills High School, permits are available for all grade levels, for other reasons than diversity. Other permit qualifications include students of parents employed in the city, child care permits for students with special education needs, and siblings of permit students.

Critics of the increasing number of permits site classroom overcrowding, lowering teacher- student ratios and tighter competition for Advanced Placement course seats as reasons to oppose the increase of permits allotted to non residents.

> The Board of Education recently approved adding an additional 7th and 8th grade section at Hawthorne which will be filled, in part, with additional permit students.

> "We instituted the new classes because of the rising number of mid-year entry students," Board of Education President John Millan said. "I am sure that some of the students in the classes will be permit students but mostly not."

Millan admits that in a "perfect world there would be no permit students" but the money generated by the permit entrances "benefits everyone, especially the education of local students."

The ADA generated from permit students provides a large amount of revenue for BHUSD. In 2006, $5.4 million dollars in funding was allotted for the 875 permit students accepted. $2.5 million was given to the 417 permit students at the high school.

Hutchinson does not seek an increase in the number of permits allotted but rather blames the low number of Black and Latino enrolment on a lack of outreach claiming, "There is little public evidence that Beverly Hills High School Administrators or Beverly Hills School District officials have taken proactive, aggressive city and schools cont. on page 4

New North Residents Association holds introductory meeting Beverly Hill

Beverly Hills R e s i d e n t s Association held their first meeting at Hawthorne School last week to an audience of near-

Alan Kaye ly 100 residents.

The group represents residents and homeowners living in the flats north of Santa Monica Blvd and the Hillside of Beverly Hills.

The introductory meeting began with President Alan Kaye delivering a mission statement and voicing his, and the 18 other officers', reasoning behind the development of this alternate homeowners association for north Beverly Hills.

"We have a concern that our neighbors are misled or misinformed by groups and individuals who have specific agendas and who are selective in their use of facts and who don't share the whole story in order to promote their agenda," Kaye said. "We created BHRA because no other organization today acts as an advocate for and allows open discussion on the issues that are important to the quality of life and values of the residents in our north neighborhood."

The officers and directors responsible for organizing the Association are Vice President Bruce Cole, Secretary Lillian Raffel, Treasurer Sharona Nazarian, and Board of Directors Ken Bishop, Willie Brien, Lester Friedman, Hamid Gabbay, Donna Garber, Lyn Konhiem, Eugene Kreiger, Bruce Resnikoff, Herb Reston, Richard Rosenzweig, Max Salter, Michael Smooke, Lester Friedman, Donna Garber, Stacey Raskin, and Franny

Hydrant testing from Elevado to Olympic may stain laundry

Beverly Hills will conduct fire hydrant testing on April 4, residents are warned to avoid doing laundry as clothes may be stained by the water in pipes.

During the testing, water to homes and businesses nearest the tested hydrants may be discolored but will still be safe to drink. Once testing is complete, residents and businesses are advised to turn on an outside water faucet, let water run until it is clear, and flush all taps including washing machines before using them again.

The City will test the fire hydrants south of Elevado Ave. to Olympic Blvd. and east to Robertson Blvd. in Beverly Hills this fiscal year (July 1-June 30) which will take approximately four weeks. A portion of the fire hydrants in West Hollywood served by Beverly Hills will be tested as part of the same project.

The remaining fire hydrants north of Elevado Ave., south of Olympic Blvd., east of Robertson Blvd., and the remaining portion of West Hollywood served by Beverly Hills will be tested next fiscal year.

Nursing home complaints will receive quicker investigations

The Nursing Home Complaint Investigation Improvement Act (AB 399) was unanimously approved this week in the Assembly Health Committee. The legislation will call for more timely investigations to nursing home complaints.

AB 399 will require the Department of Health Services to complete investigations within 40 working days, send complainants a written summary of findings about their complaint, investigate facility-reported complaints of abuse and neglect within the same timeframes as public complaints and extend the number of days a complainant has to seek an informal conference.

The act was authored by Assemblymember Mike Feuer (D – Los Angeles) who represents the 42nd district which includes Beverly Hills.

Beverly Hills Community Services Department hosted a Teens Count Too, Health and Wellness Festival in the Park on March 24. The event featured a 3 on 3 basketball tournament and dodge ball try-outs for the department's team among other events.

A Little Vintage 9296 Civic Center Drive (310) 279-1084

A new designer vintage clothing store has just opened its doors to the Beverly Hills community. Carrying big name designers like Gucci, Halston and Chanel to more obscure designers like Bonnie Cashin and Jean Varon, the prices of garments in the store range from $50 for some tops to $2200 for dresses.

"I have always loved vintage clothing," store founder and owner Brandi Briskman said. "I don't even wear jewelry if it doesn't have some meaning or history behind it." She must not be alone in her sentiments. Jewelry is the store's top selling item.

Briskman graduated from Beverly High and is the daughter of former Beverly Hills Mayor and current City Councilmember Linda Briskman.

Brandi has roots in fashion. She attended Fashion Institute of Design and Merchandising in LA. and worked for years as Associate Designer for her parents company, Timely Trends, which manufactures junior dresses and sportswear. She later worked as a buyer and manager for Lisa Klein on Robertson Blvd. before finally opening up her own shop.

A Little Vintage is open from 11:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. Open Sunday and Monday by appointment only.

"We don't do any outreach," Millan admits, and he doesn't believe there is a need to begin the process. "We already have hundreds of applicants for the few numbers of vacancies available. The press that [Hutchinson] is generating is enough."

"When we receive students from another district we also receive the funding that would have gone to their original schools," Millan said. "By going into their territory and basically poaching [their] students, we would sour the relationship we have with LA Unified."

Following the press conference Hutchinson along with Willis Edwards of the NAACP, Lita Herron of the Youth Advocacy Coalition and Eric Lee of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in Los Angeles (none of whom are Beverly Hills residents) joined together to call forth the parents of Black and Latino students who have been denied admission under the Diversity Permits program.

"Black and Latino students are at the bottom of the barrel," Hutchinson said. "An opportunity at a school like [Beverly Hills High School] comes up but the spots are being taken by high achieving Asian students. Its not diversity."

The activist groups are looking to bring a list of interested parents' names to BHUSD and partner with them in hopes of increasing awareness of the program in inner city schools.

"This is not our definition of diversity," Hutchinson said. "When this program was set up in 1969, Black students were in mind. Beverly Hills school officials have gotten lazy. This isn't diversity. It's sham diversity.

"Diversity isn't really the issue here," Millan said. "Calling the permits 'diversity permits' is really a misnomer. We have a very diverse population that speaks dozens of languages. The only thing diverse about the permit students is that they come from cities outside of Beverly Hills."

People, Places, Events

Some Notes on Ma Bell and Time Warner By Rudy Cole

Some years back, the indefatigable Ethel Longstreet gave Beverly Hills an outstanding public forum series with debates and lectures on subjects ranging from the Warren Commission report to promotion of a universal language.

Ms. Longstreet is no longer with us, but that intellectual void may be filled by a more modest endeavor, a series of "Great Minds" salons hosted and organized by Beverly Hills resident Teddi Winograd and held at her home.

Recent participants have included Gore Vidal, John Dean and the Nation's John Nicholas. The events are programs allied with Progressive Democrats of America and the public is invited for a modest donation. For information on upcoming events, contact 310.274.7562.

We were introduced to the program by Lauren Steiner who was an early manager of BHTV, our one-time cable access station. She directed the station when the late Jerry Weinstein and the still Beverly Hills involved Sheldon Sacks were presidents of the BHTV board. Former Mayor Tom Levyn began his community work as a board member.

Nice note from Marilyn Simon alerting us to a birthday celebration. Our favorite twins, her husband Edgar and brother Gilbert had their 90th birthday bash at Il Cielo recently. I first met Edgar when I was associate editor of the Los Angeles Daily (Law) Journal and he was a leading lawyer in Beverly Hills. Before being admitted to the bar, Edie served four years in the U.S. Air Force. Twin Gilbert had a far more interesting (?) profession: He was a journalist working at KFWB and as real estate editor of the old Daily Mirror.

The brothers were significant investors in Beverly Hills real estate, but never lost their charming Kentucky drawls. Very happy returns. There is a story about a band of tourists who find themselves lost in a remote section of Africa only to run into three other safari groups from different parts of the world, equally lost. The wanderers had never met before, had difficulties with finding a shared language, but they had one thing in common: They all knew Fred Hayman.

We were at a screening of a new French film at the Raymond Kabbbaz Theatre being hosted by the Consul General of Switzerland, the very charming Briggita Schoch Dottweiler. Of course, she immediately asked about our most famous Swiss resident Fred Hayman and wife Betty.

Yesterday, the Economic Development Committee, an adjunct of the Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce, heard from newly installed Beverly Hills Mayor Jimmy Delshad at Spago's who outlined his vision of the city's future and economic possibilities.

The Chamber is sponsoring some other events this month that may interest readers: A networking breakfast Friday, April 13 – good luck to all, at Ruth's Chris Steak House, from 8 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. for members and non-members with ample supplies of business cards. All those attending are given a brief moment to talk about their work or lives of labor - Twenty Dollars for members, Thirty for non and reservations can be made by calling 310.248.1000, ext. 114.

The Chamber also has other events this month including a charity golf classic benefiting Cornea Genetic Eye Institute on April 16 at El Caballero and you don't need to play to pay and attend. For info: 310.248.1000 ext.113.

Note from Samira Kermani, lawyer – real estate broker, informing us of her new association: Karlton-Stone Inc. which she describes as a growing new real estate group with offices at 9454 Wilshire Blvd.

Warning to smokers: The city will consider a limited ban on outdoor smoking with a test period proposed to study economic impacts. The study period would be from July 20 to September 20 and the ordinance will be considered next Tuesday. Councilmember's Barry Brucker and Linda Briskman served on a sub-committee that moved this forward. Hotels would be exempt, but without my pipe your lungs will have much easier access to automobile and bus fumes, carcinogens the city seems to tolerate.

Although I had honestly thought AT&T was dismantled, reduced to some kind of average corporate size, but they have emerged with complete control of all my sundry telephone instruments. Did I just imagine the Justice Department anti-monopoly minions had forced The Telephone Company to divest? Apparently.

I needed them, desperately, on April 1 to intervene with the mentally challenged information operators at their latest gobbling success: Cingular.

Now, if they are truly providing job opportunities for those with reduced brain power, I apologize and congratulate them on their service to the disabled.

The information services at Cingular are costly, probably double that of their sister company, a former Baby Bell, but when you are using your mobile and driving, and you need to know when a store opens, price is no object.

She who rules (yes, I plagiarized the wife tag from a BBC long gone sitcom) had to have a salad cutter and, hopefully, Macy's at the Westside Pavilion could fill her kitchen needs. Enter Cingular's team of directory professionals.

The greeting alone should have warned me: "Happy April Fools day,' a recorded voice responded to my 411 dialing. What sane conglomerate actually wishes their clients a "Happy April Fool's Day?"

The recorded voice asked, obviously stalling for time: "What city and state, please?" I am always reluctant to provide that information for fear the cost of the service will immediately double, if I respond Beverly Hills, California." But the store I wanted was in Los Angeles. So far, excellent. "What listing?" was the next voice prompt and I was still very optimistic. "Macy's Westside Pavilion" I answered. That was a stumper for the machine, and I was told to hold for an operator.

Actually, in my experience, the recordings hardly ever complete the task but this does provide employment for the live operators some of whom actually can find numbers.

Not this time. Macy's Westside Pavilion was translated into Macy's Westside Furniture, not once, but after two efforts. A third request provided me with a connection to Macy's in Santa Monica. By the time I had surrendered this futile effort, I had arrived at the Pavilion. Note to city council: Parking here is free, getting out is a major challenge. It is also untrue that Cingular information operators were originally trained in finding store items at Rite Aid.

Good news re a service provider: I recently had a problem with Time Warner equipment and to my complete surprise, they answered the phone with a real person after one ring. After making sure I had the right number, and my problem was addressed, I asked about the prompt telephone service. You may have read about a change of management, but the operator told me a small army of new people had been hired to handle calls. Now, if Time Warner wants to acquire AT&T-Cingular, I will write Cong. Henry Waxman to urge waiving of any anti-trust enforcement.

Political rumor of the month, and our source may indeed be credible: Vice President Dick Cheney will resign before the end of the year and President Bush will nominate Condoleeza Rice for vice president. This could, mean a new ingredient in the GOP primaries. Rice, if it happens, could either be a candidate or a designated second choice by one of the other aspirants.

Now that the election is over, we hope, some of the proposals made by candidates could be brought back for further discussion. Mandatory ride sharing, incentives for use of mass transit by employees at major companies, a traffic diversion program and reduction of car trips by ride sharing at the high school and return of two hour free parking at all city lots in the business area should not be shelved.

It is also time for everyone on both sides of development issues to lower their voices and find some common grounds for discussion as the city approaches decision making time on a new General Plan.

Anti-growth types feel that all developers are greedy and corruptive of government. Developers and their representatives call all their opponents "The Crazies." The responsible middle ground needs to help bring all those with an honest interest in our future together, not only to shout, but to talk and listen. We have a great opportunity to actually use rational, logical planning for future strategies that could make improvements and not cause intolerable increases in grid lock. But only if we put aside knee jerk reactions to differences. Begin with a look at depressed areas of our city that would benefit from "smart growth."

The Los Angeles Times gave some very intense coverage of its sale to real estate tycoon Sam Zell. I admire their integrity and the far from flattering stories on the new boss. I assume resumes were all updated. It is more than unfortunate that local ownership wasn't successful and that great visionaries such as Eli Broad failed to gain control. However, if Zell brings back "Momma" at least one of our faithful readers will give him a welcome to the real Second City party.

The Beverly High baseball team ended a three-game losing streak by defeating Culver City, 13-2, in an Ocean League game at La Cienega Park last Thursday, as Jason Kantor drove in five runs and designated hitter Brandon Cohen three.

Kantor hit a three-run homer during a sixrun third inning and doubled in two during a six-run sixth. Cohen drove in two with a single in the third and drew a bases loaded walk in the sixth, forcing in a run.

The Normans (7-4, 1-1 in league play) scored their other run in the third as Joey Axelrod led off with a triple and scored on Monty Zimmerman's two-out single.

John Skura (3-1) rebounded from allowing eight runs in five innings against Honolulu Iolani, by pitching a three-hitter, striking out three and walking five.

Skura and Kantor each had two hits.

MacArrin Tucker homered leading off the fourth for the Centaurs' first run. They combined a leadoff walk to Tucker in the sixth, a wild pitch and an error by Erik Munzer, the Beverly Hills left fielder, for an unearned run.

Culver City 3, Beverly Hills 2

The Normans allowed the winning run in the bottom of the seventh and final inning without a hit in the Ocean League opener for both teams March 27 at Culver City.

Beverly Hills pitcher Matt Ross (2-1) opened the inning by hitting Michael Lee. After retiring the next two batters, Ross issued back to back walks to load the bases. The Centaurs scored the winning run on the third error of the game by Justin Schwartz, the Norman shortstop.

Culver City's other two runs were also unearned. With one out in the fourth, Kevin Ozaki reached first on an error by Schwartz, then scored as Tucker followed with a triple. Tucker scored on an error by Charlie Bogart, the Beverly Hills second baseman. The Normans scored both their runs in the first on RBI singles by Cohen and Munzer. Beverly Hills was held to two hits, a thirdinning single and a fifth-inning double, both by Skura, the rest of the game.

Ross allowed five hits, struck out two, walked four and hit a batter as the Normans lost their third consecutive game following a five-game winning streak.

COVERSTORY BEHIND THE SCENES AT THE MAPLE COUNSELING CEN

The Weekly's exclusive interview with Les Bronte

By Amanda Parsons

For 35 years Maple Counseling Center has worked with local schools and the community to ease the pain left behind by local tragedy and personal hardships.

Les Bronte, former Beverly Hills Mayor, is acting president of the center.

Beverly Hills Weekly: Tell me about the counseling center's reaction to the death of local high school student Vahagn Setian due to the drunk driving crash by actor Lane Garrison. How did the center help students and community members affected by the tragedy?

Les Bronte: Well that was the crisis team's finest moment. Following the incident there was a memorial service set up. Our crisis team was present to speak to the members who were there. The next day the team was at the school. Since then we have been active in [the crisis response] program with teachers, students and parents. We have staff people who continue to work with the high school on an ongoing basis and take us to other campuses in the community. It's called community circle. Specialists go to campuses and gather students from classrooms from 2nd grade to high school to talk to students about things in their lives, any and all of the little personal issues that the youth of the city may have. It has been extremely successful.

The Crisis Response Team is one of the most important programs we offer. Highly trained men and women on the team respond to all types of crises. The most recent was one in Culver City, the turning point in a school. A teacher killed when she got hit by car while leading students down a sidewalk.

Weekly: What other support programs does the Maple Center offer?

Bronte: We have many interpersonal therapy and support groups. These are weekly groups that discuss many issues, homosexuality, marriage, divorce, seniors, loss of parent or spouse, and others. We have a strong interpersonal therapy group. It is a confidential environment and they are able to state feelings and receive support from those in the room. The groups are open to anyone but are on a reservation basis because of space restrictions. Groups are modest in size. About 10 to 15 people in each. We also offer a play area for children. Children range from age 2 and up.

A program called mindful parenting designed to encourage a more secure parent and child relationship. It deals with respect between family members.

Weekly: Tell us about exactly what the maple center does?

Bronte: It's a center that provides low cost mental health and guidance for communities, municipalities and school districts. We provide all forms of counseling everything from child counseling, to parent counseling and bereavement.

Weekly: What is the biggest misconception people have about seeking help for mental health issues?

our patients' privacy.

There are federal state and local regulations we subscribe to. Our patients' information is unavailable unless we are given explicit permission from patients to release it.

Weekly: What is your most ambitious goal for the center this year?

Bronte: To get a home. We as a center are in lower level of our building, 9107 Wilshire, but we are out growing it more quickly than we would like. We have been speaking aggressively with the city about participating in the multi purpose structure proposed for the industrial area. Hopefully, we will be able to obtain 50,000 sq feet of offices and counseling rooms so that we can really respond with our services rather than turn people away. We currently council over 900 people per week. 900 hours per week. We open at 7:30 a.m. and run sometimes until 10:00 p.m. six days a week. We could go seven days a week but we don't have the man power to support that.

The city council is reviewing design concepts currently. We pray for completion in the next two years but part of city process can't control that.

Weekly: How does the center raise funds? Bronte: We raise the majority of our funds through fundraising efforts. Events, client fees and grants from municipalities and foundations also make up some of the funding.

We receive funding from the schools and cities we work with like Beverly Hills, West Hollywood, Culver City, Santa Monica, and Burbank.

The crystal ball is our most profitable fundraiser. It generates hundreds of thousands of dollars for the center every year. It takes place in October. This May we are holding our 8th annual film screening and cash drawing fundraiser (Please look to the end of the article for more information on this event).

Weekly: How much do you charge for your services?

Bronte: Fees are usually based upon individuals' capacity to pay. We focus on residents, regardless of their income and but no one gets turned away. Sometimes our services are free.

Most of our employees work on a volunteer basis. We have a very aggressive internship with 50 to 75 interns at a time. Our supervisor staff is paid. It is comprised of maybe 6 people who are responsible for the clinical and administrative side. We are the premiere location for those who wish to serve internships in counseling and psychological services. We have a well tuned program and graduate wonderful people who go on to other aspects of psychotherapy.

Weekly: You are president of the Board of Directors. Who else serves on the Board with you?

Bronte: A large group of talented individuals including: William A. Benbassat, Pamela Bennett, Thomas J. Blumenthal, Hon. Les Bronte, Jill Tavelman Collins, Lionel Furst, Sander E. Habalow, Jerrie Heslov, Katherine Javor, Elliott H. Kajan, Tom Korey, Capt. Edward Kreins, Amy L. Lambert, Drew Mandile, Soraya Melamed, Sharona R. Nazarian, Jay B. Newman, Sean R.

Weekly: You have a new chief executive officer this year. Tell us about her.

Bronte: Her name is Barbara Schwerin. Barbara joined the team in January 2007 and brings over ten years of experience in the nonprofit sector. Prior to joining the Center, she founded the Cancer Legal Resource Center and served as the Deputy Director of Programs for the Disability Rights Legal Center. Barbara holds law degree from Loyola Law School, were she also served as an adjunct professor for several years. She also earned a Masters degree in Education and was a licensed Marriage and Family Therapist. As the Chief Executive Officer, Barbara serves as the face and spokesperson of the Center. She is also the operational, administrative and managerial director, and provides guidance and leadership to the Center's Board of Directors. Barbara continues to bring new ideas and tools to the Center and plans to lead Maple in a whole new direction.

Weekly: Thank you for taking the time to speak with me today.

Bronte: Please just tell the world how proud I am to be part of this organization. I was there when they started 35 years ago and three years I ago I was elected president. I am so proud to see the good work the center is doing and to see how they respond and help the community. The growth of the center and the help it has provided has exceeded my expectations. I am just proud to be a part of it.
