“Dump Athens Waste Management”

It is critically important that the people of Beverly Hills know that our sanitation workers are being treated like trash and that for over two years Athens Waste Management has been ignoring these workers right to negotiate a contract that offers the same benefits and wages that other companies provide for their sanitation workers.

The Beverly Hills City Council is now considering rewarding Athens a no-bid contract extension. This is outrageous! Now is the time to make our voices heard so that our workers are treated with dignity and respect.

Contact the City Council and insist that Athens not be given a contract extension, but instead open the city's commercial waste contract to consider other waste companies to serve our city.

“Replace Chief Spagnoli”

For several years now, the Beverly Hills City Council has defended the incompetent and troubled police chief who you hired in 2016. Far more disturbing than the initial mistake is that you have refused to dismiss this person who has been a serious burden on our city's police department, finances and reputation.

Spagnoli's tenure began with her harassing numerous of our best officers.

More than twenty police individuals sued Spagnoli and the city for prejudice, harassment and retaliation, and all except one, were awarded financial settlements or judgments.

We have already paid out somewhere between $15 and 20 million to cover Spagnoli's improprieties and misdeeds.

Meanwhile, at least 25 of our best officers have fled the Beverly Hills Police Department under Spagnoli. One of our finest captains, Tony Lee, now heads up UCLA's police department, where many of our great former officers now work.

In addition, our Beverly Hills traffic division has dropped from writing 15,000 tickets per month to around 3,000. This represents a $9.3 million annual loss. Impressive.

Also, for the first time, our police department has a serious personnel problem in which officers avoid work or carrying out their specific duties. Police personnel just don't want to work for or with Spagnoli.

Nowhere is this more apparent than among our emergency dispatchers. Over the last couple of years our dispatchers have been working many of their days off, which includes being forced- hire due to the lack of personnel. This has become progressively worse. Tenured dispatchers have left or resigned due to unreasonable demands that they work far beyond their 12.5 hour daily shift, as well as many additional shifts to cover the personnel shortage.

These individuals may appreciate having a great profession and career, but not at the cost of their health and/ or family life. The shortage of personnel in the communications department is a huge safety concern to our officers, fire fighters, and most of all, our community!

Ironically, the supervisor of the communications section is among those who successfully sued Spagnoli for mistreatment and harassing behavior. Yet Spagnoli persists in her unreasonable demands.

Who can forget the Sunday morning [practice] shooting incident at Beverly Vista, which Spagnoli still refuses to address.

She can read a press release to the council that sings the praises of her police administration, but it's no substitute for an accounting of the incident that awakened and terrorized the Beverly Vista community. Spagnoli simply refuses to accept responsibility for school safety.

Rather than implementing an active shooter response program for our schools, she falls back on her ineffectual adopt-a-school program.

In preparation for this sea change, our police department needs extensive training and competent personnel to lead the way. Spagnoli's hires have generally had spotty records and poor performance, as well as being under-experienced.

A new chief could reverse this. It's time to set egos aside and remove Sandra Spagnoli.

We need to return to the days of hiring great police chiefs.

Among the five councilmembers, three have ignored our failing police department. The time to take action is now.

Thank you [Councilmembers] Lili Bosse and Bob Wunderlich for listening.

"One Landlord's Story"[Issue 1049]

It's difficult to separate fact from fiction in Alice and Nathan Hirsch's long diatribe against rent stabilization (issue #1049). In it we see false representations about the city's business tax mixed with ad hominem attacks on city officials whom, they suggest, are hell-bent on putting this hard-working mom-and-pop landlord out of business.

Some of it is simply recycled nonsense. The business tax for example. It's levied on gross rental receipts and it's long been on the books. Mr. and Mrs. Hirsch are among the small minority of landlords who never registered as a business (as required) and never paid a dime in business tax. Until the city caught up with them.

Another example is grifter tenants. They cause fires and obstruct repairs. They complain about mold. They ask the city if maybe they are living in an unlawful rental unit. All for personal gain they suggest. Never mind that a jury found for the fire tenant 12-0 ("tainted jury") and that rental unit was indeed unlawful. (There is an excuse for that too: "unique structure.")

Then there is the tree that busted the walkway. This city takes better care of its trees and sidewalks than any city anywhere. Yet the Hirsch family claims economic injury here too because they had to replace the walkway. But that work was apparently done without permits and, when the city inspected, it seems another grievance was borne.

No responsibility is taken for any of it despite the facts as they themselves presented them: nonpayment of business tax; leasing an unlawful unit; and performing work without a permit. No doubt there is much more to learn about their apartment leasing businesses. If only the Weekly had allowed them another full page!

Mark Elliot
Beverly Hills

Beverly Hills is the best managed city in Southern California bar none, so it's disappointing when residents take groundless, even silly shots at city government the way Alice and Nathan Hirsch did in your issue #1049.

They start their letter with a completely uncalled-for and likely libelous statement about the director of the city's Rent Stabilization Office, which is best left unrepeated and dealt with by her attorney.

They then follow with a rambling screed about a property they own that lies half on the city line between Beverly Hills and Los Angeles. Even though their sewer line belongs to Los Angeles, it is Beverly Hills that (shamefully) charges them for the sewer. The Hirschs don't seem to realize that since Beverly Hills is surrounded by Los Angeles, there are numerous cooperative (or "joint powers") agreements between the two cities that determine such charges. In this case, the city that provides the water (Beverly Hills) levies the sewer charge. Laughably, the Hirschs seem to be alleging that they shouldn't have to pay the sewerage charge to either city. Nice try, but it won't work.

The Hirschs then add five ponderous paragraphs about a fire in their rental property in which a wretched tenant (so they tell us) took advantage of them, even though a jury later voted 12-0 AGAINST the Hirschs. Since the Hirschs had to pay a relocation fee to that tenant, this case says the Weekly's publisher's note "underscores how extreme and unreasonable the City's Rent Stabilization Ordinance is..." Really? If a tenant contracts for rental property by paying rent, and that paid-for rental property is no longer available for whatever reason (fire, earthquake, or the fault of the owner), why shouldn't the owner be responsible for providing alternative housing arrangements? After all, the property owner has been paid to fulfill a rental contract, the tenant has no place to live, and the owner will likely be reimbursed by his insurance at some point. It's hard to think of a counter argument.

The world outside of Beverly Hills sometimes regards us unknowingly as a bunch of entitled rich folks. It's painful to see residents give life to that stereotype as the Hirschs do with their self-indulgent letter.

Chuck Moffitt
Beverly Hills

Publisher's Note: More nonsense from the Lenny & Squiggy of radical rent control, Mark Elliot and Chuck Moffitt. "The tenant has no place to live", because she burned it down. Real strong argument! All homeowners should beware, because this group will not rest until Beverly Hills enacts vacancy controls, currently prohibited by state law, which will prevent a homeowner from even renting out a room in their own home.

Temple Emanuel tackled this week the issue of gun violence prevention through a conversation with former Congressman Gabrielle Giffords (D - AZ).

Giffords is the co-founder of Giffords: Courage to Fight Gun Violence. The conversation explored the strategic facets of legislating safer societies — from enacting universal background checks and restricting silencers and high capacity magazines to safe storage and gun industry immunity.

She also co-founded Giffords, an organization that comprises three entities that includes the Giffords Law Center to Prevent Gun Violence, each with a distinct function, all working together to fight gun violence and uniting veterans, students, law enforcement officials, gun owners, faith leaders, and American of all stripes to reduce gun violence and make our communities safer. Almost 400 congregants turned out for the event.

Planning Commission Approves View Restoration Permit on Chalette

The Planning Commission unanimously approved a resolution approving a View Restoration Permit amid a reoccurring dispute between neighbors on Chalette Drive.

This will require the removal of five trees and the pruning of two trees to safe harbor plane on the 560 Chalette Drive property. They also approved the removal of two trees/pruning of 16 trees at the 565 property.

The approval follows an ongoing disagreement between the two properties regarding restoring the 565 property owner's view of the Los Angeles area basin.

At a public hearing originally held on October 10, the Planning Commission heard the staff report, expert testimony, and comments from representatives on both sides. They subsequently suggested each party meet independent to the commission to reach a restorative action acceptable to both parties.

Then, on October 24 they allowed both parties additional time to discuss the extent and phasing of the restorative action and a trimming schedule. This revised approach to foliage trimming had been specific to the restorative action on the 565 property.

"I agree with the resolution," said Vice Chair Peter Ostroff. "I'm all for it and I think all the commissioners and participants deserve credit for getting this done. I just wish we could have got it done sooner. I think the message is to just talk to your neighbors; we're all in this together."

Beverly Hills Orthodontics to Donate $250,000 Through "Braces for Unseen Faces" Initiative

Dr. Erin Cohen and Dr. Monica Madan, founders of Beverly Hills Orthodontics (BHO) have partnered with the nonprofit Smiles Change Lives (SCL) and pledged to donate $250,000 worth of orthodontic treatment. For every child that begins orthodontic treatment with Beverly Hills Orthodontics during the month of November, they will also treat a child through the Smiles Change Lives program.

"We are so thankful to our patients and the communities we serve that we feel it is our duty and privilege to pay it forward," shares Cohen, "As a result, we have made it our mission to partner with various causes and sponsored a number of organizations over the years. 'Braces for Unseen Faces' is our next natural step and the first time we have undergone such an ambitious charity drive of our very own."

Smiles Change Lives is a national nonprofit that helps kids get braces who could not otherwise afford them. Orthodontic treatment has long been considered cosmetic by insurance companies, providing little assistance, even for those that are insured. As a result, many children and teens suffer unnecessary discomfort and embarrassment from their misaligned teeth. Smiles Change Lives' mission is to provide these families with the opportunity to provide their children with braces through its network of over 700 volunteer orthodontists across the United States and Canada.

"In order to make 'Braces for Unseen Faces' a true success, we are asking anyone who is considering orthodontic treatment to start in November," Cohen says, "We anticipate that our existing patients, dentists, schools and social media will participate in a big way so that we can create a strong community of giving in this most generous of seasons."

Council Discusses City's In-Lieu Parking Program

At Tuesday's Study Session the City Council discussed at length the provisions of the City's existing in-lieu parking program.

The discussion focused around the challenges presented by the current regulations to certain properties and uses as well as potential solutions that would allow greater flexibility for certain businesses.

The councilmembers agreed that the City is moving toward a goal of relying less on parking, as requirements are likely to decrease in the future. The issue, though, is deciphering what they're ready to adopt a month from now versus what they'd be ready to adopt after conducting further research.

"I see this as urgent, I see this as an emergency," said Councilmember Lili Bosse. "We have lost and are potentially losing some wonderful businesses in our City and I feel that we need to do something."

Mayor John Mirisch pointed out that the City possesses some influence since it owns quite a bit of parking itself. He suggested implementing a hybrid system that involves a nominal parking fee during the day and then a more substantial fee at night, when parking is most coveted.

Currently, the in-lieu parking program allows certain businesses in specific locations to pay fees in lieu of providing all required parking spaces on-site, which are collected into the in-lieu parking fund.

When it was created in 1976, the original goals of the program were to foster business vibrancy in the Business Triangle area, enhance the pedestrian experience by encouraging redevelopment of properties into restaurants, theatres, etc., and provide flexibility in meeting parking requirements due to the built-up character of the City's commercial areas, especially in the Business Triangle area.

For new construction or reconstruction, the fee is $49,576 per space on Rodeo Drive, $39,661 on Beverly Drive, and $29,830 on all other streets within the established in-lieu parking district. For restaurant expansions the fee is $12,095. Currently an upfront payment of all the fees or an annual payment over a four- or ten-year period is available.

This item will return to the agenda at the City's December 10 meeting.

Council Talks Angled Parking Feasibility

As requested by Mayor John Mirisch, the City Council tackled the subject of angled parking feasibility on Robertson.

The councilmembers discussed the potential implications of making any immediate changes to Robertson, whose residential area Vice Mayor Lester Friedman pointed out will be impacted by the subway construction.

"I think making any changes right now will further impact those residential areas," said Friedman, encouraging an examination of the Complete Streets Plan instead. "I'd like our efforts to go in that direction rather than splintering off at this point in time."

Based on a 2013 Fehr & Peers Robertson study, angled parking could replace parallel parking on spaces on the west side of Robertson Boulevard, providing up to 69 additional parking spaces. Currently, Robertson Boulevard, between Wilshire and Whitworth, has 155 on-street metered parking spaces.

The addition of angled parking would require a reduction in travel lanes from two lanes to one lane in each direction.

To minimize travel lane reductions at the north and south ends of the corridor the study evaluated angled parking between Charleville Boulevard and Chalmers [in Los Angeles]. This concept would provide approximately 34 additional on-street parking spaces to the existing on-street spaces in this section.

According to the staff report, any reduction in travel lanes along Robertson would increase the amount of congestion and travel time on both Robertson and adjacent streets.

The cost of a traffic operational analysis is approximately $45,000 with proposed funding source from CIP 100: Complete Streets.

As it stands, going South from Santa Monica on Robertson becomes two lanes in the City.

"I think that's unfortunate. That part of town deserves to be more than just a speedway for traffic from West Hollywood to LA," said Mayor John Mirisch, who suggested the implementation of a bike lane in that area.

The Council did not reach a final resolution but the item will likely appear before them at a future date.

Updated Complete Streets Plan Ready for Final Public Review

The City's comprehensive guide to making Beverly Hills a more mobility friendly City is nearing its completion.

An updated version of the City's Draft Complete Streets Plan will be presented at a special meeting of the Traffic and Parking Commission on Tuesday, December 3rd at 6 p.m. in the Municipal Gallery at City Hall.

The Draft Plan provides a framework for programs, policies and infrastructure projects to make navigating the city easier, more enjoyable and more equitable across all modes: people on foot, on wheels, riding transit and in cars.

To ensure it is user-friendly, the plan is now structured by mode (bicycling, walking, taking transit, and driving). In addition, goals and policies for each mode are identified to better guide decision makers and more detailed bikeway network recommendations are featured. Finally, there is a new standalone Action Plan that identifies implementation of priority projects by year and will serve as a working document as tasks are completed.

The plan represents a community-driven planning effort and has a focus on preparing for the opening of the future Metro Purple Line subway stations through recommendations for first/last mile connections.

The City invites the community to review the updated plan at beverlyhills.org/completestreets. Hard copies of the plan are also available in the City Clerk's office and the Library.

SALUTING THE SPIVAKS

Bob and Leslie Spivak on Receiving the Fred Hayman Visionary Award

By Jenny Okhovat

You are both being honored with the Fred Hayman Visionary Award. Tell us about that.

Bob: Fred Hayman was the founder of Giorgio at the corner of Dayton and Rodeo; and Fred Hayman was the visionary for Rodeo Drive. When he first started, Rodeo Dr. had diagonal parking, it had a gas station, cleaners, and it was a very 'small-town' street. Fred had a vision of turning it into a world class -- one of maybe four or five streets in the world -- with all the top brands. And then, as I said, Fred owned Giorgio, and then went into perfume, and sold the perfume company. He owned the property that is Louis Vuitton today. He was really known as the "Father" of current Rodeo Drive. So the Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce has come up with the Fred Hayman Visionary Award, and Leslie and I are the recipients this year's award.

"Our idea was to bring a very, very non-pretentious straightforward honest restaurant into an area which at that time was really known for its pretentious restaurants. So our goal was to have a restaurant where the answer was "yes, what is the question" and "the guest is always right -- even when they're not"

—Bob Spivak

So you personally knew Mr. Hayman?

Leslie: Yes, we knew him quite well. He was a very warm and hospitable man. He was an incredible dresser, and in his store called 213, he carried some of the most high-end clothing and had actually a bar and a pool table I believe, in the third floor of his store. And it was people from all of the world went there -- even if they didn't purchase -- they wanted to meet Fred Hayman and see his store.

And we were very fortunate, our restaurant, The Grill on the Alley, was directly next door to Giorgio. So, we became very friendly with Fred and his wife Betty [who were married at a later time]. So we did a lot of different catering jobs from The Grill for Fred. We were very fortunate to be one of his top five restaurants in Beverly Hills that he also came to eat at.

What does this award mean to you?

Bob: It's a special award -- number one, just to be recognized as visionaries and particularly to have the award carry Fred Hayman's name. So we're very proud that the Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce chose Leslie and me to receive the award.

Leslie: And we're lucky to have his son, Robert Hayman, present the award.

And we know Robert quite well also. So the whole thing has a lot of meaning to us, Beverly Hills is a very special city. The people who live there participate in everything they do, and the Chamber is family -- it really brings in all the businesses and the community together.

Tell us a little about your history in Beverly Hills.

Bob: We opened a restaurant in 1984 in Beverly Hills. And as Leslie mentioned, the restaurant is actually at the mouth of the alley that ran behind Giorgio, and next door to Giorgio. And we had a vision to open a very traditional American grill, the roots of which come out of Musso and Frank's in Hollywood and The Tadich Grill in San Francisco. We had two partners who helped us open the restaurant: Richard Shapiro and Mike Weinstock, and our idea was to bring a very, very non-pretentious straightforward honest restaurant into an area which at that time was really known for its pretentious restaurants. So our goal was to have a restaurant where the answer was "yes, what is the question" and "the guest is always right -- even when they're not." The restaurant was in walking distance to William Morris, the largest talent agency in the world, and before we knew it all the agents started coming in and then they started bringing their clients in. We had regulars like Johnny Carson and Barbra Streisand. President Ronald Reagan and his wife Nancy would come in, Nancy Reagan was a regular. And it just took on a life of its own. The restaurant opened January 31, 1984, and this year it will celebrate its 36th anniversary.

Are you doing anything to celebrate the anniversary?

Bob: Nothing in particular; we try to keep kind of low-key. We're known for having team members and servers who have been there for many, many years. We have a half a dozen [team members] who have been there for more than 30 years, and 25 who have been there for more than 25 years.

Leslie: They're like part of our family.

Bob: Yeah, and the regular guests know the team members, and it's sort of a very high-end neighborhood restaurant.

Leslie: It is. On the anniversary, we bring in a big cake and we celebrate it with all the people that work there and any other guests that happen to be there.

Oh, how fun!

I know you are both heavily involved in other philanthropic organizations. Can you tell us a little bit about the volunteer work you do?

Leslie: We're very active at Cedars Sinai Hospital-- we feel very fortunate to be part of that community as well. I am on the Board of Governors and I am on the past chair of the Board of Governors. We do a lot of fundraising for the hospital, and I also do volunteer work. They have what they call the "Pooch Program," and I take our dog there, and it makes people feel so happy. To visit the patients, and all the doctors walking through the hospital stop and talk to the dog. It just brings another level of contentment at the hospital. It's a big part of our lives, we've met some wonderful people through the hospital as well.

Bob: And I've been on the board of the Collins College at Cal Poly Pomona, which is a four year university which has a hospitality program, for about 30 years. We also started a program this year, Leslie and myself, called Daily Eats. And we bring chefs to the underserved communities -- we build portable kitchens in the park, and we have chefs do cooking demonstrations for healthy, affordable recipes. So we will demonstrate a recipe and then we will give a taste of the meal we demonstrated. We do two demonstrations a night, and when [the guests] leave, we give out a bag with produce, pasta, and canned tomatoes and such for everyone to execute the recipes. And they go home with 30 recipes. We did the Algin Sutton Park at Manchester and Hoover last year, and this year we are working on doing eight parks.

Leslie: We had Los Angeles Mayor Eric Garcetti come and cook with us the first night we did Daily Eats!

Oh my gosh, are you busy!

Bob: These are all passions of ours.

Leslie: And we're involved with a lot of different events that go on in the City, but one of the ones we are most proud of takes place in Beverly Hills. [Beverly Hills Courier Co-publisher] John Bendheim and I started with the Board of Governors [at Cedars Sinai] an event called Rock for Research. And we're going into our fifth year; we go into a home in Beverly Hills, and we bring in about 25 restaurants who donate food, and bring in high-end entertainment open to the families, and raise money for research. It is a very fun event, and a fundraiser, but costs are affordable.

I know there are even more organizations you are involved with, and it is truly amazing. But I have one last question for you: how do people get more involved with The Chamber of Commerce and events such as last night's where you were recognized with your award?

Leslie: I would call the Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce [at 310.248.1000]

Bob: Yes, give them a call or visit beverlyhillschamber.com

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF RITA PYNOOS

Case No. 19STPB09938

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of RITA PYNOOS

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Robert Pynoos aka Robert C. Pynoos in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Robert Pynoos aka Robert C. Pynoos be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Nov. 20, 2019 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 9 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.
