“Meshkaty won’t take a stand on permits”

I attended the Aug. 25 BHUSD Board meeting and have to say that I was not surprised. As I must concur with Dr. Goldberg and Mr. Fenton on their strategies for the future, I was at the same time appalled at the lack of common touch displayed by Dr. Demeter, Mrs. Lurie and Mrs. Meshkaty. What the audience at home failed to witness was the round of applause that followed each of the well-intended ideas set forth by Dr. Goldberg and Mr. Fenton. While at the same time, such rhetoric from the other board members was met with the sound of silence. (Thank you, Mr. Simon). To watch the board majority so easily cast off public opinion helped me decide who I am voting for in November. Thank you.

Meshkaty won’t take a stand on permits

Board President Nooshin Meshkaty, who is running for re-election Nov. 3, would not take a position on the controversial issue at Tuesday’s Board of Education meeting.

Board members Brian Goldberg and Steven Fenton brought the much-debated item to the table, arguing that staff should notify permit families that their permits may not be renewed next year.

Board Vice President Myra Lurie and Board member Myra Demeter, permit supporters, argued permit students would not be a burden to the district once it becomes basic aid.

Fenton said he wanted to know her position so the matter of whether or not to notify permit holders that their permits may not be renewed could be resolved.

“I know where my colleague Myra Demeter stands and I know where my colleague Brian Goldberg stands on this. I also know where my colleague Myra Lurie stands on this,” Fenton said. “But I have no idea where Nooshin Meshkaty stands on this. I would love to know and I think the community would love to know.”

In a prepared statement, Meshkaty said when the district moves into basic aid, opportunity permits should be phased out. However, while not committing to either side, Meshkaty said more discussion needs to take place with the Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE).

“We should have joint meetings so we can help them [LACOE] understand what it is that we’re facing,” Meshkaty said. “We can come up with a plan that will be acceptable with them and fiscally responsible for us so we can move forward. But I think it is very important before we send a letter out communicating, that we need to sit down and make sure the County of Los Angeles understands where we’re coming from and why we’re going where we’re going.”

Fenton took issue with Meshkaty’s statement.

“I don’t know who wrote that for you, but I’d like to know are you in favor of the Goldberg/Fenton plan or not because you’re flip flopping back and forth and I’d really like know if you’re in favor of this or not,” Fenton said.

Lurie defended Meshkaty, calling for a point of order and moving the meeting to the next item on the agenda.

In a 3-2 vote earlier in the meeting the Board approved language clarifying that the Board vice president will follow the following year as Board president. The language requires a super-majority vote of four board members to break the succession.

Fenton and Goldberg opposed.

“I don’t know if this issue is of such import that we need to have a super-majority in order to change the succession,” Goldberg said. “The board policy only requires three votes and we’re restricting ourselves by making a super majority, which I think is overkill.”

Fenton and Goldberg said the timing was suspicious because Board Vice President Myra Lurie may or may not become Board

"To slide this in a little more than 60 days before the election is something that I can't support," Fenton said. "The new Board should decide what is in the best interest of the district."

Christiansen sues the district

Karen Christiansen and her company, Strategic Concepts, filed a complaint for declaratory relief against the Beverly Hills Unified School District Tuesday, after being fired from the district Aug. 13.

The Weekly covered the issue in last week's cover story "Board of Education Bombshell."

According to the complaint, after receiving praise for her work, Christiansen received a letter from the district's lawyer that said Christiansen's contract with the district "was 'void' under California's 'conflict of interest laws' including Government Code 1090, and for supposed 'failure to comply with contracting laws.'"

The letter also said Christiansen had seven days to repay the district more than $4.8 million, which had been previously paid to her by the district.

However, the complaint said Christiansen is not indebted to pay the district the more than $4.8 million it requested and further, the district owes Christiansen more than $372,000 for work performed in July and through Aug. 13.

The complaint also said once the bond was approved by voters, Christiansen was set to earn "in excess of $16 million."

District representatives also seized files, computers and other work from Christiansen's office that was related to the district the day she was fired, according to the complaint.

The complaint said Christiansen is entitled to sue the district for all amounts due but unpaid, as well as "all damages proximately resulting from the repudiation of the agreements."

Christiansen's lawyer, Hillel Chodos, declined to comment.

Chodos also represented philanthropist Don Bren's children, Christie and David, in a case involving unpaid child support. Chodos argued Bren should pay each child $1 million per month for child support.

Marilyn Cleveland, BHUSD's lawyer, said Tuesday she was not aware of the complaint being filed.

Seven classified and district management positions eliminated for the 2009-10 school year

The Board of Education unanimously approved eliminating seven classified and district management positions to help fulfill necessary budget cuts in the district.

Positions cut include: Telecommunications system technician; senior secretary at the superintendent's office; senior secretary, ROP; school office assistant at the high school; accounting clerk at the high school; part-time senior clerk at the adult school; and director of child welfare and attendance.

The layoffs are effective Oct. 12.

Beverly High hired one journalism teacher, one more to go

Jennifer Meils was hired as a temporary journalism teacher at Beverly High, to replace an existing teacher who is on leave, director of human resources Alex Cherniss said.

Although Cherniss said he could not release the name of the teacher on leave, he said the teacher would be returning.

"Usually we hired temporary teachers because they're holding an assignment of a permanent teacher that is out on leave," Cherniss said. "When that leave is up, they [the permanent teacher] takes their [the temporary teacher] place."

The personnel report that announced Meils' hiring, announced her leave of absence as well.

The report said her hiring is effective Aug. 31, 2009 to June 18, 2010 and her maternity leave is effective Sept. 28, 2009 to Dec. 18, 2009.

Cherniss said interviews are being held Tuesday to find a temporary teacher to take Meils' place until she returns from maternity leave.

PTA presidents prepare for the start of a new year

With the 2009-10 school year a week away, every PTA in the district has a lot to prepare for.

"We're looking for a lot more things that will enrich the curriculum," Gibbons said. "Whether it's more programs teachers can use and bring in to their classes, or physical materials that they need."

Gibbons said the school also has its 80th anniversary this fall.

"It's a milestone in the community," she said.

Gibbons said the PTA is doing its best to keep focus on the students' educations and not the politics surrounding education.

"We know there are issues with the state and the district, but PTA members really try to keep our focus on the school itself and the kids within the school and not get too embroiled with other stuff," Gibbons said.

Hawthorne PTA president Dana Gilbert said the school is having its New Student Social Monday at 5 p.m. in Hawthorne's courtyard.

"It is for all the new families and we're having ice cream and snacks and we have some of the kids at the school doing tours with the new students," Gilbert said.

Gilbert said the PTA is working on having a similar event on the first day of school with

BHHS Names New Boys' Lacrosse Coach

Pro football team signs two BHHS alumni
By Steven Herbert

Social studies teacher and coach Steve Taylor has been named as Beverly High's boys' lacrosse coach.

Taylor succeeds Tim Ray, whose contract was not renewed following the 2009 season. Ray had coached the team for eight seasons, including all three when it was an official varsity sport.

If Ray had been offered a contract for the 2010 season, he would not have been able to be the team's coach because of a move to New York.

Professional Football

Former Beverly High receivers Brandon Rice and Sonny Shackelford have signed with the California Redwoods of the United Football League.

Rice, a 2004 Beverly High graduate who played college football at UC Davis, was a first-team All-Great West Football Conference selection in 2007 and a second-team selection as a senior in 2008.

Shackelford, a 2003 Beverly High graduate, was named as the winner of the University of Washington's Sports Radio 950 KRJ Most Outstanding Player Award for the offense for the 2006 season, after catching 50 passes for 666 yards and seven touchdowns, all team highs.

Shackelford played with the NFL's San Diego Chargers during the 2007 exhibition season, but was released before the start of the regular season.

The San Francisco-based Redwoods are set to begin training camp Tuesday and play in the first UFL game Oct. 8 against the Las Vegas Locomotives. The team is owned by Paul Pelosi, husband of House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, and coached by former Minnesota Vikings and Arizona Cardinals coach Dennis Green.

Karzen and partner Dan Heeley were fourth in the first of their five sprints, giving them one point.

The eighth-place performance was the best performance by the males on the U.S. team and the second best overall.

In a madison, each cyclist rides part of the distance, then has another rider take over, rests and later returns to the race. All cyclists begin at the same point in a scratch race.

Good, Bad And Maybe

All over the map thoughts

By Rudy Cole

As a somewhat too idealistic young Democrat, I did not immediately warm to John Kennedy and held hope that Adlai Stevenson could do a William Jennings Bryan and try three times for president or, an even longer shot: Ambassador Chester Bowles could emerge from a split convention and somehow become the party's nominee.

But I bought into the Camelot mystique, became a fan and mourned his loss that horrendous day in Dallas. I feared for a nation to be led by Lyndon Johnson although I later deeply admired much of his domestic programs.

As for Bobby Kennedy, I think I simply never trusted him; found him too jugular and never really understood his genuine compassion until it was too late. I was wrong about Bobby and never fully appreciated him until he was murdered.

For both Kennedys, the distressing political views of the father, Joseph

Kennedy, including a whole litany of intemperate views about Nazi Germany, simply would not go away.

But then I met Edward (Ted) Kennedy when he first came to California to try to end the internal feuding so typical of Democratic Party self-destruction modes, and it was instant admiration. He was barely old enough to vote, when the brothers send him west to take control of the campaign, but he did so with insight, sensitivity and enormous energy.

The Los Angeles Times obit, a good piece, had it slightly wrong. Teddy did not take over the entire mountain states campaign, only California. To avoid even more turf wars, the man he replaced was promoted to that job and California was exempted from his responsibilities.

What prompted all this was the power struggle between then Gov. Pat Brown and then Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh, an early Kennedy supporter. Brown actually favored Lyndon Johnson before the convention with the hope that he would be the candidate for vice president, something less likely with a Catholic nominee for President, so he was not there "before West Virginia" a test the Kennedy's applied to early loyalty.

Teddy quickly restored order, ended the in-fighting, making Jesse and Pat come together for the November final.

I remember one speech Teddy gave in Beverly Hills. Someone, not that friendly, asked him a provocative question. Here's how Teddy responded:

"Fortunately, I have two very smart brothers and one day they will be here to answer that question."

Not only for his humanistic passion, but because his passing death means the end of a whole era in American political history, this nation will miss Ted Kennedy.

Of course, the inevitable, "what might have been" goes with the legend. The personal flaws and disasters in no way can or should minimize what he did for our nation, but only make us reflect on what more he could have done.

Few liberal Democrats had his ability to reach out to bitter political enemies as personal friends and, often, joining him in compromise legislation that Kennedy wanted.

Jesse Unruh also had another insight into political truism. "You want to be completely independent, politically honest and a liberal Democrat? Make sure you are born rich so you can tell the special interest money most of us need to win elections, to stuff it somewhere else."

His state, his nation and his party will never be the same without Ted Kennedy.

There is some irony in his political relationships in his own state:

Although he made a very dramatic and, at the time, highly meaningful endorsement of Barack Obama – Hillary Clinton was winning the late primaries and making a last minute pitch for super delegates, and even though he never lost an election in his own state, Massachusetts voted for Hillary in the primary.

Just when you thought there were enough choices in Italian dining on Canon Drive, Caffe Roma reopened, although a soft or test run before going formal.

The whole restaurant has been redesigned; the outdoor patio area expanded, a more formal cocktail area added, and a mix of familiar and new servers are on duty.

Tuesday, back at their regular table were Caffe Roma loyalists Ann and Steve Arvin, whose cheery optimism light up any place they appear, but also a full table of relatives of a pioneer Beverly Hills merchant and resident, Archie Dickranian, helped fill the room.

Those relatives included former Gov. George and Gloria Deukmejian, local activists and property owners Mr. and Mrs. Ken Norian and also Joe and Joyce Stein. At yet another table was film producer Richard Marx and his friend, Nancy Toulouse. Marx is working on a script they might present to Bette Midler, he told us.

Caffe Roma is also a favorite of Gov. Arnold, but his cigar smoking days here are now verboten. Evidently, there were some protests when someone in his party, not the governor, arrived with a lit cigar. Quite a change from the time, when he was first elected, and the whole restaurant crowd stood and cheered when he arrived. Failed budgets can do that all the time.

As for outdoor dining, the pool area outside Circa 55 and Trader Vic's at the Hilton has become a most popular and hard to get table. Aside from the good food, first rate service, there is a problem: a major distraction:

The pool seems to attract some very

Economic boycotts for political differences, including media and business targets, do make me uncomfortable: it comes to close too attempts at censorship.

But patrons also have an inherent right to express their opinions by use of the credit card. Often hard to balance the two elements in a free society, however the Whole Foods debacle is somewhat different.

As you probably know, the food store giant is being hit with protests and an organized boycott because of views on health care expressed by the company's CEO, John Mackey.

His were not some impetuous, off the pr department's control, comments. He made his attack on President Barack Obama's health care proposals in a carefully crafted op-ed piece in the Wall Street Journal.

Now, Whole Foods does attempt to present a progressive, environmentally advanced posture not only in store products, but in its corporate image. Mackey's article hardly met those image standards.

On the contrary, his anti-health care reform article has unleashed a plethora of attacks on the company for other issues including monopolistic practices, an anti-union policy and even questions about product choices.

What was most bizarre about his article was the argument that nothing in our constitution promises universal health care.

she would have more to report on the school's PTA next week.

Beverly Vista PTA president Laurie Okum did not return phone calls by press time.

Board of Education adopts procedures for banner posting

At its Tuesday meeting, the first since July 14, the Board of Education adopted procedures for the posting of banners and signs at BHUSD campuses.

The procedures include:

- All banners and signs must have a professional appearance.
- Each must be approved by the principal's office before being posted.

Yes, but that great document also doesn't guarantee that when we call for police or fire protection, we won't have to pay in advance or have safety service insurance. There is no mention of television, the internet or even organic tomatoes either.

But the basic law of our nation does say that government meets the general welfare needs of the people and, despite the opinions of Mackey, echoed even more forcefully by the other newspaper in town, the Obama plan is not socialized medicine, goes far from the single payer reforms many favor and is a crisis need for a growing number of Americans whose health needs are leading to bankruptcies and early deaths.

Although Whole Foods came to Beverly Hills as a good neighbor, it is not quite the same community minded store as when it began. New corporate management may be responsible. However, it does have excellent foods and most often natural foods that satisfy the health conscious consumer community. It does also lease its space from the city, and most members of this council support the Obama health care reforms. Just something for Mackey to worry about.

Whether or not you decide to shop at Whole Foods, if you support the Obama plan, you might let the "team" members know when you visit the store.

Incidentally, although we seldom have problems in reaching any political or corporate pr people, the company's flacks sent me several emails that they were too involved with other urgent matters to give me any new statements on Mackey, just the official company line that not everyone agrees with him and that they also "don't want to jeopardize their own company health plan", whatever that means.

What is more troubling is the gang mentality of those who try to break up congressional forums on the issue. You may remember the same behavior when Florida counties gave up trying to meet recount deadlines when mobs disrupted the tallies, and succeeded. I thought government by mob was something Republicans opposed.

Speaking of law and order, mark me down as a militant, at least on two fronts. I recently saw a visitor berate a local cop for doing his duty: Issuing a ticket for jay walking. Want respect for law and order? Show it back when dealing with the guys serving and protecting.

However, can we arrange for the immediate jailing of people blabbering or texting when crossing the street? Or doing either while being served at the checkout station of a market?

As for the person who bravely called the paper and warned me to lay off Rite Aid, without leaving his name, I have an idea: From now on they will be called Wrong Aid. Does that work for you?

Beverly High PTA president Ronit Stone said the BHHS PTA newsletter was mailed out and the PTA is encouraging greater participation by parents and involvement in the school and its activities.

Stone said the high school's first PTA meeting is Sept. 11.

"We're off to a very good start this year," Stone said.

El Rodeo PTA president Cindy Dubin said

• Banners and signs must be posted in the site's designated area for banners and signs.

• Material can be posted for no longer than four weeks without permission from the district or site.

• Banners and signs must be removed within three days of the assigned removal date.

• No more than seven banners or signs can be posted at one time at each school.

• The preferred size for banners and signs is 2' by 6' and no banners can exceed 4' by 8'. To avoid inconvenience, principals at each campus can make exceptions for nonprofit organizations who printed banners or signs before Sept.

WORKING FOR THE PUBLIC

The Weekly's exclusive interview with Public Works commissioner Joe Shooshani

By Amanda Renner

Tell us about the Public Works Commission.

We are five volunteer citizens, appointed by the City Council to basically oversee and recommend items on behalf of the City Council. [The commission oversees] what is going on [with] our infrastructure, public works system, water saving, paving, sewer, garbage and anything that has to do with our streets and infrastructure.

Our duty is to oversee these departments and give recommendations to the City Council and hopefully they will listen to us and do what we recommended.

It is the least known department and least attended by the public, which is changing of course because of the water issue, but we are one of the only [commissions] that doesn't just spend money, we make money for the city.

It's a rather interesting commission and I'm very proud and honored to be on it.

How does the commission make money for the city?

[It makes money] through the water, electricity, sewer and garbage fees. A rather important part of the city budget comes through our commission.

What is the commission working on?

At the moment the most important thing is the water conservation. The whole region is in the midst of a water shortage and we in Beverly Hills are not immune to it. Like the rest of Southern California there is less water coming from the north and there is less water coming from the Colorado River. Our supplier, MWD, is putting restrictions on us and if we don't conserve by 10 percent, we will be penalized. So the department had to come up with a way to have everyone reduce their water usage by 10 percent and it is called Stage B.

Unfortunately there is a Stage C and Stage F coming if we have a worse water shortage. But at the moment we are Stage B and our job is to somehow convey to people how to save water. There is so much information and people are competing for advertising, it is so difficult to reach people and that is what we're trying to do.

We are also trying to conserve electricity with new technology. LED lights are the future and we want all of our streets to become more energy efficient with LED lights, which uses 10 percent of a regular light bulb. So we are pushing, pushing and pushing them to use the LED lights. Of course it's a bureaucracy and everybody wants to keep things as they are. One of our challenges is to guide them to go towards new technology and the goal is to become green. And we as citizens want to make our city green and conserve and this is our challenge.

What kind of lights is the city using?

Usually they are using the ordinary combustion lighting. They say it is already saving us money, but the LED is even more efficient.

Are there any downfalls to LED lighting?

At the moment there is a couple. One of them is we are afraid of lawsuits using it on our major streets, but for residential areas, it has been done in DWP very successfully. So we need to follow DWP and do the same thing for our streets.

Also, like any other technology, it is more expensive in the beginning. But the prices will come down.

People would sue over street lighting?

It isn't really lawsuits. In our society, we are all afraid, people and the government, that somebody might have an accident and come after us. You have to be very careful.

The DWP is changing lights on thousands of streets in the City of Los Angeles, they're going to conserve a lot of energy with that and we should do the same.

Last year the city installed smart water meters. Have those worked well?

That is one of the best things we have done. It has provided us with a treasure trove of information. But it has brought some problems.

What kind of problems?

The way the financial system works we are behind billing a couple of months so people don't get the savings from the past couple of months. The system has some problems reading all of the meters, so we have a billing cycle problem.

But at the same time it has brought us so much information that is fantastic. First of all, with these new meters, we know for instance that about 36 to 40 percent of our customers have water leaks. So when we stop those water leaks, it helps us easily reach our 10 percent goal. I found out at my own house one toilet was leaking and I had to fix that.

I think it is a fantastic thing.

Last year at this time the water rates went up, this year we had to cut our usage. Where do you think we'll be next year?

I hope, from what we have heard from MWD and because of the reservoir and the weather pattern, it looks like we're going to be pretty stable. The City of Beverly Hills, because of the size of its lots, uses almost 65 or 70 percent of our water on our landscaping. Our average use per person is about 100 gallons more than the rest of the Angelenos. So if we can conserve the water on our lawns we can save quite a bit.

How did you get involved with the Public Works Commission?

I believe every citizen has to be involved in their community. I'm honored to be appointed and to help our people and our commission achieve its goals.

I participated in Team Beverly Hills, they showed us every department and because of my line of work, I thought I could contribute much more in this area than any other.

I am a manufacturer, I'm a builder, I'm a contractor, I'm in the steel business and I have some knowledge of infrastructure and recycling, so that helped to get into this commission.

Who are the other commissioners?

Peter Foldvary is our previous chairperson. Joseph Stabler, Howard Fisher and Steven Weinglass.

We are a very diverse group. One of us is a doctor, a high powered attorney, the other a musician. One is a developer and contractor and I'm into manufacturing. It has been a fantastic match of citizens with different outlooks towards the issues. That conflict makes the outcome much better than if we were all lawyers or [of the same profession].

Who around the city makes your job as commissioner a little easier?

David Gustavson, the head of Public Works and Transportation, is an extremely positive force.

Tell us about your job.

I have a steel distribution and manufacturing of steel tubing company in downtown Los Angeles. Also, I am in the real-estate and sign business. I own the digital sign on Sunset [Boulevard], the one next to the House of Blues.

You're a supporter of Paul Koretz, who is now a Los Angeles Councilmember. How did the two of you become friends?

I have been working for his campaign for 20 years. He first ran for State Assembly about 20 years ago. I was a volunteer then and we have been friends since.

I was a political science major and I always liked politics. I became friends with Paul Koretz since I had property in West Hollywood. We became friends and [since then] I have worked on his campaigns. He is a very hardworking, honest politician and that is hard to find.

How did you go from a political science to steel manufacturing and distribution?

As immigrants we came in and everything my family had was confiscated. We had some real estate we previously bought and we exchanged the real estate for a business and we stayed in it. We didn't look backward at what was. We were lucky to live in a country that gave us freedom. I am happy that I have dignity and freedom, the ability to work and be a positive citizen because that is what we're here for.

Tell us about your family.

I have two kids; a daughter, Diba, who goes to Santa Monica College, then hopefully to USC, and a son, Aaron, who just started high school at Brentwood. My wife's name is Avid. She is much more educated than I am. She has a MBA from USC, but she likes to work with non-profits. She is on the board of Sinai Temple and Nessah Synagogue and she does quite a bit of charity work. We've been married 21 years. I have lived in Beverly Hills for the 33 years.

What do you enjoy about working on the commission?

Being involved in the community and being able to contribute to your group and society. That is the best thing. Your ideas can work for the community and you can make a difference. And that is the most important thing for a person. Life is not just making money. The question is can you improve the situation for yourself, for your children and for your community.

What is next for you when you're finished with the Public Works Commission?

I have another four years to go. I might go to another commission, but I really like the service to the community. I think everybody, if they can and have the time, should serve. This is volunteer work and the satisfaction of knowing you have affected your community for the better is more important than anything else.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that GERALD E. LERMAN be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 09/29/09 at 8:30AM in Dept. 11 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012

Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code Section 1250. DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURER AND TAX COLLECTOR
Notice of Divided Publication
NOTICE OF DIVIDED PUBLICATION OF THE PROPERTY TAX DEFAULT (DELINQUENT) LIST

Made pursuant to Section 3371, Revenue and Taxation Code

Pursuant to Sections 3381 through 3385, Revenue and Taxation Code, the Notice of Power to Sell Tax-Defaulted Property in and for Los Angeles County, State of California, has been divided and distributed to various newspapers of general circulation published in the county. A portion of the list appears in each of such newspapers.

I, Mark J. Saladino, County of Los Angeles Tax Collector, State of California, certify that:

Notice is hereby given that real properties listed below were declared to be in tax default at 12:01 a.m. on July 1, 2007, by operation of law. The declaration of default was due to non-payment of the total amount due for the taxes, assessments and other charges levied in 2006-07 tax year that were a lien on the listed real property. Property upon which a nuisance abatement lien has been recorded shall be subject to sale if the taxes remain unpaid after three years. The name of the assessee and the total, which was due on June 30, 2007 for the 2006-07 tax years, is shown opposite the parcel number. Tax defaulted real property may be redeemed by payment of all unpaid taxes and assessments, together with the additional penalties and fees, as prescribed by law, or it may be paid under an installment plan of redemption. If the 2006-07 taxes remain unpaid on non-residential property after June 30, 2010, the property will be subject to sale at public auction in 2011. All other residential property remains unpaid after June 20, 2012, will be subject to sale at public auction in 2013.

All information concerning redemption of tax-defaulted property will be furnished, upon request, by Mark J. Saladino, Treasurer and Tax Collector, 225 North Hill Street, First Floor, Los Angeles, California 90012, 1-(888) 807-2111 or 1-(213) 974-2111.

I certify, under penalty of perjury, that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed at Los Angeles, California on August 13, 2009.

Turn your old life policies into assets for your heirs and favorite charities.

If you are over age 70 and own an old life insurance policy, you may be able to make large gifts to charity and increase the legacy you leave for your heirs. Without ever writing another check!

You may believe your old policy is worthless or has very little cash value left. You may think your policy is too old, or that it can't be improved upon because your health has changed too much. You may be wrong!

Estate tax laws have changed significantly in your favor and today's insurance plans offer many new innovations. Now you may be able to considerably improve your dated policies.

One of our clients owned $900,000 of life insurance with an equity (cash value) of over $530,000. We showed him how he could gift his policy to charity and use his tax savings to buy a new one that would provide an even greater legacy for his heirs.

An 80-year-old client did not think she could improve upon her ten-year-old preferred issue policy, because she had developed significant health challenges. With our help she sold her policy for triple its cash value! We then showed her how she could use the proceeds from the sale to buy a new policy that provided more guarantees and cost 20% less. She used her savings to make donations to her favorite charities.

Ask for a complimentary report and let us help you decide whether to keep your old insurance policies or sell, surrender, or replace them, enabling you to leave more for your heirs and favorite charities.

For a complimentary consultation and policy appraisal, by phone or in person
