Planning Commission Rejects 8844 Burton Way Project

After several hearings, the Planning Commission rejected a proposed 26-story residential building at 8844 Burton Way in a 3-2 vote at their November 5 meeting. The project, developed by Crescent Heights, would have replaced a vacant lot with 200 apartments, and 316 parking spaces. Twenty-two of the units were designated as affordable housing for extremely low- and moderate-income residents.

Commissioners Gary Ross, Lou Milkowski, and Myra Demeter voted against approval.

Crescent Heights initially submitted the project with affordable units concentrated on the lower floors, raising concerns from some commissioners about compliance with state standards. Before the November hearing, the developer revised the plan to distribute the affordable units across more floors, ad-avoidable impacts.

Despite this guidance from HCD, the majority of the Commission voted to reject the project, citing concerns about the building's height, scale, and potential impacts on neighboring properties.

Commissioners Terri Kaplan and Jeff Wolfe supported the project, with Wolfe noting that the redistribution of affordable units addressed previous concerns, and Kaplan citing her limited discretion under state law to block a Builder's Remedy project.

Some nearby residents attended the November meeting, expressing continued concern about the building's scale, height, and effects on neighborhood privacy.

City Council Expected to Discuss Merging Health and Safety, Human Relations Commissions

The City Council is expected to consider an ordinance on November 12 that would merge the city's Health and Safety Commission and Human Relations Commission into a single body, tentatively named the Health and Social Service Commission. The discussion comes after the Weekly's deadline.

The consolidation follows a review by the Commission Standardization Ad Hoc Committee, which includes Mayor Sharona Nazarian and former Councilmember Craig Corman, aimed at streamlining city commissions and reducing potential overlap in their work.

Staff reports indicate the combined commission would continue the duties of both predecessor bodies, including advising the council on community health and safety issues, promoting public awareness, providing a forum for residents to voice concerns, and supporting disaster preparedness initiatives. The new commission would also emphasize fostering diversity, tolerance, and positive human relations.

Currently, the city recommends that Commissioner Rose Kaiserman serve as chair and Commissioner Pam Kraushaar as vice chair of the merged commission to ensure continuity of leadership. The merger would initially retain seven commissioners to allow all existing members to complete their terms, with the number of seats gradually reduced to five by January 2027, aligning with other city commissions.

City staff said the consolidation is not expected to have a significant fiscal impact but could result in minor cost savings through reduced staffing, meeting setup, and supplies.

If approved, the ordinance would take effect in January, formally updating the municipal code to reflect the new structure and responsibilities of the Health and Social Service Commission.

City Council Expected to Fill Two Vacancies on Recreation and Parks Commission

The Beverly Hills City Council was expected to consider appointing two new members to the Recreation and Parks Commission this week, filling vacancies left by outgoing commissioners.

According to a staff report, Jasmine K. Yadgari and Donna A. Gillman were recommended for appointment to the commission.

Yadgari is Board of Education Vice President Judy Manouchehri's sister.

If approved, Yadgari and Gillman would each begin serving on Dec. 1, 2025, with initial two-year terms ending in December 2027. Both would be eligible for reappointment to a second, four-year term.

Yadgari would succeed Amie Sherry, whose term expires in June 2025, while Gillman would fill the seat formerly held by Zale Richard Rubins, who concluded his term earlier this year.

Beverly Hills Police Chief Discusses Technology and Community Safety

On Nov. 6, Beverly Hills residents had the opportunity to engage in an open conversation with Police Chief Mark Stainbrook on the "Straight Talk with Sharona" program. The discussion focused on the role of technology in enhancing public safety within the community. These town hall meetings, titled 'Straight Talk with Sharona,' are intended to facilitate engagement between residents and city officials.

evacuating hillside neighborhoods in the event of a wildfire or other emergency.

The drill focused on 68 homes in Trousdale, but residents throughout the city—particularly those north of Sunset Boulevard—were encouraged to participate to assess their own emergency preparedness.

During the drill, citywide sirens were activated at 1:30 p.m., though officials noted the sirens may not have been audible to all residents. Participants were advised to gather their emergency "go bags" with personal items and proceed to Will Rogers Park using designated evacuation routes. Police and fire personnel were stationed along streets to guide traffic and assist residents.

Project Rendering Facing East Along Burton Way

Addressing the main concern raised at the October meeting.

Ahead of the November meeting, the California Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) sent a letter to the Planning Commission reminding the city of its obligations under the state Housing Accountability Act. The letter emphasized that findings of denial must be supported by substantial evidence and noted that state law does not prevent the city from approving the project if it meets all objective standards. HCD also clarified that while dispersal of affordable units is encouraged, it cannot be the sole basis for denying a project, and that concerns about traffic and emergency access must be supported by evidence showing significant, un-

Beverly Hills Fire Department Hosts Annual Empowerment Camp

The Beverly Hills Fire Department (BHFD) held its fourth annual Empowerment Camp on Saturday, November 8, and Sunday, November 9.

The camp is aimed at teens ages 13–18 and provides hands-on activities including exercises, drills, and training designed to introduce participants to the physical and teamwork aspects of firefighting.

“We just wrapped up an incredible weekend at the Beverly Hills Fire Department’s Women’s Empowerment Camp, where young girls from across Los Angeles came together to learn courage, leadership, integrity and unity,” said Mayor Sharona Nazarian. “My deepest thanks to Captain Melissa Hills — the first female officer in our department’s 100-year history — for founding this remarkable program and inspiring the next generation of leaders. I’m also grateful to Fire Chief Greg Barton, our firefighters, volunteers, and partner agencies who dedicated their time to mentor these amazing young women. This is how we build pathways, break barriers, and ignite the leaders of tomorrow as a united community.”

Beverly Hills City Council Expected to Discuss License Agreement for Gale Yard Use

The City Council was expected to consider a License Agreement with the Axiom Group at its Wednesday meeting following the Weekly’s deadline.

The agreement, listed on the consent calendar, would allow the contractor to use portions of City-owned property at 8401 Wilshire Boulevard, 8421 Wilshire Boulevard, and 111 North Gale Drive, also known as the Gale Yard, as a staging area for construction related to the new Metro Wilshire/La Cienega station.

The non-exclusive license would permit Axiom Group to store materials and equipment at the Gale Yard while constructing a Beverly Hills public safety center associated with the Purple Line Metro project. Under a separate agreement, the city is responsible for reimbursing Metro for construction costs of the public safety center, which is currently projected to be completed by summer 2026.

According to staff documents, the Gale Yard is an unimproved, fenced site previously used for tunneling activities during the Purple Line westbound expansion along Wilshire Boulevard. Metro recently ended temporary construction easements at the property, making it available for use under the proposed license.

Staff noted that if the City Council does not approve the license, Axiom Group would need to secure an alternative staging site, which could cost the City an estimated $3,500 per month.

Baseball Requiem/8844 Update

There are a number of interesting and challenging things going on in and around the Beverly Hills bubble.

Most importantly, as some of you may have noticed, our Dodgers just won the World Series for the second time in a row. This is the first time in 25 years that there has been a repeat winner. And now the Dodgers go for a “three-peat” that is even more challenging than a “mere” repeat. I may not be able to resist the temptation to make a prediction on that as we approach the season opener in March (never mind that I was wrong when I predicted that they would not win again this year).

The regular season had highs and lows (seemingly more of the latter) and most of the post-season seemed easy. But then the Dodgers met the talented Blue Jays (Canada’s team) and played an electrifying seven game World Series. The Dodgers seemed on the brink of defeat a number of times but resisted, fought back and won.

For a day or two, I was very happy but then the reality set in – we will be without baseball for four or five months. As much of a sports junkie as I am, I don’t care that much for the sports that are played in the interim (NFL, NBA, NHL, NCAA football and hoops) so darkness seems likely to settle in.

For those of you who are similarly depressed, I will share my self-help remedies (none of which involve pharmaceutical or alcoholic products as tempting as they may be).

First, I can turn to some of my favorite baseball books. These include Tom Boswell’s “Why Time Begins on Opening Day” [which captures my world view in a short phrase], Daniel Okrent’s “Nine Innings: The Anatomy of Baseball as seen Through the Playing of a Single Game” [a 300 page examination of a June, 1982 game between the Brewers and the Orioles which, as you can imagine, gets into some detail].

Then there is a starter book, “Baseball in the Big Leagues” written in 1910 by Johnnie Evers, a former player and manager of the Chicago Cubs. Mr. Evers, of course, was part of the Chicago Cubs infield at the turn of the 19th Century that included Joe Tinker and Frank Chance. They were immortalized in the famous 1910 poem “Baseball’s Sad Lexicon” by Franklin P. Adams from the standpoint of a New York Giants fan that included the lines: “These are the saddest of possible words: ‘Tinker to Evers to Chance.’”

In the introduction, Mr. Evers noted more than 115 years ago; “The game is the most highly developed, scientific and logical form of pastime or contest evolved by man, and the ultimate evolution of the one universal game.” And this was more than 60 years before the designated hitter was introduced in 1973!

Fortunately, there are also great Dodgers specific books including “The Boys of Summer” about the Brooklyn Dodgers of the 1950’s, “The Last Innocents” about the Los Angeles Dodgers of the 1960’s and my favorite, Molly Knight’s “The Best Team Money Can Buy” about the 2016 Dodgers.

But reading alone cannot fill the void so it is important to attend a real sporting event or two in person. But what? In furtherance of this objective, Nick Ostroff and I will be going in early January to Sydney to see the Cricket (kinda like baseball) Test Match between Australia and England and then to Melbourne for the Australian Open Tennis.

And, before we know it, time will begin again.

On November 5, the Beverly Hills Planning Commission voted 3-2 to deny the Builder’s Remedy application of developer Crescent Heights to construct a twenty-six [26] story, 200 unit apartment building with twenty-two [22] “affordable” units of which 14 would be for extremely low income residents and 8 would be for moderate income residents. The site is 8844 Burton Way and abuts a residential neighborhood with much smaller buildings and heavily trafficked Burton Way. Previously, Crescent Heights had submitted a slightly less aggressive application to construct a twenty [20] story, 200 unit building on the site including forty [40] “affordable” units.

The members of the Planning Commission had varying opinions about the application but one common theme that was commented on by several of the Commissioners was that they had serious concerns about the applicant’s credibility. I share those concerns and note that when one of the representatives was questioned about prior inconsistent statements and actions he consistently responded with lengthy (and, I might add, unusually loud) word salads and double talk. Nonetheless, we are told that, under the law, dishonesty alone is somehow not a proper legal basis for rejection. It is fair to observe that sometimes the law is an ass.

Now, the denial will be appealed by the applicant to the City Council. This bears watching for several reasons. It is very large at twenty-six [26] stories and is on a thoroughfare that is largely residential, not one of our major commercial boulevards. Most of the other Builder’s Remedy applications in Beverly Hills do not seem likely to result in any actual construction because the applicants apparently lack development experience or because of current market conditions or both. In fact, at least four of the Beverly Hills properties which have attained entitlements because of the Builder’s Remedy laws are being listed for sale as is a fifth which does not yet have entitlements.

The 8844 applicant is different. On its sophisticated website, Crescent Heights “modestly” states: “Crescent Heights is the nation’s leading urban real estate firm, specializing in the development, ownership, and operation of architecturally distinctive mixed-use high-rises in major cities across the United States.” Imagine that!

Certainly, Crescent Heights, unlike most of the other builder’s remedy applicants, has the experience and wherewithal to construct this project. Of course, it is not immune to the market conditions but we should not rely solely on those to protect us from the insinuation of this massive building into our midst.

Now that the Planning Commission has done its part, we must look to the City Council for protection. A key factor that should be emphasized is that the applicant has proposed a much taller building (six more stories) with far fewer affordable units (22 instead of 40) than its recent prior application. As Commissioner Myra Demeter said to the applicant: “You are asking for much more from us and giving us much less [than your previous application].”

The applicant’s counsel loudly asserted that the prior application is “Irrelevant.” But, last I checked, as talented as counsel seems to be, he is not the judge who, in the event that there is litigation, will be the one to decide what is relevant and what is not.

FYI, in my opinion, it is far from irrelevant.

I think that the prior application shows clearly that the applicant does not need all of the height requested to provide even the twenty-two (22) affordable units now on offer, let alone the forty (40) previously proposed. Certainly, the applicant has contended and will contend that market conditions have changed so much in the last few months that the increase in height and reduction of units is needed to make the project feasible. But whether that justifies a 30% height increase and a nearly 50% decrease in affordable units will be for the jury, not applicant’s counsel, to decide.

I expect that our residents, including those who live near this project site, will make their views known to the City Council. Further, there are several legal issues that must be resolved. Given the complexity of the California Housing Accountability Act, that will be challenging. That is because the Act has been frequently modified to the point that it is as opaque as the balcony walls that the developer objects to; and there is as yet precious little appellate court guidance.

As we go along, I intend to offer my thoughts on the balance of the rights of the developer and the rights of the residents.

On Saturday November 8, I attended a wonderful event, the Bat Mitzvah of Cultural Heritage Commission Chair Lori Greene Gordon. As you may know, Lori is a few years past the customary Bat Mitzvah age but this fulfilled a long-held ambition for her. When she had her first Bat Mitzvah, she was not allowed to read from the Torah. This constraint always troubled her and on Saturday she corrected it with a beautiful performance. It stirred great admiration from a large group of friends and tremendous pride from her talented and beautiful daughters, Victoria and Natalie. Guests that I know from the Beverly Hills bubble included City Councilmember John Mirisch and his fiancé Yamani Caliwara, City Treasurer Howard Fisher and Francine Fisher, Commissioner Maralee Beck, Commissioner Terri Smooke and Michael Smooke, Commissioner Sandi Pressman and our MWD representative, Dr. Barry Pressman.

Tonight, Nov. 13, the annual Rodeo Drive Holiday Lighting Celebration will be held from 5 to 8p. This year’s theme, Enchanted Holiday Dreams, was inspired by Tchaikovsky’s The Nutcracker Ballet.

BEVERLY HIGH UNCOVERS 1939 TIME CAPSULE BENEATH FLAGPOLE

Historic Find Highlights Legacy of the Knights

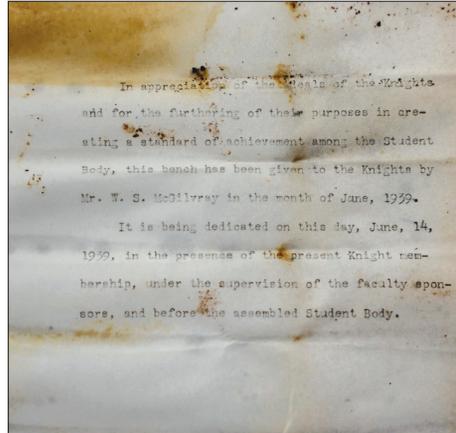

By Danielle Berjikian

Mason Jar From 1939

During construction on the front lawn at Beverly High, crews uncovered a mason jar believed to have been placed beneath the campus in 1939. The discovery, made near the school's flagpole beneath a stone engraved "Knights Bench," revealed a preserved edition of the school's newspaper, Beverly Highlights, and a dedication letter from the same year. According to the documents, the bench was donated in June 1939 by W.S. McGilvray, father of student Morgan McGilvray, in honor of the "Knights," a student organization recognized for dependability, sportsmanship, service, scholarship, and citizenship. The dedication letter notes that the bench was gifted "for the furthering of [the Knights'] purposes in creating a standard of achievement among the Student Body."

The 1939 Watchtower yearbook described the Knights as "the highest honor in the school," marking the organization as a symbol of student excellence during that era.

Over the decades, renovations and landscaping changes gradually buried the engraved stone and its time capsule beneath the front lawn. The materials remained sealed until this fall, when construction crews made the unexpected find.

"This discovery reminds us that Beverly Hills High School is more than a campus. It is a story carried forward by each generation," said Superintendent Alex Cherniss in a statement.

Public Information Officer Colby Gilardian confirmed that the artifacts will be preserved in their original state and later displayed on campus.

"The mason jar, newspaper, and dedication letter will be preserved in their original condition and displayed thoughtfully," Gilardian said. "Additionally, the engraved 'Knights Bench' stone will be carefully returned and incorporated into the restored front lawn area as a visible historic feature."

While no alumni have yet reached out with firsthand recollections, Gilardian said the district hopes to hear from former students or families connected to the Knights as the story spreads.

"We are hopeful that as the story continues to circulate, former students or family members connected to the Knights will reach out with additional history or memories," Gilardian said.

The district also confirmed plans for a new time capsule to continue the tradition. The project will be led collaboratively by district officials, including Gilardian and Executive Director of Maintenance, Operations & Construction Will Karrat, along with Beverly High teacher Nick Henggeler, who will work directly with students.

The 2025 capsule will be placed beneath the newly restored front lawn after construction is completed.

Although the district has not yet connected with retired faculty for additional historical context, Gilardian said such outreach is anticipated as alumni networks learn about the discovery.

Tiffany & Co. Plans New Flagship Store on North Rodeo Drive

The Beverly Hills Planning Commission is set to review a proposal for a new Tiffany & Co. flagship store at 360 North Rodeo Drive, replacing the former Luxe Hotel building with a modern three-story commercial structure featuring retail, dining, and private rooftop spaces, at its Thursday meeting.

According to a city staff report, the project calls for demolition of the existing building and construction of a 30,468-square-foot retail development. The new structure would stand 45 feet tall, with an additional 15 feet for rooftop amenities, reaching a total height of 60 feet.

The proposed Tiffany & Co. building would include two floors of retail space, a third-floor restaurant, and a rooftop terrace designed for private client appointments and limited special events. The rooftop area would be reserved for invitation-only gatherings such as prodof the existing build-uct launches or photo shoots, typically hosting no more than 60 guests and operating between 8 a.m. and 10 p.m.

The project includes one level of underground parking and a small rear surface lot, accommodating a total of 14 spaces. The applicant also plans to provide valet parking for customers and on-site events. Employee parking would be arranged off-site in the Two Rodeo garages.

Chabad of North Beverly Hills Seeks Permit Renewals for Wilshire Boulevard Site

The Beverly Hills Planning Commission is expected to postpone its review of a proposal by Chabad of North Beverly Hills to renew multiple permits allowing the congregation to continue operating at 9145 Wilshire Boulevard, at its Thursday meeting.

According to a city staff report, the request involves renewal of three existing entitlements — a Conditional Use Permit, an Extended Hours Permit, and a Historic Incentive Permit — originally approved by the commission in 2019. The permits allow the religious institution to operate within a designated historic building and to maintain extended hours in a commercial-residential transition area.

The item was first reviewed by the commission on July 10, and continued to November 13 to give the applicant additional time to submit updated rehabilitation and architectural plans. City staff now recommends continuing the hearing again to March 12, to allow the applicant to complete required documentation and undergo a peer review process.

Since the July meeting, Chabad representatives have retained historic preservation firm Chattel, Inc. to assist with the preparation of updated rehabilitation and restoration materials. An initial draft outlining completed and pending work, as well as associated timelines, was submitted to the city in October.

The Historic Incentive Permit associated with the project allows certain deviations from Beverly Hills Municipal Code requirements, including parking, loading, wall height, and landscaped setbacks. The Extended Hours Permit authorizes operations beyond standard business hours due to the building's location near a residential area.

Beverly Hills Planning Commission Considers Rooftop Office and Dining Proposal on North Cañon Drive

The Beverly Hills Planning Commission is reviewing a proposal to expand commercial office use and introduce rooftop dining at 257 North Cañon Drive, a site located in the city's Business Triangle.

The project requests a Zone Text Amendment to the Beverly Hills Municipal Code to permit commercial office uses on rooftops, provided the tenant occupies a separate space elsewhere in the building. In addition, the proposal includes a Development Plan Review and a Rooftop Dining Use Permit for

2025 MNITF Holiday Gala Raises Funds for Organ Transplantation Research

The Mendez National Institute of Transplantation Foundation (MNITF) held its 2025 Holiday Gala on November 2 at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel, bringing together donors, advocates, and entertainment industry figures in support of the foundation's mission to advance organ transplantation through research and education.

Produced by Nicole Mendez and Suzanne DeLaurentiis Productions, the evening was hosted by Emmy Award-winning actress Eva LaRue, known for her work on CSI: Miami and daytime television.

a new rooftop restaurant with open-air dining.

The Planning Commission first reviewed the application on September 11, 2025, and expressed support for the rooftop uses, emphasizing that the changes should not adversely affect surrounding residential areas. The current review continues the discussion on finalizing the zoning amendment and associated permits.

According to city staff, the proposed project would convert an existing rooftop lunchroom into commercial office space for an existing tenant, Discovery

Land Company, and construct a rooftop restaurant featuring a kitchen, trellis, and outdoor dining areas. Rooftop structures would be limited to 15 feet above the existing roof, with landscaping and setbacks designed to buffer adjacent properties.

City staff recommend the Planning Commission adopt resolutions recommending approval of the zoning amendment to the City Council, conditionally approve the Development Plan Review and Rooftop Dining Use Permit.

New BHHS Boys' Basketball Coach Set To Make Debut Tuesday

By Steven Herbert

Adam Verdi will make his debut as Beverly High's boys' basketball coach Tuesday when the Normans play host to Blair in a nonleague game at the Swim-Gym, set to begin at 6:30 p.m.

The 1999 Beverly High graduate had been the school's junior varsity coach since 2016.

Verdi succeeds Jarvis Turner, who stepped down in August after being hired as the athletic coordinator of the Santa Monica-Malibu Unified School District.

"While I had every intention of continuing to coach at Beverly Hills, the district has determined that my new role is incompatible with my coaching assignment," Turner said in a statement released Aug. 19. "As a result, my time as varsity basketball coach has come to an end."

The Normans were 13-15 in the 2024-25 season, including a 55-37 loss to Pasadena in a first-round game of the Southern Section Division 2A playoffs.

The Vikings were 15-11 in 2024-25, including a 73-52 loss to St. Bonaventure in second round of the Division 2A playoffs.

Beverly Hills is also scheduled to play host to Santa Barbara Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. in a nonleague game at the Swim-Gym.

Girls' Basketball

Beverly High is scheduled to open its season Tuesday by playing a nonleague game at Viewpoint set to begin at 5 p.m.

The Normans were 13-15 in the 2024-25 season, finishing seventh in the eight-team Ocean League, failing to qualify for the Southern Section playoffs.

The Patriots were 8-13 in 2024-25, finishing fifth in the six-team Gold Coast League, failing to qualify for the Southern Section playoffs.

Beverly Hills is also scheduled to play host to University Wednesday in an inter-sectional game beginning at 5 p.m. in the Swim-Gym.

Santa Monica won with a perfect score of 15.

The Normans were fifth among five teams in the team competition with 141 points, 44 behind fourth-place Hawthorne.

Santa Monica won with 17.

College Basketball

Former Beverly High standout Jac Mani scored 12 points in 15 minutes off the bench in his debut with Fresno State in the Bulldogs' season-opening 88-51 victory over Division II Fresno Pacific Nov. 3 in Fresno.

The 6-foot-9-inch redshirt junior forward made five of seven shots, including one of two 3-point shots, and one of two free throws.

Mani spent the first three seasons of his college career at UC Davis, averaging 2.6 points in 18 games.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: MEHDI ISRAELI
CASE NO. 25STPB12593

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of MEHDI ISRAELI.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by DARIUSH ISRAELI AKA DAVID ISRAELI in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that DARIUSH ISRAELI AKA DAVID ISRAELI be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 12/08/25 at 8:30AM in Dept. 67 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court.
