"Beverly Hills Senior Activities"

After a long illness, I began to participate in Beverly Hills Recreation and Parks senior activities. I discovered a whole new world of fun and new friends! The City of Beverly Hills Community Services brochure of classes and activities doesn't convey the spirit.

I have made friends on the shuttle and in classes and activities. My physical health has been reinvigorated by yoga, gentle aerobics, outdoor fitness fun, and move! groove! and stretch! My mental health is being healed by the friendly teachers and other participants. My intellect is being stimulated by Margot Reiner's current events at the Beverly Hills library. There is also a program every Wednesday afternoon at Jewish Family Service.

I suggest that you send your reporter to cover this sensational senior world every week.

Team Beverly Hills. His mother was an elementary school teacher and his father, a former Illinois judge, was an active school board member.

In addition to providing students with opportunities to pursue their passions, Dohm said it's important to review rankings and other metrics of success as well as analyze what other schools in better positions may be doing. Dohm said he also believed it was important to prepare children for a more balanced lifestyle.

"For years, the government's been focused on physical fitness, nutrition and education and I still see it's fundamentally deemphasized in the school system so I think there's an opportunity there as well," said Dohm.

Dohm has a bachelor's and Master's degree in computer science from Loyola University and a Master's in business administration from Northwestern University.

City Council to review all Metro permit requests

All permits requested by the Metropolitan Transit Authority will now need city council approval, according to city council direction at the study session on August 6. "I think it will be a good thing for us as a council to always be able to try and impose the best conditions, so that the inconveniences for our residents are kept to a minimum and so that we maintain the maximum amount of control in our negotiations," said Mayor John Mirisch, who requested the item on the agenda.

Mirisch's request was supported by Councilmember Nancy Krasne and Vice Mayor Lili Bosse.

"I don't think that Metro should get a free ride," said Krasne. "I want to extend the same courtesy to them that they've extended to us so when they want something, let them come in and ask for it."

Councilmembers Willie Brien and Julian Gold did not support the suggestion.

"I don't think we should lose oversight or control, but I don't think that we actually have to touch every single one of them because I just think it's going to be an extraordinary amount of work that we're just never going to get through," said Gold.

The city council will discuss a master cooperative agreement with Metro on Aug. 20. According to the staff report, a master cooperative agreement is the typical method for Metro to coordinate construction within a jurisdiction. The agreement outlines the terms of issuing permits and coordinating construction activities. Staff will present pros and cons of entering the agreement on Aug. 20.

Brien said ways to mitigate impacts for the residents could be discussed during the August 20 discussion and he would not support voting on individual permits.

"As things get further along, we'll be inundated with permits and I'm afraid we'll end up in a court and a judge will make the decision for us and they will impose those changes," said Brien.

Bosse said she did not see this direction as cumbersome, but as a way of providing information and discussion.

"I think it's important that we as a council, the community, and the businesses understand what's happening in terms of the permit process," said Bosse.

Metro presented plans for the proposed Metro station at Wilshire and La Cienega Boulevards at the Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce's Governmental Affairs Committee meeting on July 18.

Metro officials explained Metro would be seeking permits including peak hour exemptions so work could continue during rush hour, extended work hours to allow work to continue at night within legal noise limits imposed by the city, and a lifting of the holiday moratorium which would allow work to be completed between Thanksgiving and New Year's Day.

"We hope to work in a productive way with the city of Beverly Hills to stage construction in a matter that minimizes disruption to the community while allowing us to build the subway extension and meet our obligations to the taxpayers of L.A. County," said Metro spokesperson Dave Sotero.

LA Times story leads district to conduct third party review of the Beverly Hills Sports Academy

The BHUSD will conduct a third party review of the Beverly Hills Summer Sports Academy, a summer sports training session for Beverly High athletes, according to Superintendent Gary Woods.

"We want full transparency, full disclosure," said Woods. "We want to get better."

The impetus for a review follows a Los Angeles Times article in Tuesday's newspaper, titled "Beverly Hills principal's on-campus camp is for-profit business."

The article quotes Beverly Hills parents who reportedly did not know that the academy was a private business.

Principal Carter Paysinger is listed as the owner of the business, which was started in 1997, when he was the school's athletic director.

However, Woods said the principal was no longer involved in the business and in the process of removing his name from a DBA filed with the county.

Raj Batra, a parent who was quoted in the story, has also signed a change.org petition calling for an independent review of the sports academy. The petition was created by Chanan Batra, a Beverly High class of 2013 graduate, who was a state finalist on the Beverly High track team.

The petition asks specifically for "a formal independent review of the accounts and bylaws of the Beverly Hills Sports Academy and that the BHUSD School Board provide compliance oversight of the Beverly Hills Sports Academy, since it functions on our school grounds."

The Times reports that a business tax application, a Beverly Hills requirement, has never been filed for the academy.

In the article, Woods is quoted as saying the academy takes in about $60,000 to $70,000 a summer which is used to pay coaches and facilities fees. The camp also pays rent to the BHUSD for use of space.

Beverly Hills Sports Camp, also run by a BHUSD coach, has a similar arrangement. Woods confirmed Wednesday that the academy has a current agreement on the civic center act use of school property. The Board will need to approve an engagement letter with the party chosen to conduct the review, which will be voted on at a future board meeting, said Woods. Former Board of Education member Steven Fenton said he understood the school district had encouraged setting up the academy. "All of this predates my tenure on the board [in 2007]. However, from my understanding, it was the school district that came to [Paysinger, Coaches Howard Edelman and Jason Newman] and asked them to put the academy together," said Fenton. "And from my understanding, over the years, administrators in the business office at the district, such as Mike Clear and Gary Mortimer, were involved in helping to create this academy. I don't think [Board of Education member Lewis] Hall realizes that he just asked for an investigation on the district office, as well."

Hall contends that the majority of the Board of Education members supported the idea of a review.

"I don't remember who brought it up first," said Hall, who said there was overall board support for the third party review.

Rachelle Marcus is honored for 50 years with the district on Opening Day.

BHUSD honors longest serving faculty and staff

BHUSD kicked off the 2013–2014 school year by honoring its longest serving faculty and staff members at Opening Day on Aug. 8. BHUSD faculty and staff with 50 years of service include Rachelle Marcus; 35 years of service include Nancy Kuechle, Stephanie Lehrer, Susan Levitt Trachtenberg, Joseph Wianecki; 30 years of service include Leonard Mitchell, and 25 years of service include Marilyn Landau, Elizabeth Call, Melody Dickens, Bryan Herbold, Stephen Rappaport, Kalia Scheiner and Ronnie Blaylock.

Hall said he felt like having a review of the athletic department was a healthy thing to do for the school and that there was direction from the board to move forward. Hall said he believed in full transparency and he supported having a completely independent reviewer so no one could exert influence on the reviewer.

Board of Education Vice President Noah Margo said he thought the idea was premature.

"I didn't have any factual information in front of me to decide to conduct a review," said Margo.

Newman could not comment citing the pending review.

"Carter Paysinger is a transformative figure in our community and instead of questioning him, we should be praising him and let his record speak for itself,' said Fenton.

Planning Commission reviews rooftop lunchrooms

The Planning Commission discussed rooftop lunchrooms as a study session item during the commission's afternoon meeting on Monday.

The Beverly Hills municipal code allows property owners to build a lunchroom on the roof of the building if a building is built to the maximum height and maximum floor area.

The item was added to the agenda for discussion in response to a letter sent by former Mayor Joe Tilem. Tilem has a client who would like to put a lunchroom on a smaller building.

"What we're saying is we're encouraging people to build the biggest buildings as humanly possible," said Planning Commission Chair Brian Rosenstein. "That is not in the best interest of the city, so we decided that we need to clean up that code."

The applicant will file an application for a zone text amendment for future Planning Commission review. If accepted, the amendment would allow smaller buildings to build a rooftop lunchroom.

The Planning Commission said they were open to seeing that section of the code change.

The Planning Commission also approved a minor accommodation at 713 North Arden Drive that will allow the roof line of a second-story addition to be slightly higher than code permits.

A development plan review for 8701-8707 Wilshire Boulevard was continued at the request of the applicant.

Rosenstein said the commission generally liked the project but had concerns because the property abuts a residential area. The applicant will return at a later meeting.

A public hearing on public noticing requirements was continued to the commission's Sept. 12 meeting because the planning department is reorganizing the zoning code. The public noticing requirements will be coordinated with that effort.

Beverly High enrollment similar to last year; sees increase in senior transfers

As of last Friday, Beverly High's enrollment was just over 1,750 students, but Assistant Principal Amy Golden anticipated 100 more before the start of school.

Golden creates the school's master schedule.

Golden had to add additional sections of senior English and physics courses because of an increase in seniors who have transferred.

"We're getting a lot more seniors than we anticipated. Students generally don't transfer in their senior year," said Golden, who believed 15 had transferred.

This year, Beverly High is offering two new courses: AP Computer Science and Biotechnology, the junior year course in the Medical Science Academy. h e the academy returning as juniors will take biotechnology. Golden said there are 34 students per grade level.

AP Computer Science is being offered as part of the district's new STEM (science, technology, engineering and math) initiative.

"At first, we thought we'd have one class and we have over 50 kids in the class so it was popular," said Golden.

Golden describes the master schedule as a puzzle. She said the school starts by asking students what they are interested in taking in the spring. Golden then divides all course requests by 29, the class size average, which is how she decides how many classes belong in the master schedule. She uses a computer program, which tells her where the classes should be scheduled so that it works best for the students.

Planning Commission adds conditions to The Phoenix

The Planning Commission imposed further conditions on the The Phoenix restaurant located at 14 N. La Cienega Boulevard at an evening session on Monday.

The Planning Commission held a public hearing to receive public comment and discuss modifying, suspending or revoking the existing Development Plan Review and Extended Hours Permit for The Phoenix.

The Phoenix has been closed for about seven weeks. The owners of the restaurant voluntarily closed down in order to remodel the restaurant in order to address numerous violations.

The commission decided that no more than 42 people would be allowed in the open air dining area, a limit which had been already imposed, and that no more than 72 people would be allowed inside, allowing a maximum of 114 people on the premises at any time. Previously, there had not been a limit on the number of people allowed inside.

In Feb. 2000, the Planning Commission approved a Development Plan Review Permit and Extended Hours Permit for a restaurant at 14 N. La Cienega Boulevard.

Pursuant to the original resolution adopted by the commission, customers were allowed to enter the restaurant up to 11 p.m. seven days a week, and no patrons were allowed to sit in the open air dining area after 11 p.m.

The Phoenix opened at the location in October 2012.

The bar had been operating from 5 p.m. to 2 a.m.

The Planning Commission decided on Monday that no person will be allowed inside the restaurant past 10 p.m. Sundays through Thursdays, with a closing time of 11 p.m. On Fridays and Saturdays, the restaurant will be allowed to remain open until 1 a.m.

According to the staff report, staff determined that the restaurant had not been operating in compliance with conditions listed in the original resolution. A mobile office structure had been added to the site, adjacent to the property line that borders the residential area. The structure is not allowed by the Building Code because it is not a permanent structure and is located in a required setback, which is in violation of the zoning code. The structure will be removed.

The Extended Hours Permit only allowed the restaurant to accept patrons until 11 p.m. The code did not restrict the restaurant from staying open past 11 p.m., just accepting new patrons past 11 p.m.

According to a letter sent to The Phoenix property owners by City Prosecutor Steven Rosenblit, drinks were sold to a city official and other persons who entered after 11 p.m. and patrons were seated in the open air dining area after 11 p.m. on June 1.

Rosenblit mentioned several other violations including failure to obtain an occupant load prior to opening, fire code violations for furniture located in front of the restaurant, overcrowding, having an exit sign obscured from view, an open flame on June 1, an electrical hazard, health hazard for "facilitating smoking" by placing ash trays in the open air dining area, and noise violations.

The restaurant had been equipped with outdoor speakers, which are not allowed. Seven speakers addressed the Planning Commission, most with concerns of noise. Planning Commission Chair Brian Rosenstein said the speakers concerned with noise were mostly neighbors from Hamilton and Le Doux..

"They said voluntarily they're doing a lot of things to try and mitigate the noise in the back where the music is," said Rosenstein. "They're well aware of all the issues and they want to try and be good neighbors and they know we're going to be watching them like a hawk.'

The restaurant will reopen once it is up to code and will return to the Planning Commission six months from the date of reopen for a review.

Michael Gonzales, attorney for The Phoenix ownership, said he could not comment.

She understands it. The other thing that I noticed about her is that she has that Horace Mann team feeling and she's got a very outgoing positive personality, which I think fits in with our school very nicely."

Bakhsh said an administrative position has always been one of her goals. For the last three summers, Bakhsh was the intervention principal for BHUSD's summer

"English learner and my Title I role has allowed me to work in a sort of administrative capacity where I have been able to collaborate with teachers and help devise lesson plans and help provide support in a K-8 setting," said Bakhsh. "I just really enjoyed working with other teachers in that collaborative way and helping to facilitate discussions and making sure that our students' needs were met. The summer school allowed me a great opportunity to get a glimpse of what it's like for an administrator during the school year."

Former Horace Mann Assistant Principal Dana Findley has transferred to Beverly High, where she first taught. She is a physical education coach, dance coach and dance company director.

Charlotte Clement hired as BHUSD Chief Facilities Officer

Charlotte Clement has been hired as the BHUSD's Chief Facilities Officer. The position has been vacant since Feb. 2013.

A pool of eight finalists were narrowed down to three after a panel interview, according to Superintendent Gary Woods.

Woods said Clement will start the first week of September.

Clement is a certified project manager and an architect with 25 years of experience in public school planning, programming, and project construction management, according to Woods. She has 14 years of experience in a managerial capacity.

Clement received her architecture degree from USC.

"She values historic structures and loved the architecture of our buildings," said Woods. "That's what attracted her to applying for the job. She knew what we were trying to do and thought it would be a good match."

COVERSTORY SERVICE ABOVE SELF The Weekly's interview with Beverly Hills Botary

The Weekly's interview with Beverly Hills Rotary President Susan Berk By Andrea Aldana

How did you get involved with the Beverly Hills Rotary Club?

Ten or 11 years ago, when I started doing work with the campaigns of the city -- I started with the [2002] school bond campaign and the city council campaign -- Alissa Roston told me about Rotary and offered to take me to a meeting and I was very interested in joining. [Rotary] seemed like an extension to the work that I was doing between nonprofits and giving back to the community. It just seemed like a natural fit.

You mentioned school bond and city council campaigns. You were involved in running the Measure K campaign in particular. Do you think that's what put you on the map in local politics?

It really did except I was always interested in the local politics when I moved into Beverly Hills. I always kept track of who was running for city council. I've always voted and kept track of what was going on, but the Measure K campaign introduced me to a lot more of the school board and city council and some of the movers and shakers of Beverly Hills. I've always known [former Mayor] Donna Ellman Garber because her daughter is the one who introduced me to my husband.

What nonprofits have you been involved with?

I was a PTA president, prior to moving to Beverly Hills, when my children [attended] a school in Culver City. I [was] also on the Board of Trustees of the Echo Foundation, which was part of Echo Horizons School in Culver City that mainstreams hearing-impaired children. I was also previously on the board of directors at the Beverly Hills Education Foundation and I was on the PTA at El Rodeo and Beverly High.

Are you involved in other organizations now?

Yes, I'm involved with Hope Street Family Center and through Rotary, I'm able to work with a lot of other organizations and other nonprofits.

You recently returned from the Rotary Convention in Lisbon. Can you tell us about that?

The Rotary Convention was just wonderful. Over 20,000 Rotarians attended this event and what's great is these are Rotarians from all over the world and get on the shuttle bus that would take you to the convention center, you'd be sitting next to someone from Cameroon, or Kenya, and I just found it very interesting. What a wonderful way to engage with people because we're all Rotarians. They gave us these shopping bags that said Rotary International Convention and one time, my husband and I were just at a department store in Lisbon and a gentleman came up to us and said, "Hello, fel-because of that, every time you would

Do you invite the speakers, as well?

We have a speaker committee and we're really lucky because Sandy Pressman is our speaker chair this year and she knows everybody. It's just amazing. We've got our calendar filled pretty much for 2013.

Tell us about your priorities for Rotary in the coming year.

First, I want to continue the support that we have for a number of our local charities through our local foundation. We give to literacy projects. We have tutoring at the elementary schools here in Beverly Hills. We make donations to the Police and Fire [organizations], The Maple Counseling Center, Lupus LA, the program, Every 15 Minutes, at the high school, and BHEF. Some other organizations we give to are Hope Street Family Center and Get On the Bus. There are so many, I can't even name them all.

I want to continue with that, but I also want to add some programs so we can get our hands dirty and get a lot more involved. There's a walkathon that I'd like to see us get involved with. There will be a district service project. Last year, they renovated a park in the South Park area of Los Angeles. I don't know what they're low Rotarian!" We started talking to him and found out he was from a developing nation in Africa. We started exchanging information about each other and I'm now getting e-mails from people. It was just a wonderful way to network and interact with other Rotarians from around the world.

What are some of the things that you discuss at the convention?

At the convention, we discuss projects that Rotary has done. They're doing a new funding method for international projects so we discussed that. There are breakout sessions about all sorts of things like microcredits, and things like that. And it was just about what we're doing to help the world.

You had your first meeting as president last month on July 15. How did that go?

Well, I was a little nervous at first, of course, but I had a great time. It was just wonderful. I'm privileged to be the president of the Rotary Club of Beverly Hills. I hope to be able to build upon a foundation that prior presidents have started. That's one of the great things about being in our club.

As president, do you set the agenda of each meeting? Yes.

doing yet for this year, but whatever it is, I really want to get a group of us to be part of that. Another thing I'm looking at is a remote area medical free clinic. It's called RAM. They did a free clinic down at the L.A. Sports Arena a couple of years ago and I would like to see our club get involved in the next one in Los Angeles. We have a lot of Rotarians who are doctors or Rotarians who are married to doctors, so I think we can put a team together that way and they need a lot of non-professionals who can help with the intake and release of patients. That way I can involve a lot of our Rotary members as part of this free clinic. I would like to see us do that.

In issue #666, when we interviewed former President AJ Willmer, he said "In the areas of service outside the club, international service is becoming more and more important to our club. We concentrate on potable water projects in the developing world." Can you give us some examples of the work Rotary has done?

We worked on some water projects in Myanmar and we partnered with the L.A. Five Club, meaning it was the fifth club of Rotary, on a water project. We are working with a woman from the Woodland Hills club who is doing some water wells in Nigeria. And for future water projects, AJ and I met with some Rotarians from Uganda and they want us to partner with them to do some water projects in Entebbe. We're also working with some [National Governmental Organizations.] There are a number of organizations. There's one called Lotus Outreach that works in Cambodia. There's another one. RainCatcher -- they collect rain water in Uganda and then by collecting that rain water, they are able to filter it and turn it into potable water for schools and hospitals. We're looking into working with them. These are organizations that already know how to do this and so they've come to us for funding. What we've said to them is you find a Rotary club in Uganda -- and that's how I got the connection with the Uganda Rotarians -- or you find a Rotary club in Nigeria, and we'll work together with those Rotary clubs and you to put these clean water projects into effect.

Do you travel to these countries?

It depends. The district puts together an international trip. They did one a couple of years ago in Panama where you got to visit the water project. Last year, they did Puerto Rico and as a matter of fact, we did this water project in Puerto Rico that we went to see and it's so touching. We call things, "Rotary moments." There we are in Puerto Rico. It's amazing because it is part of the United States, but this is a village that never had clean water. They depended on the rain and they would drink muddy water. The Rotary Club had not only built these wells and water filtering system, but in addition, because you need electricity for some of these water filtering systems, we also did a solar project to have these filters constantly running. We're there to visit and see what's been done. We were lucky enough that it had been accomplished by the time we got there. The villagers are giving us juice and food that they had made and they're hugging us and kissing us and saying "God bless you, you don't know what you've done for our village [and] how you've changed things." I was in tears. That's a Rotary moment. That's when you know that you've really done some good in the world.

I would love to be able to go to Uganda in a couple of years to see what we've done. We get pictures and videos to see how things are going. Now with the internet, you don't have to travel as much.

So, the district organizes these international trips each year. Do you know where the trip is to this year?

Yes, I'm looking forward to it. It's going to be Colombia. That will be very interesting and there's going to be a lot of hands on work there, [such as] planting trees and doing water projects. It will be in early 2014.

What are some other projects the Rotary has planned for the next year?

We're going to continue with our tutoring program. We're going to continue with another project that we work on called, Get On The Bus. Pasquale Vericella who owns Il Cielo restaurant in Beverly Hills on Burton Way brought that to us. He's a member of our club and that is [an organization that brings] children up to various prisons in California, so they can see their parents. A lot of these children haven't seen their parents in years and it's apparently really one of those times where you're practically in tears seeing the mother and child get together. Rotary is very supportive of literacy projects and we hope to bring back a lot of the programs that were cut because of funding costs to our library.

Rotary is going to be honored by The Maple Counseling Center this year and I think it's great that the community is acknowledging all of the wonderful things that Rotary has done, so that's a nice thing that's going to happen.

Tell us about your family.

I have two boys who started the middle of their school career at El Rodeo. I'm one of those people who moved to Beverly Hills for the schools and they graduated from Beverly High. My older son [Matthew] is back in school to become a nurse practitioner and my youngest son [Danny] is working in West Hollywood. My husband, Barry, does event production. [He does] stage production for the fire department [gala] here and a lot of nonprofits and corporations. Danny is a member of our Young Professionals Rotary of Beverly Hills. It started with [former President] Brooke Knapp and AJ Willmer really started moving it along and I'm going to continue it. Young Professionals is [for] young adults in their 20's that are out of college and starting their careers. They want to get involved in philanthropy and having the structure of Rotary is a great way for them to get involved with community projects and international philanthropy.

A year from now, what do you hope to have accomplished as president?

I guess what I'd like to see is our Rotary Club get more hands on and involved with

Cultural Heritage Commission decides not to designate Camden property as landmark

The Cultural Heritage Commission agreed not to recommend a 1921-constructed property, located at 724 N. Camden Drive, as a landmark at the commission's meeting on Aug. 7.

"We have to be very stringent in making sure that we meet all of these criteria," said Cultural Heritage Commission Chair Rich Waldow during the meeting. "One vital one is that the property maintains its integrity from its period of significance. That is where I think this property runs into some issues."

The commission initiated nomination for landmark designation of the property at the commission's meeting on June 5.

On July 30, Waldow and Commissioner Noah Furie met onsite at the property with property owners, consultants, city staff, and the public.

Furie gave a report of the subcommittee meeting.

"The committee walked the property really for the purpose to see if we could ascertain the portions of the front of the house that were added on to see what in fact was original or what had been modified," said Furie.

Furie said the committee had concerns about the front porch enclosure. He said they believed the house originally had five windows and that the location of the front door and the hip roof portion of the house were both 1940s additions. Furie said the hip roof portion altered the right side of the house.

"We felt that the breakup of the design there had a severe impact on its historic integrity," said Furie.

The house is an example of a kit house that had been assembled by Pacific Ready Cut Homes.

"I thought also this is an interesting and somewhat difficult decision to make. There was more than enough evidence on the record for us to initiate landmark proceedings on this property," Waldow said during the meeting. "I think there's no question that this structure is a significant remnant of the city's early history and it was constructed utilizing a method that was unusual and contributed to the early settlement of the city."

Staff will bring a formal resolution at a future commission meeting denying the property for landmark designation.

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of MAURICE I. ROSENTHAL

ROSENTHAL A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Arlene F. Rosenthal in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Arlene F. Rosenthal be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on August 26, 2013 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 11 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MÁY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Attorney for petitioner: ADAM D BECKER ESQ SBN 240723
