letters email "Chief Spagnoli"

At the last council meeting, Lt Dowling spoke in support of his boss, Police Chief Spagnoli, and boldly claimed that he represented the feelings of the department. His coworkers disagree. At a recent meeting, his fellow lieutenants lambasted him for his false representation. Lt Dowling speaks in support of Chief Spagnoli because he personally recruited her, despite her checkered past. Dowling has a little problem called a conflict of interest where Spagnoli is concerned.

Acting on Lt Dowling's misguided recommendation, the council installed an incompetent, prejudiced police administrator with a lousy record to head our excellent Beverly Hills police department. And then Chief Spagnoli proceeded to imprint her troubled signature on our police force.

She hired Marc Coopwood, a Sacramento officer as her assistant, who, as a defense witness in a recent cased against the chief, claimed that he makes 90% of the department's decisions. That's an uncontroverted lie according to virtually all members of our police department.

Further, through an agreement with Beverly Hills, the Metro pays for our officers to provide additional protection and traffic mitigation. With Chief Spagnoli's full knowledge, many of these officers PAD their hours. In fact, Metro has needed to film the officers at work to provide evidence of malfeasance. Sound familiar?

Under Spagnoli, there are days when officers don't show up for their regular duties. That's simply due to a lack of leadership. When the discrimination and retaliation lawsuits piled up against Chief Spagnoli, the council defended her and claimed she was a change agent. The council said it was a simple case of the old guard resenting that new change agent.

To be clear, Spagnoli is NO change agent. We know this because the Los Angeles Superior Court dispelled that myth in the case of Moreno vs. the City of Beverly Hills. The court SAID she's no change agent, and that the prior Beverly Hills police administration had already upgraded systems and operations as outlined in the Management Partners report that the council likes to cite. Instead of being a change agent for good, it turns out that Spagnoli is just an abusive harasser and retaliator. That's what the court said. The transcript is public, and can be obtained by going to the Los Angeles Superior Court website. Why the city council has not acted to replace Chief Spagnoli remains a mystery.

Perhaps the council has a little conflict of interest problem itself where she is concerned. It's time to remember that you, the council, represent the residents of Beverly Hills, not a failed police chief.

BHUSD Board Discusses Revising Mission Statement

The BHUSD board members met for a study session on Monday evening to discuss revisions to the district's mission and vision statement.

The current mission statement of the BHUSD is "to inspire and enable each student to achieve academic excellence and meet the goals of college and career readiness." The current vision statement reads as "through a safe and supportive environment, every student will engage in a rigorous and enriching quality education, and will be prepared to thrive in a complex, changing world."

Board member Rachelle Marcus suggested trimming the verbiage in favor of something lighter.

"I am not a fan of lengthy documents. Less is more," Marcus said. "When I look at the vision statement, I see words that can be used that would make it more concrete."

'[The language] should be easy to comprehend and ambiguous," Board member Mel Spitz said. "Loading up pages with platitudes doesn't clarify the mission or statement and as such, don't belong in mission or vision statements.'

Marcus pointed to successful companies'

"The mission should answer what we do, and what makes us different," said board member Tristen Walker-Shuman. "There are things that need to be included that are not already, and we are missing the mark if we're not including a handful of them.' Walker -Shuman suggested а mention of integrity and character in the mission. adding that the mission should "address things that [the Board] can actually capture.' Assistant Superintendent Laura Chism agreed with Walker-Shuman.

"We're not talking about building character, we're not talking about what kind of integrity we want our kids to have," Chism. "We need to talk about the struggling learner, or the student with emotional difficulties. Every child needs to read this and find themselves reflected in it as well."

The Board had discussed including stakeholders in the statement as well, to which Marcus replied, "the children are the stakeholders. That's who we are here for."

The meeting ended with some rumination over the proposed changes. A new mission and vision statement is anticipated at the start of this academic year.

Ginsburgs honored by Council

Eli and Rochelle Ginsburg were awarded the Kindness Recognition award on Tuesday night during a formal City Council meeting.

The Ginsburgs have been residents of the city for over 50 years. Rochelle Ginsburg had a lengthy career with the BHU-SD. Prior to becoming assistant principal at Hawthorne, a role she had held for nine years, she taught elementary and middle school and served as the BHUSD's first early childhood education coordinator. She also served the PTA as president while her daughters were attending Beverly Vista.

"Rochelle loved working with caring colleagues who supported one another and were invested in the community,' Mayor John Mirisch said. "She knew the name of each of her students, as well as their parents."

Dr. Eli Ginsburg has offices in the City and was affiliated with the Cedars-Sinai Medical Center, where he served as the clinical Chief of Staff for endocrinology. He received his medical degree from Keck School of Medicine of USC and has been in practice for more than 20 years.

"Like Rochelle, Dr. Ginsburg appreciated the sense of community around his colleagues who believed in helping one another in order to help their patients," Mirisch said. "He cared deeply about his patients and made time for them even after office hours."

"For the Ginsburgs these were not jobs, but a way of life," Mirisch said. "We are grateful for Rochelle and Eli for making a difference in so many lives, and making so many contributions to Beverly Hills.'

Eli Ginsburg said that he accepted the award "with humility."

"These last few days have been terrible with all the events that have occurred," Ginsburg said, in reference to the recent mass shootings that have occurred in California, Texas, and Ohio.

"And I want to thank you so much," Ginsburg said to the Council, "being kind is not something that you can legislate. I think it has to be part of the fabric and intrinsic makeup of the people."

Rochelle Ginsburg said that accepting the award had driven her to look up the definition of the word "kindness"

"I discovered that kindness is at the root of every single culture, every world religion, every country, and every age," Ginsburg said. "When I think of kindness... it's the default position for the way we live."

"As Eli said, we're living in some challenging times and we don't what direction things will take," Ginsburg said. "We hope that we represent [kindness] well and that it will inspire others in the community to adopt kindness as their default position going forward, so that this entire city is known as a beacon of light and hope in some very dark times."

Council approves proposal for 20-unit condominium on Palm Drive

An applicant from Kevin Tsai Architecture, on behalf of the property owner Cwv-Palm, LLC, has applied for architectural approval to allow the new construction of a condominium building for the property located at 425 - 429 North Palm Drive.

The developer had purchased the property "a little over a year ago," according to representatives of the developer, and the request to review was introduced by Mayor John Mirisch.

On July 17, 2019, the Architectural Commission unanimously approved the aesthetic features, including design and landscape, of the project.

Pursuant to Beverly Hills Municipal Code Section 1-4-201, et seq., the City Council may order a review of any decision made by any commission, board, or official of the city. The process to initiate this review and set a hearing is specifically set forth in the Municipal Code, and those provisions are attached for reference. Accordingly, the City Council must order any review within 30 days of the Architectural Commission's approval, which occurred on July 17, 2019. If a review is ordered, the Architectural Commission's action will be stayed until the Council review is final.

Proposed design of Palm Drive building

Based upon the evidence presented at the hearings, including the staff reports, oral and written testimony, the Architectural Commission enumerated a number of findings pertaining to the project.

"The plan for the proposed building or structure is in conformity with good taste and good design and, in general, contributes to the image of Beverly Hills as a place of beauty, spaciousness, balance, taste, fitness, broad vistas, and high quality. Specifically, the project incorporates an appropriate balance of color, high quality materials and appropriate architectural design principles to reinforce the city's urban form and promote the image of Beverly Hills," the report said.

"The proposed development is in conformity with the standards of this code and other applicable laws insofar as the location and appearance of the buildings and structures are involved. As conditioned, the project will be designed in compliance with all applicable regulations," the report said

Based on the commission's finding, the applicant's request was granted but is subject to project-specific conditions. The applicant was asked to correct drawings to provide for accurate dimensions, design, and indica- 901 Whittier Drive tion of correct drainage conditions, and to provide final details of such during a study session held by the council on August 6.

Mirisch said the project that was proposed in 2015 was a "more fitting and elegant project," in comparison to the one presented during Tuesday's study session.

Both proposals are five stories, 55 feet tall, contain 20 condo units, rooftop amenities and two levels of subterranean parking.

"I believe we should be looking at projects that are more in keeping with the standards of the city, and the [2015 project] is more fitting than this [2019] boxy design," Mirisch said.

"I'm comfortable with the work of the Architectural Commission and the Planning Commission," Couniclmember Julian Gold said. "I see no reason to call this off"

The design was approved with a 4-1 vote, with Mirisch dissenting.

Commission denies proposal for two-story residential project on Whittier

Architect John Ruzicka requested review and approval of a new two-story single-family residence at 901 Whittier Drive, located within the Central Area of the City, north of Santa Monica Boulevard at a Design Review Commission meeting last week. The proposed project style was identified by the applicant as Contemporary and was determined to require review by the Design Review Commission.

The project was previously reviewed by the Design Review Commission at its meetings on July 10, 2018, September 6, 2018, and February 7 of this year. At the initial two meetings, the Commission continued the project for restudy and asked that the architect consider the relationship of the new residence to the neighborhood, and the overall compatibility of the design with the surrounding properties.

Ruzicka resubmitted plans for the February 7 Design Review Commission meeting and, after conducting the public hearing, the Commission determined that they were unable to make the necessary findings to support the project.

The Design Review Commission stated the project would need to be restudied and redesigned in order for the Commission to be able to make the findings to approve the project.

Ruzicka requested that the Design Review Commission instead deny the project as presented and the Commission then directed staff to return with a Resolution to deny the project and the resolution was scheduled to return to the Commission at the March 7 meeting. Prior to the March 7 Design Review Commission meeting. Ruzicka requested that the Commission instead provide a continuance for the project to allow time to meet with the neighbors and refine the design.

The project was then reviewed at the April 4 Design Review Commission meeting where the Commission returned the project to an Ad Hoc Committee consisting of Commissioner Spann and then Vice Chair Bernstein to work with the Applicant to refine the design prior to returning to the Commission for final approval. On August 1, the design was again reviewed.

"We made some conceptual changes and had some feedback from neighbors, but opted to stick with the traditional palate and present the new facades," Ruzicka said. "[The neighbors] are concerned about construction and size, but they've resolved that we are willing to work with them "

Commission Vice Chair Tony Spann said he did not agree that the changes made by the applicant were reflective of the project's immediate surroundings.

"I was opposed to this project and wanted to deny it [last year], I don't think this project modulates the building size, height, and scale either," Spann said.

The commissioners agreed, noting that the major issue upon review of the changes seemed to be its compatibility with the neighborhood.

"I [think] this looks like a commercial structure," said Commissioner Ilona Sherman. "We're asking for a different type of design that will reflect the community. We all respect and support contemporary, but this is not compatible."

Commissioner Mahnaz Sharifi agreed with the issue of a supposed commercial façade.

"When you say this is residential, I don't see that at all. It is completely institutional, and the previous project was much closer to something at least I would approve," Sharifi said.

Design Review Commission Chair Barry Bernstein said he "believed the [applicant] wanted to do something residential in nature," but agreed with the commissioners that was not adequately changed from the previous meeting and supported a motion to deny the changes.

The commissioners moved to deny the project, and the denial will be brought toward the Planning Commission.

Councilmembers choose standby officers as city adopts an emergency succession plan

The Councilmembers have chosen three standby councilmembers to establish government continuity in the event of a disaster.

The City of Beverly Hills has an emergency succession plan in place for all departments including the City Council. In the event of a disaster, and should there be a need, the succession plan will be activated for the City's elected officials and officers, all department heads, and all employees in critical positions, according to the report from Director Office of Emergency Management Pamela Mottice-Muller.

According to State of California Government Code 8644, municipalities should have a plan in place for reconstituting City Council positions should current City officials become "unavailable," during or after an emergency or disaster.

Mayor John Mirisch has selected former BHUSD board member Gerald Lunn, former mayor Ed Brown, and his mother Wendy Goldberg.

Vice Mayor Lester Friedman chose traffic and parking commissioner Andy Licht, former commissioner Shahram Melamed, and current Traffic and Parking commissioner Jacob Manaster.

Councilmember Lili Bosse chose former councilmember Kathy Reims, Culture and Heritage commissioner Noah Furie, and executive of Playboy Enterprises Dick Rosenzweig.

Councilmember Julian Gold chose former planning commissioner Craig Cor-Kevin Riley man, Public Works commissioner Jerry Felsenthal, and Recreation and Parks Commissioner Judie Fenton.

Councilmember Robert Wunderlich has chosen Jerry Wolfe, Kathy Reims and Metropolitan Water District representative Barry Pressman.

Standby officers shall receive no compensation for the performance of their duties as standby officers except as provided for by law.

Traffic and Parking Commission reviews Dayton Way access and upgrades to traffic camera system

Traffic and Parking commissioners met last week to discuss access to Dayton Way and a study presented to them by Senior Transportation Engineer Kevin Riley.

At a Traffic and Parking Commission meeting on May 2, constituents representing businesses on the west side of Crescent Drive, north of Dayton Way, expressed concerns regarding access to the City-owned parking garage on 9361 Dayton Way once Canon Drive is closed at Wilshire Boulevard for the Metro Purple Line construction work.

The owners expressed concern that customers will have to drive further than normal to access the parking garage, due to their inability to make an eastbound rightturn and a westbound left-turn onto Canon Drive at Wilshire Boulevard.

At that meeting, they requested that the City evaluate the feasibility of restriping Dayton Way between Canon Drive and Crescent Drive, to allow westbound access to the garage from Crescent Drive and Dayton Way. The Traffic and Parking Commission asked staff to return with a determination whether the request is feasible.

At the most recent July 11 meeting, staff provided results of the assessment for the request and a summary of the meeting with the constituents. The meeting concluded with the change not being feasible due to a six-minute increase in intersection delay resulting in a Level of Service of "F" at the Dayton Way and Canon Drive intersections. Staff agreed the best way to address the business concerns is to improve signage to the adjacent parking structures.

In addition to the impacts, modifying the lane configuration for even one block would require significant changes in signal synchronization through the Triangle and expenditures related to restriping the roadway and modifying the signals.

However, a majority of required signage has been resolved, Riley reported to the board last week.

The majority of the Commissioners present asked that the request be forwarded to the Liaison Committee. Upon further review, staff still does not support the request to change current one-way configuration of Dayton Way. In the Golden Triangle, Dayton Way and Brighton Way operate under one-way street signalization to optimize traffic circulation.

In addition to traffic signage, Riley also presented a request to the board to upgrade video controllers and traffic cameras.

"Many controllers are 20-plus years old and we plan on upgrading them," Riley said. "Benefits [of this] include signal coordination suggestions, real-time Bing maps and the ability to implement new technologies."

Riley referenced research conducted in neighboring areas, such as Santa Monica, Culver City, Pasadena, and La Habra to review modernized systems.

"With a video detection camera, we can determine when an extended 'green time' is necessary," Riley said. "They act as a way to monitor the operations at an intersection."

The possibility of an upgrade will be reviewed before the commission at the next meeting.

Installation of modified school signage at all schools in the BHUSD

To mitigate the traffic impacts of the BHUSD reconfiguration, the City Council has approved modifications to the parking regulations adjacent to all schools in the district.

At Horace Mann, the passenger loading signage on the west side of Hamel Drive adjacent to the school between Wilshire Boulevard and Charleville Boulevard will be modified to a no parking zone, 7 a.m. to 9 a.m., 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., passenger loading only, except Saturday and Sunday.

The passenger loading regulation on the south side of Charleville Boulevard immediately west of Arnaz Drive will be removed. The parking regulation for this segment will be three-hour parking, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., every day except Sunday.

'No U-turn' signage will also be installed for both directions of Charlesville Boulevard between Robertson Boulevard > and Hamel Drive, and diboth rections of Hamel Drive b e t w e e n Wilshire Boulevard and Charleville Boulevard.

At Haw- a thorne, the l p a s s e n g e r loading regulation on the east side of Rexford Drive adjacent to the school will be modified to a no parking zone from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m., 1 p.m to 4 p.m., passenger loading only, except Saturday and Sunday.

The City Council has approved modifications to the parking regulations adjacent to Beverly Vista School, including the extension of the student pick-up and drop off loading zones on Charleville Boulevard and Gregory Way.

At Beverly Vista, The parking regulations on the south side of Charleville Boulevard adjacent to the school between Elm Drive and Rextord Drive will be modified from '3-hour parking, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Saturday', 'No parking Thursday 8 a.m. to 12 p.m., street cleaning', and 'Overnight parking by permit only' to a no parking zone from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m., 2 p.m to 4 p.m., passenger loading only, except Saturday and Sunday.

The parking regulations on the north side of Gregory Way adjacent to the school between Elm Drive and Rexford Drive will be modified from '4-hour parking, 8 a.m to 6 p.m., except Sunday' on the east end and 'No parking 7 a.m. to 9 a.m., 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., passenger loading only' on the west end.

Traffic-related injuries doubled from last year

The number of vehicle injuries has doubled in the month of June, according to a police report presented to the Traffic and Parking Commission last week.

In June 2018, there were 25 traffic-related injuries. That number jumped to 50 in June of this year, with the majority of accidents relating to automobile accidents.

"I love Beverly Hills until I'm crossing the street, and then I feel like cars are flying at me," Commissioner Sharon Ignarro said.

C o m m i s sioner Nooshin M e s h k a t y asked why there would be such a large increase in injuries, and questioned whether port adequately addressed this.

"Injuries have doubled, so it goes hand in hand most likely with the speed limit increase," Meshkaty said. "[But] it's something that's alarming."

Meshkaty pointed to the number of signed citations made by the BHPD in June of this year, totaling 393, compared to last year, 428.

"We're giving less citations, but have more injuries. So people aren't behaving or following the laws, and maybe we don't have enough enforcement," Meshkaty said.

Comissioner Jake Manaster disagreed, and said that injuries are inevitable "unless [the City] has 20 - 30 officers every day, on every corner, and even then we still wont catch everyone."

"We have a lot of exotic cars racing

The event planner and fashion choreographer discusses his journey from the Philippines to Dubai to Beverly Hills.

You wear many hats as an event producer, casting director, model coach and fashion show choreographer, but you originally wanted to be a doctor. What led you away from medicine?

As a Filipino, I think that's part of our culture; your parents want you to be in the medical field, or maybe engineering. It is part of their dream to have their child become a doctor. My brother is a doctor and I look up to him. Initially I wanted to do the same, so I started a premed course. It was a four-year program with a one-year internship in a hospital, and that's when I realized it wasn't really for me

During that [time] I was modeling in the Philippines; I did a few commercials there. I'd also plan events at my school, like parties or proms. I [worked for] a fashion show with a very small role. I was 'VIP,' front row, and I was just basically clapping when the models would come out. But the choreographer at the time talked to me and asked if I wanted to intern for him, and I said yes. That's how I started in [this industry].

After college, I opened my own event planning and modeling agency, which I had for five years, and then I moved to Dubai

How did you get your start in Dubai?

I worked for a retail group that held many luxury brands, automobile and jewelry brands. I was handling the luxury fashion, and I worked with brands like Dolce & Gabbana, Stella McCarthy, Gucci, Alexandra McQueen, Burberry ... I've worked with the designers themselves. Because Dubai has so much money, they would bring the designers in to do a show.

Dubai is an Islamic ruled country, so they have a lot of restrictions in event planning, in terms of alcohol consumption or the possibility of appearing too risqué. The clothes can't be too revealing, even if it's a fashion show, you have to be covered up.

We haven't done anything [involving] swimsuits there, where it's almost like a taboo.

Would you say that was challenging or ative. stifling to your creativity?

Yes, definitely. That's a factor that led me to decide to move out of Dubai. There were a lot of restrictions to my creativity and my concepts for events, a lot of things I had to consider before executing a concept there. Everything from music to the clothing.

But, what I really like about Dubai is that it's a new market, and it's a very rich country, so the markets want these luxury brands. You'll see malls full of them. Princesses, princes, and celebrities would come and buy limited edition, capsule pieces from these luxury brands made just for edition, capsule pieces the Middle East.

in contrast. So would you say you have more creative freedom here?

Yes. There are the restrictions but in terms of the concepts and events. Most of the retailers here in Beverly Hills are luxury brands too, but there's a lot of room to be cre-

In addition, this means that when

How did you end up in Beverly Hills? I would come to Los Angeles while in Dubai to visit family, and they would always ask me to stay here. I had a career in Dubai, but it had been 12 years. I opened up my own agency and met the producer of L.A Fashion Week after six months here, and he told me he needed a casting director [for the show]. So I started casting models for them and choreographing the shows. I've been doing that for four seasons now this coming October will be my fifth season. I still do model classes at least once a month.

I met someone from the Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce and I would attend networking meetings through the city on residential blocks. It would happen on Sunset [Boulevard], but now you see it on Rodeo [Drive]," said Manaster.

Manaster also mentioned that the City has "more DUI checkpoints than any city," and that the BHPD does an "extraordinary job of policing the City.'

The question of the possibility of hiring more officers was brought up, which would in turn require "extra sergeants to keep on eye on everyone, and would require them to be trained properly," Manaster said.

The report for injuries in July is yet to be released.

City continues to review 'Complete Streets Plan'

If adopted, the Beverly Hills 'Complete Streets Plan' will provide a blueprint for implementing a transportation network that balances the needs of all road users

Proposal for Transit stop improvements

Medians and "bulb-outs" (shown here) reduce pedestrian crossing distances and serve as the umbrella policy document that guides ongoing and future specific planning efforts.

"The complete streets plan is our blueprint for how we conduct transportation planning in the city," City Transportation Planner Jessie Holzer reported to the Traffic and Parking Commission last week.

The plan has a focus on preparing for the future Wilshire Boulevard and La Ciene-ga Boulevard and Wilshire Boulevard and Rodeo Drive Metro Purple Line subway stations through recommendations for first to last mile connections, and its policies will inform more focused studies to improve access to the subway.

For example, the Draft Plan acknowledges a need to improve pedestrian corridors adjacent to the stations, and the Wilshire Boulevard and La Cienega Boulevard Streetscape As part of the existing conditions analysis for the Complete Streets Plan, the consultant team not have design standards for pedestrian or streetscape amenities, which has led to a lack of construction projects involve repairing the public right-of-way, the City does not have a method for requiring the replacement or installation of specific amenities. As such, the Draft Complete Streets Plan recommends developing citywide streetscape standards to improve the pedestrian experience, starting with streets adjacent to the Metro Purple Line stations as a first/ last mile improvement.

"The idea behind this is to create a more the two major corridors that will lead up streets and something that is immediately recognizable as Beverly Hills when people come out of these underground stations."

Another example is the Draft Plan recommends improving bicycle access to the subway and the North Gale Drive Mobility Hub Study will explore options for long-term bicycle parking and cyclist amenities near the Wilshire Boulevard and La Cienega Boulevard station at the Gale Staging Yard property. At a Traffic and Parking Commission Meeting on June 12, staff received feedback on the Draft Plan and is in the process of updating it to include specifics that describe the implementation process. A schedule for City Council and Traffic and Parking Commission review of the revised document is forthcoming.

Councilmember Julian Gold has endorsed the project from its inception.

"We know there's no one-size-fits-all design to every street, but the goals of a complete street are universal," Gold said. "The goal of a complete street is one that includes access for all users, whether you're walking, biking, taking transit or vehicles."

Some of the proposed elements are raised crosswalks, crossing warning devices, medians, curb ramps, bike lanes, traffic circles, transit stop enhancements, and green infrastructure.

The City released a Request for Proposals (RFP) for the study in June accepted

An item on the Tuesday agenda that was tabled by the City Council dealt with the ongoing issue of plugging oil wells on Beverly High's campus.

The City is managing a project on behalf of the BHUSD to properly secure and plug 19 oil wells located on School District property adjacent to Beverly High. The project's objectives are to ensure the long-term well-being and safety of the high school and surrounding areas and to properly plugging all oil wells located at the site.

A letter was written to residents from BHUSD Superintendent Michael Bregy on April 17, 2018.

"The oil wells, long a fixture on the campus, will be plugged. The project is expected to take approximately one year and is being conducted with the safety of the campus and nearby neighborhoods as the top priority," the letter stated. "Plugging projects such as this one are commonly and safely conducted in a variety of locations, including urban areas."

The project is being completed by ARB, Inc., a California energy infrastructure company.

In March of this year, Director of Public Works Shana Epstein wrote to Bregy referencing the cost of plugging the oil wells on campus.

"From the beginning, the City interceded to assist BHUSD with this project because of the immediate potential risk to public safety. At that time the City believed its commitment would not exceed $4 million. The rising pressure of the wells has been alleviated. Six wells have been plugged with 13 more to go. In addition, the City has offered to double its fiscal contribution to $8 million, manage the project for no charge and carry' BHUSD's portion until the Measure BH bonds have been released and sold," the letter read. "The City has already expanded its $8 million commitment. We are now carrying BHUSD's expenses until we can invoice July 1 [of this year].'

Staff recommends that City Council determine, by four-fifths vote, a continuation of declaration that the public interest and necessity requires certain work to be performed without competitive bidding pursuant to Public Contract Code sections 22035 and 22050.

The council will revisit the issue in a future meeting.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 818-661-1778 or visit this Internet Web site www.ndscorp.com/sales, using the file number assigned to this case 18-31137-JP-CA. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the prop-erty. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applica-ble, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (844) 477-7869 or visit this Internet Web site WWW.STOXPOST-ING.COM, using the file number assigned to this case 081472-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement infor-mation is to attend the scheduled sale. FOR SALES INFORMATION: (844) 477-7869 CLEAR RECON CORP 4375 Jutland Drive
