Contemplations on a changing city skyline

We once used to have Rudy Cole, of blessed memory, ensuring that we realize that life did not start with the present. To many who seem to behave as if the sun, the moon and the stars revolve around them, this may come as a surprise. But most people realize there is history, processes and people who shape things up. Regrettably, since Rudy passed away, the historical framework he used to provide in his weekly column is missing, as is the

Join me on a short ride, as I stand at one of the busiest and most dangerous intersections in the city and look around me.

Various development projects materialize, like mushrooms after the rain. I stop to remember what brought us here and ponder: Is this really what we want?

Century City

As I drive through the intersection of Little Santa Monica and Wilshire, I admire the high-rise that continues its attempt to reach the skies.

I remember Jimmy's at the corner, when, while at Beverly, I was loaned a jacket, as I was not properly dressed for the occasion.

I also remember Fox Sports and its twostory building just around the corner.

Now a most imposing tower, a new landmark, and way down below is a high school, my alma mater.

I just hope that the building is built to the strictest standards, maybe on special rollers, for there are faults, near and far, and the tower sits atop the home to some 1.600 students.

The New Waldord

Still at the intersection, I admire the new Waldorf Astoria.

Did we not use to have height limits? Why do we have to have such a structure in Beverly Hills?

I continue my drive on Wilshire, snapping pictures of the cement structure, and I wonder: Robert Zarnegin built the

Sandra Spagnoli named new BHPD Chief

Sandra Spagnoli will take over as chief of the Beverly Hills Police Department March 14, replacing interim Chief Dominick Rivetti, who has held the position since June 2015.

Spagnoli comes to Beverly Hills from the City of San Leandro, where she served as police chief for five years. Prior to that, she was chief of the Benicia Police Department for four years.

"The [Beverly Hills] community and police department have an outstanding reputation and it is an honor to be selected as the next police chief," Spagnoli said in a statement.

The 33-year law enforcement veteran began her career in 1983 as a police explorer with the San Carlos Police Department. In 1990, Spagnoli was hired as a full-time police officer. After a twoyear stint as sergeant, she was promoted to commander in 1998.

As police chief, Spagnoli implemented contemporary public safety initiatives, incorporated grant funding to launch new programs, developed community partnerships, enhanced neighborhood outreach and utilized technology to enhance the delivery of police services.

Located on the eastern shore of the San Francisco Bay, the City of San Leandro has a daytime work population of 55,000.

The racial composition of San Leandro is 37 percent Caucasian, 30.5 percent Asian/Pacific Islander, 27.4 percent Hispanic/Latino and 12.3 percent African American. The median household income is $65,333.

Planning Commission supports five-year time limit for discontinued uses

The Planning Commission pushed forward a draft ordinance at their meeting last week that will set a five-year expiration date for legally non-conforming and conditionally permitted uses once they have been discontinued.

"The goal is to balance several things: limiting impacts to neighborhoods when uses are reestablished after a long period of time, attracting and retaining businesses in commercial areas, assuring properties can be leased and meeting the goals and policies of the General Plan," said Associate Planner Timothea Tway.

Examples of non-conforming uses in the city's commercial areas include minishopping centers established before the Conditional Use Permit (CUP) requirement and veterinary clinics.

Conditionally permitted uses, such as convenience stores and drive-through facilities, require review and approval by the Planning Commission. City staff members tallied approximately 101 properties with commercial CUPs that were granted between 1969 and 2015.

Last October, the Commission considered implementing a two-year time limit, but the proposal did not receive widespread support. Commission Chair Alan Robert Block had pointed out that an incident like a fire could take a business 'more than two years to resolve.'

Property owners can essentially "stop" the five-year clock by applying for planning entitlements or building permits.

Under the city's current zoning code regulations, non-conforming and conditionally permitted uses can continue with no further review, even if the property has been left vacant for a long stretch of time.

Unlike Beverly Hills, most neighboring cities impose time limits. In the City of Santa Monica, the maximum amount of time a property can remain vacant before its conditionally permitted use status expires is six months.

The cities of West Hollywood, Culver City, Pasadena and Malibu also enforce time limits.

Residential and medical uses will not be impacted by the ordinance.

Council approves $600K dog park package

Last week, Community Services Assistant Director Nancy Hunt-Coffey updated the Recreation and Parks Commission on the industrial area's highly anticipated off-leash dog park.

'The questions that are outstanding right now, and we will have answers to over the next couple of days, are really related to the base of the dog park," Hunt-Coffey said.

Hunt-Coffey outlined possible methods of remediating the arsenic-laced soil. A viable yet expensive approach involves stripping away the asphalt cap, removing 12 inches of contaminated soil, adding six inches of clean fill, installing a mesh barrier, adding another six inches of clean fill and topping it off with decomposed granite.

"That, as you know, is a very expensive proposition," Hunt-Coffey said.

At Tuesday's City Council meeting, Councilmember Nancy Krasne advocating for removing around three feet of soil.

"I'm not happy with one foot, but I will move forward with one foot if you put the mesh down one foot," Krasne said.

A small tree that currently exists on the site may not survive the construction process, Hunt-Coffey said. Parks and Urban Forest Manager Ken Pfalzgraf confirmed that the condition of the tree is "marginal."

Speaking from the audience, Tina Sinatra said she plans on donating a tree to the park.

The drainage of the site is another issue that remains unresolved.

"What it depends on is whether the walls have to retain any soil or not to provide proper drainage for the site," Hunt-Coffey said. "If they do have to retain soil, then we have to replace the walls with something-it may just be a small retaining wall, two-to-three feet tall with some chain link on top. But if we can save the walls, we will."

Waste-contaminated storm water must be collected and treated before being sent to the storm drain. In order to properly slope the site for this process to occur, additional soil needs to be imported and contoured; catch basins, lined with appropriate filters, need to be added.

Peninsula to code. His hotel is a jewel, and apparently manages to survive and flourish with only three stories above ground.

Is there no limit to greed? And why are we changing the landscape of the city for all generations to suffer?

Zarnegin should be allowed to add eight more stories to his hotel - if for one, then for all. And yet, he continues to be part and parcel of the Beverly Hills community - with meager three stories and one of the better hotels in the world. (Immediately coming to mind the annual Chinese New Year celebration.)

There is also the issue of "fairness." Some of us may still remember a certain referendum and the immense effort that preceded it. [Some may also remember a sour loser who proceeded to sue afterwards, although I never read in the local papers what may have come out of this litigation. One may want to follow Mark Egerman's philosophy: "when you win, be kind to your opponents." The high road was definitely not pursued here.]

Were we not promised - as an incentive and a sign of good faith and benefit for the community - an expansion of Wilshire, an additional lane of traffic that the Hilton will concede?

I also remember on the renditions and the advertisements a park with trees and vegetation, something nice and inviting.

Clearly, these may still happen (the extra lane and the landscaping). Possibly "truth in incentivizing" will prevail, rather than an attitude: "we won the referendum, why bother?!"

I trust Beny Alagem to come true to his word, promises made in the past when it was beneficial to make them. They certainly were not forgotten.

9900 Wilshire

(aka "One Beverly Hills")

My eyes wander toward the County Club, where once Robinson's May used to be. I remember all the weekends with specials, the endless hours at the store. I look around the house, so many things are from there.

The current owners now want to change the entitlements from super-expensive condos to condos and a hotel. Excellent! The "old timers" (Zarnegin, Alagem), really would welcome more competition, or maybe they do not care?

The Snider Project too (Crescent Driver) received two extra floors and immense additional density, in response to the argument that the "City was lacking super-expensive rental apartments." It was a clear economic benefit with nothing back to the community (like two units set aside for city employees, such the Chief of Police, City Attorney, City Manager, etc.).

Snider has since sold his project, and the apartments were converted to hotelstyle rentals (supposedly for one month minimum, but this needs to be verified and enforced).

Half a block away, the Montage received two extra floors of super-expensive condominiums. The rationale there was "the hotel construction would not be economically vital without the extra condos." Did anyone put in a special clause that if the hotel outperforms all expectations and the condos exceed a certain benchmark, the City gets compensation - according to some formula - for the extra height and density? [To those who hope this may be the case, it is not. But the hotel and condo elements do fantastically well.]

There seems to be a prevailing norm: get a special privilege, build, then ask for what you wanted in the first place and expect to get it.

This is what happened on Maple Drive (had it not been for Tom Levyn's lastminute recusal, we would have had a medical facility there).

And at Robertson and Wilshire - build an office building, demand to convert it to medical, sue the City then settle favorably.

And now with the most expensive property (sold for $150m, then for $500m, then went bankrupt and now resurrected). Just continue flipping the property, why bother developing it at all?

Why is the request to allow hotel or hotel-style stay at "One Beverly Hills" even being considered by our elected officials?

Bed-tax is crucial for the well-being of the City, but so is some basic sense of integrity and fairness. Else, why even bother with codes and limits? Everyone does whatever one wishes - the more outrageous, the better - the lawyers (mostly ex-commissioners and former mayors) make a bundle, the sky is the limit (in terms of what developers wish and then force the City to approve or accept) and the City loses its character.

Beverly Hills has always been an oasis, an escape, a different and unique city among all the many dozens of cities that make the fabric of Greater Los Angeles. Is it not incumbent upon us to protect what makes Beverly Hills unique, rather than so easily sell it short forever?

The site is bordered by cinderblock walls on the north, west and south sides and a chain-link fence on the east side. According to the staff report, a study of the walls revealed they are not thoroughly reinforced with concrete and show signs of wear.

The Council later approved a "base option" priced at $600,000. Currently, there is $400,000 budgeted in Fund 160, a fund reserved for expenditures related only to Recreation and Park capital projects.

As a result of the Council's backing, city staff members will begin the bidding process. The park is expected to open this summer.

Council authorizes $1M deposit agreement with Townscape Partners

At Tuesday's meeting, the City Council authorized a $1-million deposit agreement with Angelo Gordon Real Estate, initiating a public review process for a project fronted by real estate developer Townscape Partners and architecture firm Gehry Partners.

The mixed-use development would take over 6.5 acres of city property and 0.5 acres of private property along Foothill Road.

The $1-million agreement covers the price of appraisals, land-use planning studies, economic and financial studies and public notice costs.

Initially, the costs will be capped at $150,000. If the city anticipates a need to increase expenditures, the developer will be given the option of wrapping up the process and being refunded the unexpended balance of the deposit or increasing the cap by $100,000 and continuing the review process.

The concept for the project is a mixeduse development on city-owned property in the Entertainment Business District, bounded by Foothill Road, Maple Drive, Alden Drive and the alley north of Burton Way. The developers have called for a Request for Proposals (RFP) process to select a ground-lease development tenant.

City councilmembers were presented with the project proposal at their February 2nd study session.

But Vice Mayor John Mirisch later called up the Commission's decision.

"Before any CUP [conditional use permit] is granted, I feel that there needs to be made clear what the penalties will be if the CUP conditions are violated," Mirisch said.

Under a CUP authorized by the Planning Commission in 2013, Infiniti has been using the property located at 9031 Olympic Boulevard as a vehicle servicing facility.

The car dealership occupies two other plots along the major thoroughfare: 9000 Olympic, which functions as a car-wash facility, and 9001 Olympic.

Infiniti has 17 years left on a 20-year lease.

Late last year, a group of southeast residents filed numerous declarations under penalty of perjury against the dealership following several violations, from speeding cars to noise disturbances to allegations of harassment by Infiniti employees.

"This City Council came to the realization that Lexus can well take their showroom and their tax money and leave Beverly Hills—we don't want to see that happen, but it can be used as a bargaining, lobbying chip," said Southeast Task Force member Susan Mishler.

expressed concern over the possibility that Lexus may one day take its sales facility out of Beverly Hills. Intent on fine tuning the resolution, the Council agreed to table the decision to their second meeting in April, much to the chagrin of attorney and former Mayor Tom

BHHS edged by Diamond Ranch in semifinal playoff game Norman boys' tennis team defeats Loyola to open season

By Steven Herbert

Beverly High senior guard Denzel Holt's attempted game-tying 3-point shot just before time expired was blocked by Diamond Ranch's 7-foot-1-inch center Roman Silva in a 48-45 loss in a Southern Section Division 3A boys' basketball semifinal at Diamond Ranch Friday night.

Holt had "a pretty good look at the basket," Norman coach Jarvis Turner said.

"We over-penetrated a little bit," Turner said. "That allowed the big guy to kind of contest the shot."

With Beverly Hills trailing 46-45, Silva altered a layup by junior forward Ron Artest III on its preceding possession and the rebound went out of bounds off Artest.

Senior guard Tyler Mclean made two free throws to give the Panthers a 48-45 lead.

The Normans (21-9) never led, trailing 12-8 at the end of the first quarter, 26-24 at halftime and 40-34 entering the fourth quarter.

Beverly Hills tied the score, 44-44 on Artest's 3-point play with two minutes, one second left.

Turner said he was "a little disappointed" in how his team played.

"Guys were excited and they were prepared, but we didn't get enough from guys who helped us out through the course of the year," Turner said.

Poor shooting was one factor in the loss, Turner said. The Normans made 12 of 45 2-point shots, 26.7 percent, and three of 14 3-point shots, 21.4 percent, according to statistics provided by the team.

"Guys who have made shots consistently for us through the course of the year weren't able to do that," Turner said.

Beverly Hills senior guard Maddox Daniels missed all six of his 3-point shots and both of his 2-point shots. His twin brother Mason Daniels missed all five of his 2-point shots. Artest made five of 20 2-point shots.

"We had great looks all game, wide-open looks, looks that we normally would knock down, but at the end of the day, we didn't make shots," Turner said.

Another "big difference" was the Normans taking two free throws in the first half to 16 for Diamond Ranch (23-8).

"I don't want to put any blame on the officials," Turner said. "I thought the game was pretty evenly called.

"The fact that they got that many opportunities in the first half and we didn't ... kept enough separation in the game to where they never lacked confidence or disbelief in winning the game."

Holt had a game-high 21 points, making five of 11 2-point shots, eight of nine free throws and a 3-point basket. Artest added 13, Matt Reskin six on two 3-point baskets, Fidel Quiralte and Max Walder two each, and Maddox Daniels one for Beverly Hills. Silva had 19 points, 19 rebounds and 10

"What hurt us is ... our big guys having to do a good job of helping (on defense) which led to him getting either offensive rebounds or easy dish off," Turner said. "We gave him a lot more easy looks than he probably earned on his own."

Senior guard Ryan Haywood added 16 points, making four 3-point baskets for the Panthers, who were ranked second in the final Division 3A poll, one spot ahead of the Normans. The poll did not include the division's two teams that were selected to play in the Open Division, Crespi and Inglewood.

Council expected to hash out unfunded liabilities

The City Council was scheduled to deliberate possible ways of reducing unfunded pension liabilities, which remain significant, at Tuesday's study session.

In 2010, non-safety workers were given the option of switching to a new contribution plan under the city's Alternative Retiree Medical Program (ARMP). The policy issued bonded debt to pay those employees who chose to switch.

Under the plan, monthly contributions are made to an employee's Retirement Health Savings (RHS) account, limiting the city's liability for increases in medical costs for newer employees and ARMP employees going forward.

Despite these efforts, the city continues to retain significant liabilities.

The total unfunded liability dropped from $212 million in 2012 to $184 million in 2014, largely due to two good earnings years in 2013 and 2014.

But the final numbers are still high: the city has accrued a total of $239 million in OPEB and pension unfunded liabilities.

In the staff report, Chief Financial Officer Don Rhoads outlines three routes the city could take in order to scale back the numbers.

Under option one, the city would only make the required payments each year; option two requires the city to make payments in addition to the required amount; and option three involves a Section 115 Trust, which would function as a vehicle for holding existing funds set aside for unfunded liabilities.

If the Council agrees on a Section 115 Trust, funds transferred into the trust for pension unfunded liabilities could be invested at a higher earnings rate than is currently possible in a city fund.

Though funding a Section 115 Trust would lower unfunded liabilities, it would not reduce pension rates.

coverstory MASTER PLANNER

Newly hired BHUSD Chief Facilities Officer Eitan Aharoni on rebuilding the schools

By Mina Riazi

It's almost been two months since you took over as BHUSD Chief Facilities Officer. How is it going?

This is the most exciting district I've ever worked with and I think the time is perfect to develop our master plans, which were very well done, and work with the organization here that I find to be a wonderful combination of people. It's important that reasonable, logical master plans are prepared in advance for the entire district, and that was done. I reviewed those plans even before I accepted the position and I found them to be logical and flexible enough so that the next level, which is the execution level, can adapt the plan to the funding and to the sequence of construction. I still can't get over how receptive and open the district leadership is.

You formerly served as Director of Facilities, Planning, Design & Construction for the Kern Community College District, which enrolls around 30,000 students. What's the most significant difference you've noted so far?

In terms of planning and execution, there is no difference in the approach because you have the same needs: What is the existing condition of our buildings? What are the facilities that need immediate attention? How much funding is still available? How can we logistically organize the future process so that we can match the availability of funding with the priority of the projects?

On one hand, you can have fixed funding, such as bonds, with or without state matching; but on the other hand, you have opportunities for funding from different sources. So every time you have a change in funding, whether you add or subtract, you have to adjust your sequence, and that's not an easy task. But when you have a really good logistical plan you can adapt to it at a minute's notice.

Some of the other districts I worked with were heavily dependent on state funding, which typically is addressed by the state every two years. So in order to plan for the next 15 or 20 years, you have to look at the optimal situation where other funds are injected.

The approach to developing this execution plan is the same for all of the districts. What's important is how we address the day-to-day activities. In order to deal with that, you need a really good protocol of communication between the different people, and you need transparency, which depends on a system's approach. The system can rely on programs, but it mostly relies on the people you're dealing with.

Ι personally met with each one of the principals the first couple of weeks that I was on board and I learned what their needs are. I've been attending some of the PTA and community meetings to find out what their needs are and how we can include them in the process. We currently have good lines of communication-we just need to perfect them and organize them a little better so that the stream of information is available to people anytime. The nice thing is that we have a lot of very good people whose sole interest is to succeed and provide our students and our staff with the means to develop the structures to support the educational goals for our district.

After inspecting the KL Peters auditorium with a structural engineer earlier this year, you concluded that the building requires "seismic reinforcement." Elaborate on that.

It wasn't really my conclusion-the conclusion had occurred well before me. It's not unusual for many buildings that were built 10 or 20 or 30 years ago to not comply with current seismic requirements. Every three years the building codes are updated and special consideration is given to safety-as we all know-so a lot of buildings are automatically grandfathered. When it comes to the school district, recently there has been an effort to identify the buildings that are in the worst condition. For buildings with a certain type of structure, and especially for buildings that may occupy a large number of people, such as an auditorium, there are relatively new rules. The state basically [tells] the school districts that if they are willing and able to upgrade the specific structures to the next level of safety, then we the state can contribute matching funds to cover the cost of upgrading those structures. Our district has been very attune to planning for these funds. The team before me had applied for funds for 14 of our structures, and all of these are still in process and we have a good opportunity to get funding as we go through multiple steps required by the application process, which is quite rigorous. We're in good shape to receive funds, but at the same time, we're competing with other jurisdictions for those funds.

Rodeo and Hawthorne auditoriums can be reopened?

The target move-in date we gave the Board for buildings B1, B2, and B3 [auditorium] at Beverly High was July 2018. For Hawthorne, the earlier plan was to modernize the entire Building A, which includes the classrooms wings and the auditorium, with a completion date of July 2018. However, at the latest study session, the Board considered reconstructing the auditorium first. This will allow us to occupy the auditorium sooner. The target date for this option is under study, but will definitely be earlier than July 2018. At El Rodeo, abatement of buildings A [auditorium], B, C, and D starts this summer. We predict DSA approvals to catch up in December. Construction will happen over a two-year period and occupancy is expected to take place in December 2018.

The Board of Education approved renovation plans for buildings B1, B2 and B3 at Beverly High last week. Tell us about that.

As I mentioned earlier, you have to adjust your construction priorities with the funding point. At this point, we're in a good position to reassess the cost estimates for what was Phase One, because, by now, we have a lot more drawings. In the beginning, you fit in some budget numbers for the construction based on general information you have. As you go through the design process, at each stage, we reviewed the drawings and we're in a better position to estimate based on the actual quantities. At this point, we're in a perfect position to evaluate how much money we have in Phase One relative to the optimal sequence of construction projects, and at the same time, [ensure we have] a fair amount of reserves for unanticipated situations. We've confirmed building B4 for Phase Two.

If the new bond is approved this November, then we already have the overall plan to interface our Phase One with Phase Two seamlessly and without interruption. So we're basically working in a parallel [fashion] with two tracks: one track for Phase One, assuming we didn't have the [new] bond, and one track for Phase One and Two, if we get a bond.

In the event voters don't approve a new bond, won't we have a partially completed high school?

Yes, and for some reason, people are so concerned about this. What I like people to understand is that our buildings are old, and if we don't finish Phase Two, the buildings are not going to fix themselves. They're going to continue deteriorating, and at some point, the community is going to approve When's the earliest the Beverly High, El Phase Two. I'm not doing this because I have a special interest one way or another; all I'm saying is that we have a responsibility as a community to fix our buildings because they were left neglected all these years. If a new bond doesn't pass, things are going to get much worse. At least we now have the Master Plan [in place], which is sitting and waiting for the funding. We don't have to go back and reinvent the wheel. Our team here-which includes the district leadership, the principals, the community as a whole and our construction management team— are all in sync and ready to implement Phase Two whenever the city as a whole is prepared to support that.

Tell us about your family.

I was born in Israel and my family immigrated to the United States many years ago. I served as a soldier in the Israeli military after finishing high school. My parents and my brother and sister immigrated to the United States, but I had to stay in Israel another year to finish my military service. I then joined my family here and attended UC Berkeley for my architectural degree.

"Our team here—which includes the district leadership, the principals, the community as a whole and our construction management team — are all in sync and ready to implement Phase Two whenever the city as a whole is prepared to support that."

Since then, I have acquired my architecture license and general contractor license. Most of my career has been in design and build. I spent the last 15 years or so strictly with school districts in a similar capacity that I have here. Working for the [BHUSD] is such a pleasure and a wonderful experience. I've been working very closely with [Superintendent Steve] Kessler, and he is a jewel of a person.

My wife Nesta and I still live in Bakersfield, but we're making preparations for our move here. Nesta is a publisher. Our first son Ilan is a physician who is specialized in gastroenterology; he has a very prominent position with Florida Hospital in Orlando. He's married and we have three grandkids.

Our second son Eyal is a PhD and a brain scientist. He is now a professor at a special program at Georgia State University in Atlanta. He was married just a year ago. His research on the brain was cited by a Florida Supreme Court case.

Our third and youngest one, Galia, is a young attorney based in Oakland, California. She completed her legal education at Tulane University in New Orleans and passed the bar exam in both California and Louisiana.

What is your top priority as Chief Facilities Officer?

My top priority is to be instrumental in accomplishing what this district and the Board of Education want to see happen, and I want us to have fun while we do it. There's no reason why we cannot accomplish that and enjoy every day while we are working hard at it.

You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, vou should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Ruxandra Costescu in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court. THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an inter-ested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the Califor-nia Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250.
