“Should Beverly Hills’ overnight parking ban be repealed?” [Issue #621]

My introduction to Beverly Hills residency about 11 years ago was a ticket for parking overnight in front of my new house. While there may be better reasons to control overnight parking in some areas of Beverly Hills, it’s nothing more than a revenue “gotcha” in my neighborhood, Elm Drive between Santa Monica and Sunset boulevards. The ban on parking between 2:30 and 5 a.m. is not posted on street signs, of course.

My suggestion would be that in residential areas where there aren’t legitimate law enforcement concerns or issues related to business and tourist parking, residents should be able to purchase a tag that would permit parking of vehicles in front of the owner’s home. That would be an easy revenue source with very little overhead expense and, now that we all know what our Beverly Hills municipal employees get paid, it wouldn’t hurt to see the occasional smart management decision.

Corrections [Issue #621]

The article “Fine Art Commission lets Dan Graham Pavilions go, considers location for two other art pieces” incorrectly stated that Guy Dill gave his piece “Egalmah, the Great Palace,” to the City of Beverly Hills. Stan and Debra Berman donated the piece to the City in October 2000.

For us, Beverly Hills would be a much better place to live in if we didn’t have this stupid overnight parking ban.

Sid Spektor

I live in a single-family home on South Linden Drive. I am very annoyed with the continuing ban on overnight parking. When it was started, there were no parking permits and mirror hangers for residents and at night the police could not tell who belonged and who did not. Now that we have permit parking for residents, the reason for the ban no longer applies. The police only have to look and see who has a permit and who does not. The ban is a substantial inconvenience and annoyance. I have a long single driveway and I am constantly having to shuffle our cars as to who is leaving first in the morning. I wrote to the Traffic [& Parking] Commission and received no response. Thanks for your interest in this matter. Please do not let this matter die.

“Edie fought porno” [Issue #621]

I do not remember myself ever walking with a paper in hand, literally across half the City, fully occupied in [Rudy Cole’s] Mrs. Edie Wasserman’s recap of history.

If there is ever a tribute to a person that has a zest and some spice to it, this is the story.

For the past three decades, I have taken guests, especially from overseas but some just out-of-towners who visit us, on a tour of the City. I always go to Greystone Mansion, I point out the old property of the Sheik, and I tell the stories about them.

Beverly High singers represent U.S. in Beijing international gala

Gary Woods

Beverly High singers and students from around the world joined dancers, acrobats, magicians, martial artists and even Boston Celtics forward Kevin Garnett onstage in Beijing for an international celebration of performing arts that broadcast last week on Chinese television.

"It was very, very valuable that we went," BHUSD Superintendent Gary Woods said of the group of 16 Beverly High singers that he accompanied to China between Aug. 13 and 21. "We were able to interface with seven other countries. Basically the bulk of the trip was working with what we call CCTV, China Central Television, which is the premier television station out of China. The primary focus of the trip was to put together this gala celebration."

The gala celebration, titled "Meet in Beijing," featured performances by students from the United States—including Beverly High and a group from John Burroughs High School in Burbank, China, Japan, North Korea, South Korea, Australia, India, and Russia.

Beverly High Choral Director Joel Pressman selected the students and trained them in July and August for performances of songs that included Michael Jackson's "Earth Song" and a rendition of "Lean on Me." Since Pressman was unable to make the trip, USC Choral Director Tammi Alderman led the group in China.

According to Woods, the students spent about 30 hours in the studio preparing for the gala. The students also had the opportunity to visit some of Beijing's popular tourist destinations, including the Great Wall of China and the 2008 Olympic facilities. Woods said there was an international group that ventured out on each of the sightseeing stops, and the Beverly High group's visits aligned often with those of the Russian, South Korean and Indian groups.

"In terms of the interaction, we had international connections," Woods said. "Our kids were together literally for eight days. They talked about their schools, they talked about their families, and they talked about their governments. Our kids were educated in a way that you just can't be educated in a classroom or by reading a textbook."

During the trip, Woods met with two Chinese education officials and intends to continue conversations about education.

"I reached out and asked for some continuing conversation, especially in the areas of math and science at the middle school and high school level," Woods said. "They're very interested in what we do in the U.S. and there's a big desire for kids in Beijing [to have] an experience in the west. I don't know what that means yet, [but it] could be a summer exchange program. I will probably become a conduit for them on a lot of levels. The bottom line is the name Beverly Hills means something to them now."

When asked if he thought the Beverly High students would keep in touch with students from the other countries, Woods said the students all exchanged Facebook information.

"Although there was a lot of rolling with the changes once they got to China, all the kids I have spoken to said they would go back again—the trip was life-changing," Pressman said.

Bruce and Nanette Cole (no relation to Weekly columnist Rudy Cole) learned about the travel opportunity from their friends, Chinese filmmaker Guan LeiMing and her husband Pan Chao, who is in charge of children's programming at CCTV. The Coles are on the board of Beverly Hills Global Partners, the Beverly Hills sister cities organization. Bruce Cole told the Board of Education on June 9 that CCTV would cover all expenses associated with the trip for students and chaperones.

Woods said CCTV paid for everything on the trip.

"Yep, we never saw a bill," Woods said. "They were very gracious and they had transportation for us, they provided all the food, lodging, they had events for us, exchanges,

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

DATE: September 8, 2011

TIME: 1:30 PM, or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard

Beverly Hills City Hall
455 North Rexford Drive
Beverly Hills, CA 90210

The Planning Commission of the City of Beverly Hills, at its regular meeting on Thursday, September 8, 2011, at 1:30 PM will hold a public hearing to consider:

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF BEVERLY HILLS TO PROHIBIT DRILLING AND EXTRACTION OF OIL, GAS AND OTHER HYDROCARBON SUBSTANCES FROM SURFACE LOCATIONS IN THE CITY

On January 25, 2011, the City Council adopted an interim urgency ordinance to prohibit drilling and extraction of oil, gas and other hydrocarbons from surface locations in the City. Pursuant to State Law, the interim ordinance was effective for an initial period of 45 days. On March 1, 2011, the City Council extended the interim ordinance for a period of 10 months and 15 days to allow the City's Planning Commission to consider a proposed permanent ordinance, which will now be considered by the Planning Commission at the date and time noted above. The proposed ordinance will be presented to the City Council at a future noticed public hearing. The proposed ordinance would prohibit drill sites from being located in the City, but would not prohibit slant drilling under the City from drill sites located outside the City of Beverly Hills.

The proposed ordinance has been environmentally reviewed pursuant to the California Environmental Quality Act ("CEQA"), (Public Resource Sections 21000, et seq.), the State CEQA Guidelines (California Code of Regulations, Title 14, Sections 15000 et seq.), and the City's Local CEQA guidelines and has been determined to be exempt pursuant to the Guidelines Section 15061 (b) (3) in that it can be seen with certainty that prohibiting drilling and extraction within the City will not result in an potentially significant environmental impacts.

All interested persons are invited to attend and speak on this matter. Written comments may also be submitted and should be addressed to the City Council, c/o City Clerk, 455 N. Rexford Drive, Room 290, Beverly Hills, CA 90210. The comments should be received prior to the hearing date. ### BHUSD kicks off the school year with Opening Day

BHUSD faculty, administrators and staff assembled Wednesday morning at Beverly High in the Kenneth L. Peters Auditorium for Opening Day and enjoyed a PTA Council-sponsored breakfast and heard opening remarks from Superintendent Gary Woods.

Woods kicked off the school year with an introductory speech, in which he defined the core work in the district—teaching and learning—and updated the district on the status of his 90-day plan, which Woods said is about 90 percent complete, and he plans to present an action plan to the Board of Education later this month.

“I told them that [the action plan] will allow for a lot of individual magic to happen; the individuals make the plan come alive,” Woods said. “I write the broad goals and broad objectives and broad activities. It’s their opportunity to interject their own unique magic that can make it all come to life.”

During the program, BHUSD’s longest serving faculty and staff members were acknowledged. BHUSD faculty and staff with 30 years or more of service included Merle Bauer, William Hiatt, Deborah Ives, Linda DiNoble, Janet Lambert, Annie Espinoza Cornejo, Susan Wallach, Lorraine Zeidler, Robert Bailey, Steven Kessler, Michael Lambert, Marcene Landres, Jane Wortman, Maureen Winick, Gloria Boraz, and Susan Stevens.

Following the morning program, BHUSD staff members broke off to their respective sites for orientations, introductions and preparations for the school year.

Traffic & Parking Commission considers Sunset Boulevard intersection improvements

Jeff Levine

The Traffic & Parking Commission is approaching a decision on what improvements to recommend for three uncontrolled Sunset Boulevard intersections at North Camden, Bedford and Roxbury drives. The commission held a special study session meeting Aug. 25, during which the commission considered seven options, and agreed on three options to consider for further study.

Consulting traffic engineer Michael Meyer of Iteris, Inc. presented the seven alternatives, and will present additional information about the three remaining options at the next Traffic & Parking meeting, which is scheduled for the evening of Oct. 4. At that meeting, the commission is expected to make a recommendation to the city council about what changes to make to the intersections, if any.

Here are the three alternatives the Traffic & Commission will review at the Oct. 4 meeting:

- Modify medians on Sunset Boulevard to prevent through traffic on Camden, Bedford and Roxbury drives from crossing Sunset.

This option would still allow left turns off of Sunset onto each drive

- Install a traffic light on Bedford Drive at Sunset Boulevard, but make no changes to Roxbury and Camden drives
- Install traffic lights on Bedford Drive at Benedict Canyon Drive, and modify the medians to prevent through traffic on Roxbury and Camden drives from crossing Sunset Boulevard

“What [the Commission] did is they narrowed down the number of alternatives that would be studied further and the main thing that will be studied is what the traffic impacts are of these three alternatives,” Deputy Director of Transportation Aaron Kunz said. “Any time you make a change in traffic there’s always an impact somewhere else.”

Traffic & Parking Commission Chair Jeff Levine said he was pleased that commissioners unanimously agreed on the three alternatives for further study.

“To reach a consensus is always productive when you have so many options out there, to be able to all agree,” Levine said.

DA investigations bureau serves search warrants in Beverly Hills

The Los Angeles County district attorney’s Bureau of Investigation served 30 search warrants on Aug. 25 involving two separate cases. One of the search warrants was reportedly served to a business on Wilshire Boulevard at Carson Road.

“The case is being handled by the automobile insurance fraud division and we have two separate investigations underway,” Los Angeles County district attorney’s office spokeswoman Sandi Gibbons said. “Because it is an ongoing criminal investigation, no charges have been filed against anyone at this point.”

Gibbons said searches took place at 30 different locations, which included doctors’ offices, lawyers’ offices, clinics and private homes. Gibbons provided no further information about the investigation.

Beverly Hills Police Department Sgt. Shan Davis said one BHPD officer was present during the search that took place in the area near the 100 block of Carson Road in Beverly Hills. Davis said it is typical for BHPD to act as a liaison when there is an “outside” agency operating within Beverly Hills’ jurisdiction.

Gibbons said she did not know which specific addresses were served warrants, but she said the bulk of them were on the west side of Los Angeles County.

City Council to discuss noise ordinance at Sept. 8 meeting

The Beverly Hills City Council is expected to discuss the noise ordinance, which has been a contentious topic for residents, at the city council meeting scheduled for Sept. 8 at 7:30 p.m.

The Human Relations Commission passed the issue on to the city council on June 30 after a series of public meetings on the ordinance, which currently limits the use or operation of sound amplifying equipment to the hours between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. daily. The ordinance is reportedly being enforced by Beverly Hills police beginning at 10 p.m.

Barry Brucker said. "I am hoping that people will be comfortable with whatever the council decides and I do also suspect that no one will feel it's an ideal solution whatever we come up with, because we heard so many diverse opinions. It's one of those very difficult decisions but we're going to be as responsible and sensitive to the quality of life for our resident neighbors as possible."

Lili Bosse

Councilmember Lili Bosse, who was on the City Council-Human Relations Commission liaison committee with Brucker and Commission Chair Sharona R. Nazarian and Vice Chair Barbara Linder, said the issue is challenging because it's about balancing quality of life.

Barry Brucker

"It's a balance because as a resident you want to be able to enjoy your home," Bosse said. "For some people that means having parties and celebrations at your home and for others it means being able to sit in your backyard and have quiet."

Recognizing the challenges of the issue, Bosse said, "I think the best I [can] do is really listen and try to do the best job of being fair and balanced."

The Human Relations Commission was tasked with drafting the noise ordinance, but the six-member commission was not able to reach a consensus June 30 for a cut-off time for amplified sound on weekdays and weekends to recommend to the city council.

Instead of submitting a recommendation from the Human Relations Commission as a whole, each commissioner proposed a cutoff time he or she considered appropriate. On weekdays, Linder and Commissioners Tom Pease and Ilona Sherman proposed 6 p.m. for the cut-off time for amplified sound. Commissioner Rochelle Ginsburg proposed 8 p.m. and Nazarian and Commissioner Yar Meshkaty proposed 10 p.m. On weekends, Linder, Pease and Sherman favored 10 p.m., Ginsburg favored 11 p.m., and Nazarian and Meshkaty favored midnight.

BHUSD API scores, STAR test scores improve, but some goals not met

Academic Performance Index (API) scores, which the California Department of Education released in its Accountability Progress Report Wednesday, showed overall improvement in BHUSD, and at four of five district schools.

API Scores	2011	2010
BHUSD	891	872
Beverly High	873	839
Beverly Vista	915	904
El Rodeo	901	902
Hawthorne	926	909
Horace Mann	899	898

Source: California Department of Education

The 2011 API scores are based on a district and schools' performances on 2011 Standardized Testing and Reporting (STAR) tests and the 2011 California High School Exit Examination (CAHSEE) tests. The API is on a scale of 200 to 1,000, and the state of California set a target for all schools to score 800 or better. According to a press release from the Department of Education, 49 percent of California's schools met the target API score.

"It is refreshing to see our district continue to make progress and I am very pleased with the direction we are headed but we still have work to do," Board of Education Vice President Brian Goldberg said.

Superintendent Gary Woods would not comment on the release of the scores before press time, because he had not completed his analysis of the results.

API Scores can be viewed at <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/ac/ar/index.asp>.

Vice Mayor Willie Brien issued a Beverly Hills proclamation to the L.A. Gay & Lesbian Center at the VIP reception of "Simply diVine: A Summer Soirée for the Senses" last Saturday night at Galerie Michael. Nearly 400 people attended the main "Simply diVine" food and wine event, which took place at Two Rodeo. The event raised nearly $125,000 to support the Center's programs and services, which include free HIV/AIDS care and medications for those most in need; housing, food, clothing and support for homeless LGBT youth; and low-cost counseling and addiction-recovery services.

August. BHUSD's scores increased across the board in the five main testing areas, English, history, math, and two science areas (see brief in Issue #620), but Interim Director of Curriculum, Instruction and Professional Development Jennifer Tedford reported to the Board of Education on Aug. 24 that BHUSD met only two out of six goal targets for 2010.

"Although we didn't quite meet our goals, we made a lot of improvement. We're very interested in continuing to focus our efforts in those areas," Tedford said. "I think we saw a lot of improvement in individual schools and our teachers worked really hard last year. We saw results in a number of different areas including students who received special education services, English learners, and that had been a goal last year to really focus on those groups of students."

The goal for 10 percent of English language learners to improve from non-proficient to proficient was not met, but the students came close—9.5 percent improved from non-proficient to proficient, with a total of 46 percent of English language learners earning proficient or advanced scores.

The goals BHUSD met were for 80 percent of students district-wide to score at the proficient or advanced level in English and language arts and precisely 80 percent of students did so. The second goal was to maintain math growth at the K-8 level. There was a 1 percent increase in the number of students who earned proficient or advanced [Rudy] managed to complete the picture with a most interesting story. What I lacked you provided—the history.

I recently said to the joint meeting of the [City] Council and School Board, we completely lack institutional history. We also do not know the history of our own town sufficiently, often trying to "reinvent the wheel."

I like [Rudy's] column, but I particularly cherish this latest one. I would urge Susan Rosen, with whose husband I shared not less interesting intrigues about neighbors, to have the column reprinted and posted on the bulletin board at Greystone (parking lot). This will survive [Rudy], Mrs. Wasserman and us all—leaving a tribute to apparently a great lady, your own work and involvement and how life has a tendency to direct things the way life intends them to proceed, not according to our own plans.

There is a point that should be raised though, and that is MeraLee Goldman's involvement in creating the annual design event at Greystone, which has also assumed a life of its own, become an asset and has contributed greatly to the way the property looks now (and the manner in which it greets guests).

Thank you again for such a way to start the day!

"What a Council Day" [Issue #618]

Mr. Thomas White, Chairman of the Municipal League, is wrong about the Los Angeles Lawyers Philharmonic. In his letter to the editor in [Issue #621] of Beverly Hills Weekly, he incorrectly stated that the orchestra is currently paying rent for rehearsal space. After purportedly conducting his own investigation (although neither he nor anyone from the Municipal League contacted me or anyone at the orchestra), Mr. White reported this incorrect information to the city council at its study session on August 2. He then argued that the city should not provide the Roxbury Park community center to the orchestra without a rental fee for its once-a-week rehearsals (not to exceed 3 hours).

The point that is sadly missed is that the orchestra proposed to hold open rehearsals as entertainment for the public (and especially for the seniors at Roxbury Park) and provide a minimum of two free annual concerts for the community. This is not about taking from the City but rather giving music to the community. This proposal was supported by the Beverly Hills Parks and Recreation Department after they analyzed the pros and cons. The only opposition to the proposal was by the Municipal League through Mr. White. Unfortunately, no one from the orchestra was present at the study session. The council decided not to proceed with the matter.

As chairman of the Municipal League, Mr. White asserted in his letter to the editor that the orchestra could well afford the rental of approximately $240 per rehearsal. He is correct about that. But then, I don't believe the city could either afford or want to pay for performances of a resident orchestra. (Last year, the LA Lawyers Phil volunteered a performance that raised thousands of dollars for the restoration of Greystone Mansion and on August 4, 2011 volunteered a free program to the community as part of the Concerts on Canon series with several hundred people in attendance.) To end on a bright note, the LA Lawyers Philharmonic is about to embark on an exciting season of concerts (regardless of where it rehearses) and will again be performing at Walt Disney Concert Hall. For information on the orchestra, please visit www.LALawyersPhil.org.

Robinsons-May tear down

And subway fears, Snowden honor

By Rudy Cole

Apparently, and I use the word advisably, there has been some movement on the 9900 Wilshire project, but confirmation with local contacts and their representatives has been difficult to obtain.

According to our sources, there have been some contacts with the city, and a tentative time table offered. There will be no major changes in the project—still upscale condos and some limited retail uses. This could mean using the present entitlements with only minor adjustments on design that may not trigger additional Environmental Reviews or zoning hearings.

Preliminary plans call for submission of design modifications within the next few months and demolition of the Robinsons-May structure this summer.

The development was first brought to the city by Arnold S. Rosenstein and David P. Margulies, owners of New Pacific Realty, based in Beverly Hills.

They processed many of the entitlements approved by the Planning Commission. Dare I say they made a sweet deal with Candy and Candy whose loan default with an Icelandic bank brought down that company and much of the economy of that country.

However, much of the credit for the successful city process was due to the reputation of New Pacific. The principals have deep roots in Beverly Hills, a track record of successful development projects combined with high marks for civic responsibility.

Candy and Candy appeared to be a good successor to New Pacific. Their successes included an impressive condo in London, and they made all the right moves in Beverly Hills. Their collapse was a shocker.

Now, some cautionary thoughts:

The city needs to refine the demolition permit process, whatever that takes. We should not have to see a mammoth empty lot for years while the owners try to complete financing or are delayed in completing approval. True, the present Robinsons-May building is not exactly a thing of beauty, but far better than barren land. At the very least, this cries for a completion bond.

Present rules prevent demolition during the school year. This too needs to be carefully monitored and enforced. The proximity to El Rodeo School means responsible timing of both demolition and construction.

Hopefully, the city and school district can cooperate on these issues.

And since the Beverly Hilton is one of our city's largest taxpayers, it would be wise to make sure that neither demolition or construction interferes with major events, including the Golden Globes.

Of course, moving forward on this long delayed project will benefit the city. The design plans are impressive and even exciting, and the property is an important gateway to the city.

We know and appreciate the leadership of our Chief of Police David Snowden. Now he has made award history.

The Los Angeles Police Historical Society will, for the first time in their history, honor someone outside of Los Angeles at their prestigious Jack Webb Award dinner. And the award goes to Chief Snowden.

The Society gives the honor to people who have shown "outstanding support of professional law enforcement." Through the Society's Museum and youth education programs, they showcase the important role law enforcement plays in Los Angeles and other area communities. Their goal is to improve both understanding and closer relationships between law enforcement and the communities they serve.

Snowden, a history buff and role model for constructive community relations, will receive the award on Sept. 10 at the Beverly Hilton.

Early this November will mark the end of a political era: For the first time in several decades, there will be no Fenton in public office in Beverly Hills.

Steven Fenton will leave the Board of Education then, opting not to seek a second term, but still pondering a possible run for the city council next year.

Of course, the Fenton with the longest and most impressive record of public service is his father, Frank Fenton. It would be impossible to find anyone who ever held more offices and played a more important role in civic life than Frank.

Frank began by active leadership in youth sports and education, winning successive terms on the Board of Education, also as president of the Board.

He next served on the Recreation and Parks Commission and then was elected City Treasurer. As Treasurer he made important contributions to the city's investment programs leading to a successful run for city council.

Although Frank decided not to seek a second term as councilmember, thanks to a very gracious act of then-Mayor Barry Brucker, Frank held the title of mayor for the last weeks in office, retiring with the title of former mayor. Brucker resigned early, nominating Frank to fill the term.

The younger Fenton always cited his father as his role model. There were some historical differences. When Frank was president of the board, the teachers union went out on a first-ever strike. They decided to dramatize their grievances by picketing the Fenton home. The family was upset with the teachers for this invasion of their privacy. But when he ran for the Board office and since, Steven has been a strong supporter of the union, winning their endorsement.

Of course, the real political guru of the family is mother Judie, who has led countless local political campaigns but never run for office.

If you actually read the words of our colleague's recent editorial on the proposed subway extension, you might well have prepared a move to a home under the noisy Chicago L rather than risk living in Beverly Hills and facing the hazards of subway construction.

In some rather convoluted arguments, the editorial cited all the supposed dangers "we have agreed to" so that we could avoid the Constellation alignment.

Some of the "horrors" we have "accepted" would mean "ripping up Beverly Hills for over four years."

First, most of us are in agreement that the preferred route for the Westside subway through Beverly Hills would be Little Santa Monica Boulevard, avoiding tunneling under the high school. Where we disagree is on tactics, overblown attacks on public officials, and finding a more responsible strategy that includes rational evaluations of safety factors. Making this overly political does a real disservice to our community.

We have not "agreed" to any elements of the construction process. Second, the horrors described are neither factual or fairly presented.

Let's begin with the "ripping up the center of Beverly Hills for over four years." If that were indeed true, we would face a major financial and ecological debacle. But it is nowhere near factual. The construction process would have little impact on Wilshire Boulevard traffic. The boulevard would be "decked over" so that traffic will continue to flow.

The only impacts will be very minor and that will happen when the two Beverly Hills stations, at Wilshire and Rodeo and at La Cienega, are built. The fear tactic of this affecting the "length" of Wilshire is totally wrong.

The argument extends those fears by stating that we "agreed to block all our north/south traffic for some or all of four years." Again, no such agreement and no such impact.

The frightening words continued with "we agreed to risk our lives and our city" for four years, supposedly demolishing our business district. But both the Chamber of Commerce and the Rodeo Drive Committee support the subway plan under Wilshire and neither is likely to approve business suicide.

How can we be expected to be taken seriously by the decision makers when we unleash such exaggerated arguments? Our focus on the high school tunneling will be diverted by baseless claims and fear rousing.

Every single elected official with whom we discussed the route choices has made the same pledge: If there is even the slightest danger to the school, there will be no tunneling through the southwest.

That promise came not only from Supervisor Zev Yaroslavsky, who has long represented our community on the board of supervisors and who is a major force on the MTA board,

Some selected sports notes, and for your edification, my earliest career choice was to be sports editor of the Fostoria (Ohio) Daily Review. But how could I compete with T.J. Simers?

First, the media in Los Angeles can hardly be described as “homers” or cheerleaders for area sports franchises. Just maybe the Lakers get a pass, but almost all the other team owners are fair or unfair game for attack journalism. Consider how owners of the Clippers, Kings, Angels and past NFL franchises, Raiders and Rams, were and are treated. Not hometown friendly.

In fact, a recent column in the Times stated bluntly that the Raiders should not be welcomed back to Los Angeles! Really? However mercurial the behavior of Al Davis and the sometimes unruly actions of their fans, the Raiders gave us professional football excitement. There are thousands of Raider fans in L.A. who would want the team to return.

Dodger owner Frank McCourt certainly created some self inflicted wounds on his team, not the least being his very messy and far too public divorce.

But even before he took over, when he bought the legendary Dodger franchise, he was being called the “Boston Parking Lot” guy. Some welcome to our city.

McCourt not only needs some relief pitchers, long term financing and attention to fan safety, and his is not the only troubled team in professional sports, he could use some knowledgeable public relations advisors.

Not a wise move to send out a fan survey on the work of Vin Scully, the one totally stable part of the whole operation and the most respected name in sports journalism, anywhere.

Which brings us to college football and the horrendous process used by the governing agency that has sanctioned USC.

This year’s team—players, coaches and administrators—had absolutely nothing to do with the one-person scandal that brought sanctions to the school. But they and SC fans are paying the penalties.

How exaggerated are the sanctions? Not only is the team barred from post season play, their team record cannot even make them eligible for official team rankings. Yes, punish the guilty, sanction the university if actually responsible, but in America we should not visit penalties against the innocent, not even in sports.

Good school news, for a change. The district will soon release latest API scores and they will show a significant improvement over recent years. Still not up to historical standards, but encouraging.

in K-8 math, with 79 percent scoring at the proficient or advanced level.

The area of test scores that Tedford and Goldberg identified as needing the most work is high school math. BHUSD set a goal for 80 percent of students to test at the proficient level, but only 50 percent of Beverly High students tested at the proficient or advanced level. Still, there was a 4 percent increase from non-proficient to proficient.

“We had improvement in almost every area [but math],” Tedford said. “For some reason, that transition from middle school to high school mathematics continues to be an area we need to work on.”

Goldberg said he thought the lack of collaboration between middle school and high school math departments contributed to the district not meeting its goal for high school math scores.

“We have a real disconnect in our district and a lot of finger-pointing going back and forth from the high school to the middle school and from the middle school to the high school,” Goldberg said. “We have not given our teachers and administrators enough opportunities to meet as departments and in particular math.”

Goldberg said he was supportive of Tedford’s recommendation to form a grade 6-12 math committee, which would include teachers and possibly counselors and parents. The committee would examine the gap in achievement and come up with solutions, Tedford said.

The two remaining goals that were not met called for a 10-percent growth for non-proficient students in math at the high school level and for 10 percent of students in special education to improve from non-proficient to proficient. There was a 3.32 percent increase of high school math students from non-proficient to proficient, and a 6.7 percent increase in the number of special education students who scored proficient or advanced.

“The key really is setting high expectations and then trying to meet those expectations and when you don’t, having a mechanism to review and learn why we didn’t meet those goals,” Goldberg said. “For me, I want to continue those goals until they’re met.”

New Beverly High graduation requirements take effect with class of 2015

Beverly High’s incoming freshman class will be subject to a change in graduation requirements for math and foreign language, following the Board of Education’s unanimous approval on Aug. 24 to update the board’s policy on graduation requirements to make it consistent with the University of California “a to g” subject requirements. Students in the class of 2015 and beyond will also be expected to earn 230 semester credits, an increase from the 220 credits previously required.

The new policy increases graduation requirements for mathematics and foreign language (the “c” and “e” UC requirements) for students who do not meet the UC subject requirements. Beverly High requires three years of mathematics: algebra, geometry and a third year of a UC-approved math course, which could be algebra II, mathematical analysis or calculus. Students who do not complete algebra II in three years to meet the UC course requirements will now be required to take four years of math. Although Beverly High previously required three years of math, language in the previous policy did not include a third year of a UC-approved math course, or the requirement for students who don’t meet the UC requirement to take a fourth year of math.

Pertaining to foreign language, Beverly High requires two years, but students who have attempted and not met the requirements of a UC-approved foreign language course of study may now take an alternative equivalency course and will be required to take three years of foreign language.

“We recognize every student is not going to be able to meet the “a to g” requirements, [so we] provided a provision in the policy for students who cannot meet “a to g” [that they] have to make an attempt to meet those requirements for an additional year,” Vice President Brian Goldberg said. “Students have the opportunity to better themselves and get to that level.”

The board approved the graduation requirements policy in 2008, but the language in the policy and the “a to g” requirements conflicted, so the mathematics and foreign language requirements were not implemented, Goldberg said. Interim Director of Curriculum, Instruction and Professional Development Jennifer Tedford said the 230-credit requirement was also approved in 2008, but not implemented.

With the help of Tedford and Superintendent Gary Woods, the Board came up with a solution that Goldberg said he believes will raise the academic profile of the school.

“It’s crystal clear in the board policy what the expectations are and academic standards are for graduation from Beverly High,” Goldberg said.

The Taste comes to Beverly Hills Sept. 2 to 6; some proceeds to benefit BHEF

This Labor Day weekend, Rodeo Drive and 9900 Wilshire Boulevard will play host to five gourmet food and beverage events taking place Sept. 2 to 6. Burgers & Beer will kick off the Beverly Hills part of Los Angeles Times and Food & Wine’s The Taste, which also features events in downtown Los Angeles and in Hollywood. Other events in Beverly Hills include a Sunday

“We’re excited to be in Beverly Hills. The level of programming we have [at 9900 Wilshire Blvd.] is pretty incredible, but the unique nature of Rodeo Drive is very special,” The Taste co-founder Johnathan Crocker said. “It’s hard to create something unique in a food and wine festival space, [but] one unique aspect is nobody will be able to replicate what we have on Rodeo Drive.”

The Taste events will feature demonstrations by celebrity chefs, panel discussions, and unlimited food tastings from 40 Los Angeles-area restaurants and unlimited tast-

BRANDING BEVERLY HILLS

The Weekly's exclusive interview with Conference and Visitors Bureau Executive Director Julie Wagner

By Melanie Anderson

In the Weekly's interview with Mayor Barry Brucker in Issue #619, Brucker said the City's "visitor and hotel network are realizing record breaking sales." Tell us how Beverly Hills tourism is doing this summer.

I would concur with Mayor Brucker. The summer is actually one of the most popular times for tourism in the city. The hotels are experiencing record breaking occupancy and revenue per available room. When we track against some of our competitive local markets, we find we're doing just as well if not better than some of those other markets. Microsoft was here in July and we had a lot of international traffic this summer. There are a lot of people on the streets taking pictures, speaking all different kinds of languages and carrying shopping bags.

Tell us about the Beverly Hills Conference & Visitors Bureau's strategies for attracting domestic and international tourists.

We did a study back in fiscal year 2009-2010 with the Conrad Hilton School of Hotel Management based out of the University of Houston and the reason why we did that study was to help identify where our tactics were currently working, as well as where new opportunities existed. At that time there were about eight or nine different strategies that were identified. Some of that was based on geo-targeted markets, ie. we broke things out between domestic California—the drive market—and another is domestic outside of California, and another target is international.

An additional thing that was identified for the CVB was a huge opportunity to identify traffic from Los Angeles County and the Beverly Hills residential market. We focus our marketing strategy on all of those different geo-targeted markets and for the local market it continues to be events and promoting retail and restaurant offers that help drive traffic from Beverly Hills and Los Angeles County residents and bring interest in the city. For the domestic markets that are outside of the local area, that hopefully entails an overnight stay as well, so we try to tie in some of the specials and offers that we potentially put together for the local market with a hotel component as well. We'll be looking at doing some of this for the fall and for the holiday season, and we just wrapped up our spring campaign as well, which we worked on with the hotels. [That] was the "Breakfast In Beverly Hills" campaign, which generated an estimated $2 million in revenue for hotels, restaurants and retailers.

Los Angeles Times and Food & Wine's The Taste is this weekend and Fashion's Night Out is on Sept. 8. How is the CVB involved with these events and how do they help promote Beverly Hills tourism?

The CVB is involved with The Taste as it relates to driving additional traffic and revenue into the city. Working with the promoters of The Taste, we developed an offer that promotes our new booking engine on our website, [lovebeverlyhills.com], which just launched in May. You get a discount on tickets to The Taste if you book on our booking engine during that weekend. We also provided the retailers with ideas for tying in with the event over the weekend. [For example,] Bulgari is doing an event with Southern Wines and Spirits, which is one of the sponsors for the Rodeo Drive event and that will be on Sunday in the Bulgari store.

We're one of the sponsors of Fashion's Night Out and we'll be avidly promoting the event on our website and through advertising, as well as helping to procure prizes for their giveaways and sweepstakes. We're providing prizes for a blogger outreach initiative and a sweepstakes featuring Cirque du Soleil tickets.

Where did you grow up?

I grew up half in Encino, and half in Marina del Rey. I've worked in Beverly Hills for almost 20 years, and I worked for Hilton for 18 of those years [since] they were headquartered in Beverly Hills. I have a passion for the city and all that it has to offer and I think that in and of itself helps me in terms of my knowledge of the city from a marketing perspective. I come from a hotel background. I have a wealth of knowledge in terms of consumer outreach and branding and international marketing and communications.

Tell us about your family.

I am a widow and I have two daughters that are in their early 20s. They both still live at home and one of them, [Tamara Wagner], is in the process of applying for graduate school and [KC Fasano] is going to college locally. [Tamara] wants to be an elementary school teacher. She has applied to get her Master's and her teaching credential at the same time. She wants to stay in Southern California. We're very close. [KC] is interested in psychology. She's not sure that's the way she wants to go, but right now that's what piques her interest.

What do you like doing in your free time?

I'm an avid equestrian. I keep my horse at Lake View Terrace. I cook, and I make jewelry and I sell it.

What about traveling?

I do like traveling but I've done so much traveling over the years for business as a result of my past at Hilton, that I'm extremely selective about trips. My oldest daughter just graduated from Loyola Marymount University and we went to Bali to celebrate her graduation.

How did you get into marketing?

I actually started my career in the music business working for a Windham Hill artist. When she moved I wasn't sure if I wanted to stay in the music business or not. I went and worked for Princess Cruises for a little bit and things just kind of fell into place. I ended up doing their direct marketing program and when a job became available at Hilton—I had always wanted to work for Hilton—I was fortunate enough to apply and receive a position and spent my last 18 years there before [Hilton] moved to Virginia. I started there in their honors program so I did communications, partnership, marketing, credit card marketing, international marketing, CRM [customer relationship management], and most recently I worked on their luxury and lifestyle team.

If you had continued working for Hilton, would you have had to move to Virginia?

I was invited to move to Virginia, but I chose not to. I wanted to stay in L.A. My mother is here, my family's here. I love California. It's hard to go anywhere else.

How did you end up at the CVB?

I found out about their director of marketing position through my contact at the Beverly Hilton and then worked for [former Executive Director] Kathy Smits. She hired me and when she left, the Board asked me to step up and make it official as of July 1.

What has it been like transitioning from CVB marketing director to executive director?

I think that in many ways it was a seamless transition. We're a marketing organization. It's really about having a strategic focus and a holistic approach to all of the different areas that we're marketing, whether it be in all our different constituencies including trade, media and consumer, and I think it was a great stepping stone in terms of helping me understand the bigger picture and build a strategy around it.

How else did your experience working for the Hilton Corporation prepare you for your role at the CVB?

I think I've been really, really fortunate. I've had a lot of experience in a lot of different areas of marketing. It helps me to build a holistic vision. We're very focused at the CVB on metrics and measurement. A lot of what I did at Hilton was measure initiatives. That really has prepared me to take an organization to the next level and how to make sure things that we're doing make sense and are performing, and if they're not, learning from those efforts and adjusting tactics and strategies as necessary.

The Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce also has a new executive director, Alex Stettinski. In Issue #615, Stettinski told the Weekly, "There's a lot to absorb, a lot to take in, a lot to learn, and a lot to address, all at the same time." Do you feel this way as well, and how are you and Stettinski supporting each other as you take on your new roles?

Alex and I have a great relationship and I think that we're looking for opportunities where we can work together to help maximize the value of the marketing programs that we bring to the community. In terms of learning, I hope I never stop learning. Every position and every endeavor that you undertake should always provide a learning experience. I think I had the good fortune of being here a little bit before I became executive director, but I'm always learning. A lot of the learning curve [was] that [Alex] had to step in as a brand new member of the Chamber.

Do you think it was a good move for the CVB to split from the Chamber of Commerce?

I don't know it any other way, so I can't really comment because I don't know what it was like before. I do know that we have a great relationship now, and both Alex and I are very team-oriented and so we're constantly looking for ways to partner together and we're just really excited about the future.

Tell us about the relationship between the CVB and the City of Beverly Hills.

We have a wonderful relationship. We work with the city liaison committee, which is comprised of Vice Mayor Willie Brien and Councilmember John Mirisch and we meet with them frequently to give them updates on what we're doing and to provide a forum to share ideas and thoughts moving forward. We meet with [Deputy City Manager] Cheryl Friedling regularly as well.

The City Council has been very kind in terms of their praise of how we put together our scope of work for the coming year, and I think the City Council is poised to do great things. We're really excited about the opportunities that lay ahead.

The City Council approved your 2011-2012 scope of work on Aug. 16 and your annual report is coming out in September. What are your priorities for this next year, and what are some highlights from the annual report?

I think the annual report gives us an idea of where we have come to date and how we're meeting the objectives of our strategic plan, but it also gives us the learning and understanding that we need to move forward to create new programs and to continue what we're already doing that's effective. [We'll] readjust our strategy moving forward to achieve our future strategies and goals. We want to be a success at what we do and we want to be able to show positive results for our efforts.

What about your scope of work?

We'll continue to follow the same format we have that was established as a result of that strategic plan that we did. Our key areas of focus are events, creating a unique customer experience that represents the brand, the geo-targeted markets that I mentioned, local marketing as well as domestic (California as well as outside of California) and international marketing. We continue to focus on our interactive strategy, which is highly measureable and a strategy that our competitors are also focused on. And with the launch of the new website in May, we're just starting to dip our toes in the water. And collateral—we'll continue to provide collateral and way-finding to people that visit here. We'll continue to evaluate via metrics and ROI [return on investment], and the new and exciting for us: We're now starting to work on the development of our new office space in the visitors center at 9400 Santa Monica Boulevard.

What are you looking forward to most about the new CVB office and visitors center at 9400 Santa Monica Boulevard, expected to open next year?

I think the opportunity is huge. There's the opportunity to work with the city to create a merchandizing program. It's a clean slate and we get to build it into the perfect microcosm of Beverly Hills, both from a design perspective and a programming perspective. [The visitors center is] an entity that represents the brand accurately with service and amenities, and one-of-a kind items that will perpetuate the brand when the visitor is in the city as well as when they're at home.

Where do you see yourself in five years?

I have a little saying because life has been eventful for me: Man plans and God laughs. My mother used to tell me that. I hope to be with this organization and I hope to have had an impact on the success of the businesses and the hotels and the brand.

Best Events promoter Jeffrey Best told the Beverly Hills City Council on April 21 that his company would pay all costs related to the event, including special events costs, and would also donate a portion of proceeds to Beverly Hills Education Foundation.

For each ticket sold to a Beverly Hills event, a $14.95 surcharge will be added to the base ticket price and 100 percent of the surcharge will benefit BHEF, Crocker said. The Hollywood and Downtown events will benefit other charities.

The City has coordinated with Best Events to arrange for street closures of Rodeo Drive, and providing public safety services at both Taste event locations, Rodeo Drive and 9900 Wilshire. Mayor Barry Brucker said Best Events has agreed to reimburse the City for providing public safety services including police, fire and traffic control, and public works personnel who will set up and take down street barricades.

"All of the expenses are being covered by the promoter [Best Events], so there is really no outlay to the city except some soft costs of assistance, but no hard costs," Mayor Barry Brucker said on Aug. 25.

Crocker of Best Events confirmed the promoter would be paying for the City's services associated with the event: "Yep, we have the bills in hand," he said.

The city council voted 3-2 to authorize the Rodeo Drive portion of the event on April 21. Councilmembers Lili Bosse and John Mirisch voted against the event because they were concerned about diluting the Beverly Hills brand with the Taste, which is also holding events in downtown Los Angeles and in Hollywood. Last year, Best Events presented the Taste of Beverly Hills, which coincided with the 9/02/10 celebration, and Beverly Hills Courier was a sponsor. This year's event is also presented by Best Events, but in partnership with the Los Angeles Times and Food & Wine magazine.

The 200, 300 and 400 blocks of Rodeo Drive will close on Sept. 3 at 7 p.m. and reopen by 7 a.m. on Sept. 5. Brighton Way between Beverly Drive and the 9510 Brighton Way parking structure will close at 10 p.m. on Sept. 3 and reopen at 7 a.m. on Sept. 5. Dayton Way will be closed between the alleys east and west of Rodeo Drive between 10 p.m. on Sept. 3 and 7 a.m. on Sept. 5.

Arora departs Beverly Wilshire for Rosewood Hotels & Resorts in Dallas

Radha Arora

In an e-mail to friends and colleagues, Beverly Wilshire Regional Vice President and General Manager Radha Arora announced last Friday he has accepted the post of president at Rosewood Hotels & Resorts, based in Dallas.

"As many of you have already heard, I have accepted a new position with Rosewood Hotels as president, and will be leaving my beloved Beverly Wilshire at the end of this month," Arora wrote. "This was a very difficult and emotional decision for me but I feel the time is right to make such a change."

Arora has been vice president and general manager of Beverly Wilshire, a Four Seasons hotel, since 2004, and he has worked for Four Seasons for 16 years. He takes over Rosewood Hotels from President and CEO John Scott.

Arora said he looks forward to continuing working under Beverly Wilshire owner New World Hospitality, which purchased Rosewood Hotels & Resorts about a month ago.

"Given the partnership and relationship that we've garnered over the last several years, they felt they wanted to put their own man in that role," Arora said.

Rosewood Hotels & Resorts currently has 24 hotels, mostly in North America, and Arora said the objective is to double the number of hotels in the next five years. He said Rosewood already has six hotels in development in Asia, and plans to open hotels in the Middle East and London in the next couple of years.

When asked what he would miss most about the Beverly Wilshire, Arora said it was the people.

"There's always something new happening at the Beverly Wilshire," Arora said. "It has a lot of experience and a lot of youth. When you combine the two together it makes for a perfect hospitality venue."

Beverly Wilshire Director of Public Relations Jennifer Cooke said the hotel plans to announce Arora's successor in the next couple of weeks.

Unite Here Local 11 Spokesperson Leigh Shelton said President Tom Walsh had no comment on Arora's departure, because his interactions with the hotel only involved the human resources department.

In 2005, Unite Here Local 11 organized action events during the union's boycott of the Beverly Wilshire and at least six other local hotels that were boycotted at the time due to "intimidation practices by the hotel" related to health care fees, according to a Unite Here press release. One of Local 11's actions involved picketing at the Beverly Wilshire on the night of the Academy Awards in February 2005.

MTA bus rear-ends double-decker tour bus on Wilshire near Linden

Fourteen people were transported to Cedars-Sinai Medical Center for treatment following a collision between a westbound MTA bus and a City Sights double-decker tour bus last Sunday afternoon on Wilshire Boulevard between Linden and Roxbury drives.

Beverly Hills police officers received a report of the collision at 3:42 p.m. A press release from BHPD said the cause of the collision has not yet been determined as the investigation is ongoing. BHPD Sgt. Robert Maycott said there were about 40 people on the Metro bus at the time of the collision. Citing the ongoing investigation, Maycott would not confirm a report early Monday from KTLA that the tour bus was parked and empty at the time of the crash.

Cedars-Sinai Medical Center Spokesperson Simi Singer said 14 people who were injured in the accident were treated at Cedars-Sinai. All were non-life threatening injuries and mostly minor injuries and all have been released from the hospital, Singer said.

Metro spokesperson Helen Gilstrap would not comment on the cause of the accident because the accident is still under investigation, but she said the front of the bus sustained major damage.

Board of Education candidates to convene at City Hall for PTA Council/BHEF Candidates Forum

The BHUSD PTA Council and BHEF will host a Board of Education candidates forum on Sept. 14 at 7 p.m. in City Council Chambers at City Hall.

All four candidates will be asked approximately eight questions that will be chosen directly from parents and residents. Community members can e-mail questions to findanswershere@gmail.com.

The four candidates that filed for the Nov. 8 election are incumbent Vice President Brian Goldberg, Frances Bilak, Lewis Hall and Andy Licht.

Enjoy a nutritious breakfast and view exhibits from STAR science and Beverly High robotics. Class lists for the 2011-2012 school year will be posted at 11 a.m.

On Saturday at 4 p.m., new Horace Mann families are encouraged to attend an ice cream social on the patio by the office.

Goldberg kicks off campaign on Sept. 18

Board of Education Vice President Brian Goldberg will kick off his reelection campaign on Sept. 18 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the home of Sam and Ardyth Freshman at 917 Benedict Canyon Drive. Goldberg will speak at 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m.

lowing Wednesday's practice.

"We have three very good college ends (Wes Horton, Devon Kennard and Nick Perry). The fourth end would get a minimal five-to-10 plays, so we're not prepared to do that yet with Greg. We want him to get 30 to 40 percent of the snaps.

Greg Townsend Jr.

"It's always a fine line whether you're going to play a guy for a couple of plays and burn his redshirt year. Right now, we don't feel that Greg would get a whole bunch of reps in the game, so we're going to wait to see."

Under NCAA rules players have five seasons to complete their four seasons of eligibility. Football players customarily don't play as freshmen, which they use as their redshirt year.

Townsend, who is listed at 6-foot-3 and 275 pounds, is "showing outstanding pass rush skills," which are "more advanced ... than most guys," Orgeron said.

Orgeron credited Townsend's advancement to his many years of coaching by his father, who played 13 seasons in the NFL, 11 with the Los Angeles Raiders and who Orgeron called "one of the greatest pass rushers ever."

"He's going to become one of the great linemen here at USC," Orgeron said. "He's quick, can move, he's tough, he understands the game."

Townsend is listed as a second-stringer with

During USC's fall practices, which began Aug. 4, Townsend said he has been trying to make "the big adjustment" from Beverly High to college football.

"It's been a big difference," Townsend said. "You go from playing with basically kids to grown men. Everyone is strong, everyone is talented. Everyone is prepared to play hard."

Townsend said it has been "a great experience to play alongside" Perry, Horton, Kennard and nose tackles Christian Tupou and DaJohn Harris.

"Those are great athletes," Townsend said. "All of those guys have NFL talent. I learn a lot from Nick. Nick is my mentor now."

Townsend said "he got a little behind" because he missed several practices last week as the NCAA Eligibility Center reviewed his eligibility. He received certification in time to return to practice Sunday.

To Townsend, classes at USC are "really different" than Beverly High.

"It's mostly discussion instead of a whole group of work," said Townsend, who has not declared a major. "I like it a little bit better."

USC's 112-player roster includes a second Beverly High alumnus, Tyler Grady, a non-scholarship defensive tackle who has not played for the Trojans and is not listed on the depth chart.

There has not been a USC football letter winner from Beverly High since offensive lineman Al Barry in 1952.
