Changes to City Water Rates and Charges Approved

Residential and commercial water customers in Beverly Hills and parts of West Hollywood will see changes to their water bills effective March 9 after the City Council voted 4-1, with Vice Mayor John Mirisch dissenting, to approve modified rates and charges for water services provided by the city.

These changes come as part of the second phase of a plan to review and adjust water rates. The first phase of that process was completed in December 2017 when the City Council passed an ordinance authorizing an annual increase of three percent to water rates through 2022 and authorized pass-through charges. Under phase two, now approved, fixed service charges have been restructured based on a cost-of-service study, a water reliability charge has been added to fund the City's efforts to increase local water production, and a revenue stabilization rate, which takes the place of drought surcharges, has been added.

In order to understand the changes to the rates, it is important to first understand some of the vocabulary used to discuss them. Customer classes in Beverly Hills include single-family, multi-family, or commercial. The single-family and multi-family customer classes are then broken down into tiers, which are established based on how many units of water a customer uses. One unit is the equivalent of 748 gallons of water or one hundred cubic feet (HCF) of metered water.

The tiers will change slightly following the approval of the modified charges. For single-family accounts inside the city, quantity charge rates will decrease in tier one (0-26 HCF) and tier four (over 86 HCF). Those rates will increase in tier two (27-48 HCF) and tier three (49-86 HCF). For multi-family accounts inside the city that are within tier one and tier two, the quantity charge rates will see an increase. Tiers three and four have been eliminated.

Single-family accounts outside of the city will see a decrease in quantity charge rates in tiers one, three, and four and an increase in tier two. Multi-family accounts outside of the city will see an increase in tiers one and two, but would no longer have tiers three or four. Commercial accounts will see a decrease of the uniform rate for both inside and outside city accounts.

Outside city accounts will also see an increase of $0.82 per unit over inside city rates. This increase accounts for costs customers who live outside of the city do not pay for services paid for through the General Fund, which inside city customers pay through property taxes.

West Hollywood City Councilmember Lauren Meister spoke against these costs at Tuesday's meeting, as did West Hollywood resident and LA LGBT Chamber Director Markeeta Thomas, who called the charge a "Robinhood and reverse policy" and requested that it be removed.

The Council questioned Public Works Director Shana Epstein about the charge, but Epstein said it was a fair one that ensured West Hollywood customers paid for infrastructure that helps them receive their water in the same manner as Beverly Hills customers

A lease revenue credit in the amount of $0.72 will be applied to inside and outside city quantity charge rates for the first time. Previously it had only been applied to inside city customer bills.

Fixed service charges, which do not change based on a customer's usage, are also affected by the newly approved rate modifications. Effective March 9 inside and outside city customers will pay the same service charges, meaning that inside city customers will see an increase and outside city customers will see a decrease.

The water reliability charge is perhaps the most important new fee included in the changes passed Tuesday. It will provide dedicated funding for the expansion of the water system to the La Brea subarea. Developing the La Brea basin will increase local groundwater production and reduce Beverly Hills' reliance on Metropolitan Water District (MWD) for water supply, something that has been increasingly present in Council discussions since the De-

Water reliability charges are set at $0.23 per HCF for inside city customers and at $0.38 per HCF for outside city customers. Inside city customers pay $0.15 less because they benefit from a subsidy provided through the General Fund. The charge will increase $0.01 every year for 30 years to cover the cost of the groundwater development project, which Epstein estimates will cost "approximately $60 million."

"The consequence of not approving this is that financially we wouldn't have a way to go out for bonding for the water reliability project and start moving on that," Epstein said when Councilmember Lili Bosse questioned what would happen if the Council did not approve the charge.

The final change water customers will see to their bill is the implementation of revenue stabilization rates-but they may not see these charges right away.

The revenue stabilization rates would take effect only when the City Council approves mandatory water reductions stemming from a drought or water emergency and are intended to ensure the Water Utility has funds to continue delivering water to customers during water shortages. If enacted, water customers would receive 30 days' notice.

Councilmember Bosse questioned why this would not be a regularly billed charge as the Council is "always calling for a reduction" and encourages residents to "always be conserving."

"This is for when we go into mandatory. This is when the state has called for a reduction and it's being ignored and we have to say, 'Yep, that's it. No more," Epstein explained.

Revenue stabilization rates are calculated using the customer class, stage of mandatory reduction, and a corresponding multiplier. An example given in Tuesday's Council packet states: "During mandatory Stage A reductions, the Water Utility will lose 6% of revenue due to single family customers' reduction in usage. The existing volume rate charge on single-family customers' bills will be multiplied by 1.039 to account for this revenue loss. For a multi-family customer during Stage A mandatory shortage reductions the multiplier will be 1.016 and the multiplier for a commercial customer will be 1.023."

Water customers who want to see how these changes will impact their bill can visit www.beverlyhills.org/waterrates to use the City's customer bill impact tool. To use the tool, customers will need to have a copy of their utility bill, know their service area, meter size, bi-monthly water use in HCFs, the number of dwelling units in a particular building, and the water shortage stage. Each of these fields must be complete for a bill to calculate.

"It's going to affect each customer's bill differently," Epstein said. "So, I really encourage everyone to go online and use our water rate calculator to see exactly how their bills will be impacted."

City Manager Mahdi Aluzri to Retire in May

Beverly Hills City Manager Mahdi Aluzri announced last week that he will retire this May after 35 years of public service. He plans to spend time with his family in Ohio and pursue interests outside of city

"It is with mixed emotions that the Council has accepted Mahdi's decision to retire," Mayor Julian Gold said. "We are excited for this retire-

new chapter in his life but will miss and his steadfast dedication to our community."

Mahdi Aluzri

Aluzri was appointed Beverly Hills City Manager in October 2015, after serving as Assistant City Manager for more than five years. Previously, Aluzri served two years as Deputy City Manager for the City of Rancho Cucamonga and 17 years working for the City of Beverly Hills, including nine years as Director of Community Development.

"It has been the privilege of my life to serve Beverly Hills," Aluzri said. "I am very proud of the team we have assembled to carry out the goals and priorities of the Council while providing the worldclass customer service our community expects and deserves "

During his tenure, Aluzri managed many successful initiatives including the Monica Boulevard reconstruction project, restoration of Beverly Gardens Park and ensuring strong measures to mitigate community impacts of the METRO Purple Line extension.

The City Council will announce the process for selecting a new City Manager in the coming weeks.

Cultural Heritage Sets Hearing to Decide If 1035 Summit Drive Should Be a Historic Property

The Beverly Hills Cultural Heritage Commission voted unanimously to formally consider the Adelman Residence, located at 1035 Summit Drive, for nomination to the Beverly Hills Register of Historic Properties at its last meeting.

Thornton M. Abell and O'Neil Ford built the Adelman Residence in 1956 on part of the former Charlie Chaplin estate. The existing tennis court was a component of that subdivided property and is in good condition, according to the staff report from the commission's January 9 meeting.

"A recent site visit by city staff and the historical consultant for the city confirms that the property remains in well maintained and original condition with no major compromises to its architectural integrity and appears to be eligible for listing,' the report stated.

In order to be added to the Register of Historic Properties, properties in Beverly Hills must satisfy criteria outlined in Section 10-3-3212 of the City's Historic Preservation Ordinance. These criteria include being at least 45 years of age, possessing high artistic value or aesthetic value while embodying the distinctive characteristics of an architectural style, type, or period, retaining substantial integrity from its period of significance, and possessing continued historic value to the community, among others. The Adelman Residence fulfills these criteria.

The property is 63 years old and exhibits many characteristics features of the mid-century post-and-beam construction style, such as walls of glass and the interplay of interior and exterior spaces. It has also been well maintained, as outlined in the staff report, and thus retains "substantial integrity."

Neither Abell or Ford are included on the City's list of Master Architects, but Commission Chair Richard Waldow said he felt the property should still qualify for inclusion and added that both men should be included on that list.

"I think given the fact that it was published in the Architectural Record and the LA Times, given that fact, there's no question that these gentleman belong on the Master Architect list. So, in substance, it is a work by a master architect," Waldow said

Before the Adelman Residence can be added to the registry, staff will prepare a historic assessment report outlining the ways in which the property would or would not be eligible for historic designation. The Cultural Heritage Commission will review that report and take a vote. If approved for designation, the residence would then go before the City Council for a final vote on the matter.

world premiere of a film entitled "Dymally: The First of His Kind."

The film chronicles Dymally's career from 1962 until 2008, when he left the California State Assembly at age 82. In 1962,

Dymally HIS KIND was elected to the California Assemand became first Afro-Caribbean ever elected to the California legisla-

He then made history in 1966 when he became the first Black man elected to the California Senate, and did so again in 1974, when he became the first black Lieutenant Governor in California history. He went on to become the first Afro-Caribbean elected to Congress, serving from 1981-1993. Then, after a ten-year absence from elected office, Dymally returned to the California Assembly at the age of 76.

Considered a radical liberal, Dymally was one of the first practitioners of cultural politics ("black identity politics"), and was one of the early pioneers of progressive legislative policy around minority inclusion, women, child protection, bilingual education, black history curriculum, healthcare reform, African and Caribbean

CITY MANAGER MAHDI ALUZRI

I remember it was all hands on deck, as we needed additional staffing to help assess damage across the City. We [in the Planning Department] red-tagged several buildings that were simply not safe and the demand for construction permits was at a level we had never seen before. There were many late nights and long weekends, but it was important to support our citizens and businesses through the recovery. It's hard to believe it was 25 years ago, but the memories are still fresh!

HUMAN RELATIONS COMMISSIONER ORI BLUMENFELD

I remember that night as if it was yesterday. I was a 10th grader living at home with my parents and the entire family was huddled under one doorway in the laundry room downstairs. I remember my parents had one of those large Zenith box furniture television sets on top of their dresser

upstairs that fell

down and I'll never forget the sound of the atomic boom sound it made when it came crashing down. My high school, Cleveland Humanities Magnet, was fairly close to the epicenter and originally built on swampland. It was so badly damaged that they canceled classes for the remainder of the semester and gave us final grades.

CITY COUNCILMEMBER LESTER FRIEDMAN

We were living on Swall Drive and had closed escrow the week before on our new home.

We were excited about making plans to remodel our new home when at 4:30 in the morning we were awakened by the earth movement and shattering glass around us. Our children were ages 16, 13, 9 and 3. The three year old was in the room adjacent to our bedroom and Simone ran, and I mean RAN, out of the room and grabbed the baby and shouted for the other children to get up and meet us under the large sliding door in the kitchen. We huddled there with the sliding door open not knowing what was going to happen next. About a minute later there was a large aftershock. Subsequently we went back into the house and surveyed the fallen and broken objects. The damage was relatively minor compared to our friend's home in Northridge. They had major damage and we spent the next few days helping them clean up their home.

Some cracked plaster, a crack in the chimney, and a couple of things fell off the wall. We felt very, very lucky.

I remember seeing news coverage of the fallen freeways and crumbled soft story apartments toppled in Northridge. Learning from the devastation, it makes me glad to see that the many cities have finally mandated seismic retrofitting on soft story buildings.

My grandfather Morris Pynoos had become intrigued with quake-resistant construction techniques when his family home remained one of the only ones in his neighborhood left standing after the 1933 Long Beach earthquake - and I think became an inventor, engineer and builder partially as a result of having lived through the devastation.

In the 1960s, he built the 31-story One

Monica Kertesz Brener, one of the organizers of the drive, said she first started hosting the annual event with another PTA mom in 2012 because she experienced a

The construction incorporated the latest technology in seismic joints and rockers to withstand shaking - something that stayed with him throughout his life.

I had just moved into a new apartment. The guy moving out was a friend. He told me when the people upstairs made love he felt like the whole room was though the earthquake. Our dog Lucy had jumped through a broken window and we found her outside the house. For a few months after the earthquake, Lucy insisted on being let out of the house to spend the night in the backyard. The rear wall and living room ceiling of our house were significantly damaged and our chimney came down, but we were all OK. We and our neighbors gathered for a barbecue that evening because our block had lost power.

The Weekly's Exclusive Interview with New City Auditor Eduardo Luna

Eduardo Luna was selected to serve as the City's first-ever Independent City Auditor on August 16. He started October 1. Luna recently spoke with the Weekly to discuss his background and first impressions of Beverly Hills.

Tell us about your background in finance and government.

I've been an auditor for thirty years. I started out as an auditor in Washington, D.C. with a federal watchdog agency called the GAO [U.S. Government Accountability Office]. I spent almost six years with that agency, four in D.C. and two in San Francisco. In 1995, I joined the City of San Jose's Auditors Office. I had grown up there and the opportunity to work there was really good for me personally. It was at the San Jose office that I was able to connect my love of auditing with the issues I really care about, which are mainly in local government. I went to graduate school at the University of Texas at Austin and was interested in government, but upon graduation moved to D.C. So, again, it was really in San Jose that I really fell in love with the profession at the local level. The reports that we issued had a real impact on the community. Often times most people's contact with government happens at the local level, so the issues there were just really interesting. We dealt with public safety, code enforcement, and other issues that were really impactful. Then, in 2017, I was recruited to establish the first City Auditor's Office in San Diego. They were having challenges at that time and were under enforcement action by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. One of the reforms they had to do was start that office. I built it up from five employees to 25 total staff in the office. During my time there we were recognized nationally for audits we performed.

It was at this point about a year ago that I saw Beverly Hills was recruiting for a City Auditor. It looked like a really good fit to come here. I admittedly didn't know much about the City at the time, but the more I researched it the more I found out that it was more than Rodeo Drive. It's a well run City with great staff and a highly engaged City Council. It seemed like a really great place to set up the office. The City Council was doing it for the right reasons. It was a great opportunity.

What does the process for setting up an office like this for the first time entail?

There is a lot that goes into creating an office that hasn't existed before, so in my first three months here I started by coming up with a mission statement and values for the office. I thought it was important to communicate to the residents of the City what this office stands for and why we have it. I think if you look at the mission I submitted to the Council, it's really about advancing an accountable, effective government through audits. It's about ensuring the residents receive the highest quality services and government and that money is spent properly and transparently. Based on the mission statement and values, we then needed to come up with internal standards for conducting audits. We also had to decide about resources for the office. I've done some research on staff for an office of this size in cities of this size. Given our budget, I felt that myself and two auditors, plus an executive assistant, would be a good size office to do about 6-10 audits a year.

The position of Independent City Auditor is a new one in Beverly Hills. Tell us a little bit about what you do for the City.

One of the things I'm going to be doing right now is looking to hire those two auditors. Once we have those resources in place, I want to propose to the City Council a work plan that will allow us to do more audits. That plan will be take a risk-based approach, looking at financial risk to the City and ways to improve the economic efficiency of services that we provide. I want to propose a plan that will touch upon the various aspects of how the City runs. When I look at a city, I tend to prefer looking at issues that affect the residents and public directly, especially those related to pub-

accidents and with Cedars-Sinai being a lic safety and how those services are being delivered. In addition, I want to try to establish a hotline mechanism to allow people to call in and report behaviors or actions that may be inappropriate for me to review and follow up on. Once we've started doing that, we will issue our reports publicly and we'll communicate those with the City Council, city management, and the public at the same time. We will also follow up on those recommendations.

You previously served as City Auditor in San Diego. What was a typical day like for you there?

A typical day there was generally setting up meetings and briefing staff about the process of audits, talking to City officials prior to meetings about the findings of reports, reviewing report drafts, things like that. I had an office of 21 employees, so I was very busy. I spent a lot of time with our fraud investigator staying abreast of cases he had.

How is working in Beverly Hills different from working in San Diego or San Jose?

I think one thing is the scalability. Both San Diego and San Jose were very large organizations. We have fewer employees here, so it's scaled down in terms of size. It's an adjustment, but what I've found is that the quality of the City staff and management is top notch. Learning this organization and seeing the values in terms of communication and openness in how this office and I've been perceived has just been really great. Everyone is very supportive. Often when you bring in an auditor, there's a lot of unease. People aren't sure what to expect, but here they've been really receptive to the program I want to establish. They see it as a value. It's different in scale, but we're all working together to row the boat in the same direction.

Tell us about your experience working as an Evaluator for the U.S. Government Accountability Offices in Washington D.C.

It was very exciting. I was right out of graduate school and it was a great time to be in D.C. I was fortunate enough to work in a group that focused on Department of Justice related issues. Often times, we were looking at things like money laundering or how the FBI and Department of Justice safeguarded top-secret documents. It was a lot of fun, but it's such a large bureaucracy that you're auditing. It can be really hard to feel that you have an impact as an individual in an agency like that.

government waste. There are several reviews that I've done that I'm really, really proud of. The two that come to mind involved work in San Diego. One dealt with making recommendations to improve the fire department's response time to medical emergencies. We were able to analyze the process of dispatching crews to emergencies and found that if they changed dispatch protocol, they could improve it by about a minute without hiring or adding new employees. We also looked at pedestrian safety in San Diego. The number of pedestrians who were being hit by cars was going up, so we looked at that. There were some flaws with pedestrian safety infrastructure and in how the police department was enforcing driver violations, as well as with the process of educating drivers about pedestrian safety. We worked with them to resolve those issues.

What is your number one goal as Independent City Auditor?

My number one goal coming to this position would be to get the office off the ground in terms of hiring staff and developing a work plan that helps demonstrate the values of improving and maintaining a really well run City. Auditing isn't really about finding problems. I feel that we often get a bad rap with that. It's about improving processes and validating that we have a really well run City.

Gillis scored five, including a third-quarter 3-point basket, Sophia Ahdoot four, Kylie Goldstein three on a fourth-quarter 3-point basket, Melamed and Zar two each and Nugent and Samidi one each for Beverly Hills.

"We just played terribly," Normans coach John Braddell said. "Offensively we were off. They ran a little bit of a trap. We didn't do a good job of breaking their pressure and that's where they scored a lot of their points.

"Defensively, we didn't play terribly. We played a little bit of (man-to-man) defense which we did decently. We went to zone and we got two or three shot clock violations so we did some good things defensively."

ORDINANCE NO. 19-0-2771

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF BEVERLY HILLS ESTABLISHING A SIDEWALK VEN-DOR PROGRAM, AMENDING THE BEVERLY HILLS MUNICIPAL CODE TO ADD ARTICLE 22 TO CHAPTER 2 OF TITLE 4, AND MAKING FINDINGS PURSUANT TO THE CALIFORNIA ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY ACT

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF BEVER-LY HILLS HEREBY ORDAINS AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Findings.

(a) Senate Bill 946 was signed into law on September 17, 2018, and takes effect on January 1, 2019.

(b) Senate Bill 946, which is codified at Chapter 6.2 (commencing with Section 51036) of Part 1 of Division 1 of Title 5 of the California Government Code, limits the authority of cities and counties to regulate sidewalk vendors except in accordance with the provisions of California Government Code Sections 51038 and 51039.

(c) The Citv's Municipal Code currently requlates sidewalk vendors in a manner that is inconsistent with Senate Bill 946.

(d) The City desires to adopt a sidewalk vending program and amend its Municipal Code to ensure compliance with Senate Bill 946 before Senate Bill 946 takes effect on January 1, 2019.

(e) Regulation of sidewalk vending will benefit the City as a whole as it will lead to orderly commerce while encouraging entrepreneurship and providing economic opportunity for people to support themselves and their families

(f) The act of vending on public sidewalks, pedestrian paths or pedestrian walkways creates the potential for safety hazards, such as, but not limited to, inhibiting the ability of disabled indi-viduals and other pedestrians to follow a safe path of travel; interfering with the performance of police, firefighter and emergency medical personnel services; encouraging pedestrians to cross mid-block or stand in roadways to purchase food and merchandise; and creating obstacles and contributing to congestion for pedestrian, vehicle, and bicycle traffic.

(g) Regulations of sidewalk vendors are needed to accommodate sidewalk vendors' equipment while safeguarding pedestrian movement on public sidewalks, parkways, pedestrian paths or walkways, and other public rights-of-way.

(h) Regulations of sidewalk vendors engaged in the sale of food and food products are needed to protect the public health and safety by ensuring that sidewalk vendors prepare food safely and in accordance with the requirements of the Los Angeles County Department of Public Health.

(i) Regulations of sidewalk vendors are needed to prevent hazardous or unsanitary conditions and to ensure that trash and debris are removed by sidewalk vendors and do not become a pollutant.

(j) The City Council adopts this Ordinance under the authority provided in Senate Bill 946 and Government Code Sections 51036 through 51039 and finds that the time, place, and manner regulations and reguirements provided herein are directly related to the City's purpose of protecting the health, safety and welfare of its residents, businesses and visitors, including ensuring compliance with the American with Disabilities Act of 1990 (Public Law 101-336) and other disability standards; ensuring the public's use and enjoyment of natural resources and recreational opportunities; and preventing an undue concentration of commercial activity that unreasonably interferes with the scenic and natural character of City parks.

Section 2. CEQA. The City Council hereby finds and determines that this Ordinance is not subject to the California Environmental Quality Act (Public Resources Code Section 21000 et seq,) ("CEQA") pursuant to Sections 15060(c) 15060(c)(3), and 15061(b)(3) of the State CEQA Guidelines because it will not result in a direct or reasonably foreseeable indirect physical change in the environment, because there is no possibility that it may have a significant effect on the environment, and because it is not a project" as that term is defined in Section 15378 of the State CEQA Guidelines.

Section 3. Addition of New Article 22. The City Council hereby adds a new Article 22 to Chapter 2 ("Regulatory Business Permits") of Title 4 ("Regulation of Certain Types of Businesses and Activities") of the Beverly Hills Municipal Code to read as follows:

"Article 22. Sidewalk Vending
