"Letters and E-mail" [Issue 550]

My friend Craig Davis overlooked an important fact in his critique [in last week's issue] of my complete basic aid study. The districts Craig sites are Revenue Limit Districts, which means they receive a limited number of dollars per student. Beverly Hills is now a BASIC AID district; we receive a "block grant" of funds based on our local property taxes. My study compared Beverly Hills to other basic aid districts. I want to continue to provide the public with factual information and not further confuse the issues by comparing apples to oranges.

I look forward to reading Supt. Cortines plan to end out-of-district permits, which he intends to bring back to the LAUSD Board of Education in September. Beverly Hills should be commended for providing over two-years notice to our out-of-district families that a change in policy was coming. Our final decision on January 12th, 2010 should not have been a surprise to anyone who has been attending meetings, participating in school board elections or reading our local papers.

I look forward to a continued, spirited discussion with Craig and the rest of the community.

"We were lucky to get him back," said Board President Steven Fenton. "I know he now believes in the direction we're taking the school district, and he's excited to be back. I think getting someone like Dave to come back to the school district is indicative of the turnaround that's taking place within BHUSD."

Hoffman said he learned "what it takes to be the leader of a school" at Madison Elementary, and hopes to strength his skills as a school site administrator by "utilizing [his] people skills and get people to work together.'

"I'm really honored and excited about being back in Beverly Hills," Hoffman said. "I had great experience at the high school for three years. I loved the people I worked with, and I'm really looking forward to going back, re-establishing those relationships and working with the families in Beverly Hills."

Hoffman previously worked under then-Beverly High Principal Dan Stepenosky and with then-Assistant Principal Dana Berk Findley, now at Horace Mann.

"[HR Director] Alex Cherniss was someone I enjoyed working with," Hoffman said. "And I have all the respect in the world for

Fenton said Kessler has a contractor's license, which will be "a big help with all of the construction that's going to be taking place over the years through our Measure E efforts."

'Knowing that Steve has his contractor's license will make me sleep easier at night," Fenton said.

Kessler said being appointed as principal is "the greatest thing [he] could ever imagine."

"It's the greatest honor I could achieve in my professional life," Kessler said. "I can't imagine anything better than being named principal of my beloved school. I want to provide an atmosphere where kids can realize their full potential both academically and socially. I think having fun in school is something that's really important."

Kessler said the overarching theme throughout his career has been "the kids come first," and though he will focus on academics, he will also work toward "improving [students'] moral values."

"Their safety and welfare is paramount in my mind," Kessler said. "If I can provide a safe and nurturing environment where the kids really look forward to coming to school, then I think I'll be doing my job."

The board has yet to select principals for both Beverly High and Beverly Vista.

Oversight Committee Elects New Officers

The BHUSD's Citizen Oversight Committee unanimously elected its new officers last Thursday, April 15.

Weekly columnist and Vice Chair Rudy Cole was elected committee chair. Woodrow Clark II and Todd Okum will take the first vice chair and second vice chair position.

"Our committee looks forward to working closely with the school board as we move forward on making our schools even safer and more usable," Cole said. "Our primary responsibility is to assure that bond monies are used for the programs approved by the voters and mandated by state law. We also hope to involve the whole education community in this process and to fully inform all the stakeholders on our efforts."

Cole succeeds the committee's first chair, former Mayor Les Bronte, whose term ended this month. At its March meeting, the committee passed a resolution thanking Bronte for his service to the school district.

"In the first 12 months, it was really important for the committee to begin the formation and to set the course toward completing all the requirements as outlined under briefs cont. on page 4 Prop 39 and the education code," Bronte said. "Rudy has a background in organization skills and will continue to build toward the completion of our responsibilities of overseeing all the expenditures on the Measure E bond funding."

Other members of the committee include Steve Hendry, Ana LaDou, Linda Lewis, Martin Perlberger, Joe Safier, Julie Steinberg and Shirley Zaragoza.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Council of the City of Beverly Hills, at its regular meeting to be held on Tuesday, May 4, 2010, at 7:00 p.m., in the Council Chambers of the City Hall, 455 N. Rexford Drive, Beverly Hills, California, will hold a public hearing to consider adoption of:

> A RESOLUTION OF THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF BEVERLY HILLS AMENDING THE COMPRE-HENSIVE SCHEDULE OF TAXES, FEES & SER-VICE CHARGES FOR THE FISCAL YEAR 2010/2011.

The proposed resolution will increase the taxes, fees, and service charges that are charged to the public for the various activities and services as set forth in the schedule for fiscal year 2010/2011. The majority of the fees and charges would be increased by 0.9% based on the Consumer Price Index (CPI) for November 2009 to reflect the increase in the City's costs. In some cases, the fees were adjusted to reflect a change in service level, more equitable distribution of costs, or to obtain full-cost recovery, rather than by the CPI. The new fees would become effective on July 1, 2010. Fees for development applications, per State law, become effective 60 days after adoption of the adjusted fee schedule, on July 5, 2010.

Copies of the proposed Resolution and the Fee Study Report are available for review or purchase in the Office of the City Clerk, Room 290, 455 N. Rexford Drive, and in the Finance Department, 9357 West Third Street, Beverly Hills, California. Any interested person may attend the meeting and be heard. Written comments may also be submitted and should be addressed to the City Council, c/o City Clerk, 455 N. Rexford Drive, Beverly Hills, California, 90210. # BHHS boys' volleyball team swept by Culver City By Steven Herbert Beverly High fell one run short in its attempt to overcome a six-run deficit in the final half-inning of a 12-11 loss to the Los Angeles Center For Enriched Studies in an intersectional softball game at Beverly Hills April 8.

The Normans combined a leadoff walk to Jackie Pop, RBI singles by Erica Hendry and Annie Math, a two-run single by Lisa Kliman and an Unicorns error for five runs in the seventh inning. However, Pop grounded out to end the game with the potential tying run on third base and the winning run at first.

The Los Angeles Center For Enriched Studies scored twice in its half of the first inning. Vanessa Morris led off with a triple and scored on a single one out later by Osa Jos-Bazuaye, who later scored.

Beverly Hills scored once in its half of the first as consecutive walks to Kliman, Tamar Rotstein and Lexi Silbiger with one out forced in Math, who had led off with a single.

Both teams scored twice in the third. Ashley Aratow's two-out triple drove in Phathom Donald, who singled. Whitney Woods' singled in Aratow for the Unicorns.

Rotstein's ground out drove in Ida Trevino, who was hit by a pitch, and Solange Levy singled in Kliman, who also singled, in the Normans' half of the third.

The Los Angeles Center For Enriched Studies took a 9-3 lead by scoring five runs on two hits in the fourth.

Morris hit a solo home run with one out. The Unicorns combined a single by Donald, walks to Jos-Bazuaye and Aratow, a wild pitch and errors by Math, the Beverly Hills third baseman, and Ore Ezer, for the other four runs.

The Normans cut the deficit to 9-6 with three runs in the fifth. Kliman and Rotstein walked to open the inning. Silbiger singled in Kliman. Rotstein stole home. Silbiger stole second and third and scored when Ezer reached first on a fielder's choice.

The Los Angeles Center For Enriched Studies regained a six-run lead with three runs in the sixth.

Pop (1-2) was charged with the loss, allowing 10

Kasikci To Bel Air?

Other notes of interest By Rudy Cole

Totally unconfirmed reports have Ali Kasikci becoming the managing director of the Bel Air Hotel, now closed for a major refurbishing, but scheduled to reopen in mid 2011.

Kasikci who has helped make two Beverly Hills hotels world famous, the Peninsula and now the Montage Beverly Hills, would, if the rumors are valid, join the prestigious Dorchester Collection, operators of the Bel Air, which also includes the Beverly Hills Hotel.

Montage Beverly Hills recently announced that Kasciki had been promoted from hotel managing director to responsibilities for developing new Montage properties. The group's newest addition will be the Montage Deer Valley in Park City, Utah, scheduled opening later this year.

Under the leadership of Kasikci and his boss, Alan Fuerstman, founder and CEO of Montage Hotels and Resorts, the Beverly Hills Montage received the prestigious Forbes Five Star award this year after only one year of operation, an unprecedented honor for a new hotel.

The new management team for Beverly Hills Montage will be David Hoffman, hotel manager, and Victorio Gonzalez, director of food and beverage, according to an announcement last week by James Birmingham, vice president of Montage Hotels and Resorts.

Hoffman was Director of Rooms since the opening of the Beverly Hills Montage in 2008 and Gonzalez has held key food service posts at the Montage Laguna. Both have extensive experience with some of the nation's leading hotels. (See brief on page 4)

Since the closing of the Bel Air, many of their staff members were recruited by Kasikci for Beverly Hills. The Bel Air is certainly one of the most famous in the world and their refurbishing which will include major renovations in suites and their bar and restaurant plus other infrastructure upgrades will bring 12 new "villas" within their property. (The swans, a Bel Air symbol, are being safely cared for during construction.)

Certainly, this has been a difficult economic period for all hotels, and the opening of the Montage Beverly Hills came in the middle of the economic "down turn." Room occupancy has been down throughout the industry, including the Montage. However, slowly and surely, the hotel restaurant and lounges seem to be attracting more and more people. One of the most popular in Beverly Hills is the lobby lounge, packed almost every afternoon, mostly with locals. (Having a great harpist hasn't hurt)

Although very different in both design and environment, the Beverly Hills Montage had a great role model: The Laguna Montage, one of the best hotels on any California beach. From the personal service, the great restaurants and the magnificent ocean views and setting, this is our favorite hotel in California.

As for Kasikci, he has been a most valued member of our community and is likely to continue to be involved even if he goes to Bel Air. He has set a high standard of civic responsibility with leadership roles in many civic groups and organizations.

Interesting, according to industry insiders, the Beverly hotel that has had the least downturn in occupancy is the Beverly Hilton, and while we are tossing praise around, the renovation of our historic landmark was accomplished without closing, an important boost for city revenues.

Beny Alagem should earn our admiration for what he has done with a property that had not had major reinvestment for many years. His team has recently opened a new night club, and retained much of the old Trader Vic's menu adjacent to the Olympic size pool. It continues the breakfast buffet tradition at Circa 55, which is also open for lunch and dinner. Their wait staff and managers are really incredibly friendly and efficient.

However, no news yet on plans to build the Waldorf Astoria addition, approved by referendum.

Yes, I like hotels.

Some years back, a client with a business on Rodeo Drive asked if I could convince the city to create a parking zone for tour buses, thinking it would be very beneficial for their store.

It took about one week for the same client to plead with me to have the zone removed.

Are tour buses good for business, do they really have any benefit for our city? Ask people who live just north of Santa Monica Boulevard and their answer is clear: They disturb our neighborhood. The same answer will probably come from many north area streets where tours visit "celebrity" homes, whether or not the famous actually live there now is often questionable.

As for the business district, you seldom find these tourists actually buying anything on Rodeo or dining at our restaurants. The only exception I know is Crustacean which has an arrangement with a tour operator.

Councilmember Willie Brien raised the possibility of controlling and even limiting tour buses and the issue was sent to the Parking and Traffic Commission for review.

The Commission did find one area they could legislate: Limits on the use of sound equipment. Our present ordinances control noise sufficiently to permit issuance of citations, and that will now by done by our finest.

However, the total control of tour buses is not a city option. What we may need is some enabling state legislation.

Certainly, visitors are not a total bust, even if they are not among high end shoppers. Just maybe they will come back and shop without the tour bus time tables, or tell their home friends back home about their visit.

As for Rodeo Drive, just having the buzz on the street, whether from tour buses or other gawkers hoping to catch a paparazzi happening, has some value. How much? Just maybe our Chamber and our economic team at city hall can study the benefits or disadvantages more carefully.

Some years back, I did decide to ride along with one of the tours, and I doubt I would be welcomed back. These are only a few of the questions I asked and the incredible answers:

"Is Beverly Hills an independent city, or is it part of Los Angeles?"

Answer: No, this is a neighborhood and it's in Los Angeles!

"But don't they have their own police department."

Answer: Yes, but a lot of cities do!

"What is the population of Beverly Hills?"

Answer: About 2 million!

"Are most of the people in Beverly Hills Democrats or Republicans?"

Answer: They are all Republicans! (My colleague at the other paper would have loved that statistic.)

There was more, but at the end of the tour I did correct some of his "facts" about Beverly Hills. He was not thrilled. Incidentally, it did fill a slow week in column writing for the long gone Beverly Hills Post.

Thanks to the members of the Traffic and Parking Commission for helping reduce the noise in residential areas by better control of sound equipment, a good first step: Ira Friedman, Jeff Levine, Joyce Braun, Julie Steinberg, Brian Rosenstein, Alan Grushcow and Andy Licht.

Short takes: What are the odds? Although there are only 11 members on the school districts Citizen Oversight Committee, two of these have youngsters who are among the stars of the high school murder mystery musical, "Curtains" which performed this month at the Ken Peters auditorium.

Linda Lewis' son Barton and Shirley Zaragoza's daughter Rayana had two of the leads. Other student performers in the very successful and well received performance included Jason Bellet, Evan Moffit, Sophia Zukowski, Rayvon Moore, Bennet Shuster and Sara Hendel and others. The producer was Herb Hall and the director Josh Butchart, all under the always able direction of musical director and conductor Joel Pressman.

If you haven't yet attended any of the fine student theatre at the high school, you are missing a really enjoyable cultural experience. It is as close to Broadway we can be until the Annenberg opens.

However, we do have another theatrical jewel in Beverly Hills, the intimate Theatre Forty work at the Reuben Cardova theatre, a totally professional offering.

This Sunday only, Theatre Forty presents the highly talented Joan Darling in "Joni vs.the Bard – The Shakespeare Shakedown."

Written and directed by Darling, the one person performance will share her life long passion for the bard and how it can be "thrilling, engaging and fun."

Darling has an impressive entertainment resume, including being the first woman nominated for an Emmy for some of the most successful television shows.

organized meeting. For more information: (310) 248-1000 ext. 110. Thanks to the economic development of our Chamber of Commerce for alerting us.

Today, the city council will hopefully come out against one of the most nefarious power grabs in state history, Prop. 16, which would seriously impair municipalities' ability to provide alternatives to private company electric services. More on this later.

How many council committees does it take to run a city? Forty, and counting. These are mostly two member ad hoc committees named by the mayor each year and range from liaison to commissions and schools to non-city governmental agencies. And you thought you only had to attend two days a week if you want to win election to the council.

Now in her fifth year in college, Haverim said choosing photojournalism as a career was "random," having changed her major twice before finally deciding that she wanted to "tell visual stories."

"With photojournalism, I can research any topic I want and learn about anything I want to learn about," Haverim said. # Beverly Hills Concludes Discussion with Broad Art Foundation

The Beverly Hills City Council has confirmed that it has concluded discussions with The Broad Art Foundation regarding the potential site of a museum at the intersection of Wilshire and Santa Monica boulevards.

As reported in the Weekly's cover story "Will Beverly Hills Snag the Broad Museum?" [Issue 531], both Beverly Hills and Santa Monica were vying to be the cultural epicenter of the 2,000-piece collection of contemporary art owned by philanthropist and billionaire Eli Broad.

A third possible location was later named in downtown Los Angeles near the Walt Disney Concert Hall on Grand Avenue and 2nd Street.

As part of the upcoming discussions on the adoption of the city's fiscal year 2010-11 budget, the council will be allocating the funds it had set aside for the potential acquisition of the property to other project priorities.

Broad will make final decisions for the museum site by the end of spring, according to Broad Art Foundation spokesperson Karen Denne.

coverstory INSIDE THE BOSSE LEADERSHIP ACADEMY

By Kimberly Cheng

According to its founders, the Bosse Leadership Academy will go where Team Beverly Hills has gone before, and do for BHUSD what Team Beverly Hills does for the city - serve as the backbone of community involvement.

Spearheaded by Board of Education President Steven Fenton - and backed by the Bosse family, BHEF and the PTA council — the academy is a six-week program designed to restore the tradition of homegrown leaders by drawing 25 current BHUSD employees together every Wednesday to meet with community leaders.

"I think when you talk about a goal, it's important to look at the process that's led up to that decision to start a leadership academy," said Beverly High Athletic Director Jason Newman, who will also serve as the program's emcee.

Both Newman and Planning Commission Chair Lili Bosse serve as co-chairs of the academy.

"It seems like our district once functioned and was headed by administrators who had spent their careers here, often times coming up the ranks as teachers," Newman said.

Newman, who has been teaching in the district for 36 years, said the goal of the academy is to "once again foster that sense of belonging in future leaders."

"Hopefully [there are] teachers who may be interested in becoming leaders in the district," Newman said. "We want to expose them to different aspects of the community and again try to foster the connection that has led to people staying here for their entire careers."

The leadership academy launched this past Wednesday at the home of Jon and Lili Bosse, where several community leaders discussed the city's various departments. Speakers at the inaugural meeting include Councilmember Dr. Willie Brien, Traffic and Parking Commissioner Brian Rosenstein, Community Services Director Steve Miller and Bosse.

"One of the great things about the people who, like Steven, came back and made this community their lives is we all had that common thread," Newman said. "We rarely can keep an administrator here for more than a couple years, at least that's been the history for the last 15-20 years. In comparing what's going on recently to the strength of the district in the previous 30 years, which is the continuity provided by leadership that's consistent, I think Steven and the board decided that's the thing that is worth developing, trying to get back to that model."

Newman said the academy aims to not only develop leadership and administrators but also "identify leaders from faculty who, even if they don't become administrators, can be leaders in their departments."

relationships with people," Zenack said. "With people within the community moving up into administration, I feel that this will help people be able to begin that process or be involved in different ways."

Zenack, who has worked in the district for four years, said she applied for the academy because she thought it would be a wonderful opportunity to learn more about the city and community.

"It would help me build a future in Beverly Hills because I feel really grounded here," said Zenack, who is originally from Massachusetts. "I really feel it's similar to where I grew up, so it feels like home with the population and the people. I don't plan on leaving."

Zenack said she is looking forward to getting to know community members, how the city works and listening to distinguished speakers.

All speakers for the academy have donated their time. BHEF, PTA and the Bosse family contributed funding for resources, including food, supplies and some venues where meetings will be held.

Superintendent Jerry Gross, his administrative assistant Pam Kraushaar and Assistant Superintendent of Educational Services Ilene Straus all helped organize and coordinate the six-week program.

"We finally have a mechanism in place to develop future stars," Fenton said. "It goes to show you how committed the Bosse family, BHEF and the PTA are to growing our own and to giving a platform for our employees to become leaders within our district. One of my goals is to instill a real sense of community to our employees like we used to. I think this academy will get people excited here in Beverly Hills, and this is a bona fide way to connect the employees of our school district to our city." Bosse said "sense of connection" to the school district and the Beverly Hills community.

"This leadership academy is going to bring the community to the teachers and administrators," Bosse said. "We're going to introduce them to the fire department, the police department and the different elements of the city. Hopefully, they'll have the same sort of connection and passion as we do. They are what make this school district great."

Fenton approached Bosse with the idea of the academy several months ago, explaining that the program could piggyback the manage-

funded by the Bosses. During this retreat, the superintendent, principals and administrators are able to "bond" and identify collective goals for the school year.

"Steven said he thought this would be a wonderful addition to the superintendent retreat," Bosse said. "There's nothing I love more than our school district, so it's a tremendous honor. [We have a] common goal of excellence in our schools. We're trying to make this academy a fun and exciting bonding experience, as well as intellectually stimulating."

The second meeting on April 28 will take place at in the City Council Chamber, and will include a presentation by The Maple Counseling Center's Lori Karny, a licensed clinical social worker, on communication strategies.

During the third meeting at the fire station on May 4, Police Chief David Snowden and Fire Chief Tim Scranton will discuss employee commitment and morale. The following meeting's theme is public relations strategies with psychologist Marty Nislick and Beverly graduate Brad Turrell as panelists. It will be held at The Peninsula.

Speakers at the academy's fifth meeting at the Montage will discuss collaboration strategies, and will include former district leaders, who have yet to be identified.

During the academy's final session at II Cielo on May 26 - where the 25 participants will graduate and be acknowledged for their participation and commitment author and motivational speaker Marcus Buckingham will be discussing leadership.

Participants of the academy, which is open to any full-time BHUSD employee, were randomly chosen from this year's 32 applicants based on a lottery system.

Those enrolling in the program this year include veteran and new faculty and staff: Bob Bailey, Nicole Cramer, Krisha Deaver, Afi Delijani, Lisa Dickens, Leanne Domnitz, Mark Frenn, Christian Fuhrer, Annette Goldstein, Debra Joesph, Steve Kessler, Marcene Landres, Stephanie Lehrer, Colleen Lynch, Karen Moses, Anita Naiman, Molly Peterson, Todd Radonsky, Michelle Redston, Michelle Sterne, Susan Trachtenberg, Telly Tse, Marla Weiss, Barbara Zarider and Tara Zenack.

Bosse said participants will be capped at 25 every year to keep the academy setting "intimate."

"I hope that the participants in the academy feel a sense of connection to our Beverly Hills community," Bosse said. "And they, too, will feel the shared passion and vision that those who have gone to Beverly Hills schools feel and will become part of who we are."
