"Westside Subway Extension"

I applaud the efforts of our city and school system in their efforts to block Metro from their plans of running a subway tunnel under Beverly High. The money that is spent and will be spent in this fight should not be questioned. When it comes to safety and education, money should not be an issue. After all, our children come first. In time, I hope the fine students from Beverly High apply the same principles of what is right to their children. This is truly a caring community on all levels.

City Council to draft resolution asking Board of Education to rescind Measure E acceleration

The City Council directed staff on Tuesday to draft a resolution urging the Board of Education to rescind the Measure E bond acceleration and not accelerate without the vote of the people. The resolution will return at the formal council meeting on July 16.

At the formal Board of Education meeting on June 25, the Board adopted a resolution on a 4-1 vote asking the county to increase the tax rate to facilitate issuance of bonds up to $95 million. In addition, the Board directed district staff to draft a new ballot measure that would replace the remaining Measure E bonds if passed. The measure will be placed on the November 2013 or the March 2014 ballot.

The tax rate will increase for the current year. The Board must vote again to issue the bonds. If no bonds are issued in the 2013 and 2014 fiscal year, the tax rate will fall to $0 in the 2014 and 2015 fiscal year.

Councilmember Julian Gold asked Board of Education Vice President Noah Margo who attended the city council study session meeting on Tuesday if it was the intent of the Board to issue Measure E bonds at an accelerated rate if the election failed.

Maple Drive Post Office listed for sale

The Beverly Hills Post Office located at 325 N. Maple Drive is listed for sale on the USPS properties for sale website.

The postal service announced the sale of the post office last October. The plan requires 53 carrier routes based at Maple Drive to move to West Hollywood at 820 N. San Vicente Boulevard, 1.3 miles away.

The USPS plans on renting a space in Beverly Hills for retail services.

U.S. Postal Service spokesperson Rich Maher said they will not sell the property until they are able to move into a retail space.

"Sometimes there's an opportunity, especially when we're marketing a building that's so big and much too large for us, to sell the property but lease back a portion of it for our operations," said Maher.

The 226,905 square foot space is being listed by Blake Mirkin of CBRE. The site is http://uspspropertiesforsale.com

Margo said the new measure would not nullify Measure E. Margo said he could not speak for his colleagues, but that he personally would not support issuing new bonds in the event that voters struck down the new measure proposed to replace Measure E.

The Board of Education suggested the new measure as a compromise for many residents who attended the school board meeting asking the Board to take the decision back to the voters.

Councilmember Lili Bosse said she was happy to hear that Margo would not support an accelerated tax rate if voters reject the new measure. Bosse said she felt that was the right vote.

"I just wanted to be heard very loud and clear in this community that I and clearly some of my other colleagues feel very strongly that when we take something to the voters, it is sacred," said Bosse. "And you better believe that if this school board chooses to not honor that, I'll be the first one in line, very publicly, against what would happen."

Former Board of Education members AJ Willmer and Myra Lurie, former Mayor Robert K. Tanenbaum and resident Alma Ordaz addressed the council in opposition to the board's decision to increase the tax rate at Tuesday's study session.

Willmer suggested the Board delay the decision for six months or a year. Tanenbaum accused the Board of Education of nullifying an election by breaking a commitment made to voters.

The Board of Education has secured two legal opinions which states they are legally able to raise the tax rate to the maximum allowed by Proposition 39.

"There was a commitment made that many of us stepped up to support that we put our names out there for," said Councilmember Willie Brien. "At the very least I think you owe it back to the community to go back and share and try to fix this at the voter box."

The Board of Education chose to accelerate the bond to secure low interest rates and low construction costs.

"The last figures that were presented to us if we were not to accelerate and not to go out for a new bond and just continue, we would get $25 million this year and then nothing until 2027 and then the rest in 2034, which basically kills the whole measure," said Margo.

The Board has devised a construction plan for Beverly High and plans for Horace Mann have been submitted to the Department of State Architect. The rest of the schools are still being discussed, according to Margo.

The city council discussion was placed on the study session agenda following the public comment period at the formal meeting on June 18 when former Mayor Robert K. Tanenbaum requested the City Council put bond acceleration on a ballot.

Mayor John Mirisch asked the city attorney to research whether or not the city had the authority to put a measure on the ballot. A memo written by Assistant City Attorney Lolly Enriquez said that State law preempts the city council from placing a binding measure on the ballot. The council may place the item for an advisory vote.

The council directed staff to research what legal options were available to the city council and Beverly Hills residents in regards to the Measure E acceleration and to clarify the long term intent of the Board of Education. The questions posed by the council will return at another study session.

Burberry's Rodeo Drive relocation moves forward

The Planning Commission voted 4-1 to allow the construction of a new three-story building for Burberry at 301 North Rodeo Drive at the commission's meeting on June 27 with Planning Commission Chair Craig Corman dissenting.

Ermenegildo Zegna previously occupied the location.

"Everyone thinks Burberry is going to be a great addition to Rodeo Drive and we all want to see them there," said Corman. "But for the positioning of the rooftop structure, I would have been happy to approve the project."

The rooftop area is proposed to be utilized for VIP services such as private showings and private fittings. A rooftop terrace is also proposed adjacent to the sales area.

"Unlike every other building on Rodeo Drive that we have approved a rooftop use for, the rooftop structure on this proposed building is going to come out pretty much right to Rodeo Drive," said Corman. "The other ones have all been set back."

Corman said if one looks south on Rodeo Drive, the rooftop structure made it seem as though the building was a four story structure.

"I didn't feel that was in keeping with the scale and character of Rodeo and I didn't think it was going to maintain or enhance the character of the street or the walking district," said Corman.

The project involves demolition of an existing two-story commercial building at the location. The applicants requested a development plan review to allow the construction of the building with rooftop VIP sales. Burberry also applied for 40 in-lieu parking spaces.

The commission also recommended the City Council direct staff to submit the draft

NOTICE

The City Council has directed staff and the Planning Commission to review two important issues:

CENTRAL AREA SINGLE-FAMILY HOMES AND PARKING And ZONING CODE REORGANIZATION.

The City of Beverly Hills Planning Commission is embarking on its review of these issues and will conduct a study session on July 11, 2013, at 1:30 pm, or as soon as the matter can be heard that day, and will consider the following draft documents:

Central Area Single Family Dwelling Bulk and Mass Study Issues and Options Paper -

This document was prepared by the City's consultant and sets out key issues and options related to parking and the bulk and mass of new homes in the Central Area of the City. The issues have been identified through field studies and meetings with members of the community.

Draft Outline for Completing the Central Area Bulk and Mass Study - A series of potential development standards have been identified to reduce the perceived bulk and mass of new homes in the Central Area and provide adequate parking on-site, while ensuring that the floor area of new homes is not reduced.

Draft Outline for reorganizing the City of Beverly Hills Zoning Code A draft outline has been developed that would reorganize the City's Zoning Code in an effort to improve readability and user-friendliness.

This Study Session is an opportunity to comment on all of these draft documents and to provide additional input for the Planning Commission to consider. The City's consultant will use this information to further develop these documents over the summer for presentation at a community meeting in September, 2013.

City to cover lifetime medical for deputy fire chief position

Rainh Munda

The City council voted unanimously on Tuesday night to modify the retirement medical plan for the deputy fire chief. The City will now cover two party lifetime medical coverage when the deputy fire chief retires.

Up until 2010, executive positions, which include the fire chief and deputy fire chief, as covered by the executive compensation plan, would receive a two party lifetime medical provision after retirement paid for by the City.

The City Council changed the compensation plan to a defined contribution plan to say that employees hired in 2010 and into the future would receive $1,375 per month for every month that a senior manager held the position. For example, if a new executive employee works for five years, he would receive 60 times $1,375 once he retired to buy his own medical insurance. This is the case for employees that are new to the City of Beverly Hills.

Ralph Mundell, who is acting deputy fire chief, has been with the City of Beverly Hills for 27 years and was promoted to the senior management position internally. Because he is not a new employee to the City, he is not eligible for the new compensation plan.

"Essentially, when the successor to [retired deputy fire chief Mark Embrey] is appointed to the position, that person because they are leaving the fire association would actually be giving up their defined benefit retiree health plan in order to join the executive group, unlike other employees," said City Attorney Larry Wiener.

Employees who are being promoted internally are subject to the same benefit they would have received in their previous position.

The City does not provide a retiree medical plan for firefighters. The Beverly Hills Firefighter's Association, who does not represent the fire chief or deputy fire chief, provides union members past the age of 65 with funds to cover a medical plan.

General Mike Bills presents Raquel Ramsey with the American flag

WWII veteran buried with full military honors

Edwin Price Ramsey was buried last Friday with full military honors at Arlington National Cemetery.

"This was just the most moving and touching event of my life," said Raquel Ramsey, recently retired Beverly High english language coordinator and Ramsey's late wife.

Ramsey said the ceremony included bagpipes and a rider-less horse.

General Mike Bills, commanding general of the fourth infantry division in Europe, presented Ramsey with the flag at the ceremony. Ramsey said the service reached full capacity and attendees were no longer allowed to enter.

"That just showed the love they had for Ed, which was emotional for me," said Ramsey.

Following the ceremony, a "Celebration of Ed's Life" was held at the Sheraton Pentagon City Hotel. Ramsey said the day's weather had been sunny until the ceremony after the burial. Thunder and lightning struck as the video was playing. Ramsey said the day ended with a rainbow.

In 1942, Ed Ramsey led the last mounted U.S. Army Horse Cavalry charge in U.S. military history for which he received the Silver Star. Ramsey passed away on March 7.

two party rate paid for by the City until the age of 65. When a BHFA member turns 65, the City stops paying and members pay for their own medical plan, but then are reimbursed by the union's trust fund.

On June 18, the City made an actuarial available to the city that explained the estimated total cost to the city in amending the plan would be $350,000.

The amendment applies only to the direct successor to Embrey's position. Mayor John Mirisch and Councilmember Nancy Krasne sat on the ad hoc that met with the Beverly Hills Firefighter's Association regarding the issue.

The City will cover the costs of the added benefit, but Mirisch said the BHFA said the association was willing to work with the city to provide a solution in the future.

"The fire association said they would work with us to figure out a solution where they would help contribute not to the entire amount but essentially it would be akin to allowing somebody to maintain the benefits that they would have had," said Mirisch.

Krasne pointed out that the fire department will have two open executive positions following Chief Tim Scranton's retirement on July 19. Mirisch said it behooved the city to meet with the association and find a solution.

"Since we are going to be filling two positions as this approaches, whoever takes the chief, I want a five to seven year commitment," said Krasne. "I'm not willing to move forward or start entertaining this for someone who comes in for a year or two, takes advantage of the city and just leaves."

Proposed Jazz club to lease in-lieu parking spaces

The Beverly Hills City Council allowed Spaghettini, a jazz club proposed for 184 North Canon Drive, to lease in-lieu parking spaces instead of paying the full rate of in-lieu parking fees on Tuesday.

On May 7, the Beverly Hills City Council did not support a zone text amendment reducing in-lieu parking fees for Spaghettini. Mayor John Mirisch and Councilmember Julian Gold formed an ad hoc to work with the applicants. The ad hoc met on May 24.

"I often hear about the prohibitive costs of the current in-lieu program," said Chamber of Commerce Director of Economic Development and Government Affairs Andy Sywak, who spoke in favor of the program. "We believe that the establishment of an alternative in-lieu parking fee could be a valuable economic development tool towards attracting new businesses to town."

The ad hoc recommended the program be available to other businesses and not just Spaghettini. Unlike purchased in-lieu parking spaces, the leased spaces would not run with the land, but would only last the life of the business. The ad hoc decided the leased rate would be 50 percent of the 10 year rate paid for a full price space.

"While it is a lot of money for us to consider for our restaurant, it something that we would be anxious to do and we look forward to doing quickly," said Cary Hardwick, co-owner of Spaghettini.

Hardwick said he was concerned that the property has been held since October and before they agreed to the space, the property owner had a vacant space for 11 months.

At the meeting on May 7, the council felt broader policy decisions on in-lieu parking needed to be decided before allowing Spaghettini to have reduced rates.

Spaghettini, a jazz club and restaurant based in Seal Beach for the last 25 years, has a tentative lease agreement at 184 North Canon. The proposed restaurant would be open for lunch and dinner as well as jazz nighttime entertainment.

The restaurant went before the planning commission on March 28 where it requested an extended hour's permit to remain open until 1 a.m. as well as reduced fees for participation in an in-lieu parking program.

As proposed in May, the zone text amendment would have allowed Spaghettini to pay a reduced fee of $45,135 paid annually in perpetuity for 59 in-lieu parking spaces. Under current code, the restaurant would be required to pay $139,063 annually over a period of 10 years. The purpose for the original proposal discussed in May had been to make it more cost efficient for restaurants to open on Canon Drive.

City Council unanimously approves code amendment allowing undulating rooftop structure on commercial building

The Beverly Hills City Council voted 4-1 with Councilmember Krasne dissenting to approve a zone text amendment allowing for an accessory rooftop structure at 9800 Wilshire Boulevard.

"I think this text amendment allows for approved architectural design in our city which is what our goal is," said Vice Mayor Lili Bosse. "Also, we're providing for approved amenities for employees. We have said again and again that we are a city that wants class A architecture, class A office space and we need to show that this is exactly what we want."

The Beverly Hills Planning Commission recommended the approval of a zone text amendment, which would slightly alter the Wilshire Boulevard skyline at the commission's meeting on March 14. The commission's approval of the development plan review in March was contingent upon the council's approval of the text amendment.

The zone text amendment allows the applicants, The Gores Group, to install an unenclosed architectural feature on a commercial building. The buildings located at 9800 Wilshire Boulevard and 121 Spalding Drive, are separate buildings that are part of the same development.

The zone text amendment was before the council due to the Gores Group application, but the council was not deciding on the plans for the project.

An architectural rooftop structure may extend 15 feet high by right as dictated by the general plan. The amendment modified the set back requirements and allowed this particular roof top structure to extend to the edge of the building in order to conceal mechanical equipment.

Krasne said she was concerned with the building's height.

Councilmembers Julian Gold and Willie Brien were concerned that the amendment would extend to future tenants without review. City Attorney Larry Wiener said the zone text amendment would run with the land, but in practice the Planning Commission would impose conditions allowing for further review.

Proposed rooftops uses for the particular project are for a gymnasium and a lunch dining area for employees and guests.

Planning Commission Chair Brian Rosenstein said the application had received unanimous approval from the Planning Commission and that all applications would be decided on a case by case basis. Rosenstein said if there was a problem, Director of Community Development Susan Healy Keane has the authority to impose conditions or refer the project to the Planning Commission.

A zone text amendment is discretionary and subject to development plan review findings of the Planning Commission.

The City will work with a consultant to evaluate the entire in-lieu parking program at a later date as well as the new leased in-lieu parking program. However, under the new agreement approved on Tuesday, Spaghettini will be allowed to move forward with their business plan and will lease in-lieu spaces at half the current rate for a full space. Future businesses may be subject to the new rate, which the city will study later this year.

Mirisch directs staff to review definition of "minor accommodation"

A minor accommodation at 601 N. Elm Drive sparked some controversy among residents with concerns that the accessory structure built at the property encroached too far into the street side setback adversely affecting the streetscape.

The setback is compliant with code with the approval of a minor accommodation. according to City planner Jonathan Lait.

Principal David Hoffman presented a design to the Board of Education on June 25

Sign identifying El Rodeo School to come to Whittier and Wilshire corner

The Board of Education approved signage for El Rodeo School at the formal meeting on June 25.

El Rodeo Principal Dave Hoffman said they were looking to have a sign to identify El Rodeo because there is no signage visible. The sign would be placed on a 4 feet by 5 feet boulder and would be placed 20 feet off the sidewalk on the corner of Whittier

Board of Education member Lewis Hall questioned whether "de las aguas" would be necessary citing concerns of visibility.

Board of Education President Jake Manaster cited security as a reason why the schools generally do not have identifiable signs, but said he was fine with the proposal.

The boulder will be funded by the PTA and private donors and will align with landscaping efforts by the City of Beverly Hills.

"If you see it, it doesn't look minor at all, so it's just trying to determine how do these kinds of things happen? Should it happen? Is it a minor accommodation and how if possible can we avoid it going forward?" said Mayor John Mirisch,

The council said it would be worth evaluating what constitutes a minor accommodation.

"I think it's important for the residents that live at 601 North Elm Drive to have clarity in the record here. This was not a transgression. This was not a mistake on their part," said Director of Community Development Susan Healy Keane. "They went through the process of obtaining a minor accommodation. I think the policy issue that you really are asking to look at is, is this a minor accommodation?"

The council decided to have the Planning Commission look at the issue and present a set of recommendations of how to avoid situations similar to this and clarify the code to define what is minor.

The City council liaisons were Vice Mayor Lili Bosse and Councilmember Nancy Krasne.

Both councilmembers recommended support for the event as long as a significant amount of residents or businesses did not support the event, advance notification be provided to appropriate homeowner groups, city committees, and local businesses and churches along Santa Monica, and increased security measures.

At the study session on Tuesday, Krasne had concerns about closing off streets. Community Services Administrator Gisele Grable explained that over last two years, city streets begin opening at noon. All streets are open by 1 p.m. at which point runners who are left are moved to the sidewalks and must comply with traffic regulations.

Councilmember Willie Brien agreed that he wanted to see the streets open as close to noon as possible and recognized the burden it puts on Rodeo Drive businesses.

"We have to reach out earlier to our businesses and our business community because I'm seeing letters here that came out after the ad hoc committee came together. We got some of them for the first time today and it just isn't fair to the marathon who is trying to put this together and not fair to us up here at the very last minute to be getting information back," said Brien. "I think the ad hoc ought to have the information before they make the recommendation back to us."

Bosse said she volunteered at a water station last march.

"What I loved about the marathon was the community spirit and the element of having so many residents running for charity," said Bosse. "In terms of the streets being closed, I think that the other part that we need to remember is it's not just our streets that are being closed. All of Los Angeles is essentially closed at one point or another that day, so even if we didn't support it this year, which im not proposing, you're still going to have our streets closed on every other side of our city and people aren't going to be able to get to us anyway."

Councilmembers Julian Gold and Bosse supported looking for licensing opportunities for the city's centennial celebration.

The marathon route, as it did earlier this year, will go through West Hollywood and enter Beverly Hills going south along Doheny Drive and west on Burton Way. It will continue on S. Santa Monica Boulevard, go south on North Rodeo Drive, west on Wilshire Boulevard before exiting Beverly Hills via S. Santa Monica Boulevard.

Council OK's November bike riding event

I put our heads together and I thought the Montage Gardens was such a lovely spot. It was located near the restaurants so we suggested they move the whole thing and they did," said Councilmember Nancy Krasne, who sat on the liaison for the event along with Bosse.

The item came up for discussion on May 28, but Krasne and Bosse had found that the report did not reflect their recommendation. Krasne and Bosse were against closing Crescent Drive for the event.

A bike expo will be held in the Beverly Canon Gardens on Saturday, November 2. On Sunday, November 3, the bikes will kick off from the 300 and 400 blocks of North Rodeo Drive.

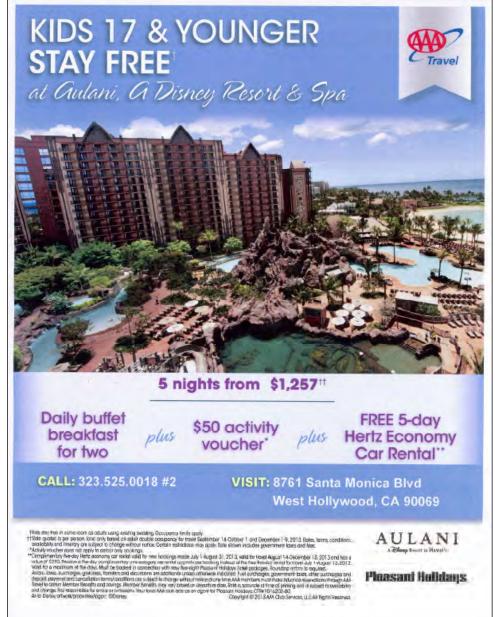

The updated proposal will still have the

5 ¢/minute Local Access 10 ¢/minute Toll Free Access finish line located on Crescent Drive but the southbound lanes will remain open to traffic.

"It positions Beverly Hills as an active sports outdoors city, which I totally support," said Better Bike founder and local resident Mark Elliot. "I support it because it can lead to awareness of cyclists on our streets. I think one of the biggest challenges riders face is there's not enough awareness. Cars don't expect us."

Elliot suggested a share the road campaign as well as a bike safety campaign to go in conjunction with the event.

The city will also partially sponsor the event, waiving the second day rental fee use of the Beverly Canon Gardens -- valued at approximately $8,340. Beverly Hills will be included in the event name, so that it reads "Gran Fondo Giro d'Italia Beverly Hills." The city's shield will be included in the cycling jerseys.

The event is part of a worldwide series of biking events. A "gran fondo" is a recreational bike event that starts with a festive launch and concludes with a festival.

The event is a bike ride not a race and cyclists must follow traffic regulations.

Councilmember Julian Gold wondered how the city would secure the bikes. Race Director Ryan Moore said sponsors designate a safe parking area for bikes. Moore said they had been considering the lot adjacent to the gardens.

Community Services Administrator Gisele Grable said the city had received letters of support from the Chamber of Commerce, the Rodeo Drive Committee, Dolce and Gabbana on Rodeo, and the Italian Consulate.

As proposed in the staff report, a bike expo would be held in the Beverly Canon Gardens on Saturday, November 2 with a VIP reception in the municipal gallery on the same day. On Sunday, November 3, the bikes would kick off from the 300 and 400 blocks of North Rodeo Drive and the finish line would be located on the 400 block North Crescent Drive, with the expo remaining in Beverly Canon Gardens.

"They did a great job of working along with us because we really wanted this in the city. We figured that there might be a better way to do this and what we ended up with is some really great results," said Bosse. "I think it's a great event and what I love about this is we're really bringing cycling awareness to our city."

The street closures outlined in the staff report include the 300 and 400 blocks of North Rodeo Drive to close on Sunday, November 3 until 9 a.m. and the northbound lanes of the 400 block of North Crescent Drive from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The council also discussed participation in the 2014 L.A. marathon at Tuesday's study

"We've got a marathon. We've got a bike ride. I think maybe we need a triathlon," said Mayor John Mirisch.

City of Beverly Hills partners with parking app

Residents and visitors are now able to monitor available parking in Beverly Hills parking structures through the ParkMe smartphone app.

The app is available on both iOS and Android devices. Those without a smartphone can find information on www.beverlyhills.org/parking. The website shows a map of the parking garages, how full they are and the cost to park there.

The ParkMe app displays information on City-owned facilities and many privately owned garages. ParkMe takes information provided by the City and other parking structure operators and calculates the amount of parking available at each structure and the estimated cost of your parking based on the time of entry and length of your stay.

Krasne requests requiring council approval to extend city council meetings past 11:30

Councilmember Nancy Krasne has requested that the council discuss changing city council meeting protocol to establish an end time.

"I'd like to have a set protocol where we could all agree to stay later, but I don't think that people should have to come in and wait that long to be heard," said Krasne.

Krasne is proposing that new items on the agenda not be taken up past 11:30 p.m. unless approved by the council majority. Krasne said she would be willing to listen to those who had been waiting since the beginning of a meeting for a particular item.

According to the staff report, the city has traditionally deferred to the Mayor to adjourn the meeting.

The item had been listed on Tuesday's study session agenda, but will be pushed to the next meeting due to lack of time.

Proposed BHUSD program cuts reversed

During the Board's priority based budgeting process, the Board of Education identified music, art and physical education as areas for reduction for the upcoming school year

The Board was met with 28 speaker cards on the proposed restructuring of these programs in a full house in Salter Family Theater at the formal meeting on June 25.

The discussion items were to reduce first through fifth grade art, first through fifth grade physical education, and first to fifth grade music education.

The proposal was to change the art program so that students would receive art every two weeks instead of weekly. An art teacher with an elementary teaching credential would be transferred to an elementary teaching position. The remaining teachers would teach elementary and middle school art at two schools.

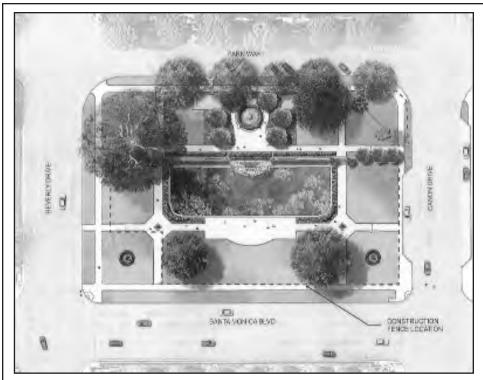

Staff had been seeking direction to cut the elementary music program entirely. Each teaching position costs the district approximately $99,500 with salary and benefits.

"It was never about that we don't value our art, our music or our physical education. It is about trying to address the budget crisis the state of California has created for this district," said Goldberg.

Due to additional revenue, the Board did not have to restructure any of the programs.

Board of Education member Brian Goldberg thanked the Beverly Hills Education Foundation and the City of Recognition for Beverly Gardens Park donors discussed

The city council directed Mia Lehrer and Associates, the architect for the restoration plans at Beverly Gardens Park, to design recognition for major donors in a "subtle" manner, so as to not get in the way of the integrity of the park.

Councilmembers agreed the recognition would include history of the Beverly Gardens Park with a line recognizing donors' contribution.

Director of Community Services Steve Zoet presented to the City Council at the study session on Tuesday.

The park's restoration, headed by local business owner Steve Gordon, is being funded entirely by private donations. The City of Beverly Hills has committed a matching fund grant of $750,000.

Zoet provided examples for council direction. The amount required for donor recognition has not been established.

An example included a construction barricade with names of various donors.

"I don't think there's any need [to recognize donors] during the construction phase. Actually, updating it would be difficult, deciding on dollar amounts to put on the banner would be difficult and the worst case, it would slow traffic if someone tried to read it," said Councilmember Julian Gold.

Zoet said the construction barricade would portable to accommodate the Beverly Hills art show

For a more permanent recognition, Zoet suggested a pedestal or plaque embedded into various walls at the park.

"What is typical in our parks is adding a pedestal type of concept. We have that currently at Will Rogers Park. We have one at Coldwater Park associated with the bridal path installation. We also have one very similar to this over at the Frank Fenton Field," said Zoet. "The purpose of the pedestal would be intended for recognition of a large scale donor."

The first phase of construction is for restoration of the Lily Pond and the surrounding block. The pedestal was proposed to be placed in a pathway to promote visibility. Zoet also suggested plaques could be place along the walls around the Lily Pond.

The councilmembers reached consensus on a pedestal that did not encroach on green space, and developing subtle ways to embed recognition in natural looking features of the park

"People should be able to see and recognize those who gave money, but it should not be a monument to anybody," said Councilmember Willie Brien. "This is a restoration project, so we're trying to restore the parks back to the way they were and I think that's the goal -- low profile and something that's visible for the people walking to look at the history of the park as well."

Mayor John Mirisch said he understood that most of the plaque would contain historical information on the park, as it is at Frank Fenton Field, as opposed to a monument to donors.

COVERSTORY HOTEL MANAGEMENT

The Weekly's interview with Conference and Visitor's Bureau Chair and Beverly Hilton General Manager Sandy Murphy

By Andrea Aldana

Tell us how you got to Beverly Hills.

I was working as the area vice president for the Hilton Hotel Corporation when they were housed in Beverly Hills on Civic Center Drive. [The Beverly Hilton] was one of the hotels that I oversaw as the area vice president. When [previous General Manager] Denny Fitzpatrick gave his notice, I was interviewing for his replacement and a member of the ownership group asked me if I would consider taking the position and I've always loved this hotel, so I decided to stay. It coincided with the move of the Hilton Corporate headquarters to back east, so the timing was just very perfect.

So you were already working in Beverly Hills before becoming the general manager of the Beverly Hilton. Where did you work prior to that?

I've worked with Hilton for 30 years, so I had worked out of the corporate head-quarters for quite a while, but before coming here, I was the area vice president for northern California for about three years and then I transferred to the Beverly Hills corporate headquarters in 2006 and then I transferred here in August of 2008.

What's the key difference between being an area vice president in the corporate office to being a general manager?

When you're in a corporate position, you travel to many different hotels, so it is very fun and exciting and you get to see a lot of really great administrative practices. But when you work at a hotel, there's a definite sense of family and community because you get to know all of your employees. It's like our own little city. Having one place to come to work every day is great. The other thing that's really different about being a general manager versus being in a corporate position is that you get to see the actual results of your efforts. You can make decisions that can help improve the hotel. In a corporate position, you can make suggestions, but it's the team at the hotel that needs to do the hard work and being at a hotel, you get to actually watch things improve. You really get to know your team, too. It's nice.

How did you get involved with the Beverly Hills Conference and Visitor's Bureau?

When I first came to the hotel, it was the first year that it was spun off from the chamber, so I was asked at that point in time to be the chair. I was actually the first chair the very first year the Conference and Visitor's Bureau existed, so this is a repeat. I guess that would have been 2009 to 2010.

What was it like to be the chair when the CVB was going through transition?

It was very exciting, but I felt like we spent a lot of time building the foundation for the organization to be successful in the future more so than doing specific action items. A lot of it was meeting with the attorney and getting us our 501 (c) non-profit status and all of the legal matters that go into it, determining who was going to be on the board, and figuring out what our code of conduct, and our rules and the bylaws were going to be. It was a great deal of that and working with the other members that were on the board to determine what we wanted the organization to be going forward.

What was the advantage of splitting the CVB and the Chamber of Commerce?

It's hard for me to answer that question because I never really saw it working with the chamber, but what I do see now and probably what I think is most special about it is really who they have selected for the board of directors. The members that sit on the board of directors are all very skilled in their different organizations. I think that [Executive Director Julie Wagner] has done a good job in helping guide us to have a good mix of people. We have

Bill Wiley from Two Rodeo and we have Charles Nelson, who is the owner of Sprinkles Cupcakes and Peter Garland from Porta Via, as well as the general managers of the majority of hotels. It's a good mixture of retail, restaurants, as well as, hotels. When we discuss different programs, it's really great to have this open discussion with all of these major stakeholders in the city who have a different perspective than maybe I would. I feel like I've learned a lot in how they look at things and I think that we're able to really to come together as a board and to make decisions to benefit all three of those areas.

What is it like serving with other hotel general managers in the city?

I highly respect all of the general managers that work in this city. I think that Beverly Hills has the finest general managers that I've ever worked with. I love being able to hear their ideas and their take on different things and the wealth of knowledge that they bring. It's really exciting.

You mentioned that the first year that you served as chair, it was more building the CVB for the future. What are you expecting to come out of this year as chair?

I had just started a new job. It was the downturn of the economy. It had started around that time so there were a lot of things happening. Transient occupancy tax was going down. This year, I think that I am exceptionally lucky because we have the [Wallis] Annenberg [Center for the Performing Arts] that is opening this year, which is going to be a fabulous addition to the City of Beverly Hills and then the centennial starts in 2014, so I'll get to oversee some of that. There's a lot of fun and exciting and uplifting programs that are happening. Because the members of the CVB are a little bit more seasoned, we are doing some more outreach internationally. There will be sales trips to China and we're looking at Brazil as they've opened up the visa process there.

In issue #622, CVB Executive Director Julie Wagner said, "for the local market, it continues to be events and promoting retail and restaurant offers that help drive traffic from Beverly Hills and LA County residents and bring interest in the city." Tell us some of the specific ways the CVB works to attract local residents.

Last week, they held the [Summer Sweet] event where they showcased all of the sweet shops in Beverly Hills. It was really looking at showcasing Sprinkles and the ice cream shops and all the beautiful chocolate shops that we have in Beverly Hills. We also spend effort on the holidays, so last year we supported the ice skating rink. There is a question mark on whether it will be happening this year again, but that was definitely part of the CVB. We worked on identifying the person to set it up and then also worked on the local advertising. We'll be doing some local advertising for the centennial this year. We also help with putting together local packages, so when we do the New York Sales Mission, we will talk about different activities that are happening in Beverly Hills whether they're at hotels or local dining establishments and retail. There's several different things that we do throughout the year.

Tell us how Beverly Hills tourism is doing this summer.

It's been a good year for us so far, so we continue to look at increased revenues. The summer is shaping up very well. We just ended June over 90 percent occupied, so it was a very busy June for us. The rest of this summer looks very good on an overall basis – August, especially. July looks about the same as last year, but August seems to be surging quite a bit, so we think we're in for a very favorable summer.

Is there a reason that August is popular?

I think a part of it has to do with [the fact that] in Beverly Hills, we, in general, do a lot of Middle Eastern business and they typically will come before Ramadan and check back in after Ramadan. Ramadan falls within July this year. Last year, it shifted more into August. The shift of that has something to do with the patterns of business and so we have quite a few guests that will be coming back after Ramadan ends.

Where did you grow up?

Los Angeles.

Did you go to school nearby too?

I went to Cal Poly Pomona.

Tell us about your family.

I have a husband [John] and a 14 year-old daughter [Kara] who is going into high school next year. John owns his own company, which is why I can work a lot of hours at the hotel.

What types of guests are staying at The Beverly Hilton?

The reason that The Beverly Hilton is such a great hotel to work at is that we have every kind of guest that you can imagine. We have a lot of international guests from just about every country. Right now we have a lot of families that are having their vacations and enjoying the pool. At the end of the summer, we have the Television Critics Association that comes in, so we'll have all of the local broadcast stations here. We do a ton of group business: anything from corporate groups to social groups coming in. It's just a really fun place to work because you never know who's going to be in the lobby. It's a great mix of international travel [and] local guests. We have really great occupancy on the weekends just from people who want to beat the heat and come lay by the pool for a little bit and enjoy.

Many of the local community organizations is so kind to the employees. He is a business-person, but he is an amazing owner to work for. He believes in quality and strives for us

We do so many charity events. I think that is a really important part of what we do. It's very important to us that the events go well and the organizations can raise as much money as possible. We also do most of the City organizations, whether it's the Backdraft Ball for the firefighters or the Black and White Ball for the police or the Apple Ball for the Beverly Hills Education Foundation. The Maple Counseling Center has their event here, so we consider it an honor that we're able to do that for the city.

What is your relationship with Beverly Hilton owner Beny Alagem?

Beny is fabulous. I tell people all the time that you would never meet a nicer person. He Beverly Hills for providing one time funding for the school year. Later in the meeting, the Board announced property values resulted in a budget surplus for the 2013 to 2014 school year.

The Board vote 3-1 to restore the art and physical education programs. Board of Education member Lewis Hall dissented.

The Board voted unanimously to keep the music program as is.

"In this case, I'm going to be voting for it because music is a language that requires specialized instruction," said Hall. "I think it's important that K-5 students do get this language instruction."

Hall did not support restoring the art and physical education programs because he said research has shown that young kids need unsupervised time in both art and play time.

Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce to award businesses for outstanding performance

For the 11th year, the Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce will be awarding businesses for their outstanding performance.

The Chamber will recognize exemplary business leaders by presenting awards in three categories. New this year, the chamber will award both a large and small business in each category. Six award recipients in total will be voted on in the following three categories: Community Support, Above & Beyond, and Innovation

This year the Gala and awards are being redesigned. The Gala is being renamed Best of Beverly Hills and for the first time winners will take home a Golden Palm Award. The evening will be a celebration recognizing businesses in Beverly Hills that are visionaries of true business excellence in the community.

The 2012 recipients of the prestigious Business Excellence Awards included; Beverly Hills Market & Deli for Community Contribution; Mickey Fine Pharmacy & Grill for Customer Service; Bouchon for Entrepreneurial Business; and Cedars-Sinai Medical Group for Innovative Practices.

is so kind to the employees. He is a businessperson, but he is an amazing owner to work for. He believes in quality and strives for us to be the best that we can be, but he just is always focused on the employees and making sure that we're taking care of the employees from the housekeeper to the engineer. That is really important to him. I consider myself to be exceptionally lucky to work for him.

When is construction going to start on the expansion Beverly Hills voters approved in 2008?

I really don't have a time that I could [say]. I know that it's being talked about, but I have no idea as far as timing or any of that is concerned.

City to upgrade elevators in three buildings; update mobile computers in police vehicles

The Beverly Hills City Council adopted a resolution awarding a contract to Liftech elevator services to modernize three outdated elevators.

The City will modernize elevators at the police department on Rexford Drive, as well as parking garages at 440 North Camden Drive and 333 North Crescent Drive.

The item was listed on the consent calendar and approved unanimously. The upgrades are consistent with the list of capital upgrade projects investment directed by the City Council, according to the staff report.

Liftech was the lowest bidder. The total contract is for $1,423,000 with an additional contingency of $140,000. The project is expected to be completed in April 2014, according to the staff report.

The council also approved by the consent calendar a purchase order in the amount of $9,720 for Mobile Data Terminal Computers for police vehicles. The computers are used to provide accurate audio and video record of actions by the department.

Do you know what the plans are contingent upon?

I don't know what it is contingent upon. The voters voted it in right at the beginning of the downturn of the economy. Things are on the upswing, finally. I anticipate that things will be happening some time but I have not been given any date for start. Because it will be a different set of investors, I'm not involved in the planning.

What other changes are coming to the hotel?

We're looking at doing a few things this year and into next year. We're looking at redoing our lobby lounge area. We're looking at giving that a definite refresh and trying to modernize it a little bit. We're also looking at doing some renovation on our oasis tower, which is the smaller building and we're looking at doing some bathroom renovation there and corridor renovation. We just redid our pool area at the beginning and middle of May. We put in some trees and some new soft seating and some new lighting. We added some fire pits, so it's a great place to come after work

What do you see for the future of the Beverly Hilton in Beverly Hills?

Everything looks great. Obviously, it'd be fabulous if the new construction does occur but on an overall basis, Beny has always reinvested in the hotel [and] into next year, we're pacing ahead of where we were this year for both group and transient. We think that things will continue to improve and I see only good things on the horizon.

BHUSD celebrates end of school year in the great outdoors

For the 29th year in a row, a group of BHUSD staff members and retirees celebrated the end of the school year with an outdoor excursion.

The system is operated by a laptop computer inside the vehicle. The council had approved a purchase order in February of 2012. A different type of mobile data terminal was deemed more appropriate for the city. Coban, the manufacturer, accepted return of unused units purchased in 2012 and applied credit to the purchase of the new equipment.

ter a charging order against a judgment debtor's personal property interest in a partnership or limited liability company. This Motion is proper as it is brought pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 69(a)(1) and the relevant California Code of Civil Procedure, section 708,310.

Here, Judgment Creditor has requested the Court make two separate orders. First, a charging order levying execution of the money judgment in the amount of $15,054,970.35[1], the entire amount of which remains unsatisfied, against Judgment Debtor's partnership and limited liability company interests. Second, an order permitting Judgment Creditor to foreclose upon those inter-

Where, as here, a valid judgment remains unsatisfied, the Court may issue a charging order on a defendant's various corporate, partnership, and limited liability interests. Notably, the issuance of a charging order is not dependent upon approval by other partners or members of the respective businesses. Hellman v. Anderson, 233 Cal. App.3d 840 (1991).

In this case, Judgment Creditor has adequately demonstrated that the judgment remains unsatisfied and, therefore, the Court believes a charging order is appropriate with respect to each of the partnership and limited liability company interests listed by Judgment Creditor in the Declaration of Ronald Richards attached to the Motion.

Declaration of Ronald Richards attached to the Motion. A second issue the Court must decide is whether fore-closure on Judgment Debtor's now-charged interests is appropriate. Subsequent to issuing a charging order, the Court may, at any time, order a foreclosure on the interests. (Cal. Corp. Code, §§ 16504, 17302; see also Hellman, 233 Cal.App.3d at 848-50.) There appears to be some split of authority in the California courts as to whether prior approval of the other partners/members. whether prior approval of the other partners/members of the partnership or limited liability company is required before the Court may order a foreclosure. Compare Hellman, 233 Cal.App.3d 840 with Crocker National Bank v. Perroton, 208 Cal.App.3d 1 (1989). After reviewing the cases and relevant statutes, the Court believes the better approach is that taken by the appellate court in Hellman. Under Hellman, no prior approval or consent of the other partners or members is necessary before ordering fore-closure on a charging order.

However, to provide recourse to those other partners or members in cases where there are objections to the sale of a judgment debtor's interest, courts are instructed to consider whether the sale will unduly interfere with the business of the partnership or limited liability company. Of course, in order to consider whether the business of the partnership or limited liability company will be unduly interfered with, the Court must be presented with evidence on the issue. The burden of producing such evidence lies with the judgment debtor and other partnership partners or limited liability company members. Hellman, 233 Cal. App.3d at 652-53.

Because there does appear to be a split of authority, and because the Court has followed the Hellman decision which shifts the burden of proof to the Judgment Debtor to show that the foreclosure sale will unduly interfere with the business of the partnership or limited liability company, the Court found that in the interest of fairness and equity Judgment Creditor shall be merited to make an offer of proof within 10 days of the hearing on the Motion, on or before June 13, 2013, to address any undue interference that will be created by a foreclosure on the charged partnership and limited liability company interests. In default thereof, the Court held it would issue an order authorizing the foreclosure of the charging order on Judgment Debtor's partnership and limited liability company interests.

Judgment Debtor has not presented any offer of proof at all of any claimed undue interference that will be created by a foreclosure on the charged partnership and limited liability company interests.
For the foregoing reasons, Judgment Creditor's Motion is granted.

IT IS ORDERED:

1. Pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, rule 69(a)(1), California Code of Civil Procedure, sections 708.310, 708.320, and California Corporations Code, sections 16504(a), 17302(a), the partnership and membership interests of Judgment Debtor, individually and as trustee of the Revocable Trust, in the following partnerships and limited liability companies are hereby charged with the unpaid balance of the judgment entered in the above-captioned action in favor of Judgment Creditor against Judgment Debtor on April 18, 2013, in the current unpaid amount of $15,054,970.35 ("Judgment"), plus post-judgment interest thereon from April 18, 2013 and any additional amounts added thereto by further order of this Court:

Don't sell your life insurance know the

Alan L. Kaye, CLU, ChFC President

Most people over the age of 70, who want to sell their old insurance policies for more than their cash surrender value, are not getting the most money from their assets.

AVOID RISKS OF INSURANCE FINANCING STRATEGIES

Others, who expect to create "something from nothing", participate in insurance financing plans without having full knowledge of the chances they are taking. You can avoid these risks by becoming informed of established procedures and you won't make costly mistakes.

Alan Kaye Insurance Agency is a leader in the field of insurance and estate planning with over 40 years of experience. We work with most of the major life insurance companies and have access to their resources to be able to provide the latest in planning strategies.

THREE ESSENTIAL RULES THAT CAN PREVENT YOU FROM MAKING COSTLY DECISIONS

- Provide full and accurate descriptions of all offers relating to the sale of your policy.
- Acquire at least five offers from unrelated insurance purchasing companies.
- Complete background checks on potential purchasers to make sure they are financially and commercially acceptable firms to do business with.

ARE YOU COMPLETING A LIFE INSURANCE SETTLEMENT OR JUST SETTLING?

What kind of insurance professional is helping you sell your old life insurance policy? Are you dealing with a life settlement specialist? Are you represented by a licensed professional with E&O Insurance that covers life settlements? Has your agent explained the risks involved in financing your life insurance?

Call us today to find out what your insurance is really worth and we will help you decide whether to sell, surrender, keep or replace your old insurance policy.
