"Metro Battle Heats Up as Student Activists Plan District-wide Walkout" [Issue 992]

I fully support those student activists in their planned walkout on Friday.

This entire fiasco with Metro has been centered around the safety of our students.

Millions of dollars have been spent on legal fees in trying to block the subway tunnel from going under Beverly High to no avail.

So maybe the best and most important voices to be heard are the students themselves. They know and understand the dangers of this construction project and that they are in the bull's-eye if anything goes wrong.

Our students—our future.

They are the leaders of tomorrow who are acting today so that they can have a safe environment to learn in for themselves and for all those to come. George Vreeland Hill Beverly Hills

Campaign Reports Reveal Contributions, Expenditures in Board of Education Race

Board of Education candidate Rachelle Marcus has a sizable lead in campaign contributions, having raised more than $15,000, according to campaign finance documents released to the Weekly last Thursday. She is followed by fellow candidates Tristen Walker-Shuman and Marvin Winans Jr.

The new documents, which include contributions made between January 1 and Sept. 22, show Marcus has received $15,641 in total contributions this year.

She received several sizable contributions, from $500 to $2,000, many of which came from current and past Beverly Hills elected officials who have known her as both a teacher and community member throughout her more than 50 years in the district. These include a $500 donation from City Councilmember Lili Bosse, another $500 donation from former Board of Education member Myra Lurie and a $300 donation from current Board member Mel Spitz. Jennifer Wooster contributed the most sizable donation to the Marcus campaign in the amount of $2,000.

Marcus' total expenditures to date come in at just over $9,000, according to the documents. These funds were put toward campaign paraphernalia such as shirts or buttons, professional services and advertisements. Approximately $2,498 was paid to the Beverly Hills Courier for print and digital advertisements.

Walker, who co-chaired the Measure BH campaign and served on the Future Focused Schools team, comes in directly behind Marcus with a total of $11,045 in contributions. Walker's donations range from $100 to $5,000. Among those who donated to her campaign are former Beverly Hills Mayor Barry Brucker, who donated $500, her Measure BH campaign co-chair Lee Egerman, who donated $500, and her father-in-law Alan Shuman, who donated $5,000.

Walker's campaign has spent just under $4,000 on literature and mailings, information technology costs and on campaign paraphernalia such as signs or shirts. $400 was put toward an advertisement in Beverly Hills Weekly.

Donations for Winans, who worked with Walker on the Future Focused Schools Team and is the co-president of the Beverly Vista PTA, are a mix of small and large donations, ranging from $18 to $750. To date, Winans has raised $7,545.

Igor Korbatov, husband of Board of Education president Lisa Korbatov, contributed $750 to the Winans campaign. Other contributions include $100 from Recreation & Parks Commissioner Frances Bilak, $250 from former Board of Education president Brian Goldberg and $500 from former Beverly Hills Mayor Robert K. Tanenbaum.

Winans has spent approximately just over $5,000 on slate mailers, campaign kick-off supplies and other campaign notification charges with $1,125 in accrued expenses for digital ads purchased from the Beverly Hills Courier, the documents show

Board of Education Candidates Talk Metro. Reconfiguration and Salary Negotiations at Campaign Debate

about their qualifications and potential solutions for some of the school district's most pressing challenges on October 3 in what was the first-ever collective question and answer session for the group.

Hosted by members of the teen chapter of the Beverly Hills Education Foundation (BHEF) and Beverly High's Interact club, questions covered a range of topics including the Metropolitan Transportation Authority's Purple Line Extension project, the candidate's views on middle school reconfiguration, salary negotiations and preventing future conflicts between the Board and the Beverly Hills enough that you can avoid situations like we've been in this year.'

Marcus also stressed the importance of relationships in her answer, though was the only candidate to share how she planned to foster those relationships--by being present in the schools, as she has been throughout her career.

'School Board members need to visit the schools while they're on the Board. I will do that. I will be present in the schools asking teachers what their needs are. I think that keeping that relationship healthy means helping them when you can, listening, spending time in the schools and making sure they know you know what they need from you as teachers," Marcus said.

Three questions were dedicated to Section 2 of MTA's Purple Line Extension project. Students asked how candidates would ensure the safety of students throughout the project, how they would make sure students had access to objective facts related to the subway, what their views were in relation to the upcoming school walkout and where they would suggest moving students in the event that the high school needed to be closed sometime during the seven years of construction.

"To me, something that is pretty clear is that a tunnel shouldn't be dug under a high school. It's the only high school we have in our district, so it just doesn't make sense to me," Winans, who openly voiced his opposition to Metro at Tuesday's nights City Council meeting, said. "When I heard about how Metro responded to potentially hitting the oil well, when they said they'd cross that bridge if they came to it, I said, 'Well, that's a bridge we don't want to cross.' We still have an opportunity to get together and make sure they go back down the Santa Monica Route."

Marcus expressed a similar sentiment and praised students for taking up the cause against the MTA alignment.

"I really applaud what the students are doing. I hope they are able to do what the lawyers and money they've spent weren't able to do by bringing it to the attention of the nation that these kids and our school will be affected by noise and illness," she said. "My greatest hope is that it will happen and they're able to move the tunnel. I don't know what the plan could be if they don't but I do know we have to monitor carefully to make sure out students are safe and won't be affected by this."

Walker-Shuman's answer focused more directly on what to do if the alignment was not switched, though she, like the other candidates, did not have a specific answer on where to move students in the event that they were displaced.

"We need to run parallel paths, so we need to do the best we can to make sure they're not under the school. At the same time, we need to start preparing for ways to protect our kids assuming that it's coming. We don't have the luxury of waiting to see what happens," she said. "I think we should be preparing for what might change if we can't get the route switched. If that means moving the trailers, which we know will take 18 months to do, we need to get started on that now. We also need to look at where to put students if we need to move them off campus for whatever reason."

Middle school reconfiguration, which has been a topic of much debate in Beverly Hills over the last several years, was the other hot topic of the evening. Both Marcus and Walker-Shuman said they would support reconfiguration while Winans, who voted against a dedicated middle school during his time on the Future Focused Schools Team, said he still felt more information was needed to make an informed decision on the subject.

"Let me use an analogy. If you asked me, 'Marvin, do you recommend that I build a house,' I'd ask you questions about where you wanted to build it, how much it would cost, where you would get the funding. If you couldn't give me the answers to those questions or show me a plan, I wouldn't tell you to build the house," Winans said. "That's how I feel about reconfiguration. We went through the pros and cons with Future Focused, and there were pros we would get excited about but because never saw, for example, how many electives we would actually offer or how it would effect cost-savings, I didn't think it was prudent to recommend that to the Board. I think we should consider it and keep working, but right now we should focus on bettering the middle grades in the ways we can to make sure they get the best education possible."

Commission Votes Against Resident Petitions to Modify Parking on South Canon

The Beverly Hills Traffic and Parking Commission voted against modifying Preferential Parking Permit (PPP) regulations on the 200 and 300 blocks of South Canon Drive on October 4 after being presented with two resident-initiated petitions requesting the change.

This decision to vote against the residents' request, which comes as the commission has sworn to consolidate Preferential Parking Zones in the City in order to simplify parking enforcement, was approved 3-1. Vice Chair Jay Solnit was the lone dissenting vote.

Commission Chair Nooshin Meshkaty said that her vote against the requested changes was not made necessary because she opposed them, but because of confusion related to what residents were actually seeking when they filed their petitions.

The "confusion," as Meshkaty referred to it. was first brought light to when Commissioner David Seidel questioned whether or not the request was for rezoning the blocks or whether it was for changing the onstreet regulations.

"If we leave it as 'Q' it would still be an open 'Q' so if a 'Q' permit was hanging on a car, it would be more of an enforcement issue. It'd be hard to track it back to the residents it's registered to," Transportation Planner Martha Eros said.

"So, it seems like from an enforcement point of view we should consider re-lettering it," Seidel said. "I just want to make sure you all have the ability to manage this regardless of how we move here today."

Hosted Phone Systems

For Small and Enterprise Class Businesses

Redistricting wasn't, however, in the staff report or the mailed notice to residents in the area, nor was it on the agenda for the meeting. It was also not part of the original petitions as submitted. The original request only asked that a regulation change be made eliminating parking on the blocks for anyone without a Permit ·O'

In a joint letter written by Jim and Keri Moret on behalf of the 200 block residents, the couple stated that the goal of the petition was to ensure that people working in the area around South Canon did not illegally use permits to park on the street without living in the 'Q' zoning area.

"The width of the street is such that it cannot accommodate the flow of north and south traffic simultaneously when the street is congested with parked cars, as is often the case," Jim and Keri Moret wrote in a joint letter to the commission on behalf of the 200 block residents. "We believe that a number of people currently using the designated Q zone permits and leaving their cars all day do not live on Canon Drive, but live in the area covered by Q and/or are using our street as extended parking for shopping or working on Beverly Drive."

That problem would not be fixed by simple regulation changes, however. Any individual working in a local business that had somehow obtained a 'Q' permit would still be able to park on the street for extended periods of time. It is not clear if the petitioning residents were aware of this, and Chair Mashkaty said that confusion made it difficult for her to vote.

"I'm not very comfortable voting on this at this time because of all the changes going on with petition itself, the confusion over which zone it might be in, everything," Meshkaty said.

Other residents also took issue with the potential zoning change, as residents weren't notified that such a 1115 Calle Vista Drive, current change could occur.

"The mailed notice said it would be the same designation, but what I'm hearing now is a request for a zone designation change,' Mark Elliot, who resides on Reeves Drive and whose home parking is included in the 'Q' zoning area, said. "There's a difference petuous for a zone change is that they don't want multi-family units parking on their block. That was not in the mailed notice."

"My concern is that I live on a multi-family block with lots of multi-family neighbors who don't have access to parking and who already suffer parking impacts from people outside of the neighborhood who need the overflow on Canon because of street cleaning," Elliot continued. "I'm concerned that if we change this, these folks will say they own the curb and won't let us park there either.'

Scott Patterson, who also resides on Reeves, said he too was concerned about the limited parking already available for the multi-family units zoned under 'Q.'

"The biggest concern I have is that two days a week we have street sweeping and have to give up 50 percent of our parking for three hours," Patterson said. "We are the only block in Beverly Hills south of Beverly Drive that offers two hour parking. If you go west to Rodeo and that area, they have permits and provide zero parking. Reeves is the busiest residential street in the City," he said. "It's a residential street, and we already have less parking than we have tenants."

Commissioner Seidel made the motion to deny the petitioner's request.

"If anyone thinks we read the packet and come in here knowing what we're going to do, that's not correct. We are very responsive to the input we get from staff reports and the community. We try to understand and think holistically," he said. "With that in mind, I'd make a motion to deny the request."

electioneditorial OUR ELECTION ENDORSEMENTS

Marcus • Walker-Shuman • No On Prop 10

This year's Board of Education race Friday's "walkout", also misguided, wasn't that exciting, but its results could have long-term implications for the future of the district.

The two most qualified candidates are Rachelle Marcus and Tristen Walker-Shuman. Once elected, they will have their work cut out for them.

The state of affairs in the BHUSD are at an all-time low, largely due to the machinations, shenanigans, and failed decisions of the one person who has controlled the board majority for the last seven of nine years-Board President Lisa Korbatov.

The repeated failures of the Korbatov administration have been covered extensively in this newspaper. Her ethical transgressions are numerous, such as when we caught her voting twice in 2015 (see Issue #839, available on bhweekly.com). A district attorney's office staff member told us the only reason Lisa wasn't prosecuted for this felony was that the voting records had been destroyed by the time the story came to light

Lisa's felony behavior should have led to her resignation right then and there. But politics, as in life, is not always predictable

Lisa has been in control of the Board for the last seven years (first with the votes of Lewis Hall and Brian Goldberg. and later with the votes, inexplicably, of Howard Goldstein and Noah Margo, both of whom used to vote against her in their earlier days on the board).

Lisa's lies, her rumormongering, her driving away top administrators and faculty who would not govern as she pleased, have all contributed to the district's long and steady decline. Every year, enrollment drops lower and lower, while she remains fixated on her expensive (and losing) effort to "get Metro".

Lisa's current attempt to permanently shut down the high school is not only foolish, it is not grounded in reality.

Lisa wisely close not to run for re-election this year, in part because she knew she would be tarred and feathered if she tried to run again. Her attempts (along with Board member Howard Goldstein) to fire Superintendent Mi-much ado about nothing.

might generate some media interest, but the subway alignment is not going to change. Students are not suddenly going to get cancer from a subway. This is chael Bregy failed, along with everything else that she tried. Her record speaks for itself: it's a disaster.

We have eight reasonable suggestions for the new board to pursue. If they do any of the following, it's a sign we are finally moving in a new direction:

1. MAKE ISABEL HACKER BOARD PRESIDENT

Howard Goldstein masterminded a powerplay which skipped over Board member Isabel Hacker for Vice President last year at this time. Hacker was the top vote getter in the 2015 election, way above board member Noah Margo, who placed third. But the board majority skipped over Hacker despite her rightful place in line. The new board can right this obvious snub by voting Hacker in as board president.

2. FIRE TERRY TAO

Tao is allegedly the district's "attorney" on Metro and other issues, yet he acts like he is Korbatov's personal attorney, parroting back anything she says in a most sycophantic way. Tao has, among other things, tried to argue with a straight face that the board should build a multi-million dollar parking garage in the front of the high school, in an attempt to "clip" the Metro tunnel (100 feet down). Besides being ridiculous, even the district's own construction manager has argued this is impossible. We all know Tao and his law firm have an incentive to keep the Metro case going as long as they possibly can. They will do so, unless or until they are stopped by the his inability to tell the truth warrant the new board to terminate his contract.

3. FOCUS ON ACADEMICS, WITH MARCUS LEADING THE WAY.

Rachelle Marcus is a veteran educator with over 55 years of teaching experience in the BHUSD. Lisa Korbatov has never taught a class, ever. Our recent test scores show it. Who is more qualified to lead the BHUSD back to academic excellence?

4. BOOST RESIDENT ENROLL-MENT BY FOCUSING ON ACA-DEMICS RATHER THAN SUING PEOPLE AND LOSING

Beverly Hills Weekly has sounded the alarm for some time that resident enrollment in our schools is falling to a dangerous low. Imagine if the board spent half the time they spend with "Chicken Little" arguments blasting Metro, and instead focused on boosting resident enrollment? We might actually see enrollment over 4000 students again!

5. COMPLETE THE DISTRICT'S HORRI-BLY BUNGLED AND OVERLY AMBITIOUS CONSTRUCTION PLAN

We opposed the last two school bonds (November 2016, June 2018) for one simple reason: we had no confidence in this school board to complete Tristen Walker-Shuman any projects on-time and on-budget. In 2015, the board majority at the time (Korbatov, Goldberg, Hall) closed three school auditoriums for purely political reasons (see our cover story on their nonsensical arguments that the auditoriums were "unsafe" in issue #823, also available on bhweekly.com). Sadly, these auditoriums are still closed four years later, with no opening date in sight. This has decimated the once-renowned Performing Arts program, and also made it very difficult to hold a school-wide assembly. The new board should complete any existing projects before they embark on any new ones. The board has bitten off more than they can chew, which is evident in their existing projects being over-budget and late. The front of our once postcard-like high school is boarded up and fenced. Today it looks more like a housing project in urban Detroit than what was once the top high school in Southern California.

new board. Tao's ethical problems, and 6. REMOVE THAT RIDICULOUS CHAIN LINK FENCE IN THE FRONT OF THE HIGH SCHOOL

School officials went way too far with that penitentiary-inspired chain link fence in the front of the high school, which isn't making anyone safer. The school can be made more safe without a fence, such as installing exit-only doors in front, security cameras, and so forth. Hey Terry Tao, how are you going to build your multi-million dollar parking garage to "clip" the metro tunnel (see #2) with that ridiculous fence in front?

7. ENACT A TWO YEAR PLAN TO PHASE-IN A DEDICATED 6-8 MID-DLE SCHOOL.

What a surprise, Korbatov is on the wrong side of reconfiguration. Luckily, there appear to be three or more votes on the next board to do what the board should have done ten years ago when the permits started to be phased out: create a dedicated 6-8 middle school on one of middle school can offer.

It takes the new board to enact the leadership

to make it happen once

No California school district of our size (approximately 3800 students, and dropping fast) spends $2 to $3 million in legal fees per year, as we have done since Korbatov has led the board. It is insanity. And it needs to stop.

We will address the highly flawed Beverly Hills Rent Stabilization Ordinance in a future issue, since the Council plans to amend it in two meetings to be held this month. But suffice is it to say we don't think cities should be tampering with radical rent control, or experimenting with vacancy controls, and the like. Accordingly, we recommend a NO vote on Proposition 10.

Beverly Hills Weekly recommends a vote for Rachelle Marcus and Tristen Walker-Shuman, and a NO vote on Proposition 10.

allow its cumulative floor area, including its basement, to exceed 15,000 square feet violated the ordinance. The commission disagreed, stating in Section 5 of its decision that "the intent of the Municipal Code is not to prevent properties with legally nonconforming structures as to maximum allowable floor area from seeking a Hillside R-1 Permit for approval of a structure in excess of 15,000 square feet, including basements."

This defense did little to ease the concerns of community members like Beverly Hills Hillside Protection Association (BHHPA) President Ronald Richards. who wrote a letter on October 2 criticizing the decision as "wrong and illegal."

"This Project, if approved in its current form, would double the size of the already nonconforming structure that is above its current allowable FAR. This is wrong and illegal. It is also against the legal advice of the City Attorney," Richards wrote.

"We believe that the only correct legal avenue for the Applicant's proposal to increase the size of its structure to in excess of 20,000 square feet on this lot of slightly more than one acre is to pursue a variance, or zone text amendment," he continued. "There is no unfairness or unequal treatment as an avenue to request permission for this excessively large 'dream house' exists; one which was not explored at the Planning Commission hearing, or by the Applicant's legal attorney."

Richards also spoke at Tuesday's meeting, asserting to the Council that the project must be reviewed because the Planning Commission's decision relied heavily on the "intent" of the City's Municipal Code, which Richards said does not exist.

"This is the type of application that an elected body needs to view. The resolution itself has a large mistake in it. It talks about, in Section 5, the intent of the Municipal Code. You can ask [City Attorney] Larry [Weiner], but Municipal Codes don't have intent. City Councils have intent," Richards said at the meeting on Tuesday. "It's important that this law was enacted in 1993 as an Urgency Ordinance. You need to interpret this through the 1995 law that actually became the final law. It is the precedent that has been around for 25 years and something monumental that needs to be affirmed by the City Council, not by the Planning Commission majority, who failed to apply the law correctly or follow the legal advice of the City Attorney."

Vice Mayor John Mirisch, who asked that the project be brought before the Council for review, said at the meeting that he felt there was a "bait and switch" associated with the project because the applicant originally said the project would be reduced but that did not happen.

"That alone is reason enough for us to call it up. I think it's our responsibility. There are too many irregularities in the decision-making process. It is a very significant project. I also am concerned and disturbed by the fact that the Planning Commission majority completely disregarded our lawyer's advice and would instead listen to the advice and interpretation of an applicant and lobbyists. That, to me, is concerning," Mirisch said.

Councilmember Robert Wunderlich also supported reviewing the project, as did Councilmember Lester Friedman and Mayor Julian Gold.

The hearing for the review is set for December 11, rather than November 6 due to scheduling conflicts and because the Council is awaiting an FPPC ruling related to Councilmember Lili Bosse's eligibility to make a ruling on the project, as her home is also a nonconforming structure and could therefore be affected by the outcome of any formal Council decision. She did not participate in Tuesday's discussion.

Lili Bosse to Receive Fred Hayman Visionary Award

The inaugural Fred Hayman Visionary Award will be given to City Councilmember Lili Bosse at the Best of Beverly Hills Golden Palm Awards on Monday, October 15 at the Montage Beverly Hills.

The award, presented by Robert Hayman in honor of his father, is bestowed upon an individual that has made a tremendously positive impact on the Beverly Hills community, who has a reputation in the community of being an enthusiastic, out-of-the-box thinker with outstanding follow through and who has a long-term vision as well as the drive, focus and perseverance to deliver and bring people together to achieve that vision.

"Lili Bosse embodies all of these characteristics and more through the BOLD program and her tireless dedication and love for Beverly Hills,' Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce President Todd Johnson said. The black-tie awards ceremo-

USC Hillel Showcases Brown Family Art Exhibition

USC Hillel will host an exhibition of artwork created by Beverly Hills artist Gary Brown and his grandfather, Frederick Brown, on Sunday, October 14. The show, inspired by Gary's chance discovery of a linocut block reading "Brown's Print Show" amongst his grandfather's blocks, celebrates the work of two generations of artists and shows the works sideby-side for the first time.

Having never met, there was no way to make the direct connection between Gary and his grandfather. There was no generational handoff, no mentor/mentee relationship. But once Fred's prints were laid out in front of Gary, the connections started to appear, as if Fred were reaching down, through the work, to point out similarities inspired by their mutual DNA. Likenesses included the use of color, the ever-present reference to landscape, the The exhibition will be held at USC Hillel, located at 3300 S. Hoover Street. Reception parking is available across the street from in the University Village parking garage on the corner of S. Hoover and W. 32nd Street. Free street parking is also available. ### Pope Bids Farewell After 18 Years of Service

Beverly Hills City Clerk Byron Pope bid a tearful farewell to the City where he has worked for the last 18 years on Tuesday. The City Council presented Pope with a Certificate of Recognition for his efforts, praising him for his outstanding character and dedication to Beverly Hills.

"I want to thank the City Council and thank the community for all the love and support you've given me. Very few get this opportunity, so I just need to say to my colleagues: Take the ball and run with it. Very few get this opportunity. We are the fortunate ones," Pope said. "There is no one person who makes this City work. It takes all of us. It takes everybody to make this happen. For this community, if I have done anything right it's because of the great staff that I have underneath me."

"[City Clerk's Office Staff] Lourdes, Michael, Michelle, Jason and Jackie are the hub of the City. They are the people who make that office run. When you have Public Records requests, when we have elections, when you contact the county with a question, these people are your team," he continued.

Pope also took an opportunity to thank the Council for allowing him to serve at the state level.

"This Council allowed me to give back before I retired. They allowed me to serve for all the City Clerks for the state of California and that was a big deal. I will always cherish that memory," Pope said. "I've made connections in the county up in Sacramento that will be lifetime as well, so if you ever need me to make any calls I've got relatives and contacts throughout the political arena. If you ever need me, I'm there for you. I appreciate all you've done for me. Thank you."

Pope is set to retire on November 3.

BHHS football team routed by El

Segundo Normans set to play host to Hawthorne Friday

By Steven Herbert

The Beverly High football team ran three gassers – sprints the width of the field and back – following its 50-0 loss at El Segundo Friday night in an Ocean League game, over the objections of Beverly Hills Unified School District director of athletics Tim Ellis and coach Jarrod Bunch, Bunch said.

"They asked me if they could do that," Bunch said. "Last week Lawndale did it. They realize we have a lot of work to do and they did not want to wait to start working on it."

The Eagles offense scored touchdowns on each of its first five possessions.

El Segundo cornerback Kyle Myers intercepted a pass and returned it 25 yards for a touchdown in the first quarter. The Eagles (4-3, 1-1 in league play) increased their lead to 30-0 59 seconds into the second quarter when they recorded a safety, one play after the Normans lost 19 yards on a bad snap.

Alex Heflin ran two yards for a touchdown with nine minutes 12 seconds to play for the only points scored in the second half, which was played with a running clock, as was a portion of the first half.

"El Segundo is not a powerhouse," Bunch said. "They played fundamental football. Once we made a couple of mistakes it snowballed. We just couldn't stop it."

The Normans had 19 players in uniform, forcing all its players to play on offense, defense and special teams, Bunch said.

"This team was not that much better than us," Bunch said. "They have other people that can come in."

The lack of players led to the Beverly Hills players "getting really tired" and not being able to follow their assignments, Bunch said.

"We have to get more players," Bunch said. "The program cannot exist playing just 16 guys."

The number of Beverly High students playing football has diminished in recent years because of the growing number of parents who will not give their sons permission to play because of fears of concussions and the school's declining enrollment.

The Normans are 0-5 against the Eagles since they returned to the Ocean League in 2014 and have been outscored, 260-13, including 56-7 last season.

What's Next?

The Normans (2-5, 0-2) are scheduled to play host to Hawthorne (4-3, 1-1) Friday at Nickoll Field in an Ocean League game beginning at 7 p.m.

Other than winning, Beverly Hills goal for the game is to sustain drives "which we haven't been able to do," Bunch said.

"Our best defense is a good offense, keeping the ball away from the other team," said Bunch, who said he expects to have 21 or 22 players in uniform Friday. "We have to stop the three-and-outs."

The teams have one common opponent, El Segundo, which lost to the Cougars, 41-28, Sept. 28.

The Normans have lost 13 consecutive league games dating back to 2015, including a 50-18 loss to Hawthorne last season.

Girls' Volleyball

Beverly Hills lost three consecutive sets to Santa Monica in an Ocean League match at Santa Monica Sept. 20.

"I was very happy with the way we played," Normans coach Marla Weiss said. "We still have things to work on, but we did rise to the challenge."

Beverly Hills (3-5, 1-3) is "simply not there yet in terms of being competitive at a high level with teams like Santa Monica," Weiss said. "Player for player they are more

"Player for player they are more skilled," Weiss said. "We both have very hard working players and we are very scrappy, but not as skilled."

Weiss said outside hitter-libero Angela Bradbury ``is improving every day."

"I am very impressed with her improved passing and defense," Weiss said.

Opposite hitter Natasha Melamed and middle blocker Temi Olonade "also played well and blocked extremely well at the net," against the Vikings.

Golf

Trevor Thompson, an eighth grader at Good Shepherd Catholic School, won the Catholic Youth Organization boys' "A" gold division fall golf tournament at Arroyo Seco Golf Course in South Pasadena Sunday.

Thompson fired a 1-over-par 28 on the back nine of the par-3 course to top the field of nearly 50 seventh and eighth graders, including a birdie on the final hole.

coverstory KORBATOV BASHES LOCAL OFFICIALS AT 'STOP THE PURPLE THREAT' MEETING

Lieu, Yaroslavsky, Villaraigosa Criticized

By Kelcey Caulder

Beverly Hills Board of Education President Lisa Korbatov criticized Congressman Ted Lieu (D-Torrance) and the Beverly Hills City Council for not doing more to aid the school district in its quest to stop the Metropolitan Transportation Authority's (MTA) Purple Line Extension project from tunneling beneath Beverly High at a meeting on October 4, according to a recording obtained by Beverly Hills Weekly, available at https://bit.ly/2C45uEI.

Approximately 75 community members attended the meeting, including BHUSD Superintendent Michael Bregy and school district attorney Terry Tao, though more than 280 members of a WhatsApp group chat formed to advocate against the MTA expansion were invited to participate.

"Let me just tell you about Ted Lieu. Ted Lieu is Congressvour man. He does not care about you. I like Ted. He was at my daughter's wedding over a year ago. So, this is not personal, but Ted is all about money coming to California. He told me that," Korbatov can be heard saying on a tape of the meeting. "He said, 'I can't turn this away, and I need the money.' So, Ted is not going to help you."

Of the City Council, Korbatov said: "They have to know that they are going to pay a price. Because they can jump up and down that they love the schools, but don't tell me; show me. They should be with us all the way. They should be helping us to pay for D.C. They should be advocating with us all the way. They are sitting on your money and mine."

Korbatov spoke at length about the Council's use of its budget, adding that she felt the City could either join the district in litigating the issue or share some of the associated costs.

"Go to City Council on Tuesday and tell them we demand you help the school district," she said. "Maybe they join us in litigation again. Maybe, I don't know, maybe that means they start paying for some of our things that we have. It wouldn't hurt for them to pay for security, I will tell you that, for armed guards. So, yes, go to City Council. Make everyone uncomfortable."

> polite, articulate and you have to be knowledgeable." Korbatov continued. "Read the Purple Threat. Edu-

'Stop the Purple Threat' is an anonymous website dedicated to preventing the Purple Line from going underneath the high school. Its homepage shares information for contacting public officials, a petition against the expansion, videos about the project and other information.

At the meeting, Korbatov publicly shared for the first time that she and "one or two lawyers and consultants" created the website.

"That website was put up by a professional organization and a professional group of people who did a phenomenal website," she said. "Myself and one or two lawyers and consultants, we loaded all the information. It is accurate. Read it. Read the complaints. Read it. Read and watch the films. Read it. You'll understand."

It is not clear whether or not Korbatov used her personal funds or district funds to create the website, though she mentions many times on the tape obtained by the Weekly that she has paid out-ofpocket for issues related to Metro.

BHUSD told the Weekly it was "not in possession of any documentation" responsive to a California Public Record's Act request related to funding for 'Stop the Purple Threat' programming, including funding for experts brought to the student-led community forum related to the project in September.

Korbatov also accused Former County Supervisor Zev Yaroslavsky of doing favors for "Obama billionaire bundlers" when the MTA project and alignment beneath the school were first proposed.

"Look, I really wish I could tell you guys how this happened to us. It was corruption and pay to play [former Los Angeles Mayor Antonio] Villaraigosa and Zev Yaroslavsky doing favors for bundlers, Obama billionaire bundlers, but it really doesn't help us now," she said. "It was corruption politics and it was Chicago politics at its worst. It was Chicago politics."

Rather than further trust the same local politicians, Korbatov seems to be placing all of her hopes for stopping the expansion on the federal government and U.S. House of Representatives Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy (R-Bakersfield), who, according to the FEC, she has personally donated thousands of dollars to.

"I have gone to very high level donor events as a donor, and I talk to them and pass on information and documents. I even saw the President and gave him two letters and he accepted them," she said. "There is no substitute for thousands of phone calls to the White House, for thousands of phone calls to Elaine Chao. There is no substitute for people power, and I am telling you they are getting nervous. They're saying it to me."

"I have been going to the large donors and getting letters, and the letters have been going to Kevin McCarthy. They pressure him because the only person Trump loves and listens to is Kevin Mc-Carthy. So, Kevin is the key," Korbatov continued. "I saw him at least six times in a few months. He has told me that he will do it. You make sure he tells Trump this is a problem and to move the subway."

BHUSD Superintendent Bregy also addressed the topic of letters, telling parents that students would be permitted to write letters and emails to officials during class with the help of their teachers.

"I think that's a really good idea," he said when a parent asked whether this would be possible. "We can do that and it does make a difference. That's fine. A letter that starts with 'I am a third grader and I am really scared,' like that is going to grab anyone's attention."

Beverly Vista parent Andrea Kune followed up by asking Bregy whether or not teachers would be directed to make signs or ask their class to make signs that students could t hen carry to the walkout

"I cannot mandate for a teacher to take time to do that. They are already upset," he said

"Are they allowed to do this during class time? Are they allowed," Kune rephrased

"Absolutely they are allowed," Bregy said.

Kune then asked whether or not students should wear school colors to the event. Beverly High student body president Ryan Abrishami said the student leaders would prefer if students did not do so

"This walk out is going to be as authentic as possible," he told Kune. "We don't want this to look scripted."

LA COUNTY TAX AUCTION

Many readers have asked me how to participate in the LA County tax auction. The upcoming auction takes place all day Monday 10/22 and Tuesday 10/23 at the Pomona Fairplex.

In order to bid, bidders must have submitted a $5000 deposit by Friday, 10/5.

Here are Jenny O's tips to successful bidding in a tax auction:

Research any property thoroughly before you buy. You can consult a realtor to assist with this.

 $2^{\text{Talk}}$  to someone who has attended the auction before.

Consult your tax advisor or attorney re: any potential tax ramifications. YES, you can often get a bargain, but tax properties often have impaired title, or other issues you need to resolve.

Interested in future tax sales? All 58 California counties hold tax auctions at different times of the year, some of which are held online. Call me for more info. 4 Often at least half of the properties are located in the high desert and have little to no value. Think before you bid!

5 Remember that even if you're the successful bidder of a property in the auction, you can't evict the occupants or even enter it until you have received the deed in the mail, which often takes six weeks.
