"Hilton Referendum"

It is fascinating and disturbing to observe the efforts of the Beverly Hilton and Beny Alagem to co-opt and purchase the voters of the City of Beverly Hills. It is clear the City Council, elected to protect us, is under his control. The Maple Counseling Center has fallen under his sway, and now the Beverly Hills Educational Foundation has succumbed. Our residential streets are filled with hired hands knocking on doors and handing out literature describing a mythical Hilton Project. (The reality, of course, is significantly different.) There are endless advertisements in our local newspapers, one of which has, for a long time, been under the sway of the Hilton. A seemingly endless supply of former Beverly Hills Mayors march to Alagem's drummer, having forgotten that at one time they served the people of Beverly Hills.

On November 4, the voters will have their say. Will they stand still and allow our community to be purchased by an endless flow of dollars? I, for one, do not believe so.

Richard A. Stone Beverly Hills

"General Plan"

Beverly Hills, our "home town," has since the early twenties been a small town with "a big city reputation." World wide recognition came early because it was "home to the stars" who created a prime residential community. It has flourished over these many years as a unique and beautiful residential area with an excellent school district where the residents have enjoyed an enviable quality of life in our neighborhoods. All of the residents, from the mansions north of Santa Monica Blvd., to the proud owners and renters of the lovely single family residences, the lovely duplex homes and the many charming rentals south of Santa Monica Blvd. Take great pride in the fact that we live and work in Beverly Hills.

It appears, that today, there are two visions of Beverly Hills for the next fifty years.

One vision is uncontrolled and rapid growth favored by the pro-developer faction fueled by the vision of unimaginable wealth for the city and perhaps the excitement of even more international recognition. Perhaps it is a veiled attempt to become a "mini New York."

The other vision is to maintain the enviable residential character of our beloved city that most residents treasure. We have a vision of a city that has a controlled and rational growth plan. A plan that will enhance our residential character of the city and not overwhelm our neighborhoods with floods of cars, visual ugliness and unbearable noise. We do not want to see the issuing of multiple variances to savvy developers who hire savvy lobbyists to smooth the way to success after success in manipulating the established building codes of our city.

As residents, we now stand at the threshold of a new general plan for our city. This plan should reflect what we want our city to look like in the next fifty years. It should not be a plan that reflects the current needs of the "for profit developers," most of whom do not reside in our city. This new general plan, also, should not reflect the 'money crisis mentality" that has run amuk in our city for the past several years. The leadership of our city must recognize that the voters will not tolerate the questionable reasoning that only the ability to grant more height and density to the commercial areas that are adjacent to our residential neighborhoods will assure and provide the needed funding for a first class fire and police department and to continue to provide JPA funding to our schools.

A draft general plan that does not consider the impact of a potential increase in height and density, one that could amount to 5,200,000 new square footage of commercial buildings to an area that surrounds prime residential neighborhoods is a worthless document. There should be no consideration of these potential changes for the commercial areas adjacent to the southwest residential neighborhoods.

This is a vision that has no merit.

BHEF's $3 million deal with Hilton draws fire

Hilton's donation estimate based on all condos being sold By Jacquelyn Ryan

Some residents are crying 'unethical lobbying' after the Beverly Hills Education Foundation (BHEF), a 501c3 non-profit organization that supports the Beverly Hills Unified School District, announced last week it has "secured a unique endowment" of $3.24 million over 30 years from the Beverly Hills Hilton on the condition that referendum Measure H passes in the November election.

As a 501c3 non-profit, BHEF is prohibited from "attempting to influence legislation," according to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS), which monitors charitable organizations and provides their tax-exempt status. Some question if BHEF crossed that line when agreeing to the terms of this deal.

"If Measure H passes, allowing construction of the condominiums, the condominium association will be required to give BHEF $108,000 a year for the next 30 years for a total of $3.24 million dollars," said Devorah Hankin, CEO of BHEF, a non-partisan nonprofit fundraising group that supplements BHUSD's state funding and helps pay for teachers, staff, programming and supplies for all five public schools. "This guaranteed endowment will be the largest contribution ever provided to the BHEF by a single source."

Upon hearing the news, some of BHEF's past donors or board members have announced they will no longer be financially contributing to the foundation and expressed frustration at what they call the political alignment.

"Clearly, Measure H is a highly charged political issue and for [BHEF] to get involved, it is a defacto endorsement," said John Mirisch, who writes Blog Beverly Hills and openly opposes Measure H. "What they're saying is that you'll get this money if [Measure H] passes. That's almost tantamount to a bribe and that's why it's so highly inappropriate."

The Hilton argues that the agreement is not a bribe and that it has been "a strong supporter of BHEF for a long time. We are the sponsor of the Team BHEF program and have participated in the Apple Ball and lots of the community efforts around education," according to Ted Kahan, president of Oasis West Realty, the company that owns the Hilton. The BHEF-Hilton agreement stemmed from conversations about how to make the new project more beneficial to the schools, Kahan said.

But the $108,000 yearly donation rate is not a fixed or guaranteed number, according to Kahan. That number is contingent upon the number of condominium owners on the Hilton property.

"The $108,000 assumes that there will be 90 condominiums and dues assessed against

NOTICE OF COMMISSION VACANCY: PLANNING COMMISSION

The Beverly Hills City Council is seeking qualified residents to fill one upcoming vacancy on the Planning Commission. The initial term of office for the position is two years. At the discretion of the City Council, the Commissioner may be reappointed to a second term of four years. The appointee will be required to file an initial and an annual "Statement of Economic Interests" financial disclosure.

In order that we may preserve the integrity of the application and interview process, please direct all inquiries to the City Clerk, City Manager or the Director of Community Development. Please DO NOT contact the City Councilmembers or the members of the Planning Commission regarding the vacancy.

Application forms for the Planning Commission, along with a description of the duties of a Commissioner, and filing details are available for pickup in the City Clerk's Office, Room 190, 455 N. Rexford Drive, or call 310.285.2400 to receive an application and information by mail or by email.

The deadline for filing applications for this Commission is Tuesday, September 30, 2008, at 5:30 p.m.

each of those 90 condominiums," said Kahan. "[The fee will be] paid likely as part of the homeowners' fee that will be $100 per month per condo. It will be part of the official condominium documentation so it will be an absolute obligation of the condo owners that they have to make this contribution."

But if, say, only half of the condos are sold, the donation rate from the condominium association will be closer to $54,000 a year. Though, Hilton representative Marie Garvey said market analysis shows that all condos will be sold and that 90 condominiums is a "modest estimate." Garvey said the Hilton may build up to 130 condominiums.

Regardless of the donation details, some have questioned whether BHEF can maintain its 501c3 status after becoming involved in the political issue.

"If anyone is saying we're in violation of 501c3, the BHEF in no way endorsed the Hilton revitalization project. This was not quid pro quo. The Hilton neither asked nor received any favor or any endorsement from BHEF," said Hankin. "A 501c3 cannot endorse a political candidate but may lobby. BHRA hosts 'virtual debate'

The Beverly Hills Residents Association is hosting a virtual debate over Measure H, the referendum measure regarding the 'Beverly Hills Hilton Revitalization Plan' to build a Waldorf=Astoria and two condominium buildings.

Representatives of the Beverly Hilton and the Citizens Right to Decide Committee, which filed petitions to create the referendum measure, will answer a group of approximately 10 questions submitted by residents and chosen by a committee from BHRA's Board.

The committee will submit the questions to the Hilton and Citizen's Right group for answers and rebuttal, and then publish the answers on its Web site within the next three weeks.

There are currently no other debates scheduled for this issue in the city.

"Our basic goal was to create an easy way to get unbiased, clear information out from both sides and you don't have to leave your house or watch an hour of t.v.," said BHRA president Alan Kaye, who said this is the first time BHRA has held a virtual debate.

Beverly Hills residents who wish to submit a question have until Wednesday to send questions to secretary@bhresidents.org.

Brucker announces bid for re-election

Mayor Barry Brucker recently declared his candidacy for re-election to the Beverly Hills City Council in the March 3, 2009 election.

"I am very grateful for the public's trust and proud of my accomplishments as mayor and as a City Council member," said Brucker, who was first elected to public office in 1997 when he ran as a write-in candidate for the Beverly Hills Board of Education. Brucker is the only successful write-in candidate elected in California over the last 15 years.

Currently serving in his first term on the City Council, Brucker has been actively involved in enhancing health and wellness through the 90210 outdoor smoke-free dining ordinance; adopting the toughest ethics ordinance in the state; supporting public schools through the largest JPA funding contract in the city-school history; and insisting on fiscal accountability for all City transactions.

"I am extremely proud of the commitment of our entire community as we have launched our 'Green Team' initiative, which includes creating one of the most robust 'green' building standards in the state," said Brucker, who added that this new green building standard has already become a progressive model for other cities to follow.

Brucker is successful business owner who holds six U.S. patents and earned a degree in Business/Economics with honors from University of California, Santa Barbara.

Series Executive Produced By BHHS Alum To Premiere Tuesday

Television has done much to fracture families, particularly as the growing number of cable networks and the creation of Fox Broadcasting and The CW have brought about more and more niche programming that relatively few families watch together.

Jason Goldberg, a 1988 Beverly High graduate, is hoping to reverse that trend – at least for an hour a week – with a game show he is among the executive producers, "Opportunity Knocks," scheduled to premiere Tuesday at 8 p.m. on ABC.

"Opportunity Knocks" consists of host J.D. Roth asking family members questions based directly on their lives, each other and articles found in and around their home, along with interactive challenges, including a husband guessing how many dresses are in his wife's closet and seeing if a daughter can identify a relative on a portrait by her bedroom.

"Technology has been moving where people are so obsessed with technology and work, they forget about the core of the family and how important it is to connect," Goldberg said in a recent interview. "We thought [the show] was a great message to America. I also wanted to make a show that families could watch together."

Goldberg and his fellow producers also wanted to make a show that would be "an event." In an attempt to do that, it was decided that "Opportunity Knocks" would be played on the family's front lawn.

Goldberg is the producing partner of the actor Ashton Kutcher. He is married to Soleil Moon Frye, who starred in the 1980s television comedy Punky Brewster. He was a two-season starting quarterback for the Beverly High football team.

When asked what he learned at Beverly High, he responded discipline, singling out longtime coach and administrator Ben Bushman and former football co-coach Dick Billingsley for praise. --Steven Herbert

No City Hotels Oppose Hilton

Waldorf=Astoria has backing from competitors By Rudy Cole

There is something very different and unique about the referendum on the Hilton Revitalization Plan: The lack of opposition from any other hotel in or near Beverly Hills.

The Montage faced, not only a well organized citizen group of opponents when its approval depended on a vote of the people in 2005, the Peninsula Hotel owners provided major funding for the campaign. Not this time.

The soon to open Montage not only is not opposing the Hilton, its managing director, Ali Kasikci, is a very vocal backer of the Hilton which includes a proposed Waldorf=Astoria. Before joining the Montage, Kasikci was the managing director of the Peninsula Beverly Hills.

The Peninsula was not the first Beverly Hills hotel to sponsor opposition against a possible competitor. Back in the 1970s, Hernando Courtright successfully funded the campaign against a proposed Four Seasons at Wilshire and Rodeo Drives – now the site of Two Rodeo.

Ironically, the Beverly Wilshire Hotel now flies the Four Season's flag.

One Beverly Hills boutique hotel, the Avalon on Olympic Blvd., expressed strong approval. "It will be wonderful to upgrade the corner of Wilshire and Santa Monica (site of the proposed Waldorf=Astoria)," said hotel general manager Scott Mills. "We will welcome them to Beverly Hills."

The only cautionary note came from Brendan Carlin of the Mosaic on South Spalding who questioned the need for more hotels rooms "in our market" which he said includes a new hotel on La Cienga – not in the city.

However, most general managers felt more rooms were actually needed and that the Waldorf=Astoria would help create a greater destination attraction for all hotels in Beverly Hills.

The general manager of the Beverly Wilshire, a Four Seasons Hotel, Radha Arora, told me "we definitely support the Beverly Hilton's expansion plans."

Peninsula Beverly Hills managing director Offer Nissenbaum said: "We at the Peninsula Beverly Hills welcome all new hotels to our city, provided such projects have the full backing of the community." (A referendum, Measure H, will be voted on this November, that will determine community support.)

In a survey we conducted earlier this week we found no opposition from any other large or boutique hotel in Beverly Hills. Also, many community leaders who opposed the Montage are now supporting the Hilton. More on this later.

So, let's take a look at some of the arguments regarding Measure H and the Hilton plan.

Frankly, when the original Hilton Revitalization plan was unveiled I could not support it. Reducing hotel rooms and adding condominium on the property did not seem in the public interest. Despite the Hilton's argument that even though room count would be reduced, the upgrading of rooms would mean increased city revenues, I thought the loss of hotel guests would not benefit the city's economy.

All that changed when the Hilton announced plans for a Waldorf=Astoria. Not only will that increase luxury, five star quality hotel rooms, it will enhance one of the city's most important gateways at Wilshire and Santa Monica.

What about the condominium element? The reality of hotel financing today makes it impossible to secure loans for hotels without condos. In this economy, that becomes even more critical. The Hilton could simply not construct the Waldorf=Astoria without condominiums on their property.

The opponents of the Hilton cite the 18 floor condominiums as "too big" and yet the condos are dwarfed by structures within one mile of the Hilton. Reality check: We are not some isolated community, we are in the middle of an area with high rises towering over the proposed Hilton condos. Far more threatening is a plan to construct a 40 foot building right next to Beverly Hills High School and only feet beyond city limits.

The condos are at the city's extremity, bordering on far higher buildings on the Wilshire corridor and totally isolated from residential. Would I support an 18 floor condo further east on Wilshire next to residential? Of course not.

I wrote in opposition to an even smaller condo scheme next to Saks because it was out of scale with the neighborhood.

Again, the Hilton property is totally self contained and does not abut residential. The historic Beverly Hills Hotel is smack in the middle of a prime residential area as is the Bel Air.

What about traffic? Since the opposition is focused on the condominium elements of the project, some common sense needs to be applied on this issue.

Residential, of any kind, including condos, produce far less traffic than any other possible use. This is confirmed by the studies, including information available from the ITE, International Traffic Engineers data, but also by your own observations.

Drive down any business triangle street with medical offices and compare that to the traffic anywhere near 211 So. Spalding, cite of a major condominium or the one on South Swall. (Two of our largest). There is no comparison. Equally important, peak hour traffic is our most intrusive and that comes from our major office buildings, not condos or even hotels.

What is really unfair is to make the Hilton the target of opposition because other development projects such as the William Morris, 9900 Wilshire or the Montage won approval. (The Montage by a vote of the people.) We are not going to turn back the clock by opposing the Hilton, only shoot ourselves in the community foot if this fails. (Note: I did not favor William Morris).

In fairness, it is also important to remember that the Beverly Hilton has been a very important good neighbor and, no matter the owner, totally involved in the life of our city, often setting the highest standards of support for city charities. Owner Beny Alagem is personally very much a part of Beverly Hills and long before he unveiled his "revitalization" plan, a most generous donor to a wide range of civic needs. This is not some "outside" entity with a get rich quick scheme tampering with our zoning codes.

Alagem does have a vision, possibly even wanting to create something by which he will be remembered. He really wants the Waldorf=Astoria to become one of the most exciting hotels in the world, and he compares his concept with the great hotels of Europe.

Has the Hilton made mistakes in trying to convince the community it should approve the project? Of course, but these are distractions and have nothing to do with the merits of the proposal. The BHEF participating plan, the Maple Counseling Center dinner, the long list of people the Hilton retains to work for them – none of this has any real relevancy; the Hilton and Waldorf=Astoria must be judged on the merits.

I know there some people who will strongly disagree with what I have written and most are well intentioned and also care about their city. Labeling them as "crazies" is not productive to good decision making. Both sides need to lower their bylaw, does not do that and did not do that in this case."

According to an IRS spokesperson, "In general, no organization may qualify for section 501(c)(3) status if a substantial part of its activities is attempting to influence legislation (commonly known as lobbying). A 501(c)(3) organization may engage in some lobbying, but too much lobbying activity risks loss of tax-exempt status."

The IRS' system for determining how much lobbying is 'too much lobbying' is made on a case by case basis but "considers a variety of factors, including the time devoted (by both compensated and volunteer workers) and the expenditures devoted by the organization to the activity, when determining whether the lobbying activity is substantial," according to documents.

Attempting to influence legislation includes, contacting or urging the public to contact "members or employees of a legislative body for the purpose of proposing, supporting, or opposing legislation, or if the organization advocates the adoption or rejection of legislation," IRS documents explain.

voices and let good arguments and reason prevail. I am especially annoyed by the name calling by both sides.

Finally, and as important as any other argument, are the enormous financial benefits this will bring, especially with an uncertain economic future. I will let both sides argue about the amounts, but clearly the Hilton, if approved, will mean critical tax dollars for basic city services –far beyond what the Hilton will use for the improvements. We want the best in police and fire protection? We need to have our own sense of fiscal reality. Ironically, the bed tax dollar jumps will mean that visitors will help pay for services we enjoy.

Lastly, a word for renters: Condos built on commercial property take the pressure off demolition and conversion of rental units. Over 2,000 Beverly Hills apartments could be demolished under current codes, but that is far less likely if larger, more attractive condominiums are constructed on sites such as the Hilton land. Fewer rental units also means increased pressure to increase rents!

According to Hankin, BHEF is "not spending a penny" or any resources lobbying on behalf of the Hilton.

BHEF has donated over $10 million to BHUSD schools since its inception in 1978. Between the 2006 and 2008 school year, BHEF will have given over $3 million to BHUSD schools, according to Hankin. Recently, the organization handed over a $600,000 check for technology uses to the Board of Education.

Beverly Hills Board of Education president Myra Demeter sent out a letter this week stating that the Board has no connection to the BHEF and Hilton deal.

"The school district and the School Board were not involved nor were they consulted in any manner regarding these negotiations. The school district has firmly remained neutral on the ballot measure regarding the Hilton Revitalization Plan and recommends to the Board of the BHEF that they honor their long tradition of refraining from the appearance of taking political sides," Demeter's letter read.

Board of Education member Brian Goldberg said he first learned of the agreement by opening up the newspaper on Friday morning. Since then he said he has received at least 12 phone calls and 30 e-mails from residents commenting on the agreement, 85 percent have been unhappy.

One of the newer organizations in our village, and we have a few, is the Beverly Hills Athletic Alumni Association. They managed to bring back one of my favorite former BH school principals, Robbie Robinson (see Page 2), now a resident of Idaho, famous for potatoes before Robbie moved there, for a picture taking event promoting their upcoming award dinner.

The event, to be held on October 18 at the Beverly Hilton will honor one of our finest, high school basketball star and 1993 grad Sam Nazarian. For information about the association and the dinner, always one of the most enjoyable of the year, call (310) 385-0679 and ask for Julie Steinberg.

"The timing on taking this gift is not good and gives the impression that BHEF is supportive of the Hilton project and that could cause problems for the bond," said Goldberg, referencing the $334 million dollar general obligation bond (Measure E) for the school district that is on the November ballot. "I hope elect even more Democrats to the congress to help them battle Republicans?

Even more evidence of a failed Iraq occupation policy? The regime we put in place is getting even closer to Iran. Of course, when we put young men and women into any war and ask them to fight for their country, we support our troops. It's our political leadership that is failing them.

Another example of no change: Israel is our most dependable ally in the region. When Saddam was launching scuds at civilian Israeli targets during the Gulf War, Israel was "ordered" not to respond. Good that we rid the world of Saddam. But now the new Iraq government is ready to expel a member who had the audacity to travel to Israel for a conference on regional security. This is what we have won?

people understand that BHEF is an independent non-profit and are certainly able to accept gifts. The district, though, was not involved in this [agreement]."

The Board of Education is also not obligated to take the money from BHEF should these funds materialize in the future, Goldberg said.

Many Women with Facial Dark Spots Suffer From Dark Moods ... Dermatologists Offer Hope.

Dr. Robin Schaffran knows just what she'll hear from some of her patients when they walk into her Beverly Hills office.

"A frustrated woman. typically in her 30s and beyond with dark patches on her face, will ask if I can help. It's amazing how common this is," said Dr.Schaffran, "and it's too bad that more people don't go to their dermatologist for help. I love to see my patient's smile when I tell her there are treatments available that can help reduce or eliminate those unsightly brown patches."

Dark patches on the face can be caused by many things, including sun damage, acne scarring, or inflammation. When those dark, grayishbrown patches occur on the cheeks, upper lip and forehead, the condition may be melasmaalso known as paño, mask of pregnancy or hypermelanosis. Whatever the name, the condition is most likely caused by skin cells producing extra melanin - the chemical responsible for pigmentation. Many doctors link these cases to a variety of triggers including sun exposure, hormone changes in women, such as those caused by pregnancy, menopause, and even the hormonal shifts associated with use of birth control pills.

Millions of women in the United States face the dark patches in the mirror every day, and it's especially prevalent in women of Hispanic, Caribbean and Asian ancestry as well as African-American women. Approximately 80% of Latino women report having these types of darkened spots on their faces. It also tends to run in families.

These dark patches don't make people physically ill, but research shows that the psychological and emotional tolls are another story. Not only does the condition affect how many women feel about themselves, it changes how others see them. A report published in the journal Evolution and Human Behavior showed that dark spots on a woman's face are one of the signs that people use to judge her age, and in fact, the presence of spots alone can influence how old a person looks.

"I felt like people thought I was dirty," said Rebecca Brown, 32, a patient diagnosed with melasma.

Ms. Brown's condition appeared after a beach vacation in Cancun.

"The longer the dark patches lasted, the more embarrassed I got," Ms. Brown said. "I covered them with makeup, and I tried some of the treatments I found at the supermarket."

Those treatments didn't work for her. Finally, she decided to call her doctor.

"Prescription treatments work differently and are often much more successful," Dr. Schaffran said.

Two months after she went to her dermatologist, Ms. Brown said her skin was clear.

"I had basically given up hope," she said. "I didn't realize how badly those spots made me feel until they were gone."

COVERSTORY FRESH FACES IN EDUCATION

Newly hired faculty discuss what brought them to the BHUSD By Jacquelyn Ryan

Thirty new faculty members have joined the Beverly Hills Unified School District for the 2008-2009 school year. The BHUSD administration hired faculty from various educational backgrounds, as varied as special education and journalism. The following three teachers come from three of the five different schools in the district and are ready to enrich the lives and curriculum of this year's student body.

Laura Dixon El Rodeo,

Kindergarten In a sense, new El Rodeo kindergarten teacher Laura Dixon got her start at BHUSD by singing, she says. Dixon, an Illinois native, moved to Los Angeles in early 2008 to join her fiancée, Ryan Mitchelle, who had taken a job with a production company here. Dixon had just graduated from MacMurray College with a degree in elementary education in December 2007.

She took an instructional aid position in February at Horace Mann, where she worked 27 hours a week gaining classroom experience.

One fateful day last spring, Dixon looked up from her work in the classroom to see former Spice Girl Mel B., who asked, "Can anyone here sing?"

Dixon, who has been a singer and theatre performer most of her life, volunteered and joined Horace Mann teachers Christy Fuhrer, Christian Fuhrer, Rachel Pearce and Shana Lanzetta in singing and dancing to Jackson 5's "ABC" on The Learning Channel's game show "The Singing Office."

"They put me on camera and before I knew it I was picked to compete against another group. We didn't win, but we should have!" said Dixon. "We all still laugh about it to this day."

Dixon credits the show with helping get to know people in her school and district. She says she went from being an unknown instructional aid to a face many people recognized.

After spending a few months as an instructional aid, Dixon was dying to get a full-time teaching job. She had flown back to Illinois for a job interview at a school there so she could "gain the experience" that so many teaching position in Los Angeles required. She was offered the job but turned it down, feeling in her gut that working in Los Angeles with her fiancée was the right thing to do.

Just days later, Dixon interviewed with El Rodeo for the kindergarten teacher position and was hired the Friday before school began. Kindergarten enrollment at BHUSD schools has been booming and El Rodeo was forced to add an additional kindergarten section only days before school began.

"I was worried that being hired so late I wouldn't be able to get the classroom ready or get the supplies I needed," said Dixon. "But it all went well and I'm really happy. Everyone was so welcoming."

"Kindergarten is great because [school] is new for the kids, new for the parents and it's new for me," said Dixon, who has a class of 17 students.

When Dixon isn't teaching, she and her fiancée, who will be married on June 27, 2009, are exploring Los Angeles, she says. They have fallen in love with Manhattan Beach, which reminds her of vacations to Florida as a child.

"I would love to be a teacher here for a long time," said Dixon. "It's important to stay in district and become tenured but really it's such a great school."

Christina Cryer

Beverly Vista, Second grade Christina Cryer spent part of her summer teaching third graders in China how to speak English. "It was really hard, surprisingly. They don't respond. They just look at you. So I used a lot of pictures and talked slowly. They read better than they speak. Sometimes they would spell out words so that I could understand them," said Cryer, who was able to travel across China after her two-week teaching job was up.

Santa Rosa native Cryer says she "loves to travel" and particularly loves to go to Portugal and Spain.

Cryer's family still lives in Northern California, except for her brother who settled down in Tennessee after being stationed there in the Army.

Cryer started at BHUSD as a long-term substitute teacher for a second grade class last February. Previous second-grade teacher Tina Weiner retired to raise a new baby.

"I transferred from Sonoma State to [California State University, Northridge] and I would drive by Beverly Vista occasionally and think that is just the nicest school," said Cryer, who started her career as a substitute in the Los Angeles Unified School District schools in the San Fernando Valley.

Cryer began as a full-time second-grade teacher this year.

"I have the nicest group of children and I'm so happy to be here," said Cryer. "I see students from last year and they are saying 'congratulations, you got the job!' I think they were disappointed I wasn't teaching third grade." The first day was a little overwhelming, Cryer noted. But the Beverly Vista "community" was there to help her every step of the way, she said.

The best moment Cryer has had at Beverly Vista yet was on a field trip to the Getty museum last year.

"I had a group of five kids and they were looking at the brochure and saw statues. They said, look we're here on the map so if we go this way we should be able to see them. They had mapped out the entire Getty to get to the statues. It was so neat to watch them navigate and these were five kids who didn't necessarily work well together," Cryer said.

Phillip WestBeverlyHigh,EnglishandJournalismPhillip West only

Phillip West only started at Beverly High last Monday, almost a week after school had begun. West has taken on the brave task of filling the English and journalism position at Beverly High, which has been a revolving door for teachers over the last few years. Former journalism teacher Mimi Nguyen resigned suddenly over the summer when she decided to move with her fiancée who took a job in the San Francisco bay area.

Though a little "overwhelmed," West isn't intimidated by the large task before him. He has 11 years of teaching experience under his belt, including work at Los Angeles Unified School District and charter schools in the Pacific Palisades.

West was on a team that developed charter school Renaissance Academy in the Pacific Palisades, which was recently shut down for financial considerations, and Port of Los Angeles high school in San Pedro.

West graduated from Georgia State University, a school in his hometown of Atlanta, with a dual-degree in broadfield social science and theatre performance. He received his master's in educational administration from California State University, Dominguez Hills. He has an administration credential, but "I have no desire to do that anytime soon. It's like an insurance policy."

West, who has a strong background in drama, says journalism just sort of fell into his lap one day when he was teaching at an innercity middle school. The school's administration just approached him and asked him to lead a journalism program.

"It was small little venture on the part of very talented writers there. I took courses and tried to learn as much as I could," said West. "So to say I'm an award-winning journalist.... Well..." wouldn't really be accurate, he laughed.

"I'm amazed. [Beverly High] is a great school and great staff. Everybody seems to happy to be here, the students and the teachers seem to feel truly blessed to be here. I see teachers arriving as early as 6, 6:15 in the morning and then staying until 6, 7 or 8 o'clock at night. It's not the norm that I've seen. The students [work hard] as well. It's contagious," said West, who has stayed until 8 or 9 at night working with his journalism students last week.

The journalism students and West will soon be traveling to St. Louis to take part in a national newspaper competition. When they return, West says the journalism students are going to begin reworking their newspaper "Highlights" and their news broadcasts to create more consistency from issue to issue.

When West isn't teaching, he is spending time with his two-year-old daughter Soojan, surfing, or renovating his home, a 118-year-old Victorian home in San Pedro near the harbor that he and his wife Youngsin purchased a little over two years ago.

West says he also loves to travel. He's been to 38 countries and is "hoping to pick up many more."

Don't sell your life insurance policy until you know the rue

Alan L. Kaye, CLU, ChFC President

Most people over the age of 70, who want to sell their old insurance policies for more than their cash surrender value, are not getting the most money from their assets.

AVOID RISKS OF INSURANCE FINANCING STRATEGIES

Others, who expect to create "something from nothing", participate in insurance financing plans without having full knowledge of the chances they are taking. You can avoid these risks by becoming informed of established procedures and you won't make costly mistakes.

The Alan Kaye Insurance Agency is a leader in the field of insurance and estate planning. Now, as a wholly owned subsidiary of National Financial Partners, an NYSE company, they have expanded their resources to better provide the latest planning strategies. This is a particularly important resource when performing due-diligence on life insurance settlement companies.

THREE ESSENTIAL RULES THAT CAN PREVENT YOU FROM MAKING COSTLY DECISIONS

- Provide full and accurate descriptions of all offers relating to the sale of your policy.
- Acquire at least five offers from unrelated insurance purchasing companies.
- Complete background checks on potential purchasers to make sure they are financially and commercially acceptable firms to do business with.

ARE YOU COMPLETING A LIFE INSURANCE SETTLEMENT OR JUST SETTLING?

What kind of insurance professional is helping you sell your old life insurance policy? Are you dealing with a life settlement expert? Are you represented by a licensed professional with E&O Insurance that covers life settlements? Has your agent explained the risks involved in financing your life insurance?

Call us today to find out what your insurance is really worth and we will help you decide whether to sell, surrender, keep or replace your old insurance policy.
