Thoughts on the Board of Education election

The single most important responsibility of public bodies is their governance and ability to function sufficiently to meet their basic mission. As voters in the upcoming BHUSD election we are faced with the potential of establishing a board structure that may well be dysfunctional by its very nature. The situation is that Mr. Lewis Hall who is a sitting board member seeking re-election was personally sued by Mr. Carter Paysinger who is a candidate seeking election. The settlement of Mr. Paysinger's suit including attorney fees cost our school district close to $700K.

Whether these two candidates are qualified – which I genuinely believe them to be – is not relevant. The decision facing our community is whether we can run the risk of four years of personal animosity and infighting. I don't believe we can contemplate the scenario for our children where they could be seated together. Unfortunately both Mr. Hall and Mr. Paysinger are radioactive.

Aluzri named City Manager

At their meeting last Thursday, the City Council unanimously voted to appoint Mahdi Aluzri as City Manager.

Aluzri, whose career in municipal government exceeds 30 years, served as interim City Manager following Jeff Kolin's retirement in January. Prior to that, he was Assistant City Manager for six years.

In 2006, after 17 years with Beverly Hills, Aluzri left his position as Planning and Community Development Director for a new role as Deputy City Manager for the City of Rancho Cucamonga.

Clif Smith sells San Marino Tribune

Updated from Monday's e-blast:

Clif Smith has sold the San Marino Tribune, the paper reported on its front page Friday.

New owner Andrew Salter is a private equity investor who established his own investment firm in 2014, after spending 12 years at a large asset management firm in downtown Los Angeles.

Smith bought the Tribune in 1995 with Berkeley Johnston. The Tribune reported that Smith and Johnston were later joined by Andrew Barth and five other San Marino families in the ownership.

In recent years, Smith faced increased competition from Charlie Plowman's San Marino Outlook, which was launched three years ago.

Smith has kept a low profile since selling The Courier to Paula Kent Meehan in 2014, despite maintaining a law office in Beverly Hills. The Tribune story did not indicate Smith's future plans.

Hall's "Academy Award win" called into question

Board of Education member Lewis Hall, who is running for a second term November 3rd, identifies himself as an "Academy Award-winning writer and producer" on his bio page for Otis College of Art and Design, where he teaches digital media courses.

In point of fact, Hall received a Student Academy Award while working toward a B.F.A. in Theater, Film and TV at UCLA in 1973.

Hall and his creative partner Carlos Guterrez-Mena were awarded the recognition for Anti-Matter, a 12-minute animation documentary. The Academy established the program in 1972 to encourage filmmaking at the collegiate level.

A search of "Lewis Hall" on the Academy Award winners database on the official Academy website yielded no results.

Council considers allocating $105K for Next Gen block party

At their Study Session on September 10, the City Council considered a proposal from Mayor Julian Gold's Committee of Next Generation Leaders for a "street experience event" featuring food trucks and entertainment. The committee recommended that the community event be held during the holiday season, in late November or early December.

Co-chaired by Gold, Wil Master, Ben Reiss and Brian Rosenstein, Next Gen consists of 24 residents ranging from 25 to 45 years old.

The estimated cost of the block party ranges from $75,000 to $105,000. According to the staff report, funding is available in the Fiscal Year 2015-2016 Tourism and Marketing budget, which contains $150,000 for contingency programs.

"I do think the budget was a surprise," Gold said. "We had talked about looking for sponsorships, and I think that's important."

The final price tag is based on a number of factors, including whether the Council chooses to waive permit fee and City staff costs.

Possible locations for the event include Crescent Drive, Rodeo Drive and North

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

DATE: September 24, 2015
TIME: 1:30 PM, or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard
LOCATION: Commission Meeting Room 280A
 Beverly Hills City Hall
 455 North Rexford Drive
 Beverly Hills, CA 90210

The Planning Commission of the City of Beverly Hills, at its REGULAR meeting on Thursday, September 24, 2015, will hold a public hearing beginning at 1:30 PM, or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard to consider the following:

PROJECT DESCRIPTION

The proposed project involves the construction of a new multi-family residential condominium building containing a total of 31 units on the property located at 332-336 N. Oakhurst Drive. The subject property is partially located in the City of Beverly Hills (westerly portion, including building frontage on N. Oakhurst Drive), with a majority portion located in the City of Los Angeles (easterly portion). The proposed project would have a total height of 4 stories and 40' for the portion of the building located in Beverly Hills, and a total height of 5 stories and 59'-11" for the portion of the building located in Los Angeles. The portion of the building located in Beverly Hills would contain a total of 7 units, with the remaining 24 units located in Los Angeles. The project would contain a total of 82 subterranean parking spaces, 22 of which would be located in the Beverly Hills portion of the project, with the remaining 60 parking spaces located in Los Angeles. Approval of the project requires approval of a Tentative Tract Map and a Development Plan Review.

ENVIRONMENTAL REVIEW

This project has been assessed in accordance with the authority and criteria contained in the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), the State CEQA Guidelines, and the environmental regulations of the City. The subject property is partially located in the City of Beverly Hills, with a majority portion located in the City of Los Angeles. As the designated lead agency for this project, the City of Los Angeles prepared an Initial Study to determine the proposed project's potential impact on the environment. After reviewing the Initial Study, the lead agency determined that this project may have a significant effect on the environment, but by implementing certain mitigation measures, the project's potentially significant effects could be reduced to less than significant levels. Accordingly, a Mitigated Negative Declaration (MND) was prepared and adopted by the City of Los Angeles. The City of Beverly Hills, as a responsible agency, will consider the MND prepared and adopted by the City of Los Angeles.

Any interested person may attend the meeting and be heard or present written comments to the Commission.

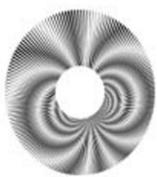

According to Government Code Section 65009, if you challenge the Commission's action in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the public hearing described in this notice, or in written correspondence delivered to the City, either at or prior to the public hearing.

If there are any questions regarding this notice, please contact Andre Sahakian, Associate Planner in the Planning Division at (310) 285-1127, or by email at asahakian@beverlyhills.org. Copies of the project plans and associated application materials are on file in the Community Development Department, and can be reviewed by any interested person at 455 North Rexford Drive, Beverly Hills, CA 90210.

 Andre Sahakian, Associate Planner

“Superintendent house” still on the market

Despite being vacant for four months, the BHUSD-owned residence located at 220 North Doheny Drive, which housed former Superintendent Gary Woods, is still available for lease.

In August, Board of Education member Lisa Korbatov reported that the house is being listed for “a touch under $9,000 [per month].” According to a Los Angeles Times advertisement Sunday, the current rental amount is now $8,350 per month.

Coldwell Banker realtor Michael Libow, who represented the district in the $1.5-million purchase of the property, is also representing the district in the lease.

BHPD responds to exotic car street race

At around 6:45 pm on Saturday, BHPD officers responded to a call reporting a high-speed race on the 700 block of North Walden Dr. between drivers of a yellow Ferrari and a white Porsche.

While conducting the investigation, officers were approached by an individual believed to be from Qatar who indicated that the vehicles belonged to him. Claiming diplomatic immunity, he denied running stop signs or driving recklessly.

“We believe that they’re foreign nationals from Qatar and we’ve been in contact with their consulate office and the investigation is ongoing,” BHPD Lieutenant Lincoln Hoshino said.

Because officers had not observed the violations reported by several residents, they could not issue a citation or make an arrest.

The BHPD has contacted the United States Department of State in regards to the diplomatic status of the individuals involved and the legality of the two vehicles being operated on a California roadway. Since then, the State Department has reached out to the Qatar diplomatic mission.

According to Hoshino, the BHPD is carrying out additional traffic patrol and stepping up enforcement action.

El Rodeo closed for three days; Buresh says another bond may be needed to complete the school

In an email Wednesday morning, El Rodeo Principal Kevin Allen announced that the K-8 school was scheduled to be closed for three days pending repairs to the “top of the cupola and tower.”

On Friday, engineers surveyed El Rodeo using drones, which is when they allegedly discovered that the school is damaged enough to warrant a three-day closure.

Just three months after the Board of Education voted to issue the third series of Measure E bonds in an amount not to exceed $76 million, BHUSD Interim Facilities Director Tim Buresh told the Beverly Hills Courier that the district will need a second bond in order to complete construction plans at three campuses.

“I’ve always said another bond would be required to finish El Rodeo, do Hawthorne and finish the high school,” Buresh told The Courier in its September 11th issue. “The plan was always predicated on going out for a June [2016] bond.”

The district will spend close to $400 million on renovating the five schools by the time the current bond is complete.

BHPD warns residents of virtual kidnapping scam

The BHPD is alerting residents of an ongoing nationwide scam that involves a person calling and claiming to have kidnapped a family member.

Oftentimes another person claiming to be the kidnap victim is initially on the line asking for help, giving the impression that the family member has actually been kidnapped.

The alleged kidnapper takes over the phone call and requests ransom money by way of a wire transfer, such as Western Union, or cash. As reported by the BHPD, the alleged kidnapper goes to great lengths to keep the call-taker on the phone and does not allow the call-taker to speak to the alleged kidnap victim again.

In some cases where the call-taker agrees to pay the ransom, the culprit sends a private driver to the call-taker's home in order to quickly transport the call-taker to a bank to withdraw funds.

According to the BHPD, the following are indicators that an incoming call might be a scam: the call is from an unknown long-distance phone number, the caller does not know the name of the person they have kidnapped, the caller will not let the call-taker speak with the alleged kidnap victim, the caller demands that the call-taker stay on the phone and will not allow them to make other phone calls, the caller will not allow the call-taker to call them back and the caller will demand ransom money by way of wire transfer or cash.

The BHPD advises individuals who receive such calls to ask to speak to the alleged kidnap victim, to ask the caller to provide the name and description of the alleged kidnap victim and, while remaining on the phone with the caller, to call or text the alleged victim.

Howard S Fredman

Incoming Beverly Hills Bar Association President

How did you become President of the BHBA?

The Beverly Hills Bar [Association] has a ladder, so the succession planning is not a last-minute thing with elections, but rather something that you've got to be involved with [starting] with our Board of Governors and afterwards you go through four successive offices. That's four years in the making. Before that, I was a member of the Board of Governors for two years; [prior to] that, I was Chair of one of the [BHBA] committees. I got involved partly by osmosis. At the time, I was subletting from a firm that had a bunch of Bar junkies, [including] David Pasternak, who was former president of the Los Angeles County Bar [Association] and is now State Bar president, his wife Cynthia Pasternak, who at the time was becoming president of the Beverly Hills Bar Association, [and] John Patton, who was a former president of the Beverly Hills Bar. They kind of knew me and [encouraged] me to get involved with the [BHBA], so I got involved. What I did, what was kind of the "hook" for me, was something that I had never been exposed to before: there was a very strong Resolutions Committee which sends people to what is now called the Conference of California Bar Associations. That body, the CCBA, is a very important vehicle for law reform and changing the law. Unlike other jurisdictions where most of the law is "judge made," in California, most of the law is actually made by the legislature and they listen to lawyers and when lawyers are proposing changes, very often it becomes law. I lost a case and I thought, We have a bad law and I want to fix it. Although I was not successful in changing that, what hooked me was my involvement with not only the Resolutions Committee but Beverly Hills Bar and seeing what I could do as a single lawyer.

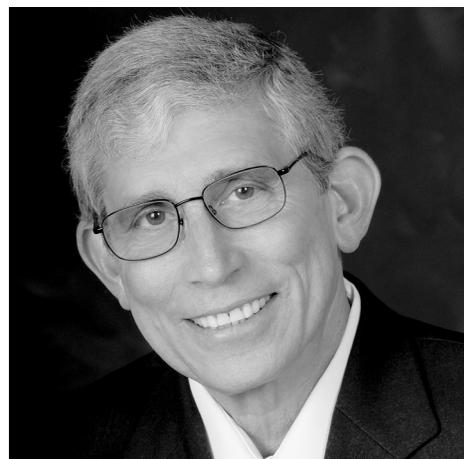

What has changed most about practicing law over the past four decades?

A couple of things. First of all, I do believe that there have been two conflicting but equally important developments; one has been consolidation—the big law firms have gotten much bigger. The first law firm that I was involved in had been around in excess of 100 years, it merged into a big international firm and then it went belly up. That, in my mind, speaks volumes because big law firms can't really—they're run like businesses and they lack personal character of smaller law firms that really value their presence as an institution. Another difference that I saw is there was a time when law firms really cared about pro-bono work and lawyers were not only encouraged to do it but were rewarded for doing it in terms of partnership and whatnot—there's much less of that now. There was a time when law firms cared about your involvement with Bar activities. Nowadays, big law firms have their own continuing legal education and bring their education in-house and they don't care if their people are involved in Bar associations. One of the attractions to me of the Beverly Hills Bar Association, [was] that I had been involved with the L.A. County Bar Association, which I think is dominated by big firms. One of the attractions of the BHBA, to me, is that it's much more focused on solo practitioners and small firms. There's more of a focus on fellowship, collegueship and essentially the kind of information that comes from talking with people as opposed to what you can do online with an internet service. Another change that I would comment on is there seems to be much less loyalty: I saw that with big law firms as they got bigger and I saw that with medium-sized firms. At this point, I've tried them all. Early on, I learned that I can spend an hour-and-a-half in the library researching a question or I can go to that very smart guy down the hall and speak to him for three minutes and learn the answers to most of my questions. That kind of professional interaction is terribly important [in order] to practice law well. One another difference is that when I started practicing in the 1970's, there were many more generalists. Today, we're much more in the area of "niche" practices.

What do you consider to be the greatest challenge facing the organization today?

At this point, I see as my challenge stabilizing the membership and the operation of the [BHBA]. Three years ago, we embarked on an enormous new venture: we went from facilities that we had been in for 30-some years into a beautiful new space in the Rolex building, right in the middle of Beverly Hills. While we have a very effective, efficient administrative staff and a very talented Chief Executive Officer, Marc Staenberg, we have faced real economic challenges in supporting that structure. My biggest challenge has to do with implementing our new Bar dues structure, which just happened this past summer and is something that the Beverly Hills Bar is the first to attempt. What we did, in an effort to reduce the cost of continuing legal education programs and make them palatable for a number of lawyers and to also get people to attend and feel good about what they're paying for these programs, we decided to essentially change our model so that most of our overhead and administration was covered by our Bar membership. So now we're offering a higher initial dues cost, but it offers a free section membership and it includes 18 hours of continuing legal education; making our new structure work is my biggest challenge. The other challenge is that lawyers in this country are aging—we have an older group of lawyers than before. The real challenge is bringing young lawyers who are still graduating and still wanting to practice into a supportive Bar environment to give them proper training and mentorship, but also to offer pro-bono opportunities. My predecessor Linda Spiegel started two new programs that I'm very proud of which we're now trying to implement. One is our Modest Means Attorney Services—she referred to it as "low-bono." In other words, people who are making too much of an income to get free legal service but can't really afford the $400, $500/hour rates that lawyers are charging for sophisticated services. The Modest Means program is intended to accomplish two things: first, it provides services to the community at a low price and second, it provides work to young lawyers who found there were no jobs when they came out of school in 2008, 2009 and 2010. My job is to make it work, to implement it. The second pro-bono project which I feel very good about is the Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) program.

What sets apart the Beverly Hills Bar Association from similar organizations?

I think it offers collegueship, mentorship [and] camaraderie. It really accommodates solo practitioners and small-firm practitioners who are not part of a huge organization which has all kinds of specialists. [What attracts] people to our program is that it [offers] a chance to meet other lawyers, it [offers] a chance to interact with judges, it [offers] a chance to become known, so that when the case or the issue arises and they happen to make a call, they're not an unknown quantity to the other side—that [makes] a big difference. We are a group of people who want and need that kind of exposure, not only to good continuing legal education programs but to smart people that they can call.

We interviewed outgoing BHBA President Linda Spiegel in issue #782. She said, "It's one thing to say our courts are closing, but it's another thing to say people can't get restraining orders again domestic violence." What is the BHBA doing to reopen the Beverly Hills court house?

From my communications with the leaders of the L.A. Superior Court, it doesn't sound to me like they're necessarily interested at this time in doing that. We do very actively support the leaders of the Los Angeles Superior Court and help lobby for funding for the court, etc., but one of the things that happened with this enormous cutback in court funding was the inability to pursue their career of community courts. What they found was that they're certainly was a need to decentralize certain kinds of practice—and that's not every kind of practice, by the way. The ability to operate courtrooms in so many different locations was not economically feasible and they went to a model where they essentially grouped practices in particular areas. Now, to accommodate clientele, to accommodate the people who use our system, we have multiple centers for things like landlord-tenant eviction law [and] we have multiple centers for family law, but if you're talking about practicing probate law, you pretty much have to go [to Downtown Los Angeles]. The notion was that to be properly staffed there had to be more specialization. [Although] some of these things have worked out well, in the process they had to get rid of an enormous amount of skilled people, close a lot of courtrooms, and the courts are just now digging out of five years of underfunding. What are we doing to reopen the Beverly Hills court house? Well, we're always advocating for it and it's open for limited purposes, but it doesn't seem to be very high on the Superior Court's agenda and I can't predict that anything is going to happen with that soon.

Tell us about your family.

My wife Essia Cartoon-Fredman and I have been married since 2003, [it was] the second marriage for both of us. She has two grown children and three grandchildren and I have three grown children and two grandchildren, so we are a modern family, if you will. Sometimes, [we're] referred to as the "Fred Twos." I live in Beverly Hills and my office is one mile from my home, just over the boundary into Century City. My kids all went to Harvard-Westlake and my wife's children went to Agoura High. I really enjoy the services provided by Beverly Hills: I swim twice a week at the Beverly High Swim Gym [through] one of their adult programs. We go to the Beverly Hills Farmers Market very frequently on Sundays.

What is your number one goal as president?

My number one goal is to stabilize and make effective the BHBA, which has recently gone through a number of changes. I would also say that one of the things we are trying very hard to do is reinvigorate all of our community service operations. We run the Roxbury Park [Legal] Clinic, which you have probably heard of, and we also run Team Court in one high school and we'll be bringing it to a second high school. The goal is to implement and stabilize all of the very wonderful functions we've already started and to make it work.

Howard S Fredman will be installed as President of the BHBA at the Annual Installation and Awards Dinner on September 30 at 5:30 pm at the Four Seasons Hotel.

Normans to play at North Torrance Friday night

By Steven Herbert

A short-handed Beverly High team lost at North Torrance, 48-0, in a nonleague football game Friday night, falling victim to what Norman coach Charlie Stansbury called "one of the best high school football players in America."

Saxons quarterback Mique Juarez threw three touchdown passes and ran for two scores. Juarez is 45th on ESPN's list of the nation's top high school seniors and sixth among California seniors.

He has made a non-binding verbal commitment to accept a scholarship offer from USC and is projected to play outside linebacker in college.

"You can have a game plan to slow him down all you want, but the reality is you have to be able to do it and that's the tough part," Stansbury said after his 22nd loss in his 23 games as the Normans coach.

Beverly Hills played without five players who started the previous game, including three who see substantial time on both offense and defense, Stansbury said.

The Normans (0-3) trailed 28-0 at the end of the first quarter and 48-0 at halftime. The second half was played with a running clock.

Despite being held under 10 points for the second time in the season's three games, "there was more than a few bright spots" for the Beverly Hills offense, Stansbury said, citing a "nice catch down the sideline" by Rashad Ysaguirre and Joe Kolko carrying the ball after missing the first two games because of injury.

Ysaguirre also drew praise from Stansbury for his play on defense, as did fellow linebacker Michael Revah.

P.J. Goolsby, a receiver-defensive back,

"played with good effort on both sides of the ball," Stansbury said.

Stansbury had said before the game his goals for his team included "(battling) for all four quarters and put together a complete game."

"We're making strides in both those areas," Stansbury said after the game. "Having consistency in the lineup will contribute a lot to helping those two things."

The score was identical to that of the 2014 game between the two teams.

North Torrance (2-1) was again ranked sixth in the Southern Section Western Division poll released Monday.

The Normans are scheduled to resume play Sept. 25 by playing host to San Marino in a nonleague game.

"We're happy to have a bye this week," Stansbury said. "Having some time off to get back from injuries is definitely going to help us for the next seven weeks."

The team is "in a better position than we've been before," Stansbury said.

"We have guys who understand how to play football more now than in previous years," Stansbury said.

"Our ability to deal with adversity, having to move positions or be on a special team, those things are easier for us because we understand more about the game than we did before."

Boys' Cross Country Laguna Hills Invitational

Jonathan Cohen was third in the Division 3 juniors race Saturday, helping Beverly Hills to a second-place finish in the 12-team field.

Cohen completed the 3-mile course across Laguna Hills High School and the surrounding hills and valleys, in 16 minutes, eight seconds, 10 seconds behind runner-up Salvador Chavez of West Valley. Leif Hellgren of Corona del Mar won in 15:53.

The Normans finished with 83 points. Ocean View won with 75.

Girls' Cross Country Laguna Hills Invitational

Jillian Dveirin posted the fastest time among Beverly Hills runners, completing the 3-mile course in 21:19 to finish 21st in the Division 3 juniors race Saturday.

Dveirin was three seconds behind the 20th-place finisher, Haley Cohen of Corona del Mar. Shannon MacKellar of Esperanza won in 18:15.

The Normans did not have enough finishers to receive a team score.

DEPOSITIONS YIELD CLUES IN PAYSINGER V. HALL LAWSUIT

Three depositions support allegations that Hall retaliated against Paysinger

By Mina Riazi

Three depositions obtained by Beverly Hills Weekly shed new light on the Carter Paysinger lawsuit, indicating that fellow Board of Education members believed Lewis Hall retaliated against Paysinger.

Taken under oath, depositions from Board members Brian Goldberg, Lisa Korbato and Jake Manaster illuminate new facets of the case.

In July 2014, Paysinger filed a lawsuit against Hall and the BHUSD on eight causes of actions, including discrimination and retaliation.

Board President Brian Goldberg indicates that Board Vice President Howard Goldstein and former Board members Steven Fenton and Jake Manaster had all notified him of Hall's displeasure with Paysinger.

"The word on the street was that Lewis was going after Carter

"The most vivid conversations were Steven Fenton, a former colleague of mine on the school Board. [He told me] that, you know, he had heard and he had been told that, you know, Lewis, the only reason that he ran was to get Carter."

—Board of Education President Brian Goldberg, pg. 62 and that he had it out for Carter," Goldberg said (Goldberg, pg 63).

Goldberg mentions having a discussion with Board members about the allegation that Hall had made a threat against Paysinger concerning track coach Jeff Fisher, whose contract was not renewed in 2013.

"[It] was something that we would need to take seriously and discuss in closed session," said Goldberg, who is now actively campaigning for Hall in the November 3rd Board election.

Despite already being represented by district counsel Dennis Walsh, Board member Lisa Korbato was accompanied by her husband Igor during her deposition. She is oftentimes vague and evasive in her responses.

Korbato denies the allegation that she said "[Paysinger does not] look like what a principal of Beverly Hills High School should look like." She also claims to have never made an employment decision based on race, ethnicity, national origin, sexual orientation or political affiliation as a Board member.

"I learned of the accusation on the cover of the Beverly Hills Weekly, a yellow paper rag."
—Board of Education member Lisa Korbato, pg. 184

Korbato mentions that she "fundamentally [does] not think there [had] been any harassment" involving Hall and Paysinger (Korbato, pg 212).

On July 16, 2014—the day the lawsuit was filed—Hall called Korbato's cell phone twice within seven minutes. He made several calls to her house phone that same day and they spoke for 38 minutes around 10 p.m.

Later in the deposition, Korbato calls Beverly Hills Weekly a "yellow paper rag" (Korbato, pg 184). Nevertheless, she claims it was through a Weekly cover story that she learned of Hall's failure to disclose his financial interests on his Form 700.

Around 2011, Hall's daughter was involved in an alleged cheating incident at Beverly High. That same year, Hall launched his Board election campaign.

During his deposition, Manaster states that Hall "made it clear" through his candidacy that he was running due to what he had experienced at the high school in connection with his daughter.

"Mr. Hall [stated to me] that in essence because of what had occurred with his

"[Hall's] colleagues on the Board, acting as a body, were unaware of his actions and were not being informed of his actions except through what I would call 'surprise,' meaning I was surprised. And I don't enjoy being surprised as a trustee of any organization."
—Jake Manaster, pg. 36

daughter and the administration at the high school, and his belief, as stated to me, that Mr. Paysinger was a liar, that he wanted Mr. Paysinger not to be the principal of Beverly Hills High School," Manaster said.

When asked whether Hall had "ever [said] to [him] something to the effect [of] 'I don't trust Carter Paysinger because of where he is from,'" Manaster responded "yes."

Manaster said that Hall's decision to conduct his own investigation of the controversy involving his daughter concerned him. Manaster later stated that "Hall [met] with members of our parent population individually or in a group and [attempted] to mediate the controversy without the rest of his colleagues."

The Board approved a settlement agreement with Paysinger for $685,000 in May.

NOTICE OF DIVIDED PUBLICATION OF THE PROPERTY TAX-DEFAULT LIST
(DELINQUENT LIST)

Made pursuant to Section 3371, Revenue and Taxation Code

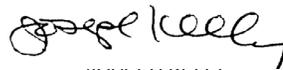

Pursuant to Revenue and Taxation Code Sections 3381 through 3385, the Notice of Power to Sell Tax-Defaulted Property in and for Los Angeles County, State of California, has been divided and distributed to various newspapers of general circulation published in the County. A portion of the list appears in each of such newspapers.

I, Joseph Kelly, County of Los Angeles Tax Collector, State of California, certify that:

Notice is hereby given that the real properties listed below were declared to be in tax default at 12:01 a.m. on July 1, 2013, by operation of law. The declaration of default was due to non-payment of the total amount due for the taxes, assessments, and other charges levied in the 2012-13 Tax Year that were a lien on the listed real property. Non-residential commercial property and property upon which there is a recorded nuisance abatement lien shall be subject to the Tax Collector's power to sell after three years of defaulted taxes. Therefore, if the 2012-13 taxes remain defaulted after June 30, 2016, the property will become subject to the Tax Collector's power to sell and eligible for sale at the County's public auction in 2017. All other property that has defaulted taxes after June 30, 2018, will become subject to the Tax Collector's power to sell and eligible for sale at the County's public auction in 2019. The name of the assessee and the total tax, which was due on June 30, 2013, for the 2012-13 Tax Year, is shown opposite the parcel number. Tax-defaulted real property may be redeemed by payment of all unpaid taxes and assessments, together with the additional penalties and fees as prescribed by law, or it may be paid under an installment plan of redemption if initiated prior to the property becoming subject to the Tax Collector's power to sell.

All information concerning redemption of tax-defaulted property will be furnished, upon request, by Joseph Kelly, Treasurer and Tax Collector at 225 North Hill Street, Los Angeles, California 90012, 1 (888) 807-2111 or 1 (213) 974-2111.

I certify under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed at Los Angeles, California, on August 24, 2015.
